HOOLIGANISM

Hardly a day passes but some new report is published about youthful hooligans who gang up on some innocent and unsuspecting adult, and beat him up. The toughs seem to frequent the large centres of population, like Hamilton, Ont., Windsor and Toronto, Ont.

There have been many explanations of this. One thing that emerges from a study of the situation is that it is not, by any means, a local condition. It is world wide.

Figures released in Great Britain show how serious the situation has become. Since 1947, the offenders, under the age of seventeen, have jumped 24 per cent. One boy out of every fifty in the population has appeared in court. Of the fourteen-year-olds, 16,754 were found guilty of larceny, and 7,696, the highest total of any age group, of breaking and entering.

Jack Winocour, writing in a British magazine, says that a lot of reasons have been advanced for this state of things — the war, divorce, bad housing, bad movies. "But, this," he says, is to ignore the root cause. The pattern of children's behavior is modelled on that of adults. Juvenile delinquency does not exist in a vacuum; it is a reflection of a malaise in society. Juvenile crime is rising because adult crime is on the increase. . . . If adults pilfer and fiddle, it is only to be expected that children will follow suit."

Well, that is a new slant on why there is so much hooliganism in modern society, and there is probably a good deal in it. After all, if the home life of our country is what it ought to be, there might be the old black sheep, but not organized gangs of 'teen-aged toughs would be scarcer than hen's teeth.

GREAT SMALL THINGS

Many apparently 'small things' have turned out to be milestones in history. It looks now, as though the Labor party in Great Britain might be able to weather the storm. It has survived three significant votes. But it may just be that it will have its worst trial, not because of these votes, but because a Negro in Africa married a White woman. The Negro is a second generation Christian, and a graduate of Oxford. But he is the head of a tribe in Africa — and that gums things up a bit for the Labor party. He cannot rule without the consent of Britain, and Great Britain refuses it.

The reason why Great Britain will not approve the marriage is because of the tense color situation in South Africa. Color discrimination is written right into the constitution of South Africa. The initial constitution of the Transvaal, for example, said that "The people desire to permit no equality between Colored people and the White inhabitants, either in church or state." The whole life of South Africa has been based on this racial discrimination. Now, if Great Britain should sanction a wedding between a Negro chief and a White, it might well be the beginning of serious trouble in South Africa.

On the other hand, the Labor Party in Great Britain has been the champion of racial and economic equality, and many of the members of the party are opposed to the Government's policy of racial discrimination. Should the matter ever reach the floor of Westminster, for discussion, there will be plenty in the Labor Party who will oppose the Government's policy. But when it comes to a vote it may be a different story. Nevertheless, it is interesting to note what influence such a small thing as the wedding of a Negro and a White, in far off Africa, may have on world policies.

A GOOD BUDGET

The Budget address of Premier Frost, delivered on Friday last, was his eighth consecutive budget address. The Premier announced a surplus of $1,004,000, after providing $20,626,000 out of current revenue for debt retirement. That is a pretty good picture of Ontario's finances.

Some drastic changes in taxation were reported in the address. The amusement tax will be cut from 20 to 15 per cent on April 1st, on conditions that the saving is passed on to the patrons. Already the movie people have promised to pass on the savings.

The tax on horse racing will be increased from 10 per cent to 12½ per cent. That is not a great increase, but it will mean considerable revenue to the Province.

The Prime Minister has announced that, in future, an amusement tax will be applied to amateur sporting events, when those who take part in them are paid. This is a thorny subject, for it is difficult to determine at exactly what point the line between amateur and professional sport is to be drawn. It seems to be the intention of the Government to tax all sports events where athletes receive money—no matter how much or how little.

Other changes include a 25 per cent. bonus payment to hospitals. Increased grants of $810,000 to Universities, and increased grants of $5,136,000 to education.

Perhaps the item of most general interest was the announcement that the Government will spend more than $42,000,000 on highways, this year. It is planned, as well, to spend another $39,000,000 next year. Some of that will be spent to extend the dual highway east from Oshawa, where it now ends, to Port Hope. Some, too, is to be spent in the Peterborough - Belleville area. These are two projects in which the motorists from Napanee and district will have a share.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the address was the spirit of co-operation with the Federal Government which Mr. Frost displayed. This is a new experience for Ontario. Ever since the former Premier Hepburn broke with Ottawa, a spirit of antagonism has existed. Now, that seems happily ended. With good will between Ontario and Ottawa, legislation which has been hanging fire for some years, will be advanced a step nearer completion. The only stumbling block still in the way, is Quebec. Premier Duplessis, of Quebec, has not yet announced any change of attitude to Ottawa. . . . The announced policy of Ontario's co-operation may have some effect on Quebec's Premier.

THOUGHT IT WAS FINISHED!

It is a pretty safe prediction that most of us believed that the winter was over. Indeed, the warmth of the sun, last Thursday and Friday mornings, seemed conclusive evidence that winter was fading out of the picture. Come Friday noon and there was a wee flurry of snow, but the flurry continued and, in time, became a real old-fashioned storm. Roads were blocked, trains were late. Buses were hung up and time-tables were shot to pieces.

It may have been the equinoxial gales that did it. The spring equinoxes are called vernal and occur on March 21st — as in distinction from the autumnal ones, which fall on September 22nd. Well! if these were equinoxial gales, there was nothing very "vernal" about them. They were anything, but.

However, it is all over now. Spring came in on Monday night at eleven thirty-six or something like that. The sun is getting higher, and the storm was probably winter's dying kick.

This was finally settled for us on Monday morning, when we heard the familiar honk-honk of the geese, flying north. The first thing we know there will be maple syrup on the market.

Our village is too small to bear the cost of extra policing.

Our tourist business will go ahead, not with the noise, dirt and hazard of more drinking, but with quiet sane development of our one natural asset — the shore-line.

Local merchants will probably pay out more in extra taxes than they will receive from extra business.

There will be more property damage.

There will be more fighting.

There will be more highway accidents.

There will be more husbands drinking with women, not their wives.

There will be more ruined men.

There will be more hungry children.

There will be more bad children.

Good citizens will move away at every opportunity.

Bath will become tough — a village of drinkers.

Character always degenerates when mixed with alcohol.

For these and other reasons, I hope the residents of Bath will vote NO, next Wednesday.

Yours respectfully,
A. T. DENHOLM.
Bath, Ontario, March 20th.

LEADER in SALES

There's no question about this matter of leadership. FORD'S OUT FRONT! Look at the record . . . look at the leader . . . before you buy any new car.

HERE'S THE RECORD:

FORD	30,038 CARS
CAR #2	27,314 CARS
CAR #3	19,884 CARS

(Based on complete 1949 Government registration figures)

LEADER in STYLE

Twice-in-a-row style winner—only Ford has ever won such honor! Again in '50, Ford has been awarded the Fashion Academy Gold Medal as "Fashion Car of the Year"—over all makes in all price classes!

Chrome wheel trim rings and white sidewall tires optional at extra cost.

No wonder the big swing is to the '50 FORD

Here, we believe, is proof far more convincing than any mere "claim" of QUALITY in the field of low-priced cars. It is Ford's two-way leadership . . . leadership in sales, awarded to Ford by the buying preference of Canadian motorists . . . leadership in style and beauty, confirmed by the Gold Medal Award of the "last word" in fashion authority, the Fashion Academy of New York.

Ford leadership plainly underlines the fact that buyers who want the best are swinging their choice to the '50 Ford . . . 50 WAYS NEW . . . the One Fine Car in the Low-Price Field!

That's why we say it's wise for you to see and "Test-Drive" the '50 Ford before you accept less than the Leader offers!

THE CHURCH IN ROME

Lesson Text: Romans1: 1, 7-12; Acts 28: 14b-15, 30 31.

One of Paul's great ambitions was to see Rome. He had his prayer answered, but not in the way he had expected. He got to Rome, right enough, but he goth there as a prisoner. It will be remembered that Paul had been in prison for a year and a half. The authorities had made a pawn of him. He was pushed around from one prison to another. His case was adjourned time and time again. Finally, in desperation, he appealed to Caesar. There could be no more appalling. Once the appeal was made he had to be acted on; Paul had to be taken to Rome as a prisoner. The letter to the Romans was written before he went there. Probably there were a few Christians in Rome. It was to these he wrote.

In this first verse Paul declares his apostleship. There were those who continued to insist that Paul did not have any authority because he was not one of the original twelve disciples. He makes this position clear here. He was 'called to be an apostle' and he was 'set apart for the Kingdom of God.'

Well! Paul's prayer was answered and he got to Rome. But his prayers had been answered in a way he had not looked for, nor expected. It often happens that way. Our prayers may not be answered; some may be answered direct and still others, like those of Paul, about Rome, in a round-about-way. The little group of Christians may have got wind of his coming, for a few of them were on hand to meet him when he arrived. It is said he saw them, he thanked God, took courage. What a lot there is to us. Not only the Christians, but the world, has yet to be minded with us. Paul had a hard time. He had gone through enough to discourage anybody. He was probably down in the depths when he arrived under guard at Rome. But the sight of a few Christians, backed him up no end. He took courage. His subsequent actions in Rome showed just how courageous he was.

Here he was, a stranger in Rome and a prisoner at that. But he set to work to change the city. He got to work on everybody he touched. He talked religion to the guards; he talked to the servants. Fortunately, he was a sort of preferred prisoner, for he had a little house of his own and was able to see visitors. Paul got after his visitors, too. He preached to all he could get to listen. The authorities had no objection. He preached so the record has it 'quite openly and unhindered.'

Paul must have had not only indomitable courage but profound faith as well. Just think what he set out to do. He believed he could convert the whole city — and he went at it. Apparently the people Paul came in contact with in Rome were people in official positions and people of influence. By interesting this group, he was on the right track, for they would be able to influence others.

One of the big jobs the church has always been faced with is that of producing leaders. When our missionaries go to a foreign field, they have difficulty in attracting the devotion of leading people. Ordinarily it takes a long time to convert any of that group. More frequently than not, they have to develop leaders out of the lower groups. That takes a long time, but it is necessary. The church must have leaders. In our own country, too, it is good strategy for the church to get the leaders of a community as active and devoted followers of Christ. They exert an influence over others. Paul would no doubt have preferred to be free and hold his meetings where he liked. When he could not do that, he set out to get leaders. He got them, too! for the time, though Paul did not live to see it, the whole of the Empire admitted that Jesus had won the day, and Christianity was recognized as the official religion.

Paul talked as naturally about his religion as he did about the weather. That is not easy. The Church was founded on witnessing — it is an art we could recapture with profit to ourselves and to the Kingdom of God.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor of The Napanee Beaver.

Dear Sir:

In order that the citizens of Bath decide at the polls whether Local Option is to remain or not. May I make my position clear on this important matter.

The statement appearing in this paper, March 1st, is misleading. Villagers are not deciding 'whether or not they will have beverage rooms.' The ballots merely refer to a WOMEN'S Beverage Room. That means, no man may enter unless he is escorting a woman. There can be no beverage room for men only.

The other ballot being voted on concerns a Dining Room Licence.

Voters have four possible choices: (1) Vote 'yes' on both ballots; (2), vote 'No' on both vallots; (3), vote 'Yes' for the Women's Beverage Room and 'no' for the Dining Room; (4), vote 'no' for the Beverage Room and 'yes' for the Dining Room.

If ever the Village wants a Men's Beverage Room, it will have to hold another plebiscite.

As an individual citizen of Bath I intend to vote NO on both ballots. I hope many others will do the same.

PSORIASIS

A New Concentrated Prescription Found

Psoriasis is a chronic skin eruption characterized by circumscribed red, scaly adhesions. We do not know that a cure for Psoriasis has been found, but this prescription will clear the skin for approximately six months to one year. The prescription is a clear, colorless and odorless liquid and it contains no oil or grease. Clothing and linens cannot be stained or marked. Application is simple. The affected parts are washed with a pure soap and warm water, the prescription Exoff Concentrated is then patted on with a small swab of cotton—apply night and morning. You can get this prescription at all druggists, simply ask for 3 ounces of Exoff Concentrated and if your skin is tender or gets dry, you should also obtain ½ ounce of Exoff Ointment. Cut this out as a reminder—it is well worth a trial.

STEEL CONTROLS END MARCH 31ST

Ottawa. — Rt. Hon. C.D. Howe, Trade Minister, has announced that Federal steel controls will come to an end March 31st.

Mr. Howe said in a statement that Steel Controller D.A. Jones will resign his post and return to private industry.

Termination of steel controls results from the Trade Department's estimate that the world shortage in steel which became critical in 1946, now is at an end.

The steel situation now is substantially improved,' Mr. Howe said, 'and while work stoppages in the United States are having a temporary adverse effect on the Canadian steel situation, the future position is considered satisfactory.'

Mr. Howe complimented Mr. Jones' piloting of Canadian industry through a difficult period, 'during which he displayed both capacity and ingenuity.'

'It is largely through his efforts that the Canadian steel situation has been brought to a position which no longer requires government control,' Mr. Howe said.

Mr. Jones, a native of Hamilton, was on loan to the Government by the Steel Company of Canada. He became Deputy Steel Controller in February 1949, and Steel Controller two months later.

The Steel Controller's office in the Trade Department will be disbanded. Steel officials and other superintending staff will be released. Clerks and stenographers will be absorbed by other branches of the service.

Presentation Made To Mr. and Mrs. E. Foster Adolphustown Friends

(Written by Dorland Correspondent)

In spite of bad roads, a jolly evening was enjoyed at Dorland United Church on Wednesday, March 15th, when a St. Patrick's party was staged by the Woman's Association. Some hardy souls, who had to travel the township road which had not been plowed, reverted to a team and sleigh to make the journey. The church school room was suitably decorated under the leadership of Mrs. R. Dalzel. The programme was in keeping with the March 17th season and was furnished mostly by the Choral Group of the Community Club. Mrs. G. K. Stewart presided as chairman, most efficiently.

At the close of the program, Mr. and Mrs. E. Foster were called to the platform and an address was read by Miss A. Magee. Mrs. G. Smith, on behalf of the W.A., presented a sewing tray and Mr. J. W. Duffett, representing the community, presented a set of walnut tables to Mr. and Mrs. Foster, who were taken quite by surprise, but expressed their thanks and invited all to visit them in their new home in Napanee.

After singing 'They are Jolly Good Fellows' and the National Anthem, the ladies, assisted by several gentlemen, served sandwiches, pie and coffee.

The following is the address.

To Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Foster:

Dear Ernest and Gertie:

It was with deep regret that we learned some weeks ago, that you were planning to leave us and, as the date of your departure draws nearer, the sense of loss becomes more real. During the year, you have been among us you have always been ready to take your part in both church and community work and we are going to miss, not only your practical assistance, but also the personal association. One bright feature is that you will be near enough to visit us occasionally and rest assured you will always be welcome.

Please accept this tray from the members of the Woman's Association and this nest of tables from the Community as tokens of our friendship, and which we hope, will remind you of Adolphustown, when you are in your new home.

We wish you a long and happy life in Napanee.

(Signed): Mrs. George Smith,
J. W. Duffett, Mrs. A. Magee.

WEDDING BELLS

SHETLER - VANALSTYNE

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Grace United Church Parsonage on Thursday, March 9, 1950, by the Rev. C.D. McLellan, when Mary Elizabeth VanAlstyne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward VanAlstyne, and Gordon Shetler, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Shetler, were united in marriage.

The bride looked very lovely dressed in a navy suit, with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and was attended by her sister, Eleanor VanAlstyne, who was attired in a gray suit with yellow carnations.

Herman Storey was best man. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate families of the bride and groom.

For their honeymoon the happy couple left for points west, and upon their return will be residing on their new farm on the River Road.

The Yarmouth, England, Old People's Club is thinking of changing the name to the Old People's Youth Club.

FARM FORUM REVIEW

Co-operative farms will not work in Ontario. This is the opinion of every forum heard from this week, in reply to the Farm Forum Guide Questionnaire.

The discussion questions were as follows:

(1) Only a small percentage of Canadian farmers operate land or machinery on an organized co-operative plan. Why is this so?

(2) Would it be to the advantage of a young man wanting to start farming with a limited capital to join a co-operative farming scheme? Give reasons for your answer.

(3) Are there any farming operations in your communities that would be better done co-operatively?

Lennox and Addington forums were unanimous in deciding that co-operative farming would not be popular in Ontario.

Here are some of the reasons:—Enterprise Forum says: "In Eastern Canada, different soils, various sizes of farms, are not practical for co-operative farming. Our forefathers came to this country as individualists; they wrested a home of their own from the wilderness. Many of these holdings were small and are in the family name today."

River Valley says "because farming is highly mechanized the farmer has become independent and wishes to do his work when he feels like it, not when a co-operative would permit him. Also the larger machinery needed for co-operative farming would not benefit him due to the size of fields and farms."

Butternut Hill says "only in recent years has this been tried out and farmers are slow about trying something new. We feel that in this district it would not work well because of the diversity of crops raised."

Strangely enough, though the Forums were not enthusiastic about the practicability of co-operative farming in Canada, they all were of opinion that such a plan would benefit a young man with land but no capital to purchase machinery.

The idea seems to be that farmers are against the idea of disrupting their private system of farming when they are well established and flourishing, to embrace the idea of co-operative farming. They see too many difficulties in the various individual likes and dislikes of the many branches of mixed farming, to promote a smooth-working and lucrative co-operative scheme of farming. Some Forums would however, consider the use of co-operative machinery as a wise course in the event of a group of young men with land, but limited money. These men having no established system of farming in existence, might do well to share the cost and use of expensive machinery during the initial years of their farming life. River Valley and Easy Street Forums would endorse such a plan, but other Forums such as Amherst Island and Palace Road have doubts as to its practicability and to where it might lead politically.

Palace Road says "There are a lot of factors entering into this, including the human. Not being Communistic by nature, we came to the conclusion that some one else had better try it instead of us."

Amherst Island adds "No, he would lose the incentive to work if he had to share everything with others possibly not quite so ambitious as himself. The co-operative system of farming, such as the system like the Russian way to be appealing to our group."

Desmond Forum comments "There is the pride of achievement in the earning and purchasing a new tractor or combine, or the installation of some modern improvement on our farms. Such a pride in one's possessions is a powerful and vital factor in spurring a man's ambition and one which is lacking in a co-operative system."

(3) Though the forums were not enthusiastic about the co-operative ownership of all machinery, they agreed that in cases where a number of men were needed to do a job such as threshing or wood sawing, that the co-operative ownership of that machine would be quite practical. Some of the recommended machinery was sprayers, grain separators, ensilage cutters, bulldozers, seed-cleaning plants, wood saws, forage harvester, combines and numerous other machines which can be used to advantage without regard to a seasonal rush.

Further Comments: In answer to the statement that custom tillage and harvesting could supplement the co-operative ownership of machinery some forums argued that a better job could be done more consistently by those who were working for their benefits, than if it were done by a person working by the hour, with a large number of jobs booked ahead.

On the other hand, some forums argued that co-operative use of equipment would result in many careless and inexperienced men using machinery without giving it the necessary care and attention.

As Easy Street remarked: "The Broadcast contained lots of information on all sides of the questions without forming a definite conclusion."

Notes: Desmond Forum had Dr. Jeffs, County Health Officer in attendance at their last meeting and he gave an interesting outline of the health services carried out in Lennox and Addington.

Hawley Forum has organized a milk testing unit in their district. They also discussed the parking meter question in the Town of Napanee. Have you filled out your questionnaire?

"The bigger the better" doesn't always make sense!

Why pay for what you'll never need? . . .

WHY pay for extra seating space you seldom use? A Hillman has ample room to meet all your family's normal driving needs—with comfort. It's easier to park, too—and takes far less garage space than bigger, bulkier cars.

Let's consider safety! Any engineer will tell you that good balance, not dead weight, keeps a car on the road. That's why a Hillman handles and steers so beautifully. And in an emergency, it's not mere size that counts—it's heavy-gauge steel and one-piece frame and body construction. The Hillman has both!

Let's consider economy! Why use 100% more gas to haul an extra ton of useless weight? The Hillman's new, bigger, "PLUS POWER" engine packs plenty of power for smooth get-aways, easy hill-climbing and speedy highway cruising. You get all this with a gas consumption of up to 35 miles per gallon!

The Hillman is here to stay! A permanent, constantly increasing network of Parts and Service outlets is serving thousands upon thousands of happy, enthusiastic owners from coast to coast.

MR. DREW CRITICIZES

In another section of this paper will be found a report of an address given by Edgar Drew, Reeve of Camden, at last week's meeting of the County Council. The subject of the address was "Crime, Law Enforcement and Public Opinion, in Lennox and Addington."

Mr. Drew is one of the most thoughtful and earnest members of the County Council. He is held in very high esteem in his own township and throughout the county. He is a leader in community projects, in the church to which he belongs and is a progressive farmer. His opinions are not expressed without thought and are worthy of consideration.

Mr. Drew criticized the Lennox and Addington Ministerial Association, and more particularly Lieut. Gardner, Officer-in-Charge of The Napanee Salvation Army, for making an appeal on behalf of Alfred Childs, who was sentenced to hang for the murder of Elijah McQuaig. Mr. Drew is not the only person who has expressed disapproval of the Ministerial Association. But, on the other hand, there have been many who have commended the Ministerial Association and Lieut. Gardner, for their actions. However, the Cabinet in Ottawa, decided to grant an appeal, no doubt, on the basis of information laid before it, which may or not have been added to by the action of the Ministerial Association.

It is not at all likely that the Ministers had any idea of promoting juvenile crime, when they passed the resolution favoring a commutation of Childs' sentence, "Christian leaders," Mr. Drew said, "should work for the salvation of souls." That is exactly what they had in mind, when they asked for leniency. Childs is a boy who has had little if any chance to make anything of his life. The ministers, apparently, believe in the doctrine of the second chance and, no doubt, felt that if Childs went to the gallows his chances of salvation would be practically nil. Under the guidance of Lieut. Gardner, who was Childs' spiritual adviser, a marked change took place in the young criminal's attitude. Lieut. Gardner was most sincere in his activities on Childs' behalf, and felt that he would not be doing his duty to society if he did not make every effort to have Childs' sentence commuted and thereby give him an opportunity to become a useful citizen, if and when he is released. Under the expert personal care of The Salvation Army Officer in charge of prisoners in the penitentiary, Childs will be given direction such has he never had before. What the results may be, no one knows, but the ministers, no doubt, thought that a chance should be given him.

Mr. Drew said that "other crimes in the County and a recent happening in the town, have created harsh public opinion and a whispering campaign." He also criticized the local papers for not giving ample space to local events. Weekly newspapers are not particularly interested in playing up crimes. Their function, we believe, is to present the better things that happen in the community. The daily papers feature crimes — to the disgust of most people — and fail, to a large extent, to present the events which reflect the finer things of life. With regard to "a recent happening in the town," this paper carried the fullest account of any newspaper in the Province, of the actual facts in the case. The information printed was given by the Inspector of Criminal Justice from Toronto, and Corporal Smith. It contained all the facts, after an exhaustive investigation, the results of which had been placed in the hands of the Crown Attorney. The whispering campaign was based on conjecture and grew and grew as it was passed around—without any foundation in fact.

The statement was also made by Mr. Drew, that juvenile crime is on the increase. That may be true in some localities, but figures show that it is actually on the decrease in this County.

Mr. Drew was critical of the lack of interest in the town and in the local press, in sports. Possibly in regard to hockey this paper may have fallen down, but not so far as baseball is concerned. It is hardly fair to say that there is not much interest in sports in Napanee. The Sports Committee report of the Napanee Lions Club, shows that in 1940 there was a total attendance, at baseball games at The Gibbard Memorial Park, of 11,000; in 1948, 10,575 and in 1947, 8,000. The Lions Club, with a membership of 90, mostly young business and professional men, has sponsored sports of all kinds. Ninety men in a town of this size represents a fair cross-section of the active business men of the town. The Lions sponsored juvenile, midget and bantam baseball teams and throughout the winter, contribute to juvenile hockey operation. Besides, in the past several winters, the Lions have operated—free of charge—a skating rink for juveniles. Their interest in junior sports is credited, by local police authorities, with the decline in juvenile delinquency. Lack of interest in hockey is largely the result of the utter lack of accommodation for spectators at the outmoded rink.

There is something to be said for Mr. Drew's criticism of the lack of interest in supplying the proper type of reading material in the County Gaol. The Ministerial Association members might show more interest in the prisoners in the gaol and could see to it that decent, uplifting literature is made available to the inmates of the gaol.

Mr. Drew's address will do some good. It will help to bring out some facts which the public need to know before opinions are expressed. We do not at all condemn Mr. Drew for expressing himself, but commend him for his genuine concern for the welfare of the County.

GIMME - GIMME !

Last week, at the sessions of the County Council the COUNTY War Memorial got quite a going-over. There was a lot of talk, especially about the disposition of $63,000 fund which has been accumulated in the past several years. But there was very little said about a COUNTY Memorial.

There were delegations present asking for a part of the fund for use in individual municipalities and several of the Reeves put in their bid for some of the money, for their own constituencies.

When the fund was started it was allocated for the purpose of providing for a COUNTY Memorial to the Men who fell in the Second Great War. It was generally understood that whatever memorial was decided should be in the County Town, Napanee. A Community Hall, which would be available for use by all the people in the County, was suggested. Later, a Hospital was proposed, but that idea has apparently been shelved.

Now, nearly every community in the County has some pet project for which some of the Memorial Fund money is being sought. . . . Tamworth would like a covered skating rink — Bath would like an open air rink — Camden needs a recreation centre, and so on. Part of the fund, $15,000, is definitely ear-marked for a rest-room in the Town of Napanee.

If the money is divided, it is not difficult to see what will happen. Allocated on the basis of assessment, the amounts available for the different municipalities will range from about $1,000 up to the $15,000 for Napanee. It is not difficult to visualize the result. In a few years, the project for which the money is used, if divided, will have lost the interest of its promoters. The money will be gone and so will the so-called memorials. The men who gave their lives would think they were soon forgotten.

It is to be hoped that selfish interests will be abandoned and concentrated effort be made to provide a lasting COUNTY Memorial. Whatever form it takes, or wherever it is located — in Napanee, Tamworth, Odessa, Bath, or any other community in the County, it should be a permanent reminder of the sacrifice of the men who died in the cause of freedom.

THOSE PARKING METERS !

Parking meters are to be given a try in Napanee. That was the decision of the Napanee Council at a meeting held last week. There was opposition within the Council and from the public, but the majority of the Council were convinced that the use of meters is in the best interest of motorists.

Certainly the traffic problem on the main streets of Napanee has become serious. Almost every day of the week, double parking on Dundas Street is such a common sight that it has become more or less an accepted fact. It creates a menace, but from the standpoint of the motorists, seems necessary, if a stop is to be made in front of any of the stores.

There is a town by-law which limits parking on Dundas Street to two hours and prohibits parking on one side of some of the other streets. But with only one policeman on duty at a time, it has been found almost impossible to enforce the by-law.

The difficulty of finding parking space, affects all motorists — people from the rural areas, the town, and tourists. The parking meter by-law is designed to keep traffic moving and it is confidently believed by its sponsors, that it will be of general benefit. The meters are to be installed on only four blocks on the Main Street and one short block on Centre Street, south of Dundas. That still leaves the majority of the streets in the central part of the town, as well at the Market Square open for motorists who wish to stay parked for more than one hour. Distances in Napanee are not so great that it will constitute a hardship in walking from a car parked out of the meter zone, to the business section.

It is a natural thing to be suspicious of an innovation and to condemn it, without too much thought. But all the Town Council is asking is that the meters be given a fair trial for a year. If they are found to be unsatisfactory, they will be removed at the end of the year.

The straw vote taken by the Farm Forums, last week indicated disapproval of the rural communities of parking meters. One forum went so far as to pass a resolution which stated that the people of the community would shop in centres where there are no meters. Up to the present Napanee is the only larger centre in the district which has not adopted parking meters. There are some villages in the County which have unlimited parking, but due to their size they are no able to offer all the shopping facilities required by the average citizen. If shoppers cannot buy what they want in the villages, and will not come to Napanee, they must go to Belleville or Kingston and there, they will also have to use the meters.

It would be only fair to give meters in Napanee a real trial before completely condemning them. We feel sure that even those who are most bitterly opposed to them now, will realize their advantages in a year's time.

Community Club Sends Resolution To County Council

The regular meeting of the South Fredericksburgh - South Addiphustown Community Club was held on Friday evening, March 24th, in Dorland United Church, with a good attendance. The business meeting was presided over by the president, Maj.-Gen. E. Schmidlin.

A letter from the Board of Christian Neighborhood was read expressing appreciation for the gift of $75. from the Community Club. This sum was the net proceeds received from the first play presented at Sillsville Hall. Mr. Stalker was appointed as the Community Club representative on the Board of the Christian Neighborhood.

A motion was passed to send a resolution from the Community Club to the County Council, asking that the money paid into the County War Memorial Fund, be redistributed to the various municipalities of the County, in the proportion by which it was collected, this money to be used in Community projects by the Townships.

At the conclusion of the business meeting a program was given by the Choral Group. This programme consisted of several vocal numbers by the whole group and also by the men's quartette. A selection was also given by a mixed quartette composed of Miss J. Miller, Miss H. Smith, Mr. M. Christie and Mr. J. Baker. Miss F. Bird and Mr. Bruce gave instrumental numbers and Miss J. Miller a piano solo. Readings were given by Mrs. J. Roblin and Mrs. R. Stalker.

Lunch was served at the conclusion of the program.

Kinette Club Dinner Meeting

The Napanee Kinette Club held their monthly dinner meeting in the Superior Banquet Hall on Thursday March 16th with Vice President Dot Waddington presiding. The tables were nicely decorated with shamrocks for St. Patrick's Day. One new member, Jean Smart was presented with her Kinette pin and welcomed to the club.

A donation of $10.00 was received from the Home and School Club, $5 for Children's Aid work and $5 to be forwarded to Toronto to the Sick Children's Hospital Building fund.

There was considerable business discussed and plans completed for the Bingo, which was held March 22nd.

The meeting was turned over to the programme committee, Marg. Curry, Doris Coakwell and Marg. Welsh.

A sing song of Irish-songs was enjoyed and a short contest after which progressive euchre was played with Marg Powell being the winner with high score and, Bobbie Hughes being the winner of the lone hand prize.

OH! NO!!!

Pilsburgh, March 24. — Common Pleas Court found recently that Preston Williams hit his wife on the head with a rolling pin.

Judge M. A. Musmanno, a bachelor, told Williams:

"From time immemorial, cartoonists have depicted henpecked husbands fleeing from irate wives wielding rolling pins.

"It is incredible that a husband should hit his wife with a rolling pin.

"This is revolutionary and will not be tolerated.

"For making war on your wife, and cartoonists and humorists as well: four months to a year in the workhouse."

AMERICANS TIP $7,250,000 A DAY

Washington. — Americans leave $7,250,000 a day in tips on restaurant tables, an average of $2.75 a day for each of the country's 3,000,000 waiters and waitresses, the Senate Finance Committee was told, last week. The teller was one who should know. Mrs. Imogene B. Wright, a Washington hotel waitress and author of a "Hand-book for Waitresses."

She testified on a bill to revise the social security law to require, among other things, the reporting of tips as earnings. Mrs. Wright questioned whether this is possible because it "would involve making over 3,000,000 people tell the truth."

Mrs. Wright didn't object to paying taxes for social security purposes on tips, but said most waitresses "would like to see tipping abolished and a minimum wage substituted."

On the basis of 280 working days a year, Mrs. Wright computed that "a probable grand total of $2,030,000,000 a year in tips which would be taxable for social security purposes if a way could be found to do it."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bath, Ont.
March 28, 1950

To The Editor of
The Napanee Beaver.
Dear Sir:

May I correct a statement made in this paper a week ago?

I was correct in saying that the ballot being cast in Bath this week will entitle a Hotel to only one beverage room I was misinformed as to the requirements for entry into that Beverage Room.

Further contact with the Liquor License Board has revealed that under this ballot a hotel owner may apply on Application Form Number 10, which will give him a license for a mixed Beverage Room into which both men and women can enter.

So, the citizens of Bath are voting to determine whether they want a mixed Beverage Room for men and women both.

If this error has injured the interests or insulted the personal feelings of anyone in Bath, I extend to them my sincere apologies. All will admit that it is good to know what this ballot means. We would have gone to the polls in ignorance had not someone tried to define the ballot.

Yours sincerely,
A. T. DENHOLM.

Holstein Association Championship Show To Be Held, Peterboro

At a recent meeting of directors of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada from the East-Central Ontario district, it was decided to again this year, hold the district Championship Show at Peterboro. The date has not definitely been set as yet but it will probably be around the middle of October. J.D. Innes, of Woodstock, Ontario, will be the judge.

The ten counties covered by the Peterboro Championship Show are York, Simcoe, Ontario, Victoria, Durham, Northumberland, Peterboro, Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington.

It is expected that the Eastern Ontario Championship Show will again be held in connection with Ottawa Winter Fair. If suitable arrangements can be made the West Central Ontario Championship Show will be held at the Canadian National Exhibition which should once again restore the Holstein exhibit at the C.N.E. to its prewar position as the largest on the continent. The location and date of the Western Ontario Championship Show has not yet been decided.

The grant from the Association to each of the four Championship Shows has been increased from the $625 offered last year to $1,000. A grant of $100 each is being offered by the Association to County Black and White Days, of which there were 40 in Ontario, last year.

Red Cross Campaign Starts Soon

The Noronic disaster in Toronto last September found Red Cross ready to play a praiseworthy role. The relationship between disaster patients and Red Cross workers was evidence of the sympathetic service which this great organization stands ready to offer. People in a state of severe shock were cared for, clothed, and restored to relatives. Policemen, divers and firemen were fed, and Red Cross drivers took over the task of driving relatives to the morgue and of comforting the bereaved. Red Cross should always be notified immediately when any disaster occurs in the County, for Red Cross is prepared to help in all emergencies. Mrs. Bruce Finlay, of Strathcona, holds the office of Chairman of Disaster Relief, and any appeal to her committees will receive immediate attention.

Home Nursing Classes have been conducted in this county in recent years and have been very successful. None can possibly estimate the good results of these courses. But many women testify that they have more confidence in nursing the sick at home. And young mothers are grateful for the lessons on Baby Care. Another course will be started this Spring and information may be obtained from Mrs. Ralph Bell, Napanee.

Swimming classes have proved exceedingly popular, and this Branch intends to continue the project as long as there is a demand for it. There are many summer colonies in our county, and they are all very grateful to have the children taught swimming in their holidays. Parents have more peace of mind when they are confident that their children are good swimmers, and they can really enjoy being at the lake.

Lennox and Addington Branch shares in the work of the Department of Nutrition by providing Cod Liver Oil for Children of the County, whose parents are unable to purchase it. This project is carried on in co-operation with the County Health Unit, whose Nurses assume the responsibility of distribution. Red Cross is desirous, always, of co-operating with all welfare agencies. This Branch also shares in hospital visiting in the Kingston area, by contributing to the Kingston Branch of the Red Cross, in order that visitors may take gifts of chocolate and cigarettes to patients. At Chrismas-time, parcels of useful articles are delivered to all permanent bed-patients from this County, who are in Kingston homes and hospitals.

There is an overwhelming need for Clothing for Refugees in camps in both France and Germany. Between 300 and 400 per day come to the Paris Red Cross, for help. Hospital supplies for Red Cross Outpost Hospitals are always in urgent demand. This is work which could be done by this Branch, if there were more willing workers.

Red Cross is just as necessary in peace as in war. In Napanee the organization was formed at the time of the South African War. At that time and during two Great Wars, the people of this County rose to heights of self-sacrifice and provided necessities for their fighting men. But never before has there been such great need in time of peace. The Red Cross can help to maintain peace by meeting the needs of all men. We are an International organization, with a war to grind, no chip on our shoulder. The United Nations has urged its member nations to promote Red Cross and recognize its voluntary character.

The local Branch is the key pin in Red Cross. It is organized to serve the Community as well as to share in the work across the country. Become a Member to-day and do your part to bring our uneasy world a step nearer to real peace.

THE NEED IS GREATER NOW THAN LAST YEAR OR THE YEAR BEFORE!

DORLAND

Dorland, March 25. — Between the continued mild weather of the past week and the rain and snow on Thursday, we have been wading in a sea of slush, and road conditions have been doubtful in places, but much of the water seems to be gone today. A few sugar bushes have been tapped, crows are an old story, and killdeers and phoebes have appeared, so, altogether, it is quite springlike.

There are a number of cases of flu about.

Miss L. Carr, who has been ill for the past week, is still causing her friends worry.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Sandford and Miss Margaret Sanford, have also been sick, but are recovering.

We were sorry to learn that Mrs. Frank Gallagher and Mr. Herbert Funehard are both patients in Kingston hospital. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Mr. James Bruce, who was in hospital for some weeks, was brought home by ambulance, and is still confined to bed.

Mr. Henry Owens is still in hospital, and we understand will be for some time longer.

Mrs. J. Gauther and daughters, of Winnipeg, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rombough, and other friends.

The Choral Group of the Community Club presented a musical program in the school room of the United Church on Friday evening, which was much enjoyed. General Schmidlin made a very acceptable master of ceremonies.

The Nile River has a total length of 3,800 miles yet in the 960 miles of its course through Egypt it has no tributary stream.

Occupation authorities in Germany reported that approximately 75 per cent of industries survived the Second World War.

She yielded to his wishes;
But now that they are wed she sets
His hand to washing dishes!

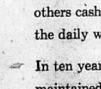
"I'm just on my way to the bank"



He is just one of the hundreds who during the day will drop into the branch bank around the corner.

Savings depositors with their pay cheques . . . retail merchants with the day's cash . . . people consulting the manager about loans, others cashing cheques . . . it is all part of the daily work of the branch bank.

In ten years the number of accounts maintained by bank depositors has grown from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000.

This shows how Canadians have come to count on their local banks for a great variety of services. The banks keep pace with the growing needs of the nation.

WALTER C. SNIDER DIED SUDDENLY LAST WEEK

WAS ERNESTTOWN CLERK FOR MANY YEARS

Death came quite unexpectedly on Monday morning, March 19, when Walter C. Snider passed away at his residence. Mr. Snider, who was 70 years of age, was the youngest son of the late Charles Snider and Mary Ann Rose, and had spent most of his life on the farm, where he died. Mr. Snider was very prominent in township affairs, having been clerk of Ernestown Township Council for 30 years. He served as secretary of Odessa School Board for 35 years. Mr. Snider was predeceased by two sisters, who died in infancy, and by three brothers, Elias, Alonzo and Fred. Mr. Snider had been in failing health for some time, but was around as usual, until the day before his death.

The funeral was held from the Ross Jones Funeral Home in Odessa, on Tuesday afternoon, under Masonic Order. Rev. R. Bonsteel officiating. A quartette, 'Does Jesus Care' was sung by Mrs. S. Sprcule, Mrs. F. Vrooman, Mrs. M. Chamberlain and Mr. J. McGaughey. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Hervey Smith, Willie Smith, Wilbur Hammond, Arthur Stevens, Elgin Parrott and Percy Wright. Flower-bearers were Messrs. Milton Lewis, Harold Branden, Ross Phillips, Glen Snider, Shelley Denyes and D.F. Aylsworth.

Left to mourn are his wife, formerly Katherine Hartman, a foster-daughter Laura; Mrs. John Campbell, at home, and an adopted son, Russell Snider, now in England.

Interment took place in the family plot, in Wilton cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunker and Mrs. Vernon Smith all of Ottawa, attended the funeral, among those from a distance.

THE BANK WITH 730 FRONT DOORS...

One of these doors is near you . . . it belongs to the local branch of The Royal Bank of Canada in your community.

To you and your neighbours, your local branch is The Royal Bank. Because The Royal Bank of Canada is not a big bank with branches; the branches themselves are the bank.

There are over 730 branches of this bank in Canada and abroad. In Canada alone there are 669, in cities, towns and villages from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island.

Each branch, keyed to the needs of its own community, offers you the strength and varied services of one of the world's largest banks. Your local Manager has behind him the experience, knowledge and organization of the whole institution. He is there to serve you in every way he can.

Goose Bay, Labrador. Here, at the famous airport, the Royal Bank opened a pioneer branch in a pioneer area during the war.

Moncton, N.B. One of the bank's newer branches designed to match the character of the district it serves.

Truro, N.S., where a fine new building has arisen on the site of the old branch which burned down on a Friday and reopened in temporary quarters across the street, on Monday!

Kenora, Ont., where the Royal Bank of Canada recently opened a branch in what was formerly a private home.

Winnipeg, Man., a branch reflecting the spirit of the west.

Conway-Sandhurst Home and School Association

The March meeting of Conway-Sandhurst Home and School Association was held at Conway School on Tuesday, March 21st, at 8:00 p.m. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the financial report given by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. O'Neil. There was a letter read from Lakeshore Home and School, accepting the invitation to visit Conway and supply the programme at the April 18th meeting. Also one from Miss Elizabeth Harrison of Kingston, saying she would attend the May meeting.

It was decided that the members should bring to the next meeting any good clothing, toys or other suitable article to be sent to the Unitarian Relief Services.

A discussion of the new system of education was decided upon for some future meeting. Donations for hot school lunches were received.

Mrs. G. K. Stewart, home education convener, gave a very interesting and educational talk on religious education in the home, showing how parents by religious teaching at an early age could guide their children to hope for a better world — faith in the future and show them the value of service. She also pointed out the harm done by crime comics.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. M. Young and committee.

Doctors say that 35 per cent of the milk sold in Canada for human consumption is not pasteurized.

In Loving Memory

BADGLEY — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ernest Badgley, who passed away suddenly on March 25th, 1947.

Three years have passed, our hearts still sore;
As time goes on, we miss him more.
His loving smile, his dear loved face,
No one on earth can take his place.
He bade no one a last farewell,
He said goodbye to none.
His loving heart had ceased to beat,
Before we knew it, he had gone.

Lovingly remembered by his Wife, ANNIE, and Daughters, VIVA (Mrs. P. Marshall), and VELDA, and Son-in-law, GRANT, and little Granddaughter, VIVIAN MARSHALL.

13ap

SHARPE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Rev. L. A. Sharpe, who passed away March 26th, 1940.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
but never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

Sadly missed, and ever remembered,
13ap THE FAMILY.

106 Exhibitors At Seed Fair Last Week

Greater Number Than Other Years

The Lennox and Addington County Seed Fair held on March 23rd in Napanee, was the most successful yet held. This event, of course, was sponsored by the local Crop Improvement Association and there were 28 exhibitors at our show, showing a total of 106 exhibits. The quality of exhibits was excellent and was definitely an improvement over last year's fair. The growers can be complimented on the effort put forth because it all means extra work and expense at a busy time of the year.

FARM FORUM REVIEW

Well! I should catch somebody home here, there's the car in the garage and the kitchen door's open . . . let me see . . . it's 12.30. They should just be finished dinner . . . well! let's go. We stride confidently up to the door, much more confident than we feel: "Good-day, sir!" (A self-built farmer of middle age answers the knock and invites us in). "Just finishing dinner," he explains pleasantly. "Want you have a bit?"

"No, thanks! I've eaten. I'd like to talk to you about farm forum." We tell the pleasant faced housewife, standing by.

"Farm Forum, eh!" mutes Mr. Andrews, leaning back in his chair and rolling a cigarette. "Well! the wife and I listen in occasionally — it's a mighty good programme."

"We listen, when we get the chance," adds the wife; disappearing into the pantry with a load of dishes, (but goodness knows, that is not very often."

"Your pretty busy," we venture, as Mr. Andrews scratches a match on the bottom of his chair and inhales deeply. "Busy . . . well bir" we're too darn busy. Seems like every night of the week there's something to go to and there are two or three meetings left over." "Why!" he continued, "just take last week for example. Monday night was National Film Board. Tuesday night was W. M. S. at Mrs. Dargan's. Wednesday was lodge night and Thursday . . . oh yes, Thursday was the wife's lodge night. She was elected the Supreme Oriental Potentate last week, they tell me." He winked broadly. From the pantry the clatter of dishes stopped sharply: Mr. Andrews rolled his eyes significantly and continued hurriedly. "Oh yes, Friday was a meeting of the hog producers and Saturday we had to go into the city for some parts for the milking machine." "So you see, young man," he concluded, flipping his cigarette into the open stove damper: "there's just about enough going on, without starting anything else."

It was with such a situation in mind that the questions posed for discussion this week, were as follows:

(a) Name the organizations that are active in your community, and list the activities of each.

(b) Do any of these organizations overlap in their activities?

(c) Is there overlapping among the leaders of the organizations.

(d) Where there is overlapping amongst activities in leaders, what do you think should be done?

Despite the long lists of community activities submitted, there was almost unanimous agreement that such activities do not overlap seriously enough to affect the life of any organization.

Switzerville Forum says — Occasionally these outside activities interfere with entertainments or activities in our own immediate community. Then it is up to the individual to choose which would be more beneficial to himself and the community, and act accordingly.

This opinion expressed the sentiments of most of the forums, which, while agreeing, there were a great many different community organizations which demanded participation, thought the dates of these meetings themselves have to be manoeuvred about to accommodate them all.

(b) As to the question of overlapping of leadership, Maple Ridge speaks for the majority of the forums, when it says: There is an overlapping in leadership, the reason being that all are behind these projects, but are not interested enough to attend many meetings (as long as things are going well) so the ones who attend have to take on the work in several groups.

Enterprise Forum suggests the rotation of offices, so that every member of an organization must assume the responsibility of the principal offices.

The Forums were not too sure what could be done to remedy any overlapping of community activities. One suggestion was that the ladies' societies should arrange to meet on the same nights as the men's lodges. This would be fine with childless families, but might prove difficult in putting into practice.

PARKING METERS

The County Forum sent out a questionnaire to the various forums enquiring as to their reaction to the installation of parking meters.

The results were emphatically stated by most forums that parking meters were not a popular innovation.

The questionnaire distributed was worded thus:

Salada Tea Bags are handy for afternoon tea

M. B. MILLS CO. PHONE 103 NAPANEE

'Whereas, our County Town of Napanee is contemplating the installation of parking meters, and as we, the farmers of Lennox and Addington will be affected thereby, what is the opinion of your Forum in this matter?'

In favour of parking meters — one forum. Not in favour of parking meters — 16 forums. No opinion — one forum.

The following resolution was adopted by Morven Forum. Moved by Claude Craig, seconded by Carl Vanalyck, that all the members of Morven Forum do all their trading in other outside centres, if the town of Napanee installs parking meters. This resolution passed unanimously.

It would appear that parking meters are not universally popular.

RENT CONTROLS TO CONTINUE TO APRIL 30TH, 1951

Ottawa. — The Commons endorsed the Government's decision to continue rent controls for another thirteen months and then get out of the rent administration field.

With no dissenting vote, the chamber gave third and final reading to a government bill to extend only to April 30th, 1951, the Transitional Measures Act, the legislative instrument which gives the government power to impose ceilings.

The bill now goes to the Senate. A temporary measure carried over from the war, the Transitional Measures Act would expire if not adopted by both Houses by midnight.

There was some dissatisfaction expressed with the enabling bill during a short debate on second reading.

Under the Liquor Control Act convictions were registered against three men, for intoxication in a public place, and were fined $10.00 each and costs of $5.50.

A North Frederickburgh resident paid a fine of $100.00 plus costs for having liquor in a public place.

Village of Bath Remains "Dry" Following Vote

Just Over 50 Per Cent. Vote for Licences

The Village of Bath will remain "dry" following the vote on Wednesday, March 29th, on two proposals regarding the open sale of beer, in the village. The two questions on which a vote was taken, lacked sufficient support to gain the sixty per cent. majority required.

One measure which would have permitted the sale of beer and wine with meals, under a dining-room license, was lost 115 to 97, an affirmative vote of 54.2 per cent. The second question, which would have allowed sale of beer in licensed premises, to which women would have been admitted, was defeated in a vote of 116 to 94 — or 55.2 per cent.

213 of the 232 voters went to the poll. Chairman of the Committee backing the move for licenses was A. A. Vandewater. The opposition forces were led by William Hosleton and the two clergymen of the village, Rev. L. G. Osborne-Walker, Rector of St. John's Anglican Church, and Rev. A. T. Denholm, Minister of the United Church.

If the vote had been in favor of the "Wets" it was proposed to re-open the Bayview House, an hotel which has been closed for some time. Bath has been legally dry since 1916. Another vote on the issue cannot be taken for three years.

MR., MRS. R. HEARNS' HOME COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Hearns, Clarksville, Napanee, early last Thursday morning. All the contents were also burned, with the exception of a baby carriage and a small electric refrigerator.

About 12:10 a.m., Mrs. Hearns wakened to feed the baby and smelled smoke. She called her husband and the ceiling of the first floor over the kitchen and living room, was found to be in flames. An alarm was turned in to the Napanee Fire Brigade, but the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be done to save the building. Due to the distance from the river, the only source of supply of water, and the soft condition of the fields between the house and river, the fire truck could not be used, to pump water.

There was no insurance on either the house or contents.

BOYS RESPONSIBLE FOR PLACING IRON ON C. N. R. TRACK

Following investigation by Chief of Police T.S. Moore, two young boys, eight and nine years of age, were found to have been responsible for placing iron on the C.N.R. tracks on Sunday, March 26th. Since the iron was discovered in time to prevent an accident, and because of the age of the two boys, no charge was laid against them, on the advice of the C.N.R. officials. The boys were given a severe reprimand by the Chief and their parents were warned also.

The iron was removed from the track just a few minutes before a fast train from the east would have been due. A freight train on the east bound track had been flagged and came to a stop, just about opposite where the irons were placed. Members of the crew of the freight train were able to remove them before the express was due.

ONTARIO LIBERALS DELAY CONVENTION

The management committee of the Ontario Liberal Association decided Saturday to postpone the provincial party convention to choose a successor to Farquhar Oliver, member of the legislature for Grey South, who resigned the party leadership last October. Mr. Oliver continues to lead the party in the legislature.

When Mr. Oliver announced his desire to resign the post it was believed a convention would be held in April or May, but the committee, meeting in closed session, was understood to have decided that a convention would not be held until next autumn.

A leadership committee which is canvassing the field for possible candidates was instructed to continue its work. So far only one candidate has announced he would seek the leadership C. C. Calder, member of the legislature for London. The committee was reported to have about 10 names on its list of possible candidates. Two Federal ministers have been mentioned in this connection, Hon. Paul Martin, Health Minister of Windsor, and Hon. Walter Harris, Citizenship Minister, of Markdale, Ont.

For a children's party table, stick colorful candles in cored apples, and tie just above apple with bow of ribbon or crepe paper.

ANNOUNCE PRICES FOR CANNING CROP; PEAS BRING MORE

Minimum prices for tomatoes, green peas and sweet corn purchased for canning in Ontario this year, were announced last week by Frank Perkin, Chairman of the Farm Products Marketing Board.

The prices were those recommended by boards of arbitration representing the grower and the processor. In the case of tomatoes, sweet corn and green and wax beans, the prices are slightly lower than those paid in 1949. Green peas are substantially higher. Asparagus will be an exception as is unchanged. Gross value of these crops exceeds an estimated $7,000,000.

The price schedule, with the 1949 price in brackets: Tomatoes, per ton, No. 1, $26.85 ($27.60; No. 2, $16.85 (17.60); ungraded, $21.85 ($22.60); green peas, per ton, $75 ($60); sweet corn, per ton, $18.75 ($22.50); green and wax beans; $80 ($82); asparagus, No. 1 grade, 25 cents per pound; utility A grade 18½ cents per pound; utility B grade, 14 cents per pound; No. 2 grade, seven cents.

The one change in asparagus was in utility. A grade, which sold for 20 cents a pound last year. All prices are f.o.b. factory or factory receiving station.

The asparagus and bean agreements were unanimously recommended by negotiation committees of growers and processors appointed within the industry. Negotiations on tomatoes, green peas and sweet corn failed and the dispute went to arbitration boards.

Prices for the canning green pea crop are tied to the price of pea seed, Mr. Perkins explained. The 1949 price of $60 a ton was contingent on the cost to the grower of $2.50 per 56-pound bushel of pea seed. Four bushels of seed are required to plant one acre.

It has long been realized, Mr. Perkin said, that the $2.50 per bushel charged growers for pea seed was well below its actual cost. The 1950 arrangement has been reached with a view to selling seed at or about its actual cost. The price there has been adjusted to $75 per ton to the grower in consideration of the cost for seed being increased to $7 per bushel.

In the event of crop failure, the agreement provides that should the grower's return for peas harvested be less than $56 per acre the processor shall absorb the seed charge to one-half the gross returns for the crop.

Where peas are left unharvested in the green state, the grower, at the direction of any processor, shall harvest them and deliver them to the processor in the pipe state and the grower shall be paid for them at the rate of 6¼ cents per pound.

50 Foodhandlers Attend Meeting In Napanee

Hear Addresses on Proper Methods

The first Foodhandlers Night, sponsored by the Lennox and Addington County Health Unit, drew an attendance of about fifty, which included proprietors of eating establishments, waitresses and cooks. The meeting was held last Thursday night at the Superior Restaurant, the chairman was E.H. Spade, Sanitary Inspector with the Lennox and Addington County Health Unit. Dr. J. I. Jeffs, Medical Health Officer, extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the Health Unit.

Food handling is a very important industry, he said, as many people eat out, now and then, and it is most essential that they have clean and sanitary surroundings. He also spoke of the spread of diseases, which is accredited to improper food handling.

Mayor Vine extended a welcome on behalf of the town and Reg. Douglas on behalf of the County Council, both speaking of the great interest taken in food handling, as it was playing a vital role in maintaining the health of the nation.

During the evening a film was shown, named "The Foodhandler and the Hashslinger," which depicted the right and wrong methods of serving food.

There were two exhibits on display by Burton's Pest Control, from Kingston, and the Acme Chemical Products, of Toronto, represented by F. S. Rombough.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Timmy Enjoys Camp

Search for Cinderella Continues

BY WALLY BELFRY
Telegram Staff Reporter

Cinderella can have her trip to Hollywood: Blue Mountain Camp is the place for me."

As a symbol, Timmy represented the dreams of 13,000 other wards of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, when he wrote those words.

Ironically, an evening of dancing pleasure for 3,000 Ontario teen-agers will make those dreams come true. The expected $3,000 proceeds of the Cinderella Ball will provide a three-week stay at the camp near Collingwood for many young cripples.

The cheque will be presented to Timmy by a girl whose dreams also will come true at the Ball at Palace Pier, Thursday, April 13. Chosen from nominations of Telegram readers to be "Search For Cinderella," she will be the unmarried Ontario student or working girl, age 18 to 21, whose character most nearly matches that of the fairy tale and cartoon-movie heroine arriving at four local Odeon theatres, Good Friday.

WARDROBE

Ontario's Cinderella will receive a complete holiday wardrobe chosen especially for her at Eaton's, a free trip to Ontario Canada. Then she will board an aircraft to Hollywood for a week's holiday with parent or guardian, as guests of Walt Disney.

Matching her happiness will be the crippled children for whom Timmy wrote: "If I had $3,000, I'd spend it to help myself and other crippled boys to go to Blue Mountain Camp. To us, it's the one place that we are equal with others.

"You might not believe it, but there we do everything like they do in other camps. We go swimming, we play baseball and football and we even go on overnight hikes and sleep out under the stars. Some of us have to go on crutches and in wheel chairs and maybe we don't get around as easy as the others, but it's a heck of a lot of fun.

PLAYS WITH GANG

"At camp I can get out and play with the guys, something I miss all year long. Since I have to go around in a wheel chair, though the doctors say I'll be walking in a couple of years, I don't go to school yet. I'd like to get out with the neighborhood gang, but you can't get very far in a wheel chair.

"And yet, you know, I was scared to death when I first went to camp two years ago. I thought I would have a hard time getting on with the other kids are swimming or playing games because I thought they would laugh at me.

"I changed my mind one day when a boy with a bad arm asked if I'd help him tie up his shoe laces. Then I knew I wasn't so helpless after all.

"Now you can see why I was so pleased to hear that the Telegram School Reporters in all the secondary schools in Greater Toronto are organizing the Search For Cinderella and the Cinderella Ball. If they are successful and sell all the tickets, they told me I would have $3,000 which I can give to the camp. Cinderella can have her trip to Hollywood, but Blue Moutain is the place for me."

C.O.B.L. Schedules Opening Game For May 23

Napanee to Play at Brockville May 24

The Disney Leafs, Kingston's entry in the Central Ontario Baseball League, will open their schedule May 23rd, with a night game against Picton, at Megaffin Stadium. The other clubs will open May 24th, with Napanee playing at Brockville, Batawa at Smiths Falls, and Kingston playing again at Picton. This was decided at the league meeting held Monday afternoon in the council chamber in Kingston. The league will play a triple schedule, each team having 15 home games and 15 away.

Batawa was given until Wednesday to forward the entry fee to the league secretary - treasurer, H. J. Radley, in a wheel chair, though the doctors say I'll be walking in a couple of years, I don't go to school yet. I'd like to get out with the neighborhood gang, but you can't get very far in a wheel chair.

"And yet, you know, I was scared to death when I first went to camp two years ago. I thought I would have a hard time getting on with the other kids are swimming or playing games because I thought they would laugh at me.

Napanee, Stirling, Picton and Trenton. Batawa was given until Wednesday to forward the entry fee to the league secretary - treasurer, H. J. Radley, of Frank Hogan, Smiths Falls, moved that all umpires working the games, be asked to wear regulation umpires' uniforms. In league games, the home team will supply the base umpire, while the visiting team will supply the man behind the plate.

A motion for amendment on the player rule that intermediate players be allowed to advance to their nearest club without securing a waiver, was moved by Bill Easton, of the Batawa team. Delegates to the O.B.A. convention to be held in Niagara Falls are Jack Devine, Belleville, vice-president, and Harry Radley. They will bring up the amendment at the convention with the added clause that the amendment be applicable to the whole of Ontario, at least to those clubs east of Port Hope.

It was decided that the league pay for one trip to each of the ball parks in the circuit for the president and secretary - treasurer, Jack Devine said, and it was agreed by the other members, that the two officials should make the trip once a season.

Three clubs will be responsible for suitable dressin grooms for the visiting team during the season.

DO THEY EVER END ?

The Appeals for Money — do they ever end? That is the kind of question one is apt to get flung at him, when he makes an approach for a contribution to some good cause — will the never end? Well ! the obvious answer is, that they will never end, so long as there is a human need to be met.

The war has been over for five years now, and yet there are millions of people in Europe, who are still living in camps. There are 10,000,000 people in camps in Western Germany — men, women and children, all herded together: the strong, the weak, the young, the old male and female. They are guilty of no crime, except that their ancestors moved to Poland, Czechoslovakia, or Hungary. They were decent, kindly, hard-working people. They wanted nothing more than to be left alone, to till the soil, work in the factories, and bring up their families in decency. But the war ended. These people who had never known any other home, were torn up by the roots, placed in box cars and shipped with no worldly possessions, to the border of the German Western Zone.

There they are ! For five years they have lived in these camps. What is to become of them, nobody knows. About all we can do, at this distance, is to help with food and money. The churches are best equipped to see that the money is wisely and economically spent where it goes the farthest.

Is there no end to these appeals ? . . . Certainly not, so long as millions of people are hungry, without clothes, and without hope. A donation through the Church, will go forward, at once.

JITTERY !

We have no sympathy with a totalitarian system. Men may not be born equal — in talents, gifts, and graces. Nevertheless, they have rights. They have rights, just because they are human beings. They are entitled to the pursuit of happiness. they are entitled to just treatment at the hands of others. They are entitled to freedom of religion, freedom of speech, and freedom to work for themselves and their families.

Many of these, if not all of them, are denied by a totalitarian government. In such a government, those who are strong, those who have the power in their own hands, decide just how much or how little of these essential God-given rights, man shall be permitted to exercise. That is true in a Fascist state; it is true, too, in a Communist state. The struggle for Democracy has been a long and arduous one. It is still going on. The true Democrat has to decide on which side he will cast his vote and influence. No matter how the battle will ebb and flow — in the long run, the war will be won by the Common People.

In the United States, this struggle has, recently been pointed up rather sharply. Unfortunately, the issue is beclouded with local politics, so that it is hard for one to get a clear view of what is happening. From this distance, it seems as though the effort is being made, by the Opposition Party, to show that the Government is saturated with Communists. Those who have been charged with having Communist leanings are among the top ranking Members of the Party in power. They have all denied the charges that have been hurled at them. But on the assumption that in any mud slinging contest, some of the mud will stick, the characters of some of the Government leaders, are being smirched.

Of course, it is well known that it is impossible to kill ideas by crushing or even killing those who give expression to them. It is not possible to kill either Communism or Fascism by killing Communists or Fascists. Public opinion in The United States, on the Communist issue, however, is so very tender and sensitive, that to attach the word Communist — even to the most patriotic — is to damage his reputation, perhaps irreparably.

The only way to beat Communism, is to create conditions here, so prosperous and generous, that Communism cannot grow. Communism grows on unrest, unemployment and dissatisfaction. If the Western World will continue to provide for her people more than Communism promises, then Democracy has nothing to fear — in spite of those who, for political gain, besmirch their own leaders.

EASTER

Easter comes fairly early this year. It is a moveable feast. Easter is the Sunday which follows that 14th day of the calendar moon which falls upon or next after the 21st of March. It is suggested by some authorities that the name "Easter" is a pagan, non-Biblical name. There is good reason, however, to hold that it is called Easter, because that is the name used once in The New Testament to designate the Passover of the Jews. The Jewish Passover, synchronizes with the Christian Easter.

No matter what the origin of the name, the feast itself is a very old Christian Festival, in which Christians celebrate the resurrection of our Lord. For this reason it has special significance in Christian countries. Before the revolution in Russia, in 1917, Easter was the great day of the year. Churches were crowded and magnificently trained male voices provided thrilling and inspiring music.

Because in these Northern zones, Easter comes in the Springtime, when nature is awakening from her Winter sleep, there has been a tendency to associate the Christian Festival with Spring and, of course, to capitalize on it for commercial purposes, in the giving and receiving of gifts.

These are, however, incidental. The real meaning of Easter lies in its religious significance. It is the acknowledgment of the Christian's faith that, this life is not all there is of existence, and that death does not end all. That is an unprovable proposition, but it is an affirmation of faith. By that faith, millions of men and women have lived; by it they have died. For it, countless believers have suffered; for it, many have died.

We are livin gin a scientific age, an age in which men and women are inclined to trust only that which they can see or handle. In spite of all the good that has come to us through the achievements of science, there is a distinct loss in that in the early stages of her development, science has tended to rob life of much of its mystery, of its spiritual values. Having achieved control of atomic energy, many of the scientists largely responsible for the achievement, are living under a constant dread of the thing they have created. They are urging men and women to return to religion, to faith, and trust and hope.

In the hurly-burly of our modern life, the average man may find little time to reflect on life, on its purpose and its meaning. Easter presents us with that opportunity. To be sure, there will be crowds at church on Sunday. There are always crowds at Easter. It will have value, however, only as the deep significance of its Message of Life Eternal, is born again in our souls.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN CHINA

The Chinese Communists have had things pretty much their own way for a couple of years. It now looks as though trouble is brewing because of the lack of food. The Chinese are a rice eating race, and there is a shortage of rice. In Communist China, it is reported that "rice rots have been spreading — famine has become so serious that, the Peiping radio itself has estimated sixteen million starving in North China." Attempts to collect rice from peasants have brought resistance, and actual armed rebellion has broken out in some places.

"The Soviet Union continues to withdraw large amounts of grain and soybeans from Manchuria. The recent agreements between China and Russia are reported to have involved food transfers, but these cannot be confirmed."

There is plenty of, rice in Burma, but lack of transportation prevents the Chinese from getting it. And the Civil War in Indo-China (which usually supplies great quantities of rice to China) has dried up the supply.

So there we have it. Sixteen million Chinese starving, and no hope of getting food. In the meantime, The United States is burting at the seams with food, and they do not know what to do with it. It is a queer mix-up we are in!

THE POWER OF THE RESURRECTION

Lesson Text :
I Corinthians 15: 1-8, 20-21, 57-58

There is no question around which there has been as much debate in our religion as the Resurrection. Necessarily so; it is the heart of the gospel. Paul was a clear - headed thinker. He was a keen debater. He could argue with the best in the nation. He held his own before magistrates and trained councils. Yet, Paul never debates the resurrection. He affirms it, time and again. And in his affirmation he stakes his whole faith in Christ as Redeemer and Lord.

That is the way it must be. There is all too much debate about the "how" of the Resurrection. That gets one nowhere. The skeptic will remain unconvinced, no matter how much is 'proved' by argument. The Christian needs no argument to prove to him the deep truths of the resurrection. He knows and that settles that. None of the great affirmations of faith are capable of proof. They are not propositions to be demonstrated but tenets to be accepted and affirmed: "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

Paul was at Corinth. People in the church were doing as people often do. They were discussing and debating about the resurrection. Paul jumped in and said what I told you before is true. I'm not selling you anything new. But when I told you of the resurrection I held nothing back. I spoke without any reservation.

Paul then goes on to tell about the resurrection. He tells that Christ died, and rose again. He tells of those to whom Jesus appeared, ending with the announcement that he had appeared to himself as one born out of due season.

Paul was the most dynamic fellower of Jesus. He was the greatest interpreter of Jesus. He was the greatest missionary of all time. The secret of Paul's power lay in his faith in the resurrection. Everything that Paul was, everything that he accomplished must be seen in the light which appeared on the way to Damascus and in the light of the voice that called to him during this experience.

It is said of Francis Peabody, a noted Boston divine that, on one occasion at a chapel talk, he dealt with the resurrection. He said there were lots of things about it that he could not understand, but he intended to live as though they were true. Few of us know all the mysteries of electricity; we would find difficulty in explaining how a radio works, or how television operates. The lack of knowledge does not prevent us from switching on the light, or turning on the radio. There are lots of things we do not understand, but we make use of them, in spite of our ignorance.

Thus it is with the great affirmations of faith. Men have never understood all that they imply, but they have lived by them. We know well enough, men and women who have experienced the resurrection. There are plenty of people, millions of them who would have difficulty explaining the faith that is in them. But they work by faith. They live by faith.

We live, today, in a day of scientific faith and religious doubt. There never was a time when there was greater need of a renewed faith in immortality and in the power of the resurrection. It is not the law of the resurrection that matters, but the fact. That is not something to be proved — it is a faith to be accepted. It is a faith for which this broken and storm-tossed world of ours, lies in wait.

BETHEL

Bethel, March 23. — Mr. Donald Alkenbrack met with a painful and serious accident early on Monday forenoon, while working at the Finlay Paper Mills at Strathcona. FARM FORUM REVIEW

The long Spring days and the first green patches on the hilltops tell that Spring is finally here; despite the reluctance of winter to leave, and with the departure of Winter, our 1950 farm forum season is passing, too.

This County has had a very successful season with nine new forums being started and fourteen old ones continuing. The Forum idea is growing both in size and in popularity in this county. True, there are a few forums which have had a stormy time to continue, because of limited attendance, but we feel sure that in the next year these forum members will have met and talked with those members of one of our numerous successful forums and will meet, next year, with a determination to make their respective study groups one of the largest and busiest in the county.

Each community is different. In some, the forum idea takes hold immediately and growth is limited only by the size of the neighborhood. Others find the going a little more difficult and wonder perhaps, just why their gatherings are not so lively as the neighbouring group.

From the reports received we have a few hints to give out to those forum groups which are not quite satisfied with their progress. The best forums are the busiest. Whether it is their industry which makes them progressive or whether it is their progressiveness which makes them industrious, is difficult to say. We can say however, that the forums which have sponsored the most community projects, entertained other forums, had special speakers, etc, have sent in more and better reports.

Of course, sometimes an isolated community may have a difficult time in carrying out these projects, especially when the total number of its members is very few. One thing is sure, it is not necessary to have a large crowd in order to think. That is one of the important items in a forum's existence. An intelligent discussion can be conducted in a group of even two or three, and, according to our reports there have been many intelligent discussions even though the crowd was small.

What we mean to say is that a forum's growth is generally increased by its social life which appeals to all. When this can be combined with a thoughtful discussion of a controversial item, we have an ideal forum.

Last Monday was Review Night, and we have some reports of the concluding social evenings of our various forums:

Varty Lake Forum wound up their season's activities by gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Allenbrack. There, after listening to the broadcast, a lively social evening was enjoyed, ending with a bang-up lunch, which reached banquet proportions, it said in the letter.

Bicknell's Corners invited in Switzerville for a social evening. Mrs. C. McCormick, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Peter Miller and Mr. Russell Crain all contributed to the program. Next week Bicknell's Corners is holding an oyster supper on Monday night, to terminate the forum season. They are inviting Mr. and Mrs. J. Haynes and Miss Ilene Green of the Department of Extension.

Easy Street Forum endorsed the system of marketing agencies advocated by A. C. Kemp, over the Monday broadcast. They are making preparations for a pot luck supper to end their season's activities.

Desmond Forum is having a Hard-Times party (shades of the things to come—maybe) to end their season. Of course, theyre only joking.

DON'T FORGET Our Rally, April 10th. Will see you all there!

ST. ALBAN'S W.A. ADOLPHUSTOWN

The monthly meeting of the above was held at the home of Mrs. J. Roy Johnston, with an attendance of 16. The Rector conducted the devotions, read the study book and showed picture cuttings of Japan.

A report from Mrs. Brooks, regarding the purchases for the bale, was received. This showed that Mrs. Brooks had done wonderful work with buying. The balance of the needs were contributed. A schedule of future meetings was drawn up. Another food box is to be packed at the next meeting.

Nominations for Diocesan officers were then decided upon, and are to be sent to Kingston. A very tasty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Littlefield.

WEDDING BELLS

PARKS—LONG

A very pretty wedding took place at Grace United Church parsonage on March 22nd, 1950, when Mary Adelia Gertrude, only daughter of Mrs. Russell Long and the late Mr. Long, became the bride of James Franklin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parks, Hay Bay.

The Rev. C. D. McLellan performed the ceremony.

The bride was dressed in light blue with navy accessories, and carried red roses. Miss Eleanor VanAlstine, bridesmaid, was dressed in pink with navy accessories, and carried sweet peas. Mr. Don. Sills, friend of the groom, acted as best man.

A reception was held in the basement of Grace Church, where there were about 40 guests. The tables were decorated with flowers. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake. The ladies of the Woman's Association provided the lunch.

The bride's mother received, dressed in grey with black accessories, assisted by the groom's mother, dressed in black. They both wore corsages of mixed flowers.

Six girl friends of the bride served. There was a toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

The bride and groom left soon after for a trip to Montreal, amid showers of confetti and good wishes. The bride travelled in a wine suit, with top coat and navy accessories. Upon their return they will reside on a farm at Hay Bay.

PRESENTATIONS TO MRS. WALTER O'NEIL

Members of the Conway-Sandhurst Home and School Association gathered at the home of the President, Mrs. Marjory Young, on Friday afternoon, March 24th, in honor of Mrs. Walter E. O'Neil, who is resigning her office of Secretary-Treasurer before leaving the community.

Mrs. O'Neil is a charter member, and has been most enthusiastic in the work of the Association, and was President for the year preceding Mrs. Young's term of office.

As a remembrance, the gift of a dainty cup and saucer followed a delicious afternoon tea.

A jolly crowd of the Hayburn Woman's Association surprised Mrs. Walter E. O'Neil at her home on Tuesday afternoon, bringing a generous assortment of sandwiches, cakes, and tarts.

After singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and repeating the Lord's Prayer, the following address was read by Mrs. Robert Dickson:

Dear Mrs. O'Neil—It is with deep regret that we have learned that you are leaving us in the near future. We have deeply appreciated your cooperation with us and trust that some day we can lend a helping hand to you.

Please accept this cup and saucer and photo of our W. A. group as tokens of our friendship.

Wishing you the best in your new home.

The Hayburn Woman's Association.

Mrs. Percy Hawley presented the gifts, and all enjoyed the contents of the various boxes with a cup of tea and much chatter.

They left with a cordial invitation from Mrs. O'Neil to visit her later on.

OBITUARIES

MRS. L. E. PERCY

Although in fair health for a number of years, the death of Henrietta M. Canon, widow of Lewis E. Percy, early Wednesday morning, March 22, came rather suddenly after a ten days' illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Yule, Mt. Forest. Devoted to her family and friends of earlier years, Mrs. Percy since returning to Mt. Forest a few years after the death of her husband in 1932, lived a very quiet, retiring life.

She was of United Empire Loyalist descent, a daughter of Miles Canon and Amelia Dellor, and was born at Newburgh, Ontario, where she lived until her marriage and afterwards. Later they resided in Mt. Forest for a time and then moved to Brantford. Mrs. Percy was an active member for many years of the Methodist Church.

Left to mourn her loss are her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Yule, Mt. Forest, and son, Arthur C. Percy, of Brantford; also four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Secker read an address signed by the Wardens, Mr. Roy Johnston and Mr. Frank Mallory. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The many friends of Mr. Herb. Punchard will be pleased to hear he is recovering from his recent serious operations performed at General Hospital, Kingston. He will be a patient there for some time, yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Panter and family, left on Saturday last for their new home, near Brantford.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Conners and family of Markham, were recent visitors with Mrs. Conners' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gallagher.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR A. W. MILLIGAN, AT ENTERPRISE

More than sixty relatives and friends gathered in the basement of Enterprise United Church on Saturday, to pay tribute to Alfred M. Milligan, on the attainment of his 83rd birthday. Mr. Milligan was 83 on March 14th.

Born in Moscow, he was educated and grew up there. Later, he moved to Centreville, where he lived for a number of years, finally coming to Enterprise, where he has resided ever since. A widower, he has married twice, his first wife being Edith Wagar, of Enterprise, his second, Mary Jane Black, a well-known dressmaker through these parts.

Mr. Milligan, whose forbears were United Empire Loyalists, who came here and settled, from the United States, has quite a large family, including one son and two daughters still living; 13 grandchildren living, and 19 great-grandchildren. All but six of these were present at the party together with numerous other relatives and close friends. Rev Mr. Crawford, minister of the Enterprise charge of the United Church, officiated as chairman.

Interest in the celebration was heightened by the fact that one of Mr. Milligan's nieces Mrs. Eric Jackson, of Enterprise, also acknowledges March 14th as her birthday, so that the party was graced by two guests of honour, together with birthday cakes and all the trimmings.

Proceedings commenced with an excellent oyster supper, followed by a fowl supper, and all the associated good things. After the toast to the King, Mr. Herbert Pruden, of Enterprise, paid fitting tribute to Mr. Milligan, following the usual toast was drunk. Mr. Milligan, in reply, said how delighted he was that so many had been able to celebrate once more along with him, and hoped he would be able to meet everyone another year. If not, he trusted all would meet in Heaven, where partings would be no more. Prior to proposing the toast to Mr. Milligan, Mr. Pruden played a recording of the address Mr. Milligan had made at his 82nd birthday party, and when Mr. Milligan replied to the present toast, this too, was recorded.

Next came the toast proposed by Ross Milligan, of Napanee, to Mrs. Eric Jackson, to which she replied briefly, her reply also being recorded.

Entertainment was provided by the girls of the McQuaig family, Moscow, assisted by one of their friends, Miss Brooks. Two excellent solos were sung by Bonita, while equally delightful duets were rendered by Marion and Mildred. All these were recorded. Mr. Pruden also played recorded selections and during the evening played nursery rhymes and other recordings for the little folk.

Rev. Mr. Crawford spoke briefly of his association with Mr. Milligan who, for the best part of half a century, has been steward, elder and recording steward of the Enterprise charge, and paid tribute to the tremendous amount of service he had rendered, both to the church and to the community.

Mr. Milligan, who is as active as many a man half his age, still gardens half an acre or more each year, has just put in 1,000 chickens for this nth time, still drives his own car and things nothing of a jaunt to Kingston, Napanee or anywhere else. This community is proud of him.

Those who attended the party included the following: Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Milligan, with their family, consisting of Miss Alfreda, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pruden and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll and family, and Mr. Bert Milligan. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle and family, of Toronto, were unable to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Stan McKeown, with their family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie McQuaig and family, and Miss Brooks, Mr. Arthur McKeown, Mr., Mrs. Reid and family, Mr. Ronald McKeown; Mr. and Mrs. George McKeown and family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McLaughlin and family. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McKeown, Miss Marjorie McKeown and Mr. Bob. McKeown. Mr. and Mrs. Ray McKeown of Toronto, were unable to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Jackson and Arthur, Mrs. W. and Mrs. R. Bell; Mrs. W. Coulter, and Mr. Ross Milligan.

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Horton, Enterprise, were also invited guests, but at the last minute were unable to be present. Their sincere regrets accompanied a beautiful present in the form of a handsome pen and pencil set. Numerous cards were also received from members of the family now living in the United States, as well as from friends in and around this community and elsewhere.

ODESSA

Odessa, March 27. — A Young People's Recreation Club has been organized, with Bill Edwards as President; Hazel Harris, Vice President, and Miss Jean Carr, Secty-Treasurer. The activities are held in the Municipal Hall every Thursday night, and have been a great success. This week a new arrangement has been started when children of the Public School come from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. The High School then has the room until 9:30 p.m., and from then until midnight the adults. There are games for all, bridge, euchre, Chinese checkers, croquinole, badminton, and sing-song. They are planning an Easter dance.

The Woman's Association of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Stanley Sproule on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting opened with the devotional, led by Mrs. George Burnett. Mrs. Montgomery, President, then conducted the business part. Four members paid birthday fees and two new members were added to the roll call. The business being concluded, Mrs. John Prink took charge of the program. Readings on the history of St. Patrick were given by Mrs. Albert Dawson, Mrs. Albert Hartman, and Mrs. Fred Cunningham. All joined in singing "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover", led by Mrs. Joe Vrooman. The Mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close. A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess, Mrs. Sproule, and the Lunch and Program Committees, by Mrs. Roy Babcock.

Mrs. Edward Smith, of Bath, spent a few days with Mrs. Ida Montgomery.

A large number from Odessa attended the concert at Wilton, put on by their young people on Friday evening. It was a grand success.

Paul and Mrs. Fred McFarlane poured tea from a very prettily decorated table.

Miss Noreen Richmond, Reg. Nurse, is spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Richmond before leaving to take a position in Bermuda.

Mrs. C.D. McLellan Named President WMS Presbyterial

Large Attendance at Annual Held in Napanee

The Twenty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Bellevile Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, was held in Trinity United Church, Napanee, Thursday, March 30, 1950. The theme of the conference was "Mounting Advance". President, Mrs. A.V. Empey presided at all sessions. Mrs. F. L. Hooper, president of the Trinity Church Auxiliary was a very gracious hostess to the 79 delegates and 213 visitors present. The Church was decorated for the occasion with beautiful baskets of flowers, contributed by Mrs. George Tustin, who sent them from Ottawa

Mrs. F. L. Hooper welcomed the delegates, representing 71 auxiliaries, 10 evening auxiliaries, 51 mission bands, 6 mission circles, 5 C.G.I.T. groups and 22 affiliated societies, with a membership of 4,770.

A very interesting dialogue was presented by Mrs. Fred Bell, assisted by Mrs. R. Drew and was beautifully demonstrated by the use of a clothes line and depicted the work of the Literature Secretary and vividly pointed out that by the use of our literature we are forming world friendships. The curtain for keeping the clothes line of world friendship bright and colourful was given thus:

Begin with a plentiful supply of the hot water of enthusiasm and a good shake of sympathy as a water softener, and the best bubbles and suds of colourful stories as can make. Enthusiasm, sympathy, colourful stores. Soak the clothes in these and plenty of facts as long as needed, then rub everything through with adequate prayerful preparation and study, rinse several times in songs, prayers and hymns. These are important. When you think an article requires it, bleach it in a strong solution of right attitudes. And now shake them out in the breezes of recreation and creative handwork. Where are they?

Mrs. Empey, the retiring president, gave a short presidential message urging the members to assess themselves and their organizations, measuring their shortcomings as well as their achievements. She urged the membership to attract every woman to the work of missions in order that we might do our share in the "Five Year Programe of Advance" and also to pray for volunteers ever keeping in mind the motto of the organization. "Not by might nor by power, But by My Spirit, said the Lord of Hosts." Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it."

Then, Mrs. Fred Montgomery introduced the guest speakers of the day; Miss Sybil Courtice who served as a missionary in Japan for forty years. During that time she was secretary-treasurer of the Japan Mission for many years and travelled on an extensive evangelistic program. She was one of the most influential and best loved missionaries. When war broke out in Japan she was interned for nearly a year but was finally allowed to return to her home in the Gripsholm. At the end of the war in Japan, Miss Courtice was one of the first missionaries to return and served until recently when she came to Canada to retire from active service.

MISS DAY SPEAKS

Miss Helen Day, who spoke during the morning session, came to the Women's Missionary Society from the staff of the National Council of the Y.W.C.A. For several years she was treasurer of our Literature Department and for the last three and a half years she has been the editor of the Woman's Missionary Monthly. Miss Day's subject was "The W.M.S. Mainspring". By way of illustration and comparison she established the fact that the W.M.S. mainspring was the membership of its organization and that possibly the most important organization was the auxiliary, because it was composed of adults who should be the main cause of action. Miss Day stressed the fact that the adult organizations were responsible for the organizing and care of all the other missionary groups in the church. She claimed that we seriously need more adults to look after more children because every organization grows through its children's work. The aim of the Dominion Board in the "Five Year Advance" programme is to have an auxiliary or an affiliated society in every preaching place of the United Church and to double membership. Miss Day pointed out that the work of the Woman's Missionary Society is now steadily climbing and that if the "Five Year Advance" was to attain its objective every member should ask herself, 'Have I won a Member'. 'Do I like the programmes and activities and social life of the W.M.S.?' Then I must urge other women to share it with me.' She urgently recommended the use of the pamphlet on Plans to Advance, and the formation of a membership committee. She stressed the study of the work of our missionaries within our own conferences and the work of the ministeries who had gone from our conferences to other fields. This proved to be a very stimulating and helpful address for the societies. hTe rise and decline of the society over a period of 25 years was outlined. The speaker urged us to work for 25 per cent increase in membership, this year.

Miss Betty Robbins, accompanied by Miss B. Baughan at the organ, sang the solo "Bless This House".

Mrs. Frank Mills, treasurer of the Presbyterial, presented the financial statement of the year which was most gratifying showing that we had exceeded our allocation by $1,050.00

Plans Prepared For New Bridge At Napanee

Replace Narrow Bridge at Foot Roblin Hill

At a meeting of the Napanee Town Council on Thursday evening, April 6th, a communication was received from the Ontario Department of Highways requesting the Town to purchase the necessary land for the diversion of No. 2 Highway over the Napanee River, when the new bridge is constructed at the east end of the town. After discussion, the Council decided to take no action in the matter. It is expected that the work of constructing the new bridge will be undertaken in the very near future. Instead of the present narrow bridge, a new, wider bridge will be built and the present sharp turn at the west end of the bridge will be eliminated. A gradual curve in the road will start about opposite the residence of Earl Loucks on the east side of Bridge Street or Roblin Hill. In place of following its present location, a road will be constructed across the property owned by John Wilson, near the road leading into Springside Park, and after a fill has been made, the bridge will be constructed through the pier just south of the location of the present roads and again from No. 2 Highway about opposite the intersection of Bridge and Dundas Streets.

A letter was received from the Ontario Department of Health, regarding the pollution of the Napanee River from the municipal sewage disposal plant. A representation of the Department made a visit to the town some months ago, regarding the matter and arranged to return in the spring, possibly in April or May. It was decided to take no action until such time as the representative of the department pays his next visit to the town.

There was a lengthy discussion regarding the penalty to be imposed for overtime parking on side streets in the town where parking time is restricted to one hour. It was finally decided that the Clerk prepare an amendment to the by-law for presentation at the next meeting, which will provide for a penalty of $1.00 provided any fines imposed are paid within 24 hours.

The contract for the purchase of parking meters was presented to the Council and, after lengthy discussion, it was left with the Mayor and Clerk to affix their signatures. The Clerk was also instructed to write the village of Campbellford to ascertain, if possible, the reason why Campbellford had decided to cancel its contract for the installation of parking meters, and to report at the next meeting before the one year trial was completed.

Communications were received from the Townships of Richmond and North Fredericksburgh, asking what arrangements could be made with the Town of Napanee for fire protection, for properties on the outskirts of the town. The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, to draft an agreement to be sent to the two municipalities for their consideration and approval.

A request for information was received from the Ontario Hydro regarding settlement of a claim following an accident Mrs. Woodcock suffered on Dundas Street. Mr. Woodcock was advised that the matter had been referred to the Insurance Company and any further information required could be secured from the Company.

The Welfare Committee reported that in March, 47 persons had received relief at a total cost of $888.21. The Chief of Police reported 12 complaints received and investigated in March; 5 accidents reported; 4 summons served and seven arrests were made. The following convictions were secured in police court for the town; three under the Criminal Code, three under the Highway Traffic Act, and 11 under the Liquor Control Act.

The Council agreed to sell the southern portion of the road allowance of Robert Street, below Water Street, to The Strathcona Paper Co. for $250.00 and also the portion to W. R. Douglas, for the same sum.

The auditors' report for 1949 was presented to Council and was referred to the Finance Committee for consideration.

Naturalist Speaks at Home-School Meeting At Tamworth

Mr. Kaye of Peterborough, naturalist, was the guest speaker at the Home and School meeting in Tamworth, on Wednesday night, April 5th. Mr. Kaye gave a wonderful description of wild life. He told of the habits of many kinds of birds and animals.

There are, he said, two hundred and ninety-eight kinds of birds in this wonderful province of ours. God has given them to mankind to be of assistance in many ways, so that man might live; yet so many harmless birds are killed annually just for the fun of shooting. He enumerated the seven species of birds that may be killed because of their harmful habits, but the rest of them must not be touched.

The speaker held a good sized audience in close attention for an hour with his vivid word picture of bird and animal life.

Nominations were handed in for officers to be elected at the May meeting. Assembly singing was enjoyed after which lunch was served. The National Anthem closed the meeting.

Counsel Granted Further Stay For Fosbraey Trial

Date Now Set for Late May

The trial of James Fosbraey, charged with the murder of his wife, June Fosbraey, at Napanee, on November 28th, 1949, has again been postponed to Monday, May 29th, when Fosbraey's trial was slated for the Spring Assize of the Supreme Court, which opened in Napanee on Monday, March 27th, but was postponed at the request of his Counsel, R.E. Nourse, of Picton, until Tuesday, April 11th. Mr. Nourse for the adjournment was that he desired time to have about eighty letters, written by Fosbraey to his wife during a sojourn in England in early Fall, examined by a psychiatrist. J.C. McRuer, Chief Justice of Ontario, who was presiding at the Supreme Court session, reluctantly granted the adjournment.

Mr. Nourse claimed that he had been engaged to handle the case for Fosbraey just one week before the trial was scheduled to open and had not had sufficient time to prepare a proper defence. Mr. Nourse also intimated that he might ask for appointment of a Commission in England to take evidence respecting his client's sanity. It is on the latter grounds that the postponement until the May date, has been granted.

There is a possibility that the defence may not even be ready to proceed by May 29th, since the matter of a commission is a lengthy affair. Expenses for the Commission will have to be supplied by the Crown, which is called upon to give a person charged with murder, every chance for a fair trial, if the accused is not able to supply the necessary funds himself.

Fosbraey is lodged in the County Gaol at Napanee, where he has been since he gave himself up, shortly after his wife was found dying on the roadside a short distance from her home in South Napanee, on the evening of November 28th. Her death was the result of several stab wounds through the heart and chest.

O.H.A. Team Tendered Dinner At Tamworth

Speakers Urge Further Co-operation Next Season

Mr. Clare Wagar and Mr. Harold Davison sponsored a banquet Monday evening, April 3rd, in the Tamworth Hotel, in honour of the Tamworth O.H.A. hockey team. The room was tastefully decorated with the team colours: the table bright with flowers and candles. The dinner was delightfully prepared and served by the canteen ladies. R. B. Inkster, Principal of Tamworth Continuation School acted as chairman. After the toast to the King, proposed by John Hanna, the chairman, in his introductory remarks, called for the village to go out whole-heartedly for recreation. He proposed that all athletics be organized under one head, but only by co-operation of all citizens could this be done. He suggested a central recreation committee for the whole district, members to meet tri - yearly, representatives from all districts to develop more co - operation. The past year had shown that it was possible to get good hockey by creating a team from the best players in the district and it was equally possible to do the same in other sports.

Mr. Inkster proposed a toast to the Hastings - Addington Hockey League, extending his congratulations to a team that played better hockey than any of their competitors and Flinton, Tamworth, Odessa, and Napanee Child Health Conferences, 69. congratulated the team for playing good hockey and for providing good games which everyone enjoyed. Mr. Bill Kirkpatrick, in his reply, said that the team had done its best and would do better the next year. Manager Clare Wagar spoke on the objectives of the team. The primary purpose was to bring villages and players closer together and the result was satisfactory. Another purpose was to provide a class of hockey that the players had never experienced before; although the year was not spectacularly successful, much valuable experience had been gained and the benefits would be apparent next year.

Although there had been some opposition from those who thought there would be a conflict with local hockey, co-operation on the whole had been satisfactory and the various communities had been brought closer together as a result. He regretted that all players could not find it possible to be present. Coach Harold Davison expressed his appreciation for the co-operation he had experienced from all, the players and his hope that they had learned from the competition sufficient to ensure a win next year.

The toast to the Canteen Ladies was responded to by Mrs. B. Wannamaker. She expressed the thanks of the ladies and spoke of the fun in spending the money of the sponsors of the banquet. Then she read the following letter:

Chamber of Commerce,
Tamworth, Ontario.

Dear Sirs: — We would like to donate to you the money we have made during the past summer and winter. Toronto Men Teachers' Choir To Give Concert In Napanee

The Toronto Male Teachers' Choir which is to present a concert in the Prince Charles auditorium next week, under the auspices of the Home and School Association, is an organization which is becoming internationally known.

Arrangements were made to have the choir stop over in Napanee while it was on its way to give a concert in Syracuse, N.Y. The choir appeared in Napanee some time ago, when it gave a concert in Trinity United Church, and the many people who were delighted with its performance at that time, are looking forward to hearing it again, next week.

The choir is made up of sixty members and has over 125 concerts to its credit. The leader is Adon Brethour and the accompanist is Alec Turner. There are several soloists in the group, but most of the numbers are given by the choir as an ensemble.

Assisting the choir in its concert in Napanee will be Miss Frances Alexander a pupil of Mr. Geo. Lambert and one of the members of the Leslie Bell Singers.

Miss Alexander recently sang solo parts in the Bach Choir production of the "Children's Crusade." This youthful vocalist is definitely acclaimed as a singing star of to-day, and certainly of to-morrow.

THE PRINCIPLE OF THE THING

It is the principle of the thing that is important; establishing a precedent, the legal profession call it. There are those who contend that the lawyers live by precedent. They know that once a precedent can be found for some action, they have a good case. All they have to do is show that either in the remote past or immediate present, a general principle was acknowledged, and that the action they are defending is a variation of that principle. That argument from precedent will impress any judge, favourably. It is the principle of the thing that counts!

Along with The United States and some other countries, Canada, in recent years, has established the principle of subsidizing certain industries — particularly the farming industry. We have no objection to the practice. Indeed, we are in favour of it. In years back, the farming industry has been notoriously underpaid. Subsidies have helped to keep the farm income somewhere near parity with others in the community.

But once establish the precedent of subsidizing one group in the community, it will be hard to resist pressure for subsidies from other groups. That is illustrated by what happened in The United States, last week. It appears that there is a Mr. Harry Bolling, who lives in Seymour, Indiana. Mr. Bolling runs a small furniture factory, which manufactures rocking chairs. He wrote to his Member of Parliament that his rocking chairs are a sure fire bet, and that he would like to step up production from one thousand to fifty thousand a year. Mr. Bolling's letter, which was made public on Saturday, has this to say. He writes:

"With so many people in the country getting rockin'-chair money," Mr. Bolling declared, "we feel that the market is unlimited.

"Since you are voting money for potatoes, cotton, tobacco, railroads, aviation and many other industries. I see no reason why we, in the furniture business should be slighted.

'Now, we would like a guaranteed price of $50 for each of these rockers. In the event we are unable to sell all of them, we will arrange to burn them right here at the factory rather than go to the expense of shipping them somewhere else to be destroyed.

"I notice that you paid $2.90 a bag for potatoes in Maine and then shipped them to Chicago, which raised the cost to $4 a bag, and then sold them to farmers for one cent a bag.

"That sort of thing is pretty expensive, so we will gladly arrange to destroy any surplus of our factory right in the factory."

Mr. Bolling seems to have something, and it may just be that before long a lot of other people besides Mr. Bolling, who makes rocking chairs, will want assistance to keep their factories going — even if their chairs, tables, newspapers, or what have you have to be burned to keep the nation prosperous.

A NARROW MARGIN

By a narrow margin, the Municipality of Bath at a recent vote on the liquor issue, was kept in the dry column. There were two questions, one, had it carried, would have established 'a men's and women's beverage room, in Bath. The other would have permitted the sale of beer and wine with meals under a dining-room license. Both these questions were defeated by the three-fifths clause. The forces opposed to the liquor interests were led by William Hoselton and the two Clergymen of the village: Rev. L. G. Osborne-Walker, Rector of St. John's Anglican Church, and Rev. A. T. Denholm, Minister of The United Church.

It is significant but not unusual that the church leaders were opposed to the extension of liquor vending to include their village. Better than any others in the community, the Clergymen know the inroads which the sale and consumption of liquor makes on the welfare of the village. Clergymen are in and out of homes of all the people. They know the members of the church and community better than anyone else. They know what happens when the sale of liquor is extended. They have no axe to grind; they do not lead temperance campaigns because of the money that is in it for themselves. Their sole interest is in the religious and social life of the community.

The narrow margin by which the sale of liquor was defeated, should emphasize the necessity for constant vigilance by the friends of temperance. When the Ontario Temperance Act came into force the temperance people assumed that their work was done, and the victory won. But the foes of temperance—those who sought to make money by the sale of liquor, at once set to work to undermine the Act. They attacked it from every angle, brought on vote after vote, and spent fabulous sums to change public opinion. In time they succeeded. The result has been that the amount of liquor sold in Canada, and the attendant evils were never greater than now.

There is bound to be a reaction against the present situation and, in the meantime temperance forces must do all in their power to prevent further extension of outlets for the sale of intoxicating beverages. There cannot be another vote in Bath for at least, three years. The temperance forces should begin now, to educate youth on the evils of intemperance, and to prepare for the future. We have too many liquor outlets in Lennox and Addington, as it is.

'Bob' Hall Speaks on Swimming Classes Held By County Red Cross

The following is the text of the address made by 'Bob' Hall, for delivery at The Granada Theatre:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Your local and county branches of the Red Cross Society are, after the past four years, trained young men and women in the methods of teaching Swimming and Water Safety. These of you who have seen the Swimming and Water Safety classes in the surrounding communities will appreciate the benefit derived from these groups, and will be more keen to assist financially, the work of the local Red Cross.

These classes in Swimming and Water Safety are conducted annually in various communities of the county, wherever suitable swimming facilities can be obtained. Applications we have already been using are Daven's Point at Adolphustown, where last summer there was an attendance of over fifty. Roy's camp on the River Road, where boys and girls from Napanee and District received instruction. Buses were provided for these groups daily, and the cost of this necessary transportation was met by the Napanee Red Cross. Roy's Camp on the Bay of Quinte was chosen because the Napanee River was condemned by the County Health Unit. The third and last class of last year, was held at Neville's Beach, Erinsville, on Beaver Lake, while the attendance averaged over 100 boys and girls, each day.

The owners of these beaches donated their use to the Red Cross for the swimming classes.

This year, the County Branch has planned to finance the training of more instructors in Swimming and Water Safety, at Queen's University during the Easter Holidays. These instructors are boys and girls, 16 years of age and older, who are physically fit and considered old and mature enough to have the care of teaching you children Swimming and Water Safety. These instructors receive training in the latest methods of teaching swimming and water safety.

Statistics show in a survey made by the Ontario Department of Health that in drowning during the past five years, not one person who had received Red Cross Water Safety instruction, was among those unfortunate victims.

This is a definite proof that, in this country, which is made up of many lakes, streams and bays, where water sports are enjoyed for at least a quarter of every year by more than half our total population, that water safety instruction is very essential. Water Safety is important to everyone, whether he is a swimmer or not, as no one can ever tell when the need will arise for them to assist someone in difficulty in the water.

This year, it is hoped that instruction in Water Safety and Swimming, will be extended to many more boys and girls than in previous years.

Some of the cost in the Water Safety Campaign arise from the need of equipment, such as portable docks, floating rafts, ring buoys, dressing tents and first aid supplies. These cost a great deal and there is also the teaching of instructors and their expenses during the classes.

Without your financial support it would be impossible to carry on this work and supply these needs.

Remember, when the canvasser calls, that your donation may help save the life of your own child.

GIVE TO THE RED CROSS!

Dear Friends: — A number of your friends and neighbours have gathered in your home this evening for the purpose of extending to you our personal greetings and best wishes on the eve of your departure from Moscow to your new home at Yarker. It is needless to tell you that we regret exceedingly your intention to remove from our midst, but since we live in a world where changes are continually taking place, we are compelled (much against our wishes) to accept the inevitable.

During your lifetime here you have made many friends and there is no doubt in our minds, but that these friendships will prove constant and lasting throughout the years which lie ahead. The serious and trying times through which the world is acutely passed, have been the means of drawing us, as individuals, closer together and greater co-operation is everywhere apparent and people are beginning to realize as never before the importance of true friendship. We realize that you have not found it easy to cut asunder the many sacred ties cherished here, but we envy you to this place. It was here that your forbears met the great challenge of building home in the primeval forest. It was here that you first saw the light of day and it was here that your children were born and nurtured. This neighborhood will miss you; your active life was an inspiration to everyone. You were generous in your support of every worthy cause in the work of the church, all philanthropic movements and in all social welfare undertakings. Your munificence throughout the years has greatly enriched our community.

We will, dear friends, remember you in our prayers that our Heavenly Father may protect and keep you, and that the evening of your earthly pilgrimage may be blessed in your beautiful new cottage at Yarker, which you have designed and built in such a delightful setting, near the river bank, with a magnificent view of water falls which present a scene of unexcelled beauty and grandeur, and which became famous because of the patronage of the Right Hon. John Graves Simcoe. Upper Canada's first Governor-General who gave the falls its name. On behalf of the community, kindly accept these gifts and purse as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by your neighbours and friends.

(Signed) on behalf of the neighborhood — Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lampkin, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Watson.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, April 16th

AMOS THE PROPHET AND HIS PROGRAMME

Lesson Text: Amos 7: 7-15; 8: 1-3

Amos was a farmer. He lived in the Seventh Century before Christ. Amos lived in Juda. Juda was the smallest of the two Hebrew kingdoms. It had two tribes. Israel, her northern neighbor, was comprised of ten tribes. At this time, both kingdoms were prosperous, wealthy, and self-satisfied.

Amos, the farmer, looked after his sheep and pruned the sycamore trees. He was out in the open most of the time. He was alone a great deal, and had ample time for reflection, for communing with nature — with God. He made the most of his time. Every so often he would look down from the hill, where he tended his flock, and see people travelling the highway. Sometimes, he would go down to the road and have a chat with them. Amos was surprised that God wanted peace, of his children, than just sacrifices. He gave us much to the people and the the way the ecclesiastical or political brass hats carry on. They are doing God's will and nobody, least of all an unlearned and untrained workman, has the right to criticize. Go back and mind your own business. You stick to your farming, we will do the preaching.

Amos, however, was not terrified by the brass hats. I'm not a minister or a priest, he says, nevertheless God spoke to me. He told me to leave my farm and go and preach to the people. Then, Amos tells of another message God had given him. This time he saw a basket of fruit. The people were like that, they were ripe for destiny. They were about ready to receive the harvest of their wrong doing. The beautiful music of the temple would become lamentations, and people who died, instead of having a funeral where special music was used, would be buried in silence.

What the prophet is saying is that the people attended to their church obligations, went to church, supported it financially, but all this had little practical effect on their conduct. Consequently, the foundations of the nation were beginning to crumble. Some day, the nation would fall.

FAVOUR*
WHEN the housewife calls at the grocery store and orders a supply of provisions, she is not asking a favour . . . she is buying goods for which she will pay on delivery . . . purely a matter of business.
So with your bank. It is a business proposition just as much as the grocery store.
The grocer deals in groceries . . . the banker deals in credit. And as the making of loans is one of the principal ways by which his bank derives its revenue, he is as anxious to sell his credit as the grocer is to sell his groceries. And like the grocer, the banker naturally wants to know that he is going to be paid for his goods . . . that his loans will be met when they fall due. That, too, is only good business.
When you have occasion to ask for a loan, look at it this way. Come to the Bank, not feeling that you have to ask a favour, but to offer the manager a sound business proposition which will be of profit both to you and to his institution.

Health Unit

Many times when one reads statistics in such a report as this, one fails to visualize what the work means in the everyday life of the individuals in the community. Part of the routine of school health work is vision testing. This is done on a regular schedule, such as grade 1, 4, and grade 8's, as this is the age at which vision difficulties are most likely to occur. However, vision rechecking is done at many other times, either on the request of the teacher, or because the regular testing was not considered absolutely within the normal limits. Such cases are carried "under observation" with frequent tests.

One such case was a girl who started out with apparently normal vision, but had frequent headaches. Each recheck found her having more difficulty reading the eye chart. The nurse discussed this with the teacher who said the child had never complained to her of any vision difficulty. However, having been tested three times, with increasing difficulty, the condition was reported in writing to the parents. When the home visit was made to follow up the written notification the parents had already taken the child to a Doctor, who had prescribed glasses. The mother stated she had had a previous notification from the Health Unit staff about another condition in her other child, and had consulted the Doctor about this, with action being taken right away. She added: "I have such confidence in the work the Health Unit is doing, that if they report anything to me about my children, I take their advice immediately."

However, perhaps the most important part of this story is what the teacher said. She "stated that she wouldn't have believed that impaired vision could be such a handicap to a child. The child's work had become poor, her writing awful. This was put down to carelessness. Since she got her glasses, her books are a model of neatness and her work has improved a great deal; and yet, even though the teacher saw that child every day, she didn't realize the vision difficulty the child was having. Do you think it is worth spending money in Public Health work to find such cases as this and have them attended to? This is just one phase of the Public Health Nursing that goes on in the County. It is said: "To raise the level of National Health is the surest way to raise the level of national happiness."

Health Units, besides carrying on Public Health work in their own community have a responsibility to assume in helping to give field work to students taking Public Health Courses at Universities. Miss Ann Marie Quigley, a student at Toronto University, Public Health Nursing Course, is with us this month for her field work. She has Miss Amy Willson as her Field Guide.

The same nominating committee as last year was appointed with Mrs. J. Haggerty as convener. A euchre was arranged for Friday afternoon, March 31, with Mrs. A. Douglas and Mrs. B. Seymour as conveners.

The programme was in charge of Mrs. J. Jaynes and Mrs. H. Yeomans. Mrs. Jaynes presided. Community singing was led by Mrs. B. Seymour with Mrs. B. M. Black at the piano. April Meeting U. E. L. Chapter I. O. D. E.

The April meeting of the United Empire Loyalist Chapter of The I. O. D. E. was held in the Armouries on Monday, April 3rd, at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. Albert Lewis, Regent, presided and following the flag ceremony and prayer of the Order, the minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. K. Powell.

A letter of resignation from Mrs. C.E. Jamieson was read. Mrs. Jamieson has become a member of an Ottawa chapter.

Mrs. A. Turnbull gave the treasurer's report for the month. Mrs. Broderick, Post-War Work convener, read letters from families in Britain, telling how much the gifts of clothing and funds are appreciated and also the friendly greetings to the elderly people. Several boxes of clothing were sent recently to Provincial Headquarters in Hamilton, for shipment overseas. A few members responded to the appeal for soap and washcloths, and more could be sent.

An excellent paper on Citizenship was given by Mrs. Katherine Powell, who explained the meaning of citizenship and also some of the duties and responsibilities of Canadians. A resume of the Canadian Citizen Act, the Immigration Act and the Oath of Allegiance required of New Canadians, was given. In the past few years, thousands of men, women and children have taken up residence in Canada, from all parts of the world.

The following appropriate poem was read:

I'm proud of Canada.
Is Canada proud of me?
What she wants are citizens,
Loyal as can be.
I love my land, and Britain's Flag,
That waves from sea to sea;
O, I'm proud of Empire and Motherland,
And I'll make them proud of me.

Mrs. Powell concluded her paper with another poem, which appeared in the recent Golden Jubilee number of Echoes. This poem was written by a member of a chapter in Nova Scotia, after attending a special church service in commemoration of the 36th anniversary of the Order.

The I.O.D.E. Badge:
"Tis such a little pin, without a jewel's gleam
To catch the eye. What gives it place of high esteem.
Throughout the land? Why give it then a second glance
Since costlier jewels may well your dress enhance?
Should we now forsake those things this pin bespeaks
While through the troubled world men seek in vain for peace?
Mark well the meaning of this badge, so proudly worn
Through years of trials, and years of horror, torn
By savage wars, when carefree youth gave up their all
And gladly answered to their country's call:
When this, our land, with others o'er the sea
Joined forces, that mankind might yet be free.
Symbols of Empire, united here are shown
By star, with friendship encircling our Flag and Throne
Overlooking not our nationhood, yet in loyalty
As Daughters, then, at this the Golden Jubilee
Onward we must press, and through the land inspire
Strengthening of ties — One Flag, One Throne, One Empire."

Mrs. Lewis expressed to Mrs. Powell, the appreciation of the members, for the splendid paper.

One new member was received into the chapter, and made her affirmation to the King.

With Mrs. B. M. Black as pianist, the National Anthem was sung. Tea was served, the three members in charge being Mrs. Duane Hall, Mrs. K. Powell and Mrs. Clarence Reid.

Mrs. C. McLellan

May of Belleville, assisted by Mrs. O. Fertrand and Miss G. Pettingill. Mrs. May reported for Mrs. MacMullen, who was absent owing to illness and stated that the Mission Circles had enjoyed a very fine rally in the fall, that, unfortunately there had been the loss of two organizations during the year. Miss Pettingill reporting for the C.G.I.T. stated that there had been advance in giving and that a very fine rally had been held at Desoronto last fall. Mrs. May speaking for the Mission Bands was pleased to announce that 26 groups would receive awards for having completed the requirements for recognition and that she had been able to assist with the organization of 15 new bands during the year, making a total of 67 bands in the Presbyterial. Mrs. O. Bertrand, reporting for the Mission Bands, said there were 28 groups with a membership of 687 that raised $315.00 during the year.

A very fitting Memorial Service was conducted by Mrs. Ralph Sills, vice-president of the Belleville section, for the 37 members who had passed on to higher service during the year.

COMMEMORATION SERVICE

Mrs. A. V. Empey then conducted a service in commemoration of 25 years of union. The President said it was very fitting that at this 25th anniversary we should be meeting in the same church where the union of the women's organizations of the three churches was consummated on April 14th and 15th of 1926. The congregation then joined in the singing of the hymn 'The Church's one Foundation.' Mrs. Empey displayed the Blue Book for the year 1926 and read out the names of those elected to the first executive after Church Union. Seven of this former executive were present, namely Mrs. A. D. Way, Mrs. J. G. Sills, Mrs. Geo. Finlay, Mrs. F. O. Bennett, Mrs. George Switzer, Mrs. E. L. Fraser and Mrs. Laery. Thirteen other members who were present on this auspicious occasion 25 years ago, were also present as well as two former presidents, Mrs. W. C. Haggerty, Cherry Valley, and Mrs. S. W. Spafford, of Alkenvale. Prayer was then given by the President 'We thank Thee our Father, for the lives and service of these women of the first executive of our W.M.S., Belleville Presbyterial, and remember with love and respect those of the group who have passed on to higher service.' The presidents since Union were named: Mrs. M. E. Wilson, 1926-28; Mrs. S.C. Gay, 1928 - 32, Mrs. T. H. P. Anderson, 1932-35, Mrs. W. C. Haggerty, 1935-38, Mrs. F. L. Hooper, 1938-42, Mrs. S. W. Spafford, 1942-46, Mrs. A. V. Empey, 1946 - 50. The three presidents who were able to be present spoke for a few minutes on the highlights of their term of office.

A very delicious luncheon was served by the women of Trinity Church.

AFTERNOON SESSION

An interesting contribution in the afternoon was made by Mrs. I. Elliott who interviewed departmental secreteries in the form of a radio broadcast. Mrs. Sproule, secretary of Missionary Monthly and World Friends both, said that the objective for 1950 was to have the World Friends magazine in every church home where there was a child. In an interview with the secretary of literature, Mrs. Fred Bell, the broadcast stated that there was an advance in reading in past year, 1471 books had been read and a large number of copies of the study book 'Crowning With The Years' had been sold. Many auxiliaries took part in the reading course and Ivanhoe led with an average of over eight books per member. The Community Friendship secretary, Mrs. S. Spafford, who reported for Mrs. Wilson, felt the most important job for 1950 was to be found in her department. She asked all those listening in to get better acquainted with the literature of Community purposes and to cooperate with the Presbyterial Secretary, the Ministers and the Women's organizations of the churches. The reports show that the woman of our society should be doing a great deal more visiting throughout the community in which they live. Mrs. Geo. Finlay reported for Mrs. Jeffs on Christian Citizenship and Temperance, and urged all members to avail themselves of the use of the "Purpose Card" prepared by the Dominion Board. The press secretary, Mrs. F. E. Harbeck, stated that the press was one of the most powerful forms of propaganda in the world today and that, therefore, the W. M. S. members should avail themselves by the use of it.

AFTERNOON ADDRESS

"The Open Door In Japan," was the theme of the address delivered by Miss S. Courtice. She stated: 'I have come to you from Japan to tell you what world friendship in Christ can do. I had the privilege of being interned with 125 other women, all but seven were missionaries. Finally when we were released and were being sent back to America our captors said: 'We will be glad to have you back as soon as you can come.' We were interned for nine months after the war started and then were released. I had the good fortune to return to Japan and I shall never forget the wonderful welcome received from a country that had been so sorely bombed by our people. Not a single word or gesture nor any resentment was shown. This is the attitude of all people in Japan. The doors are open everywhere for Christians.

When we were forced to return to America during the war years we were anxious because we felt our work in Japan would receive a setback but when we returned we found God had been working in a wonderful way. The native Christians had never ceased working and through gifts received from the Church at home, were already starting to rebuild again. Evidences of the open door in Japan are that young people are looking for direction and leadership, they are frustrated because of the difficult experience they passed through in the war years. The children of Japan are eager to learn English; kindergartens are flourishing and there is a great demand for them everywhere. Japanese teachers have made many sacrifices in order to promote educational work in their country. Their message to the returning missionaries is 'we need you to give us the inspiration of Christ, we are dismayed but not cast down.' In order to understand the problems of Japan we must remember that the devastation and destruction of war cannot be told in words. 779 cities were destroyed, 1,350,000 soldiers were killed. There are 600,000 war widows to be cared for and there are countless numbers of unclaimed children.

The work of Christian missions started in Japan ninety years ago and nothing has ever been able to destroy its influence!

In an interview with the Empress of Japan Miss Courtice stated that she showed keen interest in the work of the Canadian missionaries and she was anxious to discover what the women of Canada were doing. In reply to the question, 'What is the greatest need?' the Empress said: 'What Christ can do for me, for my family and my nation.' The open doors of Japan are being flung wide by a people anxious to help and cooperate in making their country Christian. The grandson of the Empress is in one of our Christian kindergartens.

The soloist in the afternoon was Mrs. Wightman, who sang 'He Smiled On Me.'

Mrs. S. W. Spafford presented the following resolutions:

1 Resolved that we are not in favour of organized Sunday sports in Canada; we stand firmly behind the Lord's Day Alliance in this regard.

2 Resolved that we would 'favour curtailing any further outlets for the sale of liquor; that the present law be strictly enforced, especially in regard to sale to minors.

3 We deplore the use of our papers and magazines for liquor advertisements; and are resolved that we as a W.M.S. take a definite stand against this practice.

1 Concerning the Department of Temperance and Christian Citizenship. Whereas too little emphasis is placed on this department or is confined to one aspect only: — Resolved that we make an effort to increase the study of Christian Citizenship among our women and further that we take an active interest in all community projects affecting the general welfare of Canadians.

It was moved and seconded that these resolutions be sustained.

Mrs. R. N. Broad brought in the report of the Nominating Committee and the following officers were elected: Past president, Mrs. Albert V. Empey, R.R. No. 1, Eldorado; president, Mrs. C. D. B. May, 9 Cedar St., Belleville; secretary of baby bands, Mrs. O. Bertrand, R.R. 1, Corbyville; associate members' secretary, Mrs. Gordon Lacrunto; press secretary, Mrs. Ethel Marmora; supply secretary, Mrs. Fred Russell, Napanee; community friendship secretary, Mrs. Delbert Carman, Madoc; literature secretary, Mrs. Fred Bell, Meaford; Missionary Monthly and World Friends secretary, Mrs. Jas. Sproule, Marmora; secretary of temperance and Christian Citizenship Mrs. T. F. Townsend, Desoronto; press secretary, Miss Ethel Horton, 9 Grier St., Belleville.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, the Conference Branch president, installed the officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. W. B. May, secretary of mission bands, then presented the awards of the year. Two bands received special awards for having carried out satisfactory programmes for recognition for eleven years. Three bands received special awards for six years of satisfactory work and seven bands received their first award for one year's work.

Mrs. Bruce Finlay gave a warm expression of thanks to the retiring officers and the president, Mrs. Albert V. Empey stated that the women of Picton had invited the Presbyterial to meet with them in 1951.

The afternoon session closed with a very impressive Communion service presided over by Rev. N. Hatton of Trinity United Church.

During the supper hour greetings were brought from the following people: His Worship, Mayor Viner, from Presbytery by Rev. Charles Perkins, from Grace Church by Rev. C. D. McLellan, from the W. A. by Mrs. W. G. Smith, from the Conference Branch, by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris and Mrs. Clifford Smith replied to these greetings. The Rev. N. Hatton acted as chairman.

EVENING SESSION

The evening session opened with a worship service conducted by the Wesley Mission Circle using as its subject, 'Christ's Hands.' The choir contributed a beautiful anthem 'The Lord Is My Shepherd.'

Once again Miss Courtice thrilled the assembly with her address on "The New Age in Japan." She stated that it is a new age and a very different age in Japan today. Immediately following the war years there was a marked change. She told many human interest stories of the advance of young Christian Japanese. The new age means a new attitude towards marriage, marriages that where the people concerned are allowed to make their own arrangements.

In closing, Miss Courtice said: 'If the people of Canada could visualize for one moment what it means to make Japan Christian now and the world Christian we would not hold back one thing.' She urged her audience to make it a matter of action to bring in the age of peace and to pray and give all that we have for the Prince of Peace so that His Kingdom may come in this, our age.

Mrs. A. Clare, convener of the nursery Committee, extended a gracious vote of thanks to all those who had contributed to the enrichment of the programmes and to Mrs. F. L. Hooper and the women of Trinity United Church, Napanee, who in a given such a gracious welcome to the women of the Presbyterial.

Mrs. A. V. Empey was presented with a small token of appreciation from the members of the Executive of the Presbyterial for her unique and sincere contribution to the work of the Society for the past four years by Mrs. F. R. Harbeck, and the gift was presented by Mrs. O. Bertrand.

Sessions closed with the National Anthem, and the benediction by Rev. N. Hatton.

It's particularly true in picking a job. You want a river that will deepen and broaden out as you progress, not a stagnant pond, however big the pond may seem at first. Those who choose banking as a career are rail on a river that can take them on a long and pleasing voyage. So if you're leaving High School this year, why not drop into the Bank of Montreal, and have a chat about your prospects with Mr. Powell, the Manager? 15a

ADOLPHUSTON - SANDHURST ANGLICAN Y. P. A.

The regular meeting of the above association was held on Friday evening at the home of Ralph Mack. Fifteen members were present. The president, Harold Babcock, conducted the business, after devotions by the Rector. A letter was read regarding the Leadership Training Course to be held at St. Mary Magdalene Church, Napanee, on April 21 to 23. Phyllis Littlefield was chosen to represent the group, as well as a member from Sandhurst to be chosen later.

Robert Greems, treasurer, reported that fees had been paid to the Dominion Council; three dollars to Mr. Secker, convener of Sunday School by Post and $7.00 to Christian Neighborhood. Following the business, a choir practice was held and Mr. Secker showed slides on life in ancient Palestine.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Littlefield.

That doesn't mean we're careless. It's just that in the course of turning out those fine Tex-made cotton products you know so well, we have to buy a great many things from all parts of the country.

We need packing cases and cardboard cartons, construction lumber, paper, potato and corn starches, coal, sulphuric acid, caustic soda, oils, lubricants and a hundred and one other things which we buy from fellow Canadians who grow or make them.

In addition to this the 12,500 men and women working in our plants, earn many millions of dollars a year in wages, dollars which are spent on foodstuffs from the farms of Canada, grains, cattle, hogs and poultry, fish from the fishermen on both coasts and the Great Lakes.

We are the customers of our fellow-Canadians just as they are our customers. We're proud to have a part in Canada's economic life by buying the goods which other Canadians grow, make or provide.

FARM FORUM REVIEW

Bicknell's Corners Farm Forum closed the Farm Radio Forum season of 1949-50, by holding its annual oyster supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, on April 3rd, with an attendance of thirty-four members and friends. The Forum was honoured by having as its guests Mr. Harry K. Hutton, Director of Extension Work, of Queen's University; Miss Eileen Greene, whose voice is heard on Rural Review over CKW every Saturday morning; Mr. and Mrs. James Baines, also of Kingston who are old friends of the Forum members, and Mr. W. Stewart, a grand old gentleman of almost ninety-three years of age, who is the father of Mrs. Scott. While all remained at the dining table, there was a short program of addresses, under the chairmanship of Mr. Harold Peters, the Forum chairman. In the course of his address, made in his usual witty manner, Mr. Baines referred to the fact that this was the date of the thirty-eighth wedding anniversary of the host and hostess. They were warmly congratulated and all joined in singing 'For They are Jolly Good Fellows.' Mr. Hutton stressed the value, of Farm Forum as a means of adult education, and spoke of how much he and Miss Green enjoyed reading the reports sent in by the Forums for use on the radio broadcast. Miss Green spoke briefly but promised she would have more to say at the Rally in Napanee, on April 10th.

The members were also pleased to hear a few words from Mr. Stewart. Mr. Donald Paul, who was recently elected a director of the Ontario Farm Forum Association, gave the members an interesting and explanatory address on what this association hopes to do for the farmer.

Christie; Christian Culture, by Mr. "Billy" White; Christian Boys' Work, by Rev. C. D. McLellan; and Christian Recreation, by Miss Elsie Irvine.

MR. BAXTER'S ADDRESS

Mr. Donald Baxter, who spoke on Sunday evening, threw out a stirring challenge to youth to give moral, intellectual, and spiritual leadership. If youth is not prepared to give such leadership the results to the future of the world are too terrible to consider, he said.

Moral stamina is needed in every community, he said. Young people cannot lead if they are willing to follow the crowd. Christianity, he added, is the cause of most of the present day world problems.

Canada, Mr. Baxter said, has the greatest institutions for education in the world. Millions are being spent on education but the greatest need is to educate young people for peace, with the goal of achieving one world. There is a great challenge for young people to live in peace and harmony, and there is no better place to start than in the Canadian community where they live. Selfishness, he said, was the root cause of two great wars and unless the world's surpluses are properly distributed and hungry nations are fed, there will be more wars and communism will spread.

The time has come, he said, to quit talking about christianity and to really put into practice the teachings of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount. If Christ could speak today he would say: "I hand the torch to you, as Canadians, to show what christianity really can mean." Youth must be prepared to give to the world the answer to its problems.

In closing, he expressed the belief that young people of today would meet the challenge and show the world a better way to live.

J. F. DIAMOND'S RECORD FISH NEVER BEATEN

The following letter and enclosure was received from Mr. Joseph Foster of Moscow, who occasionally contributes interesting articles to "The Beaver".

Moscow, Ontario.
April 12th, 1950.

Mr. Editor:

Dear Sir: — I am enclosing herewith the following letter from Mr. James Fletcher Diamond, of 62 South Main Street, Batavia, N.Y., which I believe would interest a number of your readers, particularly those who might have a strain of Isaac Walton in their make-up.

Joseph Foster.

Dear Joe — Your account of the fishing ort Hay Bay and the catch recently made by young David Huffman of Moscow, brought to my mind many happy hours spent on Hay Bay, in my younger days. I had my own boat here and my fishing tackle was crude indeed when compared with the fisherman's outfit today. I shall never forget one experience I had on the beautiful waters of that historic Bay.

It happened on a fine summer morning when I had gone out alone in my boat. I was quite young and full of enthusiasm. I had not gone far, when I had what the seasoned fisherman would call a terrific strike. I knew perfectly well what it meant; and for the next hour and possibly longer, I had the biggest battle of my life — and I won. It was a tuge and a monster.

When I reached the shore and recovered some measure of composure, I decided to take my prize to Napanee and when I reached that town, Ed. Douglass weighed my fish and it tipped the scales at fifty-seven pounds. Ed. Douglass had recently fallen heir to The Paisley House and the same evening was catering to a Masonic banquet. So Ed. decided at once to surprise his guests with my big fish. The lunge was roasted whole, head and all, and elaborately decorated and garnished with all the paraphernalia which adorns any dish's display complete, and I had the signal honour of a seat at this banquet, and the only one present who had not seen the inside of the Sanctum Sanctorum of that honored Craft.

During the years which have elapsed since my encounter with the big fish, I have watched the published reports of the size of fish taken from Hay Bay and the adjoining waters, and as far as I am able to learn, my 57-pounder holds the record.

Yours truly,
J. Fletcher Diamond.

NOTE: Mr. Diamond has been a subscriber to The Beaver for many years.

L. AND A. RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

A statement has been made that "To raise the level of National Health is the surest way to raise the level of national happiness." One certain way to be sure of raising the level of National Health is to see that all growing children receive a daily quota of Vitamin D. Vitamin D is contained in Cod liver Oil in all its various forms. A daily dose should be at least 400 International Units a day. Vitamin D, or Cod Liver Oil as it is commonly called, is not a medicine but a daily requirement for all growing children. An adequate daily intake of Cod Liver Oil will prevent rickets and aid in the building of strong bones and teeth.

This scientifically proven fact is not always accepted by the public generally. Often this is due to the fact that parents are not convinced of the value of Vitamin D in other cases parents are not financially able to provide it for their children. The Lennox and Addington Branch of the Red Cross Society is aware of this. It is, however, convinced that ALL children should have the advantage of this Vitamin in their general growth. So a considerable supply of Cod Liver Oil in Liquid and Capsule form has been purchased and distributed throughout the County to all needy families.

Will you do your share to make this supply available in the future to the growing children in your Community by contributing to the Lennox and Addington Red Cross Branch in its present campaign for funds?

Fire Destroys Summer Hotel Near Northbrook

Loss Estimated at $75,000

"The Hermitage" a summer resort hotel on Lake Maxinaw, fifteen miles north of Northbrook, in Lennox and Addington County, was completely destroyed by fire on Friday, April 14th. The loss was estimated at $70,000. The hotel, a four-storey building, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Maloney, of Niagara Falls, was not open for business for the season. The proprietors had arrived just a few days ago to prepare for the summer opening. Neither Mr. or Mrs. Maloney were at the hotel when the blaze was discovered. Mr. Maloney had gone to visit at a neighboring resort, and Mrs. Maloney was in Madoc.

Before leaving the hotel, Mr. Maloney said he had started a fire in the hotel's two furnaces and it is thought the blaze started in the basement.

The fire was discovered by Alan Meeks, a truck driver, who notified Mr. Maloney. By the time Mr. Maloney and Mr. Meeks returned to the hotel, the heat was so intense they could not enter the building. They fought the blaze with hose coupled to a pumping unit, using water from the lake.

The loss was partly covered by insurance. Mr. Maloney reported he had also lost nearly $900 in cash, which was in the building.

W. L. Bell Resigns From Principalship Public Schools

Resignation Effective at End of June

W. L. Bell, who has been the Principal of the Napanee Public Schools for the past five years, tendered his resignation to the Napanee Public School Board, at the regular monthly meeting, last Friday evening. In his letter of resignation, Mr. Bell said he was finding the work too strenuous. He paid a tribute to the Board, the secretaries and the press, for their co-operation. A motion moved by Werk Poole and J. A. Marshall, was passed accepting Mr. Bell's resignation. In moving the motion, Mr. Poole said: "In accepting the resignation of Mr. W. L. Bell, Principal of our Public Schools, the Board wishes to express its sincere appreciation to him for the conscientious service that he has given during the past five years.

"During the first part of his term as Principal, Mr. Bell was faced with the handicap of supervising school activities in two long outmoded schools. More recently he has arranged for the transfer of our school activities to our new modern schools which has been, in brief, a considerable task.

"The Board wants to convey to both Mr. and Mrs. Bell its appreciation for their wholehearted efforts during their years of service in Napanee. The Board also wishes them every happiness and success in the new teaching positions that they will be taking over next Fall."

George L. Howitt, who represented the Napanee Board at the meeting of the Trustees' and Ratepayers Association in Toronto, last week, gave an excellent report of the proceedings of the convention. He briefly outlined the topics that were brought out in addresses delivered. He spoke of the proposed new curriculum and referred especially to the gap between Grade VIII, the last grade in the Public School and Grade IX, the first grade in High School. Speakers said that some pupils in Grade VIII were not adapted for Grade IX and in order to overcome that difficulty, it is proposed to do away with the grade system and a credit system may be adopted with the following divisions: Group 1, comprised of Grade I to III. Group 2, comprised IV to VI, and Group 3, Grades VII to X. Closer co-operation between public schools and high schools is to be sought. Some boards are to be asked to try the new system next term, but its adoption is not compulsory.

Mr. Howitt said that Napanee is "doing pretty well" in view of its two new public schools, because the Department's grants for new schools has now been raised to $30 per cent.

Mr. Poole reported the architect and contractor for the Prince Charles school had been in town last week, and were making some necessary repairs and adjustments to the building. The work was partly done last week and will be completed in the summer vacation. Final payment for the construction of the school is being withheld by the Board until all adjustments have been made.

Mr. Poole also stated that a nursery firm is to submit a plan for planting trees and sodding the grounds of the school. One thing which must be done soon, Mr. Poole said, is to level the grounds to remove surface water.

Mr. Bell, in his report on attendance in March, said there was a total enrolment of 520 with an average attendance of 86 per cent. An epidemic of mumps was responsible for the low percentage of attendance.

NEW BRIDGE WILL REMOVE TRAFFIC HAZARD

The decision of the Ontario Department of Highways to replace the bridge over the Napanee River on No. 2 Highway, at the foot of Church Hill is welcome news to the people of the district and the travelling public generally.

The present bridge has become entirely inadequate for the present day traffic. Especially so heavily loaded transports and trucks it has been a menace for some time; several bad accidents have occurred at the bridge due to the difficulty in making the turn at the west end of the bridge. The present bridge was built in 1909 and replaced the covered bridge which has stood since 1846.

According to Mr. Orval Madden, who visited Napanee, there is at present only one covered bridge still in use in Ontario. It is at West Montrose, near Guelph. Mr. Madden made a pen and ink drawing of the old covered bridge in Napanee, copies of which are owned by several residents of the town. He plans to go to West Montrose to paint a picture of the covered bridge, in the near future.

The present bridge, which is to be constructed by the H.G. McFarland Construction Company of Picton, is to cost about $75,000.

The H.J. McFarland Construction Co., Limited, moved their head office in their new building on Talbot St., Picton, last week end.

For some years the offices of this progressive company have been on Elizabeth Street, but due to the steady growth of the business, it was found necessary to seek larger and permanent quarters.

Start Immunization In County Schools

This week an immunization campaign is being started in the County schools by the Lennox and Addington County Health Unit. Toxoid for diphtheria and tetanus in combination with whooping cough vaccine will be given to the pre-school children who are brought to the schools for the clinics. The school children will be receiving booster shots for those cases, as many of them have received the primary course of inoculations before starting school.

During the year 1949 no cases of communicable disease for which routine immunization was carried out were reported to the Health Unit. It is hoped that this enviable record will continue throughout the year 1950.

Parents are urged to bring their pre-school children to school on the clinic days. The teachers will let the pupils know the date and hour of each clinic; and they will be able to carry the message home to their parents.

1875 Newspaper Recalls Old Names In Napanee

Was Published from 1854 to 1889

Mr. Ed. McDonald, Water Street, who lives in the residence formerly occupied by the late Mr. and Mrs. George Greer, recently unrovered, in the back of an old picture, a copy of The Napanee Standard, bearing the date, Thursday, March 4th, 1875. The names of some of the people mentioned in the advertisements and news columns of the 75-year-old paper, might be remembered by some of the older residents of the town. Among them are A.C. Davis, Dr. Cook, Dr. Clark, Dr. Gibson, Dr. Beeman, Cartwright & Gibson, Williams & Hooper, D.H. Preston, H. M. Deroche, F. Bartlett, George Cliff, Jas. Bogart, W.S. Williams, J. C. Huffman, W. H. Bruton, Reeve & Morden, James Aikin, Edmund Hooper, Campbell & Coates, Samuel Huff, Dr. Bedford, Stephen Gibson, and many others.

One news item concerned an oyster supper given by Messrs. Gibbard & Sons, cabinet makers, to their employees. There were 75 guests who were served at the factory.

A great deal of the news part of the paper contained stories and clippings from other newspapers in larger centres. The editorials were of a more or less general nature, with very little reference to local matters. Town Council proceedings were featured in a lengthy article.

In the chapter on Napanee newspapers in Mr. W.S. Herrington's history of Lennox and Addington, there is some interesting information regarding The Napanee Standard. The paper was founded in 1854 with the equipment being purchased by Allan Macpherson. Stockholders included Robert Eson and B.C. Davy, who was the first Mayor of Napanee. B.C. Davy was editor of the paper for some time. In 1885 the paper was sold to Alex. Henry and C. A. Jenkins and some time later Jenkins' interests were acquired by T. S. Henry. At that time the plant was moved to the Henry block, where the Selrite Store is now situated.

Publication was suspended in 1885, during the men who served as apprentices with The Standard, were William Templeton and G. M. Beaman, who started The Napanee Beaver in 1870.

7½ TONS PAPER COLLECTED, EASTER WEEK

The members of the Napanee Boy Scout and Cub Troops were delighted with the results of the waste paper campaign conducted by the boys during Easter week. Seven and one-half tons of paper were collected and sold to the Canada Paper Co.

The boys are greatly indebted to Mr. Clayton Deline for the use of his truck, and to the collection and to The Strathcona Paper Co. for purchasing the paper at a time when they do not particularly need waste paper.

Malcolm and Ian Isbester were the two boys who collected the most paper. They and three other boys will be given a trip to Kingston, where they will visit a Cub Pack in the city at a later date.

It is the intention of the Scouts and boys to make a continuous collection of paper. Anyone who has paper may get in touch with a Scout or Cub at any time, and the paper will be picked up.

The annual "Farmers' Night" of the Lions Club of Napanee, was observed on Monday evening, with an attendance of about ninety. The guest speaker was J. A. Weall, Professor of Horticulture at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. Prof. Weall's address was one of the most interesting as well as amusing heard here in some time.

Landscape gardening, he said, is the observation of natural surroundings and to to do this, one must work with nature. He illustrated his talk with blackboard drawings, and the right and wrong method in the planting of evergreens, shrubs, perennials and annuals.

He also had a sketch of a farm, and showed how easily it could be made into a place of beauty at a very moderate cost. The main thing to remember in good landscaping is not to plant right next to a home or building, but some distance away, to have a good mixture of colours, which should come from personal taste.

Professor Weall was introduced by Bruce Medd and thanked by Lloyd Cowle.

First Vice-President Ward Warman presided and extended a hearty welcome to the guests.

One new member, Bob Dixon, was inducted into the Club by W. F. Barrett.

During the evening several accordian solos were given by Envoy William Clarke of The Salvation Army at Smiths Falls, who is in Napanee doing evangelistic work.

Envoy Clarke, who is a graduate of the Ontario School for the Blind, was introduced by Lleut. Phil Gardner.

It was announced that Robt. Smith immediate past-president, has been nominated for the position of Dist. Deputy Governor.

Nap. Y. P.'s Entertain Neighbouring Unions

On Monday evening, April 17, the young people of Grace and Trinity Churches, Napanee, entertained the young people of Selby and Odessa. About forty-seven young people were present.

A very inspiring worship service was in charge of Judy Kinnear, president of the Selby Union, with Ruth Hudgins also taking part.

Topic — "A More Excellent Way" was presented, showing scenes of the young people's Work Camps at Moira Lake, where the building of the new Camp is in progress. As well as showing the actual building of the Camp, there were scenes taken from the recreation and worship, which are both important parts in each day's events.

A period of lively recreation was under the direction of Eleanor Boyce of the Odessa Union, after which two more films were shown, 'Modern Guide to Health,' and 'Learning to Live.'

A delicious lunch was served by the girls of the Grace Union and the evening came to a close with a Friendship Circle and the singing of 'Taps.'

COLLEGIATE BOARD MONTHLY MEETING

J. D. Mayhew, Chairman of the Management Committee of the Napanee and District Collegiate Board, reported to the Board at its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening of this week that three new teachers had been engaged for next term at Napanee Collegiate and one new teacher for Newburgh High School.

Mrs. Alkenbrack's and Mrs. Chopin's resignations were received and accepted.

The new teachers for the Napanee School are Miss M. McCauley, Marysville, who has been engaged to teach Physical Training; Mr. Lewis, of Toronto, to teach History, and Mr. N. W. Hutchison, who has been Principal of Newburgh High School for some years, will teach Agricultural Science in the Napanee School. Mr. Richard Whitely, of Toronto, will replace Mr. Hutchison at Newburgh.

Mr. Froud, Principal of the Napanee Collegiate, announced that Mr. Robert Faud, who has been appointed for Mrs Diamant, terminated his work on Tuesday of this week.

For the balance of the term Mr. Hutchison, of Newburgh, will teach Grade XIII Science for three periods each week, bringing with him to Napanee six pupils from Newburgh. Mr. Medd will teach Grade XII Chemistry, and Mrs. Hinn will supervise the Science Classes in the other grades. Every effort had been made Mr. Froud said, to secure a temporary Science teacher for the balance of the term, but without success.

Mr. Froud informed the Board that an attempt is being made to bring the work of the students in the Collegiate to a higher standard. More effort will be demanded from the students, and because of the greater demands, poorer results in examinations may follow.

Mr. Froud also said that an effort will be made to increase outdoor sports for boys, and this year English soccer will be introduced. Rugby, he said, was too complicated a game for a small school.

Enrolment at the Collegiate in March was 408, with an average attendance of 90.15%. At Newburgh the enrolment was 80, with an average attendance of 89%.

Cadet inspection will be held at Newburgh in the morning of May 10th, and at Napanee in the afternoon of the same day. Open house will be held at the Collegiate some time late in May.

Memorial Windows To Be Dedicated At Anglican Church

Next Sunday morning, April 23rd, two beautiful memorial windows, the gift of Mrs. Helen Batten, in memory of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wallace, will be dedicated at St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican Church in Napanee.

The windows are the work of Mr. C. W. Kelsey, of Westmount, Que. It is expected that Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille, a former rector of the church, will be present for the service. Members of the Sunday School and young people taking the A.Y.P.A. training course, will also attend.

Training Course For Young People At Anglican Church

An A.Y.P.A. Leadership Training Course will be held at St. Mary Magdalene's Church in Napanee this week, beginning Friday evening and lasting until Sunday afternoon. Young people of the Deaneries of Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward are expected to be in attendance.

Fire Calls During Week

The Napanee firemen answered a call last Thursday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. DeVerde Powell, where a chimney fire had been reported. No damage was done to the building or contents.

About 2:00 p.m. on Monday of this week the firemen were called to South Napanee to the home of Wm. Waltson, where a fire had started on the roof at the rear of the house. Shingles and sheating were slightly damaged before the firemen were able to extinguish the blaze.

Great Bear, Great Slave and Lake Winnipeg are all greater in area than Lake Ontario.

In Canada there is about one radio to every four persons.

ONE WORLD

It was the late Wendell Willkie who popularized the idea that we are all in one world. The radio and the aeroplane have all but eliminated distance. National boundaries in spite of their curtains and bamboo curtains, can be crossed at will with the short wave. — We are all in one world.

Most of us are willing to admit that, without argument. Yet all too few would be willing to admit all that this implies. If we are in one world then the trade between component parts should be facilitated. If we are in one world, then our currencies should be put on a stable basis. If we are in one world our cultural achievements should be made available to all.

Most of us would be willing to go along that far, and perhaps further in the same direction. But there are other issues, too. If we are in one world, then what happens in one part of the world affects all other parts. It is no use ignoring them or merely opposing them!

There is revolution in the Eastern Countries, and in East Europe. Well! what about it! Whether we like it or not, there they are. They cannot be brushed off. If we are in one world, they affect us, and we must try to understand the causes for these. For revolutions do not come without causes.

It is sheer nonsense to claim with great enthusiasm that we are in one world, and fail to recognize that the world is in turmoil. Political parties and leaders will do less than justice to themselves and those they govern or seek to govern if they put on blinders and refuse to look either to the right or the left. Or, if they condemn, offhand, all the struggle and bloodshed that is marking the post - war world in large areas of the earth's surface.

Why are people in revolt? If we are in one world, is the spirit of revolt which is so manifest in the East, a world-wide condition? If it is, how is it to be met. Of course, there is only one way to meet a spirit or an idea and that is with a better one. If we, in the West, are convinced that our way of life is the best for all concerned, then the statesman-like way of making that conviction real, is not by adopting a negative attitude of vitriolic opposition to alternative philosophies. The triumph of Democracy will depend on the extent to which it is able to do for all Democrats, more than other ideologies promise.

That is something that legislators should note. To that they should give heed. There is revolution in half of the world — let us admit that — and then meet it by removing all the conditions that make for revolution.

NOT PLANNING

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have been visiting Canada. The published interviews have been lacking in color and interest. The interviewers seem to have had a hard time to get enough material to fill the column. The Royal couple were both shy, we are told, and they had not definite plans for the future. Yes, they hoped to go to England, this year — but they had not definite plans. — Yes, they wanted to visit their Canadian ranch in Alberta, every year, but they were not sure as to the time; they had no plans.

There is something strangely tragic about the story of the unplanned itineraries of the Royal couple. Whatever may be the verdict of history on the abdication of the Duke of Windsor, there ought surely to be some way in which his training, ability and prestige could be used in the public service. The aimless wandering of this Royal couple seems like a tragic waste of talent and ability that could be used in constructive ways for the international well-being.

"HAD TO BE ONE!"

"It had to be one of them!" That is what Mrs. Maurice Leger, of Cornwall, said when asked about the stabbing of her husband by her fourteen year-old son, on Saturday night. The son was a cripple and apparently was giving offence to nobody. The father, aroused from a drunken stupor, began to abuse his son. The son drew a kitchen knife and stabbed the father. The father died of the wound and the boy gave himself up, and has been charged with manslaughter.

It had to be one of them! Why did it have to be one of them? Why should a wife and family have to live in terror of their very lives from a husband and father who is crazed with liquor? Apparently there is no answer to that one. A man seems to be able to do pretty much as he likes in his own home. Most of the time this sanctity of the home is a good thing. It develops interdependence and mutual trust and responsibility. It tends to establish a home which is the basis of all society.

That is as it should be. But there are times when most red-blooded people would like to see some protection for the weaker members of the home. No man in his right senses would attack another member of his family, viciously. And yet these attacks take place all too frequently. Seeking a cause for such unnatural and brutal action, the seeker usually discovers that there is liquor at the bottom of the issue. We are shocked at the events that greet us, every day on the front page of the Press. Indeed it is with a certain fear and apprehension that we pick up the Monday morning paper. So many people spend the week-end in drinking, that dreadful things are inevitable — crimes of violence, sex crimes, and murder.

There is not much hope of changing this situation until the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquor is drastically curtailed. But there is so much money to be made on these beverages, that opposition to the liquor trade faces a strong fee. However there are so many dreadful crimes being perpetrated, which owe their origin to alcohol, that before long an awakened public opinion will demand a change in the present liquor legislation. This is no longer an academic question. It is one of life and death for hundreds of our fellow citizens.

HARD TO ESCAPE

It is hard to escape from ourselves, even if that were desirable — and of course it often is desirable. We carry with us, for weal or woe, the effect on us of our early environment. The things we were taught in the home as children linger in the memory and personality long after the childhood days are gone. Crushing poverty in childhood may warp and twist a person's outlook on life in adult years. Wealth, luxury, security in the days of immaturity will, in all probability, color our point of view and influence our decisions.

It is the effect of thaining and environment that is responsible to a large extent for the different ways in which perfectly honest people see the same thing. One person will look on social security legislation as a noble achievement; another, equally honest, will lock on it as pampering the idle and the lazy.

Last week we listened to an address from one who had that very day, returned from Jugo-Slavia. It was a good address, vivid, hopeful and optimistic. The speaker, who was a trained reporter, had tried to be objective. He had held a great number of interviews with people in many walks of life.

After the address, one from the audience rose. He, too, had, only a week before, returned from Jugo-Slavia. He, too, was a trained reporter on another American magazine. But his view was quite at variance with that of the former speaker. Where one saw freedom, the other saw bondage; where one saw a happy people the other saw only a crushed and sullen folk.

It was an interesting discussion and nobody would suggest for a moment, that either was slanting the news. They were both too honest to do such a thing. However, this illustrates the reason why it is so difficult to get the truth about countries in revolution. Expert observers see different things.

The reason must lie in the temperament and the environmental life of the observer. Even for the most objective reports, it is necessary to make allowance. That is why, too, the seeker after the truth should read all sides of a question, read articles even from those with whom we find it hard to agree.

NEWS ITEMS BY PUBLIC SCHOOL STUDENTS

C. G. I. T. Meeting

On Wednesday night at Grace Church, the C.G.I.T. group held its meeting at 7:30 p.m. The first part of the meeting was occupied with the singing of some favourite songs. Then the half-hour was taken up with worship service and a study period. This was followed by games. The games were all very enjoyable. The meeting ended at 9:30 with a friendship circle and the singing of taps.

— Hazel McConnell.

Senior Hockey

At the Prince Charles School on Tuesday afternoon, a game of hockey was played between the Black Hawks, coached by Jimmy Hunter, and the Wings, coached by Howitt. The Black Hawks played a terrific game but lost out, so, I suppose the Wings credit for being a better team. On Thursday we were to play a sudden death game for it in the semi-finals. The winning team plays in the finals for the crests. However, the weatherman prevented us from carrying this out.

— Jimmy Hunter.

The Weather

To-day, Wednesday, March 15th, the wind is blowing but it is quite mild. The snow is drifting and piling up all over. The sun is out and spring seems to be just around the corner. People will want Easter to be nice so they can go to church. Such is the weather — a subject everyone talks about, but concerning which each is powerless.

— Shirley Clark.

Cub-Scout Banquet

On Friday evening, March 10th, a Cub-and-Scout Fathers' banquet was held in the Sunday school room of Grace United Church. The guest speaker was Mr. Henry Wightman of The Napanee Express. Mr. Wightman expressed what Scouting had meant to him, as he was a King Scout, when a boy. After the talk, two films were shown: one of Bears, and one called The Conservation of Ducks. It was a very nice evening and everyone enjoyed it.

— James Douglas.

Fire Drills

The Prince Charles School is having fire drills. They started on March 14th, 1950. When the three bells rang we knew it was for a fire drill, so we marched to the emergency exit and went out being careful not to crowd as we went. Girls went first and boys after. We went down off the terrace into the open. At the signal, we came back into the room. Fire drills provide pratice in the orderly evacuation of a building.

— Edith Hicks.

Fire Drill

On Tuesday, March 14th, the pupils of the Prince Charles School went out the emergency exit from their respective rooms. They returned to their class rooms at the signal. The emergency exists at the new school make it possible for the building to be emptied much more readily than was the case at the old West Ward School.

— Marlene Denning.

C. G. I. T. Group

The weekly meeting of Grace United Church C.G.I.T. group was held on Wednesday evening, March 15th. The meeting opened with a few of the girls' favourite songs. We then had our worship service and Bible study conducted by Miss Jean Derbyshire. We had the business part of the meeting and discussed the selling of cards. We then had our recreation period, after which the meeting closed with our friendship circle and the singing of Taps.

— Joan Stevenson.

Music Broadcast

On Tuesday, March 14th, the pupils of Grade VIII of The Prince Charles School listened to the Toronto Symphony Orchestra's Music Broadcast. The programme opened with Symphony No. 5 by Beethoven. Everyone enjoyed this piece of music which had rhythm. After this was a piece by Schubert, Moment Musical. We enjoyed this piece because of its pure music. The great Russian composer, Peter Tschaskowsky composed a piece called Valse from Swan Lake for Strings, and also Dance of the Flutes. These lively pieces were enjoyed by all. Another piece called Melody of Irish Airs, by Sir Ernest MacMillan, was enjoyed, too.

We all listened intently.

— Frances Reid.

Current Events News Broadcast

The Current News Broadcast heard by Grade VIII pupils on Thursday, March 16th, was very interesting. The items of interest were as follows:

The annual hockey game between West Point and R.M.C. was played during West Point's visit to Royal Military College. As usual the penalty boxes remained empty during the game and not an angry word was spoken. During the visit the individual players on both teams adopted each other and slept, ate and studied together.

The new jet plane, built at Malton, made a successful flight to Ottawa from Malton, to be inspected by Government officials, who were very satisfied with its behaviour.

In Belgium there is a controversy going on as to whether King Leopold will return to the throne. Rumors say Leopold's nineteen-year-old son, may take the throne. Others say Leopold's brother, who has been ruling in Leopold's place, may continue to rule, and others believe King Leopold may take up his old position as King of Belgium.

General Chiang Kai-Shek has resumed office as president of the Chinese Nationalist Government.

— Mary Jane Hatton.

Educational Film Shown

On Friday, March 17th, 1950, a film entitled "Clear Waters" sponsored by the George York Motors, was shown by Mr. Wilfred Smith in the Prince Charles School auditorium. The film showed very distinctly how the sewage water entered the Sewage Disposal Plant and there went through many processes and finally came cut clean, clear water. The destruction of shore property, beaches fishing resources, is caused directly or indirectly by sewage being emptied into the lakes, rivers and bays, without the sewage being put through the proper processes. This film was very educational and colourful and I am sure all people enjoyed it.

— Nancy Wartman.

Parking Meters in Napanee

On Friday evening, March 17, the Town Council passed a motion to install parking meters in Napanee. The 132 meters will be placed on Dundas Street and on Centre Street from Dundas to Mill. They will be very useful for car owners, as it will now be possible to find a parking spot. It is also thought that revenue from the meters will reduce the tax rate.

— James Douglas.

Marionette Show

At the Prince Charles School, on March 20th, 1950 a Marionette Show was put on for the pupils of the Prince Charles and Eastview schools. The show was put on by Mr. and Mrs. Marquette of Toronto, sponsored by the Lions Club of Napanee. The Marionettes were very life-like. They were made to look like clowns, dancers, ostriches, etc. One large one was made to look like 'goofy' the dog, who did an act on roller skates. 'Bugs Bunny' danced to the 'Johnson Rag.' Miss Fay Sexsmith accompanied at the piano.

The show was very good and was enjoyed by all.

— Rose MacMillan.

The pupils of Grade VIII of The Prince Charles School, have taken part of making a mural for the room. Each pupil painted a picture of under - sea life with poster paints. After this they were placed on a piece of mural paper and posted in the hall outside the room. Some of the pictures are really samples of good work.

— Frances Reid.

The Weather

To-day is the first day of Spring and the weather is getting off to a good start. It has been thawing most of the day and a lot of the snow has melted. The school rink is covered with water, so that spoils it for hockey games or skating. The temperature is above freezing outside, being around 35 to 40 degrees. F. This ecnstitutes quite a change from the weather that we have been having.

— Billy Cowling.

The Weather

The weather we have been having was awful, but it has changed from about 12 deg. below to about 36 deg. above. I really have enjoyed the last two days.

Tuesday, March 21st, was the first day of spring. It was said over the radio that Spring came earlier this year than it was supposed to have come. At exactly 36 minutes after 11:00 o'clock our new Spring season began. Well! that's the weather report for this week.

— Jimmy Hunter.

News Broadcast

The news broadcast which the Grade VIII pupils enjoy every Thursday, was very interesting this week. The news items which were heard, follow:

Now that Spring is here, everyone is happy, but many families have been rescued from death by floods. Many roads are impassable where the pavements have sunken or where there is deep mud.

The hockey season is coming to an end, while baseball the great summer sport is coming back for another year.

In Montreal a great procession of 83 armed trucklcads, guarded by 143 armed men, moved $900,00.00 from the Bank of Canada to a new bank, three blocks away.

A great oil well fire in Alberta, was extinguished by a dynamite charge.

The North Atlantic Pact consists of twelve countries joined together by an agreement whereby they will undertake to help each other, if one is attacked by enemies.

In Belgium, the people are still trying to settle the matter about taking King Leopold back to the throne. King Leopold told them he wouldn't return unless 55 per cent. of the people favoured him.

How necessary it is for us to keep up with the news of the world around us, to-day!

— Frances Reid.

Boy Scout Meeting

On Tuesday night the Boy Scouts held their meeting. The attendance was very low as many of the Scouts had to study high school examinations. Games were played for most of the evening. An announcement was made that the Scouts were going to have an all-day hike, and that there was going to be a paper drive.

The meeting closed with the Scout thought.

— Don. Richardson.

AMOS ATTACKS SOCIAL INJUSTICE
(Temperance)

Lesson Text: Amos 4, 1-2; 6, 1-6; 8, 4-7.

Drinking, abuse of power, extravagant wealth over against crushing and abject poverty, are not new. They marked older civilizations. Preachers, social workers, and humanitarians have always protested against them. They have weakened the influence of some nations and have brought the downfall of others.

This condition existed in Israel in the time of Amos. Amos did not mince matters. He hit as hard as Billy Sunday. Here, in this week's lesson, he calls the overfed sensuous women of Samaria "cows of Bashan". Fat females who lived an animal life, stuffed themselves with food and drink and called to their husbands to bring them more wine. They paid no attention to the needs of others, had no social responsibility. Well, says Amos, it won't go on forever. The Assyrians will bear down on you and give you all that is coming to you. God will use them to teach you a lesson.

Amos was a farmer. He was disgusted with what he saw in the city. Woe to them he says. They think they are secure in the mountains. See what happened in other places, he says, in Calmeh, etc. While we have no record of the disaster to which he refers, there is no doubt his hearers would know the point of reference. What a condemnation of the personal habits of the rich in Samaria is in the next few verses. We would run the risk of arrest if we used such language today. You people, he says, who lie on ivory beds, laze around, eat the choice of the flock, and drug yourself with soft music and hot wine, and take perfumed oil massages.—But no thought of the poverty of others.

But these people were mighty careful about going to church, and doing their ritual. They would never think of selling grain on the new moon day, which was a religious holiday. Then, as soon as Sunday was over, they short changed their customers, and gave short weights. They would enslave a man for a slight debt, even a bit of silver or a pair of shoes. Amos says that God declares he will never forget all this.

Reading all this in the colorful language of Amos reminds us of the front pages of our modern press. What a record of licence, debauchery, and murders greet us in the Monday morning paper. Unless modern man heeds the advice of the modern Amoses, the inner decline of our civilization will work its doom. Modern man is bombarded with sex on the screen and in the magazines. He is taught by astute advertising to drug himself with liquor, and narcotiene himself with nicotine. It is not a pretty picture.

J. J. CASSIDY DIED IN 102ND YEAR, FORMER RESIDENT CAMDEN TWSP.

Born more than a century ago, John J. Cassidy died Thursday, April 6th, at his farm home in Hungerford Township, Hastings. He was born in Camden Township, 101 years, and eight months ago, in 1838. He had been in good health up until the time of his death.

Mr. Cassidy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cassidy, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cassidy, came to Canada from County Wicklow, Ireland, and settled near Centreville. A year later, the late John Cassidy was born, one of a family of five. The Cassidys later settled in the bushland a few miles East of Stoco, where his father built a log cabin, becoming one of the pioneers of the area. His brother, William, and his sister, Kate, (Mrs. Hickey), moved to Maynooth. In North Hastings, and another brother, Michael, and another sister, Mary (Mrs. Williams), left for the ranching country of Kansas, later returning to Canada to make their homes in Edmonton. All predeceased Hungerford's 101-year-old citizen.

CAMDEN FORESTRY CLUB HELD MEETING

The second meeting of the Camden District Boys and Girls Forestry Club was held on Thursday afternoon, April 13th, at 1:30 p.m. at Mr. Okel Drew's farm. Fifteen members were present.

Mr. Newton T. Ashton and Mr. Griffith took the members on a hike through the woods to gather several twigs. The boys and girls learned a great deal about various twigs and trees.

Later they assembled at Mr. Okel Drew's home for the business part of the meeting. Bryce Drew presided. The minutes were read by Donna Ramsay. Mr. Griffith told the boys and girls how to plant their trees properly, when they arrived. Idell Keech was appointed press reporter for the club. The meeting was adjourned by Bryce Drew.

Erinsville District Express Disapproval Of Parking Meters

Erinsville, April 15. — The Maple syrup make in this district has been disappointing. The favourable weather has not been favorable for a good sap year. The prevailing price is $4.00 per gallon.

The installation of parking meters in Napanee, our County town, is not favorably commented upon by the farmers in this locality. They feel they are taxed quite enough already to operate a car without having to pay for parking space to do their trading there.

J. W. Houkins and family, teacher in the High School of Commerce at Ottawa, spent the Easter holidays at their home in the village.

The dance and euchre held in the Parish Hall, under the auspices of the P. T. A. was largely attended and a pleasant social evening was enjoyed by young and old. A quilt donated by Mrs. Sam McLean and on which tickets were sold, brought over $100 dollars. The lucky ticket drawn was held by John Flynn.

Trappers report muskrats very scarce and beaver more numerous than in several years. The damming of small streams and flooding of marsh lands by the beavers has caused migration of the rats to their more natural breeding and feeding grounds.

Though the ice is quite solid in Beaver Lake yet, the creeks and swamps are opened and the pike have made their appearance there, but are being carefully guarded by the watchful eye of the game warden, Mr. Wormsworth, of Arden.

At the annual meeting held by the C.W.L. in the Parish Hall, the following officers were appointed: Mrs. B. McGrath, president; Mrs. A. Cassidy, treasurer, and Mrs. Leo. Farrill, secretary.

Hay racks are quite numerous on the roads lately, which indicates many are getting scare of feed and are hoping for an early Spring.

Bertram and family of Brockville, with Mr. and Mrs. M. Sanford, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Miles of Indiana, at their summer home on Hay Bay.

Mr. R. Humphrey was surprised the other morning when he first went out, to observe a large flock of wild geese pasturing on a field of fall wheat belonging to his next door neighbour, Mr. J. Bruce. They raised and flew across his own farm and appeared to light again, but out of his sight. These farms are not close to water and are about half way between the Bay of Quinte and Hay Bay.

Word was received on Thursday morning of the passing during the night of Mrs. James Dickson, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. Vandyke, Conway, where he has resided for the last four years. Mr. Dickson has been in failing health for some time. The funeral services will be conducted this Saturday afternoon at the Vandyke home, followed by interment in Riverview Cemetery in Napanee.

Some ice cakes still float about in the bays but the mud is gradually disappearing. Bass growth is very backward and farmers are worried about the outlook for fall wheat and the meadows.

TYENDINAGA EAST W. I.
The March meeting of the Tyendinaga East W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. C. Marisette on Friday afternoon, March 10th, with a large attendance. The president, Mrs. C. Russell presided. The roll call was answered by a modern industry. A letter was read from the Unitarian Service Committee and it was decided to make two quilts and two layettes. It was also decided to send two layettes to Northern Ontario. Mrs. R. Stafford and Mrs. G. Kimmerly were appointed as auditors. The topic, St. Patrick's Day, was given by Mrs. J. P. Hutchinson. Mrs. E. Whittingham had charge of the programme which opened with the singing of 'It's a Long Long Way to Tipperary.' Readings were given by C. Marisette, Mrs. G. Dupré, Mrs. T. Morey, and Mrs. Waddingham conducted a guessing contest which was won by Mrs. Burgess. Mrs. Fred Stafford gave a very interesting demonstration on table decorations for St. Patrick's Day. A demonstration was also given by Mrs. W. Hudson. A famous saying contest was won by Mrs. R. Stafford.
The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her committee.

PRESENTATION, MOSCOW TO MR. A. PEARSON

On Monday evening, April 10th, a number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearson, Moscow, for the purpose of recognizing the unique and outstanding services of Mr. Pearson as their mail carrier. The evening was spent in quiet reminiscence and a presentation o fa generous purose of money was made and the following address read:

Mr. Albert Pearson,
Dear Friend:— A number of your many friends have gathered in your home this evening, to convey to you and your inestimable wife, our personal greetings and best wishes and to recognize in a tangible manner the faithful service you have rendered throughout the years to this community as our mail carrier.

Your faithful and outstanding service over a period of forty years has not been equaled in all Canada and our considered opinion is that the The Hon. Alphonse Fournier, Postmaster General of Canada, is in duty bound to reward this outstanding service in a fitting and proper manner.

Your daily visit to our respective mail homes was always a much looked for and pleasing occurrence. In fact, it was the big event of the day — largely because of your courteous and unassuming manner.

We feel we would be recreant to our duty if we did not, here and now, tell you how sorry we were when word came through that you had to go to the hospital for treatment and a checkup. And we pray that our Heavenly Father may bless the means being used for your restoration and that you may have a speedy recovery and be permitted again to resume the work you performed so well and loved so much.

(Signed) on behalf of the Boxholders: Jos. Foster, Roy Lampkin and John Brown.

'50 Legion Show To be Tops In Entertainment

Largest Production Here in Many Years

The "1950 Legion Show" sponsored by the local Branch of the Canadian Legion, which plays on Friday and Saturday nights of this week at the local Armouries, has surpassed all expectations of those responsible for the varied programme. The ever-popular 'Top-Hats' Orchestra will provide the musical background for the entire show, which takes place from a full-length modern stage, complete with backdrop and curtain, and amplified by public address systems for easy listening.

In addition to a large number of novelty acts, a male chorus of forty members, in unique costumes secured for the occasion, blending their voices in colourful harmony, will be a treat to the many people who are so interested in this type of entertainment. The chorus provides four features on the extensive program.

In part, the show is of the Minstrel variety and the several portions of the night's fun will be in this vein.

A popular quartette of young men take over the programme on two occasions and their rendition of favourite numbers is one of the many highlights of the evening.

Several individual artists also add their ability to the entertainment in both song and acts, as well as one or two duos.

Long and tedious hours have been spent by the cast and those responsible for the show in getting it ready for "Opening Night" next Friday, no effort has been spared in order to make it a "hit." Comfortable chairs have been secured for the patrons and a twenty-page program has been printed carrying advertisements from "well-wishers" and businessmen of the district.

To those who have not secured their seats for the show, we advise doing so now as the seat plan can be seen at Bell - Moore's.

47 New Manufacturing Plants Located In Ontario In 1949

In 1949, The Trade and Industry Branch; Department of Planning and Development, assisted in the establishment of 47 new branch manufacturing plants in the Province. These plants have meant a capital investment in plant and equipment of $33,149,000, according to the report of Hon. William Grenziger, Minister of Planning and Development, with employees of 5,329 and annual payroll of $10,500,000.

Main classification of these new firms show type of business as follows: airplane landing gear and hydraulic equipment; asbestos mining fabricating; assorted food products; bearings for automotive trade; carpenter lights; compressed oxygen ,nitrous oxide and acetylene; diamond dresser tools; diesel locomotives; dyeing and finishing woollen cloth; essential oils and flavouring; food mixers and food processing machinery; lock nuts for automotive trade; machine tools; motor transport - diesel engines; paper goods and stationery; radio and television equipment; reproduction of period furniture; steel partitions and shelving; tea, coffee and bakers' supplies; welded pipe flange for oil refineries and chemical plants, window glass, woollen tops for spinners.

There have been a number of additional industries operating through the formation of new Canadian companies locally financed and developed. The Trade and Industry Branch has observed continuation of the policy of industry to seriously study location in the smaller municipalities. Twelve have located in Toronto and thirty-five in the following: Ajax, Belleville, Brantford, Brockville, Burlington, Chatham, Cornwall, Etobicoke Guelph, Hamilton, Kitchener, Lindsay, London, Long Branch, Malton, Niagara Falls North York, Oshawa Scarboro, Smiths Falls, Stratford, St. Thomas, Tweed, Woodstock, Windsor.

The impact on the Province of these new businesses on the basis of three dependents for each employee represents a new city of some 21,000 similar to that of Niagara Falls," the report says. "A working force of 5,300 people provides employment for 16 dentists, 16 lawyers, 22 physicians and surgeons, 141 school teachers and 103 graduate nurses and countless numbers in other trades. This new community would support one general hospital and a considerable number of retail outlets."

In addition to the new industries many of those already operating in Ontario have expanded during the past year. These provide for capital invited in plant and equipment of $15,628,000; employees 3,374 and annual payroll of $6,750,000.

Since its inception in 1945, the Trade and Industry Branch has cooperated in the establishment of 116 new manufacturing industrial firms in Ontario and has been active in numerous manufacturing arrangements and other industrial developments including expansions.

VISITING SPEAKERS TO BE HEARD BY WOMEN'S INST.

Women's Institute members of the Kingston and Belleville Areas will attend a meeting of international importance when Mrs. Raymond Sayre, president of the Associated Country Women of the World, will be the guest of the two areas at Holiway United Church, Belleville, Tuesday, May 9th, at 2:00 p.m.

Lane Bait Company Leaves Deseronto, Goes To Gananoque

Deseronto lost its newest industry last week when the Eel Lane Bait Company moved from its quarters in the Redi-Heat Building in Deseronto to establish in Gananoque.

Cramped quarters was the reason given for leaving Deseronto, by the firm, which located in Deseronto early last December. At that time it was pointed out that the accommodation at the Redi-Heat Building would only be temporary as the firm would require larger space and they would either have to secure a building or build one.

No equipment of any consequence has been moved but it is expected the company will start setting up equipment immediately in Gananoque, where it has secured a building, formerly a school.

Local Campaign Opens May 1st For Funds for Blind

$1500 Being Asked From County

"The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is unique as a welfare organization," stated Field Secretary P. I. Timmins, in speaking of the need for funds. "Its policy is to provide for independence, or for that degree of independence of which they are capable." "The Institute then sets out to find employment for them," said Mr. Timmins, "either in its own factories, its occupational shops, in industry generally, or in the home."

"The blind who have learned from the home teachers to do such handicrafts as leather work, weaving, knitting, etc., can then purchase their requirements from the Institute, and sell their finished articles to the Institute for re-sale — or they can build up a business with private customers. In quite a number of cases the Institute has loned the money to set him up in a business suited to his capabilities. This loan is paid back as his business progresses.

"Those who have experienced blindness, best know its disadvantages," the Field Secretary continued. That is why prevention of blindness is an important part of the Institute programme.

"It is to carry on these and other such services in this district that the Institute is in need of $1500. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind asks all to give as generously as they can during the Campaign from May 1st to May 13th."

TREE SHIPMENTS MAY BE LATE THIS YEAR

According to Zone Forester W. E. Edwards, Napanee, no word has been received as to the date tree shipments will commence from the nurseries. Planting will be later than last year because of group conditions, but applicants should receive word shortly from the Reforestation division as to the number of trees being supplied.

At the Glenora Hatchery, Manager Brown has completed preparations for Spawntaking operations in the Hay Bay area. Whitefish eggs collected last fall were beginning to hatch in large numbers as the week ended.

W. C. Cochrane Attends Reunion In Montreal

Douglas C. Lych, L.A.C., of R.C.A.F., Trenton, motored to Montreal, a week ago Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. C. Lyon and daughter, Lorna and son, Richard, also Mr. and Mrs. Will. C. Cochrane of Deseronto, Ont. They visited relatives in Montreal, Chateauguay, Cowansville and Knowlton, Que.

Doug. took a course in Diesel engines and received his diploma. Mr. Cochrane attended the anniversary banquet, in the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, on Saturday evening. The occasion was the anniversary of McGill University Siege Artillery Association and Mr. Cochrane proposed the toast to departed Comrades.

About fifty letters and telegrams ans. letters from about ten others who were unable to attend, were read. Among the latter were our Minister of National Defence, The Hon. Brooke Claxton, and A. Claire Casselman, Chief Commissioner, and Lewellyn (Lyn) Hughes, playwriter, of New York.

Among those at the head table was George Bourke, now president of The Sun Life Insurance Co., and the original Sergeant-Major of the 'Fifth Siege Battery. Many of the comrades who attended had not been seen by Mr. Cochrane for over thirty years and it was one of the most emotional experiences in his life." Sitting on one side of him was Mr. H. Chadwick (Bert) well known choir conductor and organist in Montreal, who was performing with him in Belgium in the 3rd. C.G.A. Dumbell Show, after Armistice Day (1918) and of which Lyn Hughes was the stage manager. On his other side was P. Melbourne Mooney, of Ottawa, his Battery chum from Montreal to Mons, who now sings bass in Oratorio in Ottawa. The faithful secretary of the Association, for over thirty years, W. McG. Gardner (Bill) of Montreal, was also at the executive table.

Last year there were seventy-two in attendance, but some have passed away since then and were unable to make it.

The party returned to Deseronto on Sunday, visiting friends in Morrisburg for lunch, on the way through.

CAR CRASHES NEAR KALADAR

Two persons narrowly escaped death Wednesday night, April 19th, when their car collided car careened across Highway No. 7, ripped through a line of guard rails, swerved back into the road and turned over.

District Conference Held at Belleville On Food Inspection

On Wednesday, April 19th, a district conference on food inspection and sanitation was held at Belleville City Hall. Representatives from Lennox and Addington County Health Unit attended along with delegates from eight east central Ontario Counties.

One of the main topics discussed was fair-ground sanitation and food supervision at fall fairs. As fair grounds are used for such a short period each year it is difficult to keep the sanitary facilities in good condition. It was proposed that the grounds be inspected by the Health Department well in advance of the Fall fair year so that improvements or repairs can be made before the opening dates. Moving pictures were shown depicting the spread of intestinal diseases by unsanitary practices.

The staff of the Provincial Laboratory at the Belleville General Hospital put on an instructive demonstration showing the bacteriological procedures used in testing food and water samples.

The question of having short instructional courses for food-handlers brought on a good deal of discussion. The concensus of opinion was that such courses should be held for small groups and on the employer's time, and that demonstrations and moving pictures should be the method of instruction used.

Mr. Andrew Stinson acted as toastmaster, and after proposing a toast to the King, spoke briefly in regard to the management of the hockey team. Manager E. W. Bradshaw replied and spoke very warmly as to the co-operation that had been shown throughout the season.

Coach Harold Reynolds proposed a toast to the Tamworth Hockey Team and made mention of the fact that they had a father and son on the team and that the whole season had been a very pleasant one due to the fact that everyone worked together for the good of all concerned. He said, no team could go through a season with more co-operation than had been shown among those who played in the Addington League team. Harold Johnston replied briefly to the Coach's remarks.

Mr. E. W. Bradshaw presented each member of the team with a photograph of the team (by Skitch Studios.)

Reeve Herbert York spoke in regard to the reserve fund for a County Memorial.

Mr. J.A. Pringle, M.L.A., said the Addington Hockey League had put the County on the map. He complimented the team, Township and the County, and presented Mr. E. W. Bradshaw, a member of the Rink Committee, with a cheque for the sum of $685.00 which was a grant from the Government.

Mr. Robert Inkster proposed a toast to the Canteen Committee. This was replied to by Mrs. B. Wannemaker.

Mr. W.R. Aylsworth, M.P. thanked the committee for the invitation to be with them on this occasion, and said such a team brings much honor to any community and he was pleased to be able to share the honor by being at the banquet with the team. Mr. Thomas Dixon spoke briefly.

Rev. F. C. Callahan, Erinsville, spoke to the champions of the Addington Hockey League. His remarks gave good advice in regard to sports. Clean sports, he said, develop character which will make worthy citizens. The team's success was the result of co-operation which leads to developing a manly character.

Rev. P. O. Ware proposed a toast to the Women's Institute, which catered for the banquet. The Women's Institute, he said is the most active organization we have in our rural communities and they give a splendid loyal sacrificing service whenever called upon.

Mrs. R. Nicholson replied briefly and Mrs. Leonard Flynn presented the manager with a cheque for the sum of $25.00 from the Tamworth Women's Institute.

The National Anthem closed a very pleasant evening, after which the tables were cleared, chairs put back and dancing enjoyed until after the midnight hour.

SEVEN VETERANS INITIATED INTO LEGION BRANCH

At the regular meeting of Napanee Branch 137 of The Canadian Legion, on Monday evening, seven Veterans received their initiation.

The evening was designated Past-Presidents' Night and the ceremony was ably conducted by W. H. Roe, president in 1932, assisted by P. U. Laidley, president in 1933 and Lawrence O'Connor, president of 1948.

The new members are: W. D. Daly, H. D. Whitman and W. F. Gilbert, of Napanee; C.W. Weese and K.F. Gilbert, of Newburgh; C.R. Hegadorn, of Bath, and R.P. Featherstone, R.R. 1, Napanee.

One application for membership was received from Gerald Gallagher of Bath, and referred to the membership committee.

Lawrence O'Connor referred to the church service which several members attended at St. Luke's Church, Camden East, on Sunday afternoon, and expressed the thanks of the minister, Rev. M.F. Oldham.

He also spoke on the matter of a title team from the Branch, to compete with other teams in the Zone.

In assuming the chair, W. H. Roe expressed his sincere thanks for the privilege of being in charge of the meeting.

P. U. Laidley also spoke briefly, as did the Zone Commander, Lawrence O'Connor.

As the president of the Branch, Earl Loucks, is a patient in the hospital, the meeting was opened by J. L. Todd, first vice-president.

SPECIAL SERVICES MARK ANNIVERS. TRINITY CHURCH

Rev. W. J. Johnston, B.D., D.D. minister of Eglington United Church, Toronto, was the guest preacher for the 119th anniversary service of Trinity United Church, Napanee, which was observed last Sunday.

Rev. Noble Hatton, minister of the church conducted both services. He was assisted at the morning service by Rev. A. J. Wilson, D.D., editor of The United Church Observer, and in the evening by Rev. C. H. McLellan, minister of Grace Church.

Special music was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Madden. At the morning service Mrs. M.A. Eppiett very efficiently sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd." The choir's anthem was Mozart's 'Gloria.'

In the evening the choir sang the anthem 'Benjamin's Wave' by Gounod, and a male chorus sang 'Come Unto Me' by Schubert.

In the morning, Dr. Johnston spoke on the subject, 'The Soul of Religion.' He said that on a recent visit to Britain he sought to discover what is the soul of the Empire. He sought, in vain, the soul of the Empire in Britain's industrial centres, in its institutions of learning, its homes, and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, he realized that the soul of the Empire is in 'Service'. Then he realized that the soul of religion is in the same quality. It is exemplified in service' such as Jesus gave. Jesus' passion for giving was passed on to His disciples and from them to generations which have followed.

Dr. Johnston said, that Canada has a 'habit of locking back and calling bygone days 'the good old days.' He deplored that habit and said that there is no better age than the present. There never has been a day when the spirit of giving was more apparent than to-day. He urged us to think of the past and the future but to live in the present. 'This is the day the Lord hath made, let us rejoice and be glad,' he said.

In the evening Dr. Johnston spoke on the subject, "Christ let loose upon the world."

Windows Dedicated, St. Mary Magdalene's

Two new stained glass windows were dedicated in St. Mary Magdalene's Church last Sunday morning, one in memory of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wallace, and the other in memory of Brandon Wallace Batten. The windows are the gift of Mrs. Helen Batten, of Napanee, and were made by Mr. Charles W. Kelley, of Westmount, P.Q. One window depicts Jesus in the Temple at the age of twelve years; the other shows Christ blessing the children. The Ven. Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille, of Maitland, former rector of the parish, was present to take charge of the dedication. The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. J. Robinson. Mrs. Kenneth Hare presided at the organ. The Sunday School and A. Y. P. A. attended the service.

On Saturday evening Canon R. W. Stout, of Gananoque, was the special speaker at a banquet for the A. Y. P. A., held in connection with a District Leadership Training Course.

TORONTO CHOIR DELIGHTS NAPANEE AUDIENCE, FRIDAY

Again, through the efforts of the Home and School Association, another musical treat was provided to a large audience at the Prince Charles School auditorium, when the Toronto Men Teachers' Choir presented a concert last Friday evening, April 21st.

The choir gave a concert in Napanee about two years ago and many who heard them on that occasion spoke of the marked improvement in their performance on Friday evening. The lengthy programme was enjoyed very much by the audience, which included many students, a fact which pleased the performers.

Each item listed in the printed programme was accompanied by an explanatory note, which added a great deal to the enjoyment of the selections.

The first choice of many of the audience was the choir's singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," in which Russell Cole sang with great effectively. "Where're You Walk", "I Wonder and Wander" and "Some Enchanted Evening", were also very well received by the audience. Don Woodrow's solo work in the singing of "I Wonder as I Wander" and "Russian Picnic" was greatly enjoyed.

Other numbers in the Choir included "Ferror walk the Bilbos", "A Mighty Fortress is Our God", Rich and De Guerre's arrangement of "Adoramus Te", "Roll Charriot", "Son of Mary", "Lullaby", Border Ballad, "Where Had a Little Lamb", "Little Jack Horner, Jingle Bells", and "Now Thank We All Our God". The simple lovely themes and the old songs were very popular with the audience.

The special soloist for the evening was Frances Alexander, who sang two groups of songs. In her first group she showed great confidence than in the first. She was especially good in the singing of "Who Is Sylvia."

The leader of the choir is Eldon Brethour and the accompanist is Alec Turner.

Regular Meeting Nap. Kinette Club

The monthly dinner meeting of the Napanee Kinette Club was held Thursday, April 20th in the Superior Banquet Hall. Mrs. R. G. Kellar, president, was in the chair.

A new member, Lilas Roe, was received into the club and presented with her Kinette pin by the president. An amendment was made to the by-laws, raising the annual membership fees. It was felt that a drive, for membership should be conducted.

Tentative plans were made for the annual 'Gentleman's Night' to be held in May. It was voted unanimously that a donation be made to the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Mrs. Stan. Waddington reported favourably on the progress of the work on the lawns which the Kinette Club donates to all the newborn wards of the Children's Aid Society of Lennox. Mrs. Earl Wright, reported a balance on hand of $21125.

The meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee for the evening, Mrs. Bud Hughes and Mrs. Marg. Murphy who, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Finlayson, provided a very novel form of entertainment. Mrs. Dorothy Connors, of Strathcona also entertained with a selection of songs to her guitar accompaniment.

YOUNG BOY STRUCK BY TRUCK

Stanley "Butch" Yallup, three and a half year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Yallup, was struck by a truck driven by Fred Kirk, near the home of his parents on Water Street on Monday afternoon, April 24th.

The boy started to run across the road just as the truck came along, but fortunately Mr. King was able to swerve the truck and the boy was just knocked down. His parents took him to the Hospital in Kingston where xrays showed no serious injury had been sustained. He suffered slight cuts and bruises on his face and otherwise is apparently no worse for the accident.

THOSE FENCE POSTS

Those new, shiny fence posts that are being erected on front street, are meeting with a rather mixed reception. Parking is one of the most difficult problems of any community. It is not necessary to labor the point — we all know that it is so — for we have all spent valuable time driving around looking for a spot in which to back the car for a few minutes.

If we were all perfect, indeed, if we were only a little more perfect than we are, the need for parking meters would not arise. We would not overstay our time, on front street. It is in an endeavour to be fair to all, that meters have been invented. A person cannot overstay his welcome when he is being clocked.

The rural people are those who feel most strongly against the meters. They argue that they are being charged for coming to town. They express the suspicion that favoured business men will leave their cars in front of their place of business regardless, and get away with it. We even heard it suggested that the farmers should boycott the town for a few weeks, and see how the merchants would like that.

Meters have never had an enthusiastic reception. There have always been these opposed to the installation of these mechanical fence posts, or hitching posts, or whatever we may call them. But the experience of most municipalitels is that, once people get used to them, they will prefer them to the method which permits some to get a long-term parking, while others have to wait.

The meters are being installed in good faith. The purpose is to give every motorist an equal chance to back his car and transact his business.

Give these an honest trial and let us see how they work, before condemning them. And that goes for merchanats and townspeople, as well as for our rural citizens. The police, or whoever is in charge of the meters, must play no favourites. A strict enforcement of the regulations will be the only way to remove criticism and to demonstrate the justice of the limited parking time.

WILL NOT PLAY

The Province of Quebec simply will not play ball with the rest of the Provinces. The latest example of this, is the refusal of Quebec to enter into an agreement over a Trans-Canada Highway. Canada needs a road over which her citizens and visitors can travel, from one end of the country to the other, without having to duck down into the States at certain sections. There should be little need to argue the necessity for such a highway.

The Western Provinces and Ontario, have signed an agreement to get on with the job. But Quebec and the Maritimes have not signed. The Nova Scotia and New Brunckiwck representatives held out hope that their provinces would sign later. But Quebec held out no such hope.

It is not hard to understand the hesitancy on the part of the Maritimes. Their population is sparce and the revenues are such that a great road building programme, might work quite a hardship on these provinces by the sea. But Quebec is different. True there are some parts that are not thickly settled. Still, for the most part, there is a fairly dense population. It is a wealthy province, or ought to be. The industrialization that has been going on there in recent years has effected quite a transformation. There are good wages, plenty of work, and a good Provincial revenue. Just why Quebec refuses to co-operate with the other Provinces, is hard to understand. However, there is nothing that can be done about it and, perhaps some day, as the advantages of the new highway become apparent, Quebec may want to have a share in it, too!

IN PEACE WITH ONE ANOTHER

The achievement of peace is a baffling problem. The common people throughout the world would be perfectly satisfied to live and work, rear their families, enjoy some of the arts and culture of the day. There is no essential difference between persons who live in one country and those belonging to another. Environment, religion, forms of governmenet may have conditioned them so that there are some observable differences. But, fundamentally they are the same.

The ordinary man and woman, whether in China, Russia or Canada, wants peace. They have no more desire to see their sons killed than we have. No desire to see their homes destroyed and the nation impoverished, any more than Canadians desire these conditions.

Yet, in spite of this desire for peace, it is most difficult to get people to agree to live in harmony and good will. It is hard to know what to do. Before 1914 Great Britain was ill - prepared for war. Only a strong and powerful navy saved the situation.

Between the wars, the demand of public opinion in Great Britain, for peace, was so strong, that the government made as little effort as possible to prepare for armed conflict. The Second World War found her totally unprepared, and Hitler almost succeeded during the first few months, in subduing Britain.

Now, after the Second World War, a different policy is being followed — disarmament almost lost two wars, and did nothing to prevent them. Now a different policy is being adopted. It is armament and not disarmament. But this policy does not hold out hopes of a permanent peace.

On the political side, the League of Nations held great promise, but failed. The United Nations is having a pretty tough time of it.

The way to peace is a long and arduous one. We shall not have peace when fears are removed, and suspicions done away with. We have yet to learn to live with those with whom we disagree. There must be give - and - take on both sides. We must learn to work with the lovers of peace. Whether they live in the democracies or behind the various curtains, that shut off from view, millions of people.

That is going to take time, but it can, and must be done. And it must be done by voluntary groups. Governments cannot do it. Voluntary peace organizations, organized on sane, and safe lines, in our own country as well as in others, will go a long way to do what neither armament, or lack or armament has, so far, accomplished.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, April 30th

AMOS TEACHES ABOUT WORSHIP

Lesson Text: Amos 4: 4; 5: 4-9, 14-15, 21-24.

The whole book of Amos has been called "A Cry for Justice." And his cry was uttered against the actions of people who ought to have known better. The unjust people against whom he preached were the nominally good people, the religious people, the church people.

They went to church, fulfilled their obligations, paid their dues, then went home and tightened the screws on the little fellows, those who were under their control. They just did not see any relation between their religion and their sharp business practices. The main sanctuaries at which they worshipped were at Bethel and Gilgal. In studied and biting sarcasm, Amos says: Some to Bethel, to worship—no to transgress. Come to Gilgal — what for? to worship; no to multiply transgressions. Be sure, he says, and bring your collection, and go through the form.

Then, says Amos, a bit more seriously: The thing that God desires is that you should seek Him. A later body of Divines put it in this form: Man's chief end is to glorify God; enjoy Him forever. Amos knew well enough that religion can become a deadly, formal thing. He knew, too, that when it reaches that stage, something invariably happens. As for Bethel and those other shrines, Amos said they will pass away. — "Seek God, that we shall live."

It is an old condition, but it is ever new. We, to-day, in some of our churches, are just in as great peril as were Bethel and Gilgal. Our services are all prettied up. They are perfect in precision, and timing. Nobody makes mistakes. It is all so beautifully regular. There are plenty of people, good people, too — who enjoy this sort of thing, without ever giving thought to the relation of the things they do there and the great crying need of millions. Not only that, but it is hard for them, blinded by beauty and loveliness, and ritual, to make the heart of their religion throb in the great body politic.

Amos urges them to seek God and in their dealings with others, to seek good and not evil. "Hate evil, love the good, and establish justice in the gate." Amos never lets up on the word justice. His whole book is a plea for justice. He is not interested in ritualism, nor in sacrifice and offerings. He wants to see the spirit of God operative in society.

"Then in a house of righteous intentions, he declares, "I hate, I despise your feasts." Suppose we had a preacher say that to us in modern language; I hate, I despise your banners, your communion services, your hymns and your psalms. It would not go down so very easy. We would dub him a fanatic, a wild man, a thorn in the flesh. Well! That is what Amos did. Take all these things away, he says, and then thunders: "Let justice roll down as waters and righteousness as a mighty stream."

That is prime need. Of course, there is need of revival, of evangelism, but, sometimes these may be little more than emotional outbursts. They must be shot through with the love of God to man. Evangelism must have justice at the heart of it, or it will melt away like snow on a spring morning. It is well to remember that in these days, when people everywhere are calling for a revival in religion. By all means, let us have the revival, but it must be one that carries out into the work of the week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

161 Ballantyne Ave.
Stratford, Ontario.
April 24th, 1950.

To The Editor of
The Napanee Beaver.

Dear Sir:

In my copy of The Napanee Beaver of April 18th, 1950, I read your front page column regarding a copy of The Napanee Standard, dated March 4th, 1875, which had recently come to hand at your office.

This brought to mind some old letters written to my Grandmother by a Doctor McLean and dated July 1st, 1855, which contain some information relative to the inauguration and origin of The Standard. The letter mentions that subscriptions are pouring in and there is plenty of work. It also mentions that the affairs connected with the issuing of the newspaper were somewhat handicapped at that time by lack of skilled help. Also that their best working printer had the misfortune to be drowned which held up the publishing of the paper until another printer could be secured. The Doctor mentions that in order to carry on that he was doing some pinch hitting as a proof reader for the paper when not too busily engaged with his practice.

Some of the names of persons mentioned in these letters are a Mr. Lowry, Mr. Bartels and Jack Vernon. It is not stated whether these people were connected with the paper or not. From this it appears that Napanee served the surrounding community with a newspaper nearly one hundred years ago.

I recollect my Grandparents speaking of Doctor Robert McLean as a very close friend and I note his letters to them are headed "my esteemed friends." The writing is perfectly legible and written in the old style script as used by Medical Doctors.

Trusting this information may be of some value to you in regard to the ancient history of Napanee,

I am,

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Robert S. Huff.

Jr. Institute - Farmers Joint Meeting

Napanee Junior Institute and Farmers held their April joint meeting in the Agricultural Board Room, with about 40 members present.

The boys' President, Albert Milligan, opened the meeting, and minutes were read by Jim McCullough. A sing-song, led by Gaynor Rendell, was enjoyed by all.

Plans were made for a bus trip to Montreal in May. A dance to be held in May at Enterprise, was left in charge of Bruce Cook.

A skit, "Cues for You", presented by Catherine Breault, Jim McCullough, Gaynor Rendell, and a number of the members, was very interesting and entertaining.

Boys' and girls' softball teams will be organized this summer.

Lunch was served by Marie Storey, Vanda Baker, Helen McCullough, and Sid. Pringle.

NEW DIRECTORY BEING ISSUED BY TELEPHONE CO.

Back in 1878, a telephone subscriber could pull out a sheet about eighteen inches long from his inside coat pocket, unfold it and find there the names of 68 people who had a telephone. That was Canada's first telephone directory.

You couldn't do that today with Napanee's new directory. The one page listing has grown into a sizeable book which contains more than 7,300 new and changed listings alone. The new April, 1950 edition of the telephone directory is being delivered to subscribers here this week.

There are 80 alphabetical pages in the new book which contains listings for Harrowsmith, Sydenham, Wolfe Island, Kingston, Gananoque, Desoronto and other centres.

In view of the large number of changes, O.M. Coleman, Bell Telephone manager for this region, advised subscribers to discard last year's green-covered book. He also suggests that office desk-pads, note-books or cards pinned to the wall should be checked and changed, if necessary, in line with the thousands of revisions appearing in the new edition.

Subscribers should also give the classified directories a thorough 'shaking out' before they are discarded, as old books have been found to contain documents, folding money and letters.

Charges Dismissed Against Hotelkeeper In Napanee

Gordon Hutchison, proprietor of The Richelieu Hotel in Napanee, appeared before Magistrate Garvin in Napanee Police Court last Thursday for hearing on the charge of allowing minors in the part of the hotel where liquor is sold. After the evidence was taken the charge was dismissed by Magistrate Garvin. W. H. Henderson, of Kingston, appeared for Mr. Hutchison and K. S. Ham, K.C., Crown Attorney, conducted the case for the Crown.

The alleged offence took place on January 27th and for various reasons the hearing was postponed until last week. Two Kingston boys, aged 19 and 20, were charged by Constable Earl Baker with being in the Richelieu Beverage Room and after pleading guilty to the charge were fined.

In their evidence in the case against Gordon Hutchison, the boys told of having been in the Napanee Hotel Beverage Room earlier on the evening of January 27th, and said they left after being asked to give proof they were over 21 years of age. Later the two boys went to the Richelieu Hotel, where they were served. While there they were noticed by Constable Baker, who laid the charge against them.

Constable Baker said he went to the Richelieu Hotel between 11:30 and 12:00 p.m., on January 27th and while talking to Mr. Hutchison in the taproom, saw the boys and laid the charge against them. Constable Baker said that from where he and Mr. Hutchison were standing, the boys could plainly be seen sitting at a table, near the entrance. After laying the charge against the boys Constable Baker said he asked Mr. Hutchison if he had checked the boys' ages and was told that it had not been done.

Mr. Hutchison said he was busy in the taproom and was also serving in the beverage room and had not seen the boys. Mr. Hutchison said he tells the waiters in the beverage room every day, to watch out for minors and not to serve them at any time.

Robert Ewing, the waiter in the Richelieu Hotel, who served the boys, said that he had no doubt but that the boys were over 21 years. The two boys are tall and one in particular looked as if he might be over 21.

The waiter in the Napanee Hotel, who also gave evidence, said that when the boys came in into the beverage room and sat at a table, he thought they were under age, so placed a card on their table which asked for proof of age. The boys read the card and left the hotel without being served.

In delivering his judgment, Magistrate Garvin said that to register a conviction in the case there must be some proof that the proprietor of the hotel had definite knowledge that persons under 21 years of age were on his premises, or that he had failed to direct his employees as to their duties. In this case, proof was lacking on these two points. He said he was unable to register a conviction, because no evidence was shown that the accused had personal knowledge that the boys were on his premises.

ADDRESS - PRESENTATION AT SELBY

On Friday, April 21st, Mrs. W. J. Booth and Peggy entertained the Selby ladies and several from the surrounding district, at afternoon tea, in honor of Mrs. Fred Weese, who is leaving shortly to reside in Napanee.

The following address was read by Mrs. Merle Denison, and Mrs. McLeod presented Mrs. Weese with a hot plate and money:

Dear Mrs. Weese,—We have come together this afternoon to let you know how sorry we are to lose you as a neighbor, and with you contentment in your new home.

As an expression of our friendship we wish you to accept this gift from your neighbors in and around the village.

Signed,
Mrs. Merle Denison
Mrs. W. A. McLeod

Mrs. Weese was taken completely by surprise, and thanked the ladies for their very lovely gift and good wishes, and invited them to visit her in her new home in Napanee.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by all.

OBITUARIES

JESSE F. YORK

A very sudden death occurred in Marlbank on Easter Sunday morning, when Jesse F. York passed away. His death removed a well known and highly respected citizen, beloved by all. Mr. York, who had passed his 62nd birthday, suffered a severe heart attack, which medical aid was unable to relieve. He was a veteran of World War I and was wounded in the battle of Vimy Ridge. On Easter Sunday, 33 years ago. He was invalided home and since that time had been postmaster for 31 years and also conducted a general store in Marlbank.

The funeral, which was held on Wednesday, at 2:00-p.m., took place from his late home to the United Church, of which the deceased was a faithful member and also an elder. The service was in charge of his pastor, Rev. L. S. Throop, assisted by Rev. P. O. Ware, of St. Matthew's Church. The abundance of pillows, wreaths, baskets and sprays, showed the esteem in which he was held as did the large number gathered who filled the church and church hall to capacity. After the service the large cortege proceeded to Tamworth Cemetery, where burial took place.

Surviving are his sorrowing wife, formerly Amerilla Rawley and two children, Vimy and Yvonne; his aged father, Reuben H. York, and three sisters, Mrs. W. C. Marlin, Mrs. William Wicklam of Marlbank, and Mrs. Stuart Stinson of Tamworth; three brothers, Edmund of Marlbank, and William and Calvin of Toronto.

The pall-bearers were veterans of World War I: Messrs. Albert Pennel, John Young, Eddie Barker, Fred Monck, Willard Boomhower and Ross Purvis. Flower bearers were Bruce Bush, Harold Tuepah, Jack Fraser, Aubrey Asselstine, Glenn Allen, Henry Allen, Morley and Manley Meeks.

In Loving Memory

GRAY — In loving memory of a dear brother, Mate Gray, who passed away in Kingston, two years ago, April 29th.

Your presence is ever near us,
Your love remains with us yet.
You were the kind of a brother
Your loved ones would never forget.

Ever remembered by Brother, CHARLES,
MURIEL and FAMILY.

17ap

MEEKS — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Alfred Meeks, who passed away on April 29th, 1949.

Many a lonely heartache,
Many a silent tear,
Always a beautiful memory
For one we loved so dear.
God gave us the strength to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory, still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by his
17ap WIFE and FAMILY.

BOWERS — In loving memory of our dear sister, (Francis) Mrs. R. R. Bowers, of Georgetown.

Nothing can ever take away
The love that hearts hold dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps her near.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by Sister, LETA, and Niece and Nephews,
17ap HAZEL, RALPH, RONALD.

GRAY — In treasured memory of our dear son, Constable Merritt Carl (Mate) Gray, who passed away two years ago April 29th, 1948.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, Since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Mate,
That we do not think of you.

Ever remembered by
17ap MOTHER and DAD.

WAGAR — In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Priscilla Wagar, who passed away April 29th, 1948.

God called our mother home
And left us sad and lonely.
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought her end was near.
We miss her now as we look back
Down through the passing years;
Her loss leaves a heartache,
And fills our eyes with tears.
God knew that she was suffering,
He saw the road ahead,
He felt it best to take her,
So in tenderness, He said:
I'm going to take your mother
To a home that's out of sight,
Where there's no sickness, death or weeping.
But all will be bright.
We felt we couldn't part with her,
But God knew what was best,
So He called her home to heaven:
A place of peace and rest.

Ever remembered by her
17ap HUSBAND and FAMILY.

GRAY — In loving memory of our dear brother and uncle, Constable M. C. Gray, who passed away April 29th, 1948.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain.
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things
But this, they wipe out never —
The memory of those happy days.
When we were all together.

Lovingly remembered by
Sisters, WILMA and OLIVE,
17ap and FAMILY.

Tea was introduced to Canada commercially by the Hudson's Bay.

Mr. Alphonse McCue sang several selections, accompanied by Mrs. J. S. Madden, who was also accompanist for Mr. James Rini, of Kingston, who played violin selections.

The reports of the officers were as follows:

SECRETARY'S REVIEW

During the past year, there were eight regular meetings of the Board with an average of nine members.

At each meeting, the Superintendent's report was discussed and decided on, with the members willingly assisting whenever called to. The treasurer's reports were reviewed and all bills passed for payment.

During the year the Directors sent a crippled boy to Blue Mountain Camp.

The Financial Campaign was held on November 7th to 14th, with the Board assisting in the canvassing. Rev. Noble Hatton and Mr. Barrett addressed a number of meetings to publicize the work and the drive, which was more remunerative than last year.

A Committee purchased gifts for the wards at Christmas and stockings were supplied by the Kinette and Kinsmen Clubs.

The Directors passed a motoon, that the problem rate for child care be arrived at and established before the Judge.

Mr. Hanna and the Finance Committee, thoroughly investigated the Schermerhorn Trust Fund and got legal opinion to the effect, that it would only be used for capital outlay and not for current expenditures.

We are continuing our efforts to engage a social worker. Contacts have been made, but as yet no definite appointment has been made.

The President, Mr. Barrett and four Board Members attended the Children's Aid Society Annual Convention in Toronto on June 17th and 19th, and the Regional Conference in Peterborough on November 18th, was attended by seven members.

The Association of Children's Aid Societies, set up the Nora Frances Henderson Memorial Scholarship for the benefit of students desiring to take up Children's Aid work, and this Board fulfilled its obligation by contributing $25.00.

Respectfully submitted.

Helen E. Quinn, Secretary.

CLOTHING COMMITTEE REPORT

Your Committee have supervised the buying of clothing for all children in care and the new admissions. It is the policy of the Committee to afford the foster mother the privilege of making the selection of the clothing for the child in her care. In this manner the child is dressed and considered as an individual, rather than that of being an 'institutional child.' The total number of wards for which we purchased clothing was 68, at a cost of $3,251.25 or an average of $47.81 per child. There was also an expenditure of $60.43 for clothing for non-ward children.

We are grateful to the various clubs and organizations who have supplied new and used clothing, also to the many individuals who have assisted this committee in the performance of their duties during the past year.

Respectfully submitted.

Mrs. T. J. Hunt, Convener.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

At this particular time of year those of us who are connected with the Children's Aid Society are thinking of annual reports; what we can put in them that is not a repetition of former years; what will be of interest to those who take the time to come to our Annual Meeting or to read the press reports. The activities of the Society from year to year follow, to a degree, the same pattern. It is, however, well for us to review the activities and if necessary change our methods to meet the ever changing times. Hence, the attempt to give you, as briefly as possible, an account of the work of your Society.

We can classify our work, generally

HEALTH UNIT SAYS SCHOOL CHILDREN NEED MORE SLEEP

During its work in the schools the County Health Unit has found that a large number of children are not getting enough sleep. The teachers have also noticed this in many cases. The situation is aggravated by the onset of daylight saving time.

Children starting school should have at least twelve hours sleep every night. Pupils in Grade VII and VIII require about ten hours usually, and the other grades, in proportion.

Having big suppers or candy at bed-time can cause much disturbance of sleep. Milk or water may be given at bed-time if the child is thirsty. Constipation, indigestion, and enlarged adenoids and tonsils may cause a good deal of restlessness at night. The child should be taken to the family physician, if it is suspected that there are physical causes disturbing his sleep.

The results of inadequate sleep are noticeable in a child's work and attitude in school. He has a listless appearance, and sometimes his posture is affected. He is liable to fall asleep at his desk, and has great difficulty in concentrating on his studies. Growth is retarded if a child does not get sufficient rest.

It is the responsibility of parents to see that children get adequate sleepp.

Oddfellows Observe 131st Anniversary Founding of Order

Members of Argyll Lodge No. 212, Napanee Lodge No. 86, Mt. Ararat Encampment No. 16 and Queen of Sheba Lodge No. 254, together with several representatives from lodges in the district, attended the morning service in Grace United Church last Sunday when the 131st anniversary of the founding of Oddfellowship was observed.

Rev. C. D. McLellan, minister of the church, conducted the service and preached on the subject: "Am I my Brother's Keeper?" W. H. Roe, Grand Priest of the Grand Encampment of Ontario, West, was present.

Mrs. Ralph Wightman conducted the choir, with Mrs. B.M. Black at the organ. The choir's anthem was 'O Jesus Thou are Standing,' and Mrs.

Flowers were placed on the chancel. Victor Shefter sang the Lord's Prayer, and the Queen of Sheba Lodge and by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Graham, of Orillia, in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham.

POLICE CHECKING DUNDAS PARKING

About twenty-five motorists paid a fine of $1.00 each, for overtime parking in meter areas in Napanee, since the meters were put in operation last Thursday.

The police are keeping a constant watch on the meters and are making every effort to enforce the by-law governing the meters.

Since the meters were put in operation, there has been a noticeable change in the opportunities for parking. Side streets where parking is free, are jammed to capacity, most of the time.

Almost any motorist will gladly give a woman driver half the road, if he can find out which half she wants.

Ann. Convention Teachers' Institute Lennox-Hastings

Mrs. Jean Pratt Elected President of Ass'n

The annual convention of the Teachers' Institute of Lennox and Hastings South (in parts) was held in the Prince Charles School on Monday, May 1, with an attendance of 74 teachers, 3 supply teachers, and 2 retired teachers, Mrs. I. MacTavish and Mrs. H. Bell.

The President, Mr. W. L. Bell, called the meeting to order and proceeded with the opening exercises. Under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Ham, and accompanied by Rev. W. J. Robinson, the Boys' Choir of St. Mary Magdalene's Church sang two songs, which were much appreciated by all present.

Greetings were extended to the Convention by Mr. Charles N. Loucks the vice-chairman of the Napanee Public School Board.

Miss Faye Sexsmith delighted the audience with an instrumental solo.

The president based his remarks on the theme "There's Power in Words," beginning with a quotation from Churchill's Address After Dunkirk' which aptly illustrated the power of inspiration the British people must have derived from his words.

Said the speaker, "words are living things, the very bodies which clothe ideas. Once an idea or an emotion has been put into words, it acquires infinitely more strength and persuasiveness than it possessed before. Out of words, in a very real sense, we build the picture of life that becomes our reality. By words we invoke the 'powers' dark or smiling, that companion us and can rule us. There's power in words."

CUPP SPEAKS

Mr. L. Cupp, B.A., B.Paed., Principal, Peterborough Normal School, was introduced to the teachers by Mr. H. H. Langford, I. P. S. Mr. Cupp stated that the changes in the Science Programme in the Course of Study would be more challenging to the individual teacher and pupil—not necessarily more knowledge, but more mind-stretching with what knowledge they have. Science is a study of something that leads somewhere. A good science teacher establishes a unity with a class and then tries to get the pupils to think for themselves. There is no final answer in science.

A turkey dinner was served in the Convention, at the Paisley Hotel, at noon.

AFTERNOON SESSION

At the afternoon session, Mr. H. H. Langford, I. P. S., spoke to the teachers on the changes in the High School Entrance Regulations and of the new Readers and the importance of the Teachers' Guide Books. Mr. Langford stated that while he was pleased with the way the teachers are working, he was hoping they would arrive at even greater achievements.

Mr. L. Copp spoke on the two types of mathematics, which he called, 'Mathematics for Life' or the mathematics that makes a child interpret the world around him, and the 'Einstein Mathematics' which is the mathematics that favours a manipulation of figures. Mathematics should be a practical subject. Most people use it in a practical way. Pupils should have a mental picture of the concept in mathematics just the same as they have a mental picture of the idea which is represented in the word "Cat".

The members divided into groups for Federation meetings.

Mrs. H. Ward, assistant secretary of I.W.T.A., Toronto, addressed the Women Teachers' Federation.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The Convention re-assembled, to hear the reports of the Library and Nominating Committees.

The election of officers followed and the results were declared as follows:

The letter asked that the parking meters be removed from in front of the Gibbard factory as a means of relieving the danger.

The letter was referred to the Police Committee, with power to act.

A letter was received to deal with the prohibiting of broadcasting equipment, other than that used at the Fall Fair, within the limits of the town, was discussed at some length, but no action was taken by the Council.

Notice was received that an action against the Town for $5,000 damages was being entered in the Supreme Court by Hanes & Haines, Toronto lawyers on behalf of Mrs. Fraser, who was injured on John St., some time ago. The matter was referred to the Insurance Company with which the town has a policy concerning such accidents.

In addition to the tag day, the Institute's Lennox and Addington Advisory Committee is making a county-wide appeal for funds in support of the programme of services for the thirty blind of the county. This Committee is composed of volunteer workers who have come to know and to appreciate the work for the blind which is being done. All of the local blind are in receipt of some of these valuable services, such as instruction from the home teacher in handicrafts, braille, typing, etc. Some are now using the Institute's braille talking book library, while others either have radios on loan or are receiving some form of radio service. Many take advantage of the valuable concessions which the Institute has obtained and is able to offer them, such as free theatre passes, free radio licenses, and reduced travel rates.

Everyone is remembered at Christmas with a personal gift which has been purchased especially for him by a member of the Committee, and suitable birthday remembrances are also sent.

Whoever he may be, or whether his status in life, each and every blind person may receive some service which will assist him in making his adjustment to his condition of blindness.

On Saturday, May 13th, the volunteer taggers will be on the streets of Napanee, with their yellow boxes, ready to receive your contributions. Be as generous as you like. Remember, it is better to light a candle than to curse a darkness.

Capacity Crowds Heartily Acclaim Legion Show

Fully 2000 People See Succesful Entertainment

More than 2000 people jammed the Napanee Armouries last Friday and Saturday nights for the tremendously successful '1950 Legion Show.' The show was 'the largest production staged here since the days of Iolanthe, Mikado and others, twenty years ago or more.' There was attempted realism, the large amount of talent there is in Napanee and district, shown in the cast of seventy or more. The responsibility for the production of the Variety Musical Show was most capably carried by Bert Fyffe, who is deserving of much credit for its success. The production surpassed all expectations.

The stage which completely filled the west end of the Armouries, was laid out in a typical manner for a haunted show. The backdrop was a huge canvas painting of a shack-boat, loaned for the occasion. The popular Top Hat Band, which provided the musical background, occupied a prominent position on the right hand of the stage with the balance being taken up by the black-face chorus. F.M.O. Goodwin, who erected the stage and lighting, did a superb job and numerous congratulatory comments concerning his work, were heard.

The costumes, which were rented in Toronto with their many colours, provided plenty of colour.

It has been some time since a male chorus from Napanee has been presented and one feature of the performances was the 36 voice choir, directed by Doug. Terry. This choir, which began practicing a month ago rendered four numbers, and with the excellent blending of voices, received much applause. Their numbers were 'Going Home', with Earl Morrison as soloist, 'Hard Times,' a spiritual 'Lucky Old Sun,' with Gerald McCaul as the soloist, and 'Comrades Song of Hope.'

The 'Napanee River Boys', a quartette composed of D. Sexsmith, G. Sexsmith, G. Brooks, T. Wilde, beautifully harmonized old Negro favourites to which they received splendid applause.

The lovely expression and beautiful shading of 'Swanee River,' and 'Smoke Gets in Your Eyes,' won for Mrs. Grant Sexsmith the cadmiration of the audience.

The Legionettes, Sylvia Kelly, Sylvia Dale, Alice McNeil, Betty Robertson and Gail Roffey gave two excellent dance routines: Sailors Hornpipe and April Showers, and Peggy Sheppard and Betty Robinson dressed themselves in tap dancing numbers.

The Three Bears were trained and directed by Mrs. Wes. Aikenbrack.

The show opened with the singing of 'Here Comes the Showboat,' and following the welcome by the interlocutor, F. Fyffe, a newer number of 'Here Comes the Bride.'

The parts of the ever popular end men were taken by Deverde Powell as Bastia, R. W. MacPherson as Mayonaise, Don. Scott as Bones, Harry Moore as Pork Chops, Laverne O'Connor as Tambo and Jack Farmer as Andy. Their interpretations, antics and jokes left the crowd in fits of laughter.

Specialty numbers on the lengthy program were solos by Herb Gaulin with 'Red Sails in the Sunset,' Judy Reddy's 'Little Girl,' Vic Burtt with 'Dreams' and 'Star Dust,' Ruth Anderson with 'Put Your Shoes on Lucy' and 'Man Around the House,' Ed Spade as a female impersonator with 'Paradise' and Dave Howe and Gentle People. Jack Blakely with 'It Isn't Fair,' D. Powell and his Violin Impressions, a humorous number, Violin Impressions.

Mrs. Robert Smith very ably interpreted the Violin Impressions number and rendered a splendid violin solo following the act.

Dainty were given by Peggy Sheppard and Jack Blakely, The Pyjama Song; D. Smith and D. Hay in Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheehan, an Irish rumbler and dance by Marjorie Kendrick, supported by A. F. Fyffe and Herb. Gaulin; 'Dearie, by Mary Hodgson and Ron. McPherson and The Quartet Parade, by Sylvia Follis and Peggy Sheppard.

The grand finale brought reminders of days gone by, when Sylvia Dale and Gail Roffey, carrying the Legion colours, followed by representatives of the various branches, paraded down the centre aisle and carried out an excellent precision drill, to the music of 'Carry On.' Those in the finale were Howard O'Connor, Ken. Johnston, Don. York, Mr. Louis Wagar, Mr. M. Walsh, Donald Thompson, Robert Madden, T. Tate, Nelson Gay and Jack Burns.

GETTING TOUGH

The Police are beginning to get tough with the boys who drive the old crocks. Already the Toronto Police have taken the license plates from twenty cars. One of these was so bad that the doors were welded to the body, to keep them closed. The driver had to enter through the window.

That is a move in the right direction. There are lots of cars on the road that ought to be taken out of circulation. They are a nuisance and a hazard to life and property. It is to be hoped that the assignment of removing the old jallopies will not be confined to police in the more densely populated areas. The movement to crack down on them should be Province-wide.

Of course, the old jallopy is not the only hazard on the road. There is the impatient, jittery, irresponsible driver, who never tries to keep his place. He worms in and out of traffic. He passes on hills. He does all the things he is supposed not to do. There are lots of people like that. What gets into some people when they get behind the steering wheel of a car, is hard to fathom. They chew their finger nails almost down to the first knuckle, if they are delayed a split second at a stop light. They scowl and glare at anyone who may be having a bit of trouble to get started.

Then there is the fellow who loafs along. He is out for his health, presumably; gets going about thirty miles an hour on the highway and is quite oblivious to the traveller who must get through. The worst feature of this mental adolescent is that he never stays in his own groove; wanders all across the road, and often makes a sudden lurch as he reaches through the window to throw away the wrapper from a chocolate bar.

Then there is the driver who has been drinking. He is, of all the hazards, the worst. His movements are unpredictable.

By all means, get the old crocks off the road. But we would rather take a change on these, imperfect mechanically as they may be, than cars of later vintage that are driven by mental or emotional grown-up children.

SECURITY

The Dominion Government and the Provincial Governments are making a determined and thorough study of social security. The hope is that they will be able to devise some plan whereby the inhabitants of Canada will be relieved of the sense of insecurity which now dogs the footsteps of almost everybody.

There was a time and, that not so many years ago, when governments were not very interested in people. They were more interested in international relations, tariffs and trade relations. These, of course are legitimate cares of governments. But they are not the whole story. In modern times, the governments have been compelled to take an increasing interest in human welfare, and responsibility for their citizens. Old age pensions, family allowances, mothers' allowances, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation — are a permanent evidence of this trend. The governments are taking more thought for their citizens, than they have ever done before. The end is not yet.

The Prime Minister, Louis St. Laurent, speaking in Granby, Quebec, on Saturday, called attention to this change. It was due, he said, in large measure to the urbanization of society. Those who grumble because of the taxation which social insurance creates are grumbling about the Twentieth Century. The Prime Minister then went on to show that the change that has come as a shift in population from a rural area to the city, has robbed the great majority of our people of the security they had when they lived on the farm.

There is ample of evidence that there are abuses of the present social legislation. Money is wasted; people are extravagant. They live beyond their means. Any one of us could point to people of that sort. But it is unwise to base a judgment on only a few cases. After all this is a big country, and it is impossible for us to see the picture as a whole when looking at it through the peephole of our own experience.

That there have been almost four hundred thousand people out of work in Canada during the past few months, demonstrates the wisdom of unemployment insurance. It has been a blessing to these people who have been able to draw on this fund. That they were altogether happy about it is indicated by the delegation which went to Ottawa, seeking work.

There is no doubt but that Canada, if she is to prevent or forestall revolutionary thinking in this country, must continue in the path of the most advanced social legislation.

A contributary Old Age Pension for everybody is a desirable goal. It looks as though that is what the governments have in view. It is to be hoped that some such plan will be evolved. An Old Age Pension, to which each individual contributed through his working years would be ideal. It would not only provide for old age but would give the one receiving it a feeling that he was not getting a hand-out, but was getting something that he had a real interest in. The pension would be his due.

It may just be that some such plan will emerge from the present deliberations and study.

DARK AFRICA ?

Dark Africa is seeing a bit of daylight, and enjoying somewhat the sunshine in which other nations have basked for quite some time. Africa has been steeped in ignorance and superstition for centuries. It seemed not so long ago that it might never be possible to break the hard shell of ignorance in which they were encased.

But the armour is being pierced by the children; often very little ones at that. In Ogwofia, Nigeria, for example the little six year olds who have been enticed to school, hurry home after school hours and teach their parents the A.B.C.s. In this village where only two adults could read seven years ago everybody is now learning to read and write. Here is the story as told in a despatch from the village of Ogwofia:

"He is one of sixty children, now attending regular classes under a self-help program, who spend their evenings teaching adults their ABC's. In a village where only two men could read and write, seven years ago, therefore, now everyone is learning to read and write!

"Here, as in all of British Africa, literacy has been a big problem. There were three million Africans who could not read, in this administrative district alone.

"Since little money was available for teaching, the villagers were encouraged to help themselves. If they provided labor and some money, the government promised to do the rest.

"The Ofgofians were enthusiastic. On their own initiative they built a co-op store, reading room, dispensary, maternity home and market. So successful was the work that in 1943 a project with 2,000 people was started. Soon 40 villages were in friendly competition. Men and women of one community walked fifty miles carrying timber for their new classroom.

"To meet the demand, the government has now established 26 literacy centres under a full-time salaried officer.

"Mass education campaigns have spread through the British territories in Africa now. In Rhodesia, for example, 300 buildings, including schools have been built by teams learning to become skilled craftsmen as they work."

Education may not be the last word in developing a democratic way of life for a backward people. They will have to learn a lot of other things, too. They seem to be learning, some of them, as the co-operative movement indicates. As the mental eyes of the Africans are opened, it will not be so long before the Dark Continent will be bright, indeed.

GREASING THE SKIDS

Reducing the guaranteed price of butter from fifty-eight cents a pound to fifty-three cents, looks an awful lot like greasing the skids. The price of butter will drop. That will be welcome news for the consumer. But it will not be the kind of news that the farmer will wax enthusiastic about.

Once the price of butter slips, then there is a danger that the price of milk and cheese will drop also. If that happens, it will be just too bad for the whole national economy. When prices begin to fall on the basic commodities, then it is inevitable they will be reduced in others. The housewife will rejoice in that, but the rejoicing may, quite naturally, give way to consternation.

When the farmer fails to get a good price for his commodities, his purchasing power is curtailed. Then merchants, manufacturers and the whole closely entwined economic system feels the pressure.

Another factor in the situation is the increased production of milk. Production of milk in February was 12,000,000 pounds greater than in the corresponding month, last year. While the sale of fluid milk and cream increased by 7,000,000. Unfortunately the cost of milk to the consumer is a curb on consumption. In Canada the average per capita consumption of milk is little over half a pint. That is little enough and, no doubt, if milk was cheaper the consumption would be increased.

So involved is the situation and so delicate is the balance between price and consumption, that even such a comparatively little change as dropping the floor-price by five cents, may have far reaching complications. If there is to be a drop all along the line, it is to be hoped that it will not be very great and that the prices will be carefully controlled, not only by government floors, but by Provincial milk boards.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, May 7th

HOSEA — THE MAN AND HIS MESSAGE

Lesson Text: Hosea 4: 1-9; 6: 10, 12, 13

Hosea belonged to Isreal, the northern kingdom. He is the only prophet from the north whose prophecies have been preserved for us. He came along about fifteen years after Amos. It is hard to think of two men so different in temperament. Amos was stern, vigorous, aggressive. Hosea was sensitive, loving, affectionate. Yet each deplored the conditions that existed, and each protested against them, again, each in his own way.

Hosea describes the moral and social conditions much as Amos had done. He does not mince matters. There is no truth in the land, he says, no knowledge of God; nothing but swearing, breaking faith, killing, stealing, adultery and all the rest.

The worst feature of the whole degenerate life of the nation was the moral laxity of the priesthood. The whole state of the church and state was rotten. 'I will destroy thy mother,' the prophet says, probably meaning the whole system that had given rise to such ungodliness.

Hosea knew, from personal experience, what he was talking about. He had married a beautiful young woman, but she proved unfaithful, went around with other men, indeed she had children by them. And yet, Hosea was so devoted to her that he always took her back. She had finally gone about as far as any woman could go, and was up for auction, but before the auctioneer could call for bids, Hosea bought her back. Crazy? some will say. Well may be, but Hosea loved her, and forgave her time and time again.

It was this experience of his which led Hosea to declare God to be a God of Mercy. For if he, a mere man had such deep feeling for his wife, and was willing to forgive her, how much more merciful and gracious must God be. While Amos thought of a God of Justice, Hosea thought of Him as a God of mercy.

In verse 6 of the lesson, the prophet declares that the people were destroyed for lack of knowledge. Of course, he means lack of knowledge of God, and with that went lack of the knowledge of good and evil. In this the priests were to blame. The priesthood was, at this time, a hereditar yinstitution, and when that happens, look out! A man who is a priest simply because he was born into a priestly family, rarely has the qualities of character to enable him to face the tasks of his responsibilities with consecration and vigor. We have outgrown the hereditary priesthood — thank goodness — but it gave up the ghost only after a bitter fight. It provided a soft job for a lot of mediocre men. It would be difficult to find, anywhere in the Old Testament, a more bitter condemnation of a lax priesthood than that which is found in these verses. If Hosea was a loveable man, he could condemn evil with power and cutting effect.

"Come and let us return with Jehovah," etc. The verses beginning that way seem to be words which represent what the people in their better moments, thought. They say: come on let us return to God. —He has torn and He will heal — it will only take a day or two, a bit of repentance and all will be well again. All they had to do was to get to know God a little better, and they could get what they wanted from Him.

Then the preacher gets his innings. Sow righeousness, he says. You have been, for a long time, sowing something else. There is no easy way to recover your moral standards. Plow up the land, sow good seeds — after a while there will be a good harvest.

"Thou didst trust in thy way." Exactly! National prosperity had blinded them to the need of God and that led to evil, and lack of moral stamina.

It is hardly necessary to push this point too hard, or to apply the prophet's words of wisdom to our generation — just take a good look around.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION MEETINGS

The newly organized Woman's Association of Moscow United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. K. Huffman. Mr. McKenzie took charge and the meeting was opened by quiet music, followed by a hymn and the Lord's Prayer. The report of the nominating committee was received and officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. K. Huffman; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Arthur McQuay; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Calvin Allen; 3rd, vice-pres., Mrs. Allan Huffman; 4th vice-president, Mrs. Edgar Drew; secretary, Mrs. Garnet Wagar; treasurer, Mrs. Earl McNeil; organist, Mrs. Roy Lampkin; sick committee, Mrs. Ernest McQuay, Mrs. Donald Huffman, Mrs. Harry Keech, Mrs. Earl McNeil; press reporter, Mrs. Ward Baker. A travelling basket was established and Mrs. Donald Huffman appointed as convener. The roll call was answered by each member bringing in a new member, resulting in nine new members brought in by ten charter members.

Mrs. Edgar Drew had prepared the programme on the Lenten season. A reading was given by Mrs. Trevor Armstrong. Miss Leafa Drew sang a solo and Miss Drew and Miss Lorraine McQuay, a duet. A Bible contest was conducted by Mrs. Morley Ellerbeck and Mrs. G. T. McKenzie won the prize. Lunch was served by the hostess and committee.

Camden VIII United Church W. M. S. held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Murney Marlin, with seven members and three visitors present. The president, Mrs. T. Wilson, presided. Plans were made for the special anniversary meeting to be held in May. Highlights of the Presbyterial held in Trinity Church, Napanee, were given by Mrs. Stanley Doupe and Mrs. Murney Marlin. Mrs. Robert Doupe conducted the worship service, assisted by Mrs. Victor McGregor, Mrs. S. Doupe, Mrs. M. Marlin and Rev. L. S. Tiroop. Easter Bank offering amounted to $14.65. Mrs. Meredith Wilson and Mrs. A. Hyland were in charge of the programme, which answered the question "What can I give to my church?"

Oldham, welcomed the Rural Dean, Rev. F. O. Ware of Tamworth, and asked him to address the gathering on Care, Rules and Regulations of the Diocese Provincial Government and Board of Health, pertaining to cemeteries.

Successful farmers know the value of modern scientific fertilization for their grain, hay, pasture, root, and small fruit crops.

Phosphate is a primary need of select spring grown grains and tests have also shown that fertilized pasture lands provide more cheap feed than any other crop.

Why pay out good money for grass and clover seed and neglect to provide the fertilizer required to ensure a good crop?

This bank is interested in helping progressive farmers to succeed. If you need money for a Farm Improvement Loan or for any worthwhile purpose, come in and talk over your plans.

Lovely House Wedding Ruth Duffett Marries Edmund D. Wright

A pretty Spring wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, April 29th, 1950, at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W.H. Duffett, when their elder daughter, Ruth Marguerite became the bride of Edmund Douglas Wright, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wright, of Conway.

Standards of pink and white snapdragon and mantel sprays of pink dragon, white iris and rose tulips formed a lovely background for the marriage ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Noble Hatton, of Trinity United Church. The wedding music was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. W. Duffett, of Adolphustown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a picture of loveliness in an ankle-length gown of pale blue lace and nylon net over matching taffeta. Fashioned on simple lines the dress had a close fitting bodice which buttoned up the front with a row of tiny self-covered buttons, to a small collar. The sleeves were three-quarter length with deep stiffened cuffs. The full, graceful skirt which flared from the hips, was banded at the bottom with matching pale blue nylon net. A fullet cap of shirred blue nylon net over taffeta completed the bride's costume. She wore the groom's gift, a dainty gold pendant necklace and matching earrings, and carried a Colonial nosegay of Sweetheart roses with white carnation petals and white and blue hyacinths.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Duffett of Hamilton, was her only attendant. She wore a navy blue lace ankle length dress over navy taffeta. Her headdress was a half band of pink lilacs and she wore matching pink gloves. Her nosegay was of tiny pink rosebuds, white carnations and white hyacinths.

Mr. Glen Clark of Picton was the best man.

Receiving with the bridal party after the ceremony were the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Duffett, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wright. Mrs. Duffett was gowned in thrush brown tissue faille with yoke of matching lace over flesh pink. Her hat was of pink straw wreathed with small pink flowers, caught with thrush brown bows, and she wore matching pink gloves. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Wright's costume was of mid blue with touches of silver grey. Her grey hat was smartly trimmed with bows of blue grosgrain, and she wore matching accessories. Her corsage was of carnations and white hyacinths. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. R.J. Couch, of Ottawa, who was a particularly welcome guest, wore navy blue sheer. Her navy straw hat was trimmed with clusters of small flowers in shades of pink.

In the dining-room, attractive with large bouquets of pink snapdragons, the bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centred with the wedding cake wreathed with tulle spilled with pink sweet peas. At either end were tall white tapers in crystal holders and low crystal bowls of sweet peas.

For travelling the bride chose a three piece ensemb'e of Bedford cord in coffee shade. She wore a moss green hat of Milan straw with a shallow crown and tiny roll brim. The crown was circled with wide ribbon in a deeper shade of green which was caught at one side in a large loop with flowing ends. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of carnations.

On their return from a motor trip to Quebec City and the Eastern States, Mr. and Mrs. Wright will reside at Conway.

EASTER THANK-OFFERING TRINITY W. M. S.

The Easter thank-offering meeting of Trinity W.M.S. was held Tuesday, April 18th. The president, Mrs. Hoopers presided. Mrs. Hooper welcomed the visitors from Morven, Bay Circle, Selby, Strathcona, St. Mary Magdalene and Grace United. Each church was well represented. Mrs. Harper made several announcements, one of special interest was that at the June meeting Mrs. Rev. Kilgour will be the guest speaker.

The meeting was in charge of the group convened by Mrs. Beattie, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Mawdsley, with Beattie taking charge. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Powell. An Easter reading was given by Mrs. Beattie. Mrs. Hatton sang a solo, 'The Lord is Risen,' which was much appreciated. Miss Olive Hambly introduced the guest speaker. Miss Sadler, who heads up the work among the Japanese in Toronto. She went to Japan in 1930 and after several years, came home on furlough, then went to British Columbia to work among the Japanese.

Miss Sadler opened her address with an interesting story, entitled: 'Praying Hands,' Her theme was Hands of Christian Service. She said her greatest impressions of the Japanese were their prayers; everyone, young and old could pray. She watched her work among the people there, until the war came, when 25,000 people were evacuated. They were happy contented and an industrious people. Their work was mostly fishing as British Columbia is a great fishing country. At that time she returned to Toronto and has been there since. She said they have 100 W. M. S. members in the Church of Nations, besides Mission Circles and Bands. Prayer is a great part of their daily life. In closing, Miss Sadler said, in part, put your hand in the hand of God and He will give you strength to carry on.'

Mrs. Hooper dedicated the offering and the meeting closed with a hymn and prayer. A social half-hour was enjoyed by all.

speaking, into five different departments: Child protection or preventative services, child care, adoption, children of unmarried parents and family allowance.

Preventative Services

What do we mean by Preventative Services? We mean the rendering of assistance, and not necessarily physical, to a family while in their own home. 'Home' that is the natural place for any child and if such can be maintained without proving injurious to him, we have accomplished that which we set out to do.

How do we come in contact with these cases? Quite often it is through the family themselves and then again, by some interested person in the community, and of course, we will always have those who complain about the other fellows shortcomings and pose as a 'citizen', or 'for the welfare of the children,' or by using some other 'pen name.' How interested are they in the welfare of any child?

In our visitations to the homes we often encounter a hostile mother and father and why not? Would you like to be questioned about your family, mode of living, etc. This barrier has to be broken down and this takes time and many contacts are required, if we are to achieve our purpose. It is surprising the number of people who are most anxious to criticize, and almost demand that, so and so should have their children removed from their care. When on the other hand, perhaps a kind word, a few clothes and a little personal interest, would work wonders.

It is when our repeated efforts fail to produce the result desired, that is making the home a suitable place for the child, that it is necessary to take the child into care. Of course, there are cases where there has been no neglect on the part of the parent, but through illness or some other misfortune, it is necessary to provide for the children.

In the course of our duties in the past year, we have been in contact with sixty families involving approximately 250 children. Visits and office interviews numbered 587. In our applications to the court for guardianship 44 children were involved and of that number 28 were committed to our care.

Child Care

This particular department is one that demands a greater portion of our time and rightly so. If we see fit to take steps to remove the child from his natural home, then it is our duty to provide for him in a manner that will justify our action. We have lifted him from the only place that has afforded him any security, regardless of conditions, it was home to him, and set him down in an entirely new world. How does he feel? what does he think? We, perhaps will never know. It is however, up to us to make that operation as painless as possible. That is where our foster parents appear in the picture. They have a difficult job to perform and we take this opportunity, to pay our respects to them. True, they are reimbursed to a degree, but if we had to pay for services rendered, our per diem rate would be very much higher than it is now.

The following chart will indicate the number of children in care, and the number of contacts made during the year:

Total number of children in care on first of year — Wards 74; O.S.W. 8; Non-Wards 15.

Number of children admitted to care — Wards 18; Non-Wards 18.

Number of children discharged — Wards 12; O.S.W. 1; Non-Wards 7.

Total number of children in care on last of year — Wards 80; O.S.W. 7; Non-Wards 26.

Type of Care

First of Year	Wards	O.S.W.	Non-Wards
Boarding Home	54		7
Adoption Prob.			5
Wage and Free Homes	19	8	3
Mental Hospit.	1

Last of Year :	Wards	O.S.W.	Non-Wards
Boarding Home	61		4
Adoption Prob.			19
Wage and Free Homes	16	7	3
Mental Horpit.	1
Elsewhere	1

Number of visits re all children in care	570
Number of office interviews re all children in care	883
Number of attendances on children — Medical	52
Number of attendances on children — Psychiatrist	32
Number of first placements of children	25
Number of replacement of children	19

A most necessary part of this division of our work is home finding, the statistics below give, in a rather brief form, our efforts in securing foster homes:

Number of visits in search of foster homes — 17.

Number of completed investigations for foster homes — 36, and 37 visits.

Adoption

This, to a degree, is the crowning point of our efforts. To see a child accepted into a home by substitute parents, given love and affection and after a probationary period the final documents signed. At the present, we have 19 children in this type of home. During the year we have completed 7 adoptions.

Children Of Unmarried Parents

Our efforts in this department are confined, for the most part to the planning of the child, if necessary and interviewing the alleged father in order to arrange a settlement. With the number of open cases, we are carrying, it would provide sufficient work for one person alone. Therefore you can readily see why our work is limited to the few contacts mentioned. The following statistics show our endeavours in this phase of our work.

Total number of cases open on first of year	40
Number of new cases	29
Number of cases closed during the year	9
Total number of cases opened last of year	60
Number of children born out of wedlock made wards during year	7
Number of visits re above	133
Number of office interviews during the year	87

Family Allowances

This particular field of endeavour, perhaps should not be classed as a division of our work as we are performing a service for the Department of Health and Welfare, yet we are also rendering a service to the children in our immediate care, and in some cases to those who have been found unable to properly administer their own allowances.

This extra revenue received in trust for the child has proven most beneficial. In addition to augmenting the amount paid for board, we are in a position to supply the child with those little extras that mean so much to him. We refer to extras at Christmas, a birthday remembrance or perhaps something in between. You should hear them voice their appreciation of being remembered.

APPRECIATION

The Board of Directors extend to the various branches of the Women's Institutes throughout the County their grateful appreciation for their very splendid co-operative spirit that was shown during our Annual Financial Campaign. Many Branches undertook to canvass their community, others by contributions from their own funds. To that ever willing group in Napanee who in no small way helped to increase our public contributions over 1948, our many thanks. Again to the Napanee Kinettes for the splendid effort at Christmas time and for their interest in the junior members of our family, all we can say is a very humble thank you. To the medical and dental professions of the County; to Directors and Staff of the County Health Unit; to the legal profession; Court Officials; Town and Provincial Police; we offer our appreciation.

To that fine group of men, that comprise our County Council, we appreciate your kind interest, and the privileges you have afforded us in presenting our problems to you.

In voicing appreciation, it is quite possible to overlook someone or perhaps a group. If we have, it is quite unintentional and, therefore, we say to all who have helped us in this worthy cause — THANK YOU !!

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W.P. Barrett, Superintendent.

TAMWORTH W. I. ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. Scanlin. There was a good attendance of members and visitors. The president was in the chair. Donations of $10.00 to the Cancer Fund also $10 to the Red Cross, were approved.

The District President, Mrs. Don. Hannah, of Reidville, was present and took charge of the meeting. In her remarks, Mrs. Hannah advised that presidents be elected for a two year turn, the same as is carried out in the district, then she said, there will be no trouble in getting a president. She gave several good pointers on W. I. work after which she conducted the election of officers, who are: President, Mrs. J. Nicholson; first vice-president, Mrs. Don. McLaughlin; second vice-pres., Mrs. W. G. Richmond; secretary-treas., Mrs. Leonard Flynn; distr. director, Mrs. H. Easterbrook; directors, Mrs. Bernice Wannamaker, Mrs. C. Jamieson and Mrs. Nelson Marlin; sick committee, Mrs. R.F. Bell, Mrs. B. Wannamaker and Mrs. S. Prue. Conveners of standing committees are: agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. C. Jamieson; citizenship and education, Mrs. J. E. Huffman; historical research and current events, Mrs. Clifford Milligan; home economics and health, Mrs. James Scanlin; public relations and community activities, Mrs. Smith Gilmour; resolutions, Mrs. D. McLaughlin; publicity, Mrs. W.G. Richmond; auditors, Mrs. Smith Gilmour and Mrs. Scott Gilmore.

Mrs. T. Scanlin installed the officers. A piano duet followed by Elizabeth and Evelyn Scanlin.

The National Anthem closed the meeting, after which lunch was served by the hostess and committee.

GOD WORKS THROUGH HOMES

The period — May 16th to 20th — this year, begins with 'Mother's Day' now called CHRISTIAN FAMILY DAY. It is fitting, therefore, that this time should be observed throughout Canada as CHRISTIAN FAMILY WEEK. Mothers have always been the defenders of the better elements of our civilization. At present, more than ever before, their influence is needed.

This WEEK is dedicated to helping mothers and other members of the family perform their best functions. The home makes outstanding contributions. Democracy is nourished within the partnership of the family. Neighbourliness originates in the hospitality of the heart — it is here that 'strangers' virtues are appreciated. Happiness grows in the love which inspires the strong to help the weak. Religion develops in homes where God is honoured where prayer is practiced.

CHRISTIAN FAMILY WEEK is the time for all of us to pause and recognize the value of these things. It will be observed across Canada in many communities by various denominations. Literature to assist in a better use of the Week has been issued by the Ontario Council of Christian Education. Suggested projects include special community services, more complete fellowship with other races within our borders, and further assistance by Canadian families in war-impoverished countries.

Our nation will be richer by the general observance of this Week.

Estimates are that nearly 50 cents out of every dollar of your personal income tax goes to pay baby bonuses and maintain the organization to handle the issuance of cheques.

NEW BUILDINGS BEING ERECTED AT ERINSVILLE

Erinsville, May 1. — Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Doolan, of Kingston, have moved into the village, where they expect to erect a permanent home on Thomas Street, on a lot purchased a few years ago. Mr. Doolan has just been retired from the staff of Queen's University as chemist for the last thirtyone years. They also own a beautiful cottage on North Beaver Lake, which they are at present occupying. The village and community extend to Mr. and Mrs. Doolan a hearty welcome as one of their citizens, and wish them many years of health to enjoy a well merited retirement. Mr. Doolan is an ardent fisherman and he knows where and how to catch the big ones on Beaver Lake.

With the Transcontinental Highway passing so close and Highway 41 as a proposed link, the village should grow, and we would be glad to welcome other worthy citizens to locate here. Erinsville is the gateway to the north.

Ralph Embury of Detroit, Mich., was in the village recently and arranged for the erection of two more cottages on North Beaver Lake. Mr. Embury already owns four cottages on the lake, which are beautifully located, and he reports three engaged for the entire tourist season.

A number of American cars passed through the village over the weekend, on their way to the northern trout streams. The visitors report that on account of the late spring, many of the streams were not opened as yet. Some report cutting holes through the ice to get even the sensation of a bite.

The Forty Hours Devotions in Erinsville Parish, started Sunday Rev. Father Heresey of Toronto is the speaker. A large number of neighbouring priests were in attendance on Sunday evening, to assist.

Rev. Father Callahan has announced the burial of the bodies in the vault will be held on Monday morning, May 8th.

All clocks in this vicinity were turned ahead one hour at midnight Saturday 29th ,and we are again on daylight raving time. Most farmers say its no savings to them; their work and time goes on just the same, slow time or fast time. The regularity of milking bossie must go on and it's hard to send the collie dog to bring up the cows one hour earlier; the cows just won't come and the hired man is threatening to go on strike for more pay and shorter hours.

Odessa Couple Mark Anniversary

Odessa, April 29. — Mr. and Mrs. John Kenny quietly celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary on April 26th. Their daughter, Mrs. Chas. Zellner of Allentown, Pa., spent a week with them. They were recipients of numerous cards of congratulations, 'phone calls and a substantial sum of money. They are both enjoying fairly good health. There is one grandson, Gerald Kenny.

Ross H. Paul Died Suddenly

The unexpected death of Ross H. Paul, early Friday evening, April 28, at his home, Bridge Street west, in Napanee, came as a great shock to his family and friends. He and Mrs. Paul had been downtown and on their return to their home, about six o'cleck, Mr. Paul collapsed and passed away before a doctor arrived.

Mr. Paul had been a resident of Napanee for many years. He was born in Camden Township, 71 years ago and was a son of the late Stewart Paul and Nellie Lockridge. For some years he farmed very successfully near Bath, and after coming to Napanee was in the garage and car business. He retired just a short time ago. Mr. Paul was a member of Trinity United Church, which he attended regularly and at the time of his death, was an elder.

MEASLES CASES BEING REPORTED TO HEALTH UNIT

A few cases of measles are being reported to the County Health Unit. The outbreak has not reached epidemic proportions. However, it is wise to use precautions, especially in regard to infants and young children. The danger in measles is not the disease itself, but the complications such as bronchopneumonia, ear inflammation, eye inflammation and encephalitis (brain fever).

It it is suspected that a child has measles the child should be isolated and the family physician contacted. The infection is spread, usually, by discharge from the throat, nose and eyes, particularly during the first few days of the disease.

Before the rash develops the patient usually has loss of appetite, headache, fever and possibly vomiting spells. The whites of the eyes become red and watery, and it is painful to look at bright lights. Spots appear on the inside of the cheeks, and the child frequently develops a bronchial cough. About the fourth day of the illness, the typical skin rash appears.

According to regulations under the Public Health Act the case must be isolated for seven days from the appearance of the rash. No placard is required, and there is no quarantine for contacts.

New Regulations Regarding Traffic Effective Here

New Through Streets are Provided

On another page of this issue will be found a notice regarding Traffic Regulations in the Town of Napanee, which were passed by law on January 2nd of this year and have now become effective with the erection of the signs governing the regulations. Some changes have been made with respect to Through-Streets, and Motorists should take note of the new stop signs which have been erected. The signs are plainly visible, day or night, since the word 'Stop' is made luminous by the use of a special paint.

Centre Street (No. 41) Highway 2, is now a through-street from the southerly boundary of the town to the northerly limits of the town, excepting that stops must be made when the red light shows at the eastern of the western limits of the town, excepting at the traffic lights at the intersection of Centre Street. There is no stop at night, since the word 'Stop' is made luminous by the use of a special paint.

Bridge Street was formerly a through-street but by the new regulations a stop must be made now at the Centre Street intersection, by all traffic travelling east or west.

As formerly, Dundas Street remains a through-street from the eastern to the western limits of the town, excepting at the traffic lights at the intersection of Centre Street. There is no stop at night, since the word 'Stop' is made luminous by the use of a special paint.

East Street and John Street are through-streets from Bridge Street north to the C.N.R. Station.

All vehicles are required to come to a full stop before entering or crossing the designated through-streets.

At the intersection of the Belleville Road and Thomas Street, all traffic from any direction is required to come to a full stop, as a means of protection to school children.

The complete Traffic By-law has been printed in pamphlet form and copies may be secured from the Clerk's Office, in the Town Hall.

Local Official Says Unemployment Greatly Reduced

50 Per Cent Decrease in Past Few Weeks

Ward Sexsmith, Manager of the Employment Service Office in Napanee, reported, this week, that the unemployment situation for the district under his supervision, has greatly improved during the past month. The number of men looking for jobs, registered at the Napanee Office, is now slightly over two hundred, which is about fifty per cent. of the peak during the early months of this year. A great many jobs have opened up and during the next few weeks, a further improvement is anticipated.

Speaking of the national situation, the Dominion Minister of Labor says:

"The peak in registrations of those seeking work through National Employment Service has been passed, and a rapid seasonal increase in employment in most industries is now under way. After a slow improvement in the employment situation during March, the number of job openings has increased rapidly during April, and large numbers of jobless are returning to work. By April 20th, the total number of job seekers registered at local employment offices had declined to 424,300, 10,400 below the April 6, peak.

"The actual decrease in unemployment is higher than these figures indicate since many registered workers who have found jobs have not notified the National Employment Service. These registrations are not cancelled until thirty days after the date that the worker last reported to the local office.

"Of the total number of persons registered with National Employment Service on April 20th, 60,000 were persons who had registered for jobs at local offices in order to file claims for supplementary unemployment insurance benefits and who were not registered when the program began on February 28th. By far the largest proportion of this group was located in the logging districts of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. This program has been of great assistance to many who had not been previously covered by unemployment insurance, and who had exhausted their benefits towards the end of winter, before the spring increases in employment began. Although the supplementary benefit program ended on April 15th this year the facilities of the National Employment Service will continue to be available to those who filed claims for supplementary benefits while the program was in effect."

JOLSON SINGS AGAIN

The rest of the Jolson story, Columbia Pictures' Jolson Sings Again, opens Monday at the Granada Theatre. Larry Parks again is starred as the world's greatest entertainer, and the manner in which Larry Parks has captured the spectacular personality of Jolson himself is well known.

Co-starring is Barbara Hale. Miss Hale is said to be delightfully effective as Mrs. Jolson, and the other members of the cast equally as compelling in their performances.

The film, which is in color by Technicolor, is a thrilling and delightful music and song.

Among the songs in "Jolson Sings Again" are "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover", "Give My Regards to Broadway", "Pretty Baby," "Sonny Boy," "Baby Face," "After You've Gone," "When the Red, Red Robin Comes Bob, Bob Bobbin' Along," "Is It True What They Say About Dixie ?," "I Only Have Eyes For You," and others.

U. E. L. CHAPTER I.O.D.E. MEETING

United Empire Loyalist Chapter of the I. O. D. E. met in the Armouries on Monday, May 1st, at 3:00 p.m., with the Regent, Mrs. Albert Lewis, presiding. The flag ceremony was followed by the prayer of the Order, minutes, correspondence and treasurer's report.

Mrs. Reddick, post war convener, read a letter from the Save The Children Fund, thanking the Chapter for soap and washcloths sent for England and Europe. An interesting letter was read from Mrs. Howell Thomas of Swansea, Wales, thanking the Chapter for food parcels. Mrs. Thomas is an active W. V. S. worker and Mr. Thomas is an Alderman of the City of Swansea, and this year is president of the Swansea Rotary Club.

Arrangements were made for the Tag Day for the Blind, May 13th, with Mrs. Pearl Wolfe as convener.

Mrs. Robert Smith, Regent of the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter, gave a splendid account of the Provincial Annual Meetings held in Hamilton in April. Mrs. Byrne Hope Saunders, M.B.E., editor of Chatelaine magazine, was the guest speaker at the banquet.

Among the suggestions which Mrs. Smith brought to the Chapter, were the following:

That the Chapters contribute to the Lucy Morrison Educational Fund.

Collect good books and magazines for schools, and for veterans in hospitals; for adults on the Indian reservations, also for elderly men and women pensioners, living alone.

Also, to give good, clean, used clothing for children and adults in Britain and Europe.

Mrs. Deroche moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Smith for her interesting report.

The National Anthem was sung, after which tea was served by Mrs. B.M. Black, Mrs. E. Pidgeon and Mrs. A. Turnbull.

Appeal For Funds For Rheumatism And Arthritic Sufferers

Research into the use of the new drugs ACTH and Cortisone in treatment of rheumatic diseases among children, will be financed with funds raised in the current appeal of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, the Kingston Divisional Campaign Chairmen announced today.

Rheumatic diseases, including rheumatic heart disease and rheumatic fever, are second only to tuberculosis as leading cause of death from disease in Canadian children.

Limited research, because of scarcity of drugs, already undertaken at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, has produced some remarkable results.

A six-year-old girl dangerously ill with rheumatic heart disease, her heart greatly enlarged, was given Cortisone over a ten-day period. Her heart was restored to almost normal and her condition so much improved, she appeared an almost healthy, normal child.

Another youngster, 10, could not bend her hands at all, the result of arthritis. She was given some Cortisone and in just a few days could move her hands normally, her spirits and general condition very much improved. Still another child, not yet three, might have been hopelessly crippled with rheumatoid arthritis without the new drug. In just a few days, the danger had passed, although her small wrists remain swollen.

Doctors are hopeful the new drugs will be even more successful in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis (crippling arthritis) among children than among adults. For in children the disease is likely to run in cycles, and if one cycle is successfully overcome, it is possible the disease may not re-appear.

But, still much has to be learned about the new drugs. In not all cases by any means, do they produce the same encouraging results and in some instances harmful side effects are developed.

Supplies are so limited at present they are available to doctors only for research only - Cortisone comes from the bile of cattle, requires 37 tedious steps to make. The only drug first at present manufacturing it is producing very limited quantities. ACTH is a hormone from the pituitary glands of hogs, requiring 400,000 hogs to produce enough of the drug for 200 patients for only one day.

Incidence of rheumatic diseases hits its peak in April and is most prevalent among children from seven to nine. Until Cortisone, no drug was known to counteract the pituitary which would successfully treat the heart.

One of the greatest benefits resulting from the Society's sponsoring of outpatient clinics across the Dominion from funds raised in the Appeal, will be the early diagnosing of rheumatic diseases in children by experienced clinic physicians, now too often not discovered until too late.

Do your part in attacking these serious rheumatic diseases by your generous gift to the Arthritis Appeal. Send your contribution to Kingston Branch Campaign Headquarters, at 241 Princess Street, Kingston, Ont.

Napanee Cubs Soap Box Derby Wed., May 24th

Entries Must be Made by May 20th

Napanee's Annual Soap-Box Derby, originated by Doug. Exley, will be held again this 24th of May, under the auspices of the Cubs". A boy less than twelve years of age by May 24th, whether a Cub or not, is eligible to compete, and should begin right away to prepare his car. The only restriction is that the wheels must be less than Twelve Inches in diameter. Entries should be phoned in to Cubmaster John Griffiths at 448 R, by May 20th. The course of the race will be Centre Street, from Dundas South, with plans being made for a longer starting ramp, and smoother roadway, for greater speed and distance.

Starting time will be 9:30 in the morning.

Friday will consist of three cups, to be presented to the boys covering the greatest distance, and a special prize for the best-looking car.

The idea of a Soap-box Derby, which is well supported in many large Canadian and United States cities, is to have the boys build their own cars out of pieces of wood, and orange crates, or anything else they can lay their hands on. The work involved in this undertaking gives a boy initiative and resourcefulness. Style or beauty does not count too much in the race itself.

Well greased wheels, lots of encouragement from supporters both adult and fellow youngsters, and fluid movement of the driver's body to speed up the car, are the major essentials of soap-box Derby entrants.

Some people say that as the heavier the car, the more speed they can get out of it, while others acclaim the lighter style of car.

CANADA'S LOSSES BY FIRE INCREASE

Quebec, (C.P.)—Canada's fire losses in 1940 totalled $65,918,776 compared with a total loss of $67,584,049 the previous year, E. Schofield, executive officer of the Dominion Fire Prevention Association, told the 32nd annual meeting, in Quebec.

Schofield told the convention, held in connection with the 20th annual conference of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals, that fires due to incendiarism totalled 1,904 last year compared with 16,862 in 1948 and caused damage estimated at $3,529,564 compared with $3,141,-399 in 1948.

"Much educational work remains to be done in order to bring to the attention of the general public the loss which their carelessness causes each year," said Schofield.

Fires last year caused 542 deaths, an increase of 48 compared with 1948.

Canadian Envoy To Brazil Speaks at Rotary

Hon. Scott MacDonald Gives Address of Great Interest

Hon. Scott MacDonald, Canadian Ambassador to Brazil, who, with Mrs. MacDonald, is spending three months' vacation in Canada and, at present, is visiting Mrs. MacDonald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, Strathcona and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Asselstine and Mr. Asselstine, in Napanee, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Napanee Rotary Club, on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. MacDonald, in the limited time at his disposal gave a highly entertaining account of some of his experiences in Brazil, as well as touching on the resources, the trade relations between Brazil and Canada. He was introduced by Stanley Sexsmith, who spoke of Mr. MacDonald's previous experience as Trade Commissioner to France, as Canadian High Commissioner to Newfoundland, before his appointment as Ambassador to Brazil, two years ago.

UNDERSTANDING NEEDED

Mr. MacDonald began his address by speaking of the deplorable lack of knowledge in Brazil of Canada and of the same lack on the part of Canadians regarding Brazil. Canada is, he said, actually larger than Brazil, but allowing for the vast area of frozen territory in Northern Canada, Brazil is much larger. He spoke of the Amazon Valley as probably the finest bit of undeveloped territory in the world. Brazil has about one-third of the iron ore at present discovered, in the world. One mountain alone has deposits of about 16 billion tons of iron ore. Coffee, fruits and grains are also grown in large quantities.

BRAZIL'S GOVERNMENT

Speaking of the Government of Brazil, Mr. MacDonald said it is necessary to understand the government to understand the country. Brazil has been a republic since the last Emperor abdicated in 1889. Its constitution is modelled after that of the United States. It is divided into twenty states which, however, are not as strongly organized as the individual states in the United States. The present government is made up of a coalition of the Social Democratic and the National Democratic Union parties. But there are many small parties in the country, with widely different views on many fundamental points. Representatives elected to the government may represent only a small majority of the electors. The next election will be held next October, and anything may happen when that take place. Brazil was under a dictatorship until 1945.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES

Speaking of his own experiences in Brazil, Mr. MacDonald said that, after an air trip of 32 hours from Montreal, he and his wife were overwhelmed by the sheer beauty of the country. Rio de Janiero, the capital, is situated on a magnificent harbor. It has a marvellous beach, dazzling white public buildings and a background of beautiful mountains, and two acres of tropical trees, on the side of a mountain. He was impressed by the magnificence in which public affairs are conducted. Everything, he said, is the way of entertainment is done in a large scale.

Shortly after going to Brazil, the Ambassador and Mrs. MacDonald spent a week in the province of Sao Paulo, where they were given every opportunity to view the city of Sao Paulo and the State. They had an opportunity to see the developments of the Brazilian Tractor Company, a Canadian corporation which controls the light, power and transportation facilities in several large cities and is the largest development of its type in Brazil.

Brazil, he said, has been the largest producer of coffee in the world, since 1830. In 1929 there was so much coffee on hand in the country that large piles of it were burned. It was estimated that a billion dollar worth of coffee was destroyed by fires, which lasted for some years. Coffee trees were cut down and the result is that there is now a shortage of coffee, which will take at least five years to overcome, until new trees, planted in recent years, are producing again.

Turning to his own work as ambassador, Mr. MacDonald said there is a great deal to do in the effort to promote an exchange of products, between Canada and Brazil. Efforts so far, have been eminently successful, so much so that exports from Canada have increased ten-fold since the war. They are likely to be even greater but he said, Canadians must learn to buy more Brazilian products. Canada must have friendly relations with Brazil for economic, as well as political reasons. Canada and Brazil are similar in the political realm because they are both of the middle type of nation, with many aims in common.

It was quite evident that Mr. MacDonald is enjoying his work as Canadian Ambassador to Brazil and his audience felt confident that he is an excellent man for the job, because of his quiet, unassuming manner and his sincerity of purpose.

Following his address, thanks were expressed to Mr. MacDonald by Geo. York, who presented him, on behalf of the Club, with a gift of books.

The meeting was presided over by Wallace Roy, the President of the Club, as the regular president is from several months spent in Florida.

There was a large attendance of members of the Club and several guests.

CAMPAIGN COM. RED SHIELD FUND IS ORGANIZED

On Thursday evening, May 4th, Lieut. and Mrs. Phil Gardner, Officers in Command of the Napanee Salvation Army Corps, were hosts at a dinner in the Napanee Hotel, at which the Army and its campaign for funds for Red Shield work, which is to be held in Napanee next week, were the guests.

Lieut. Gardner stated that in view of the increased demands on Canadians for relief work in Napanee and district, the objective had been raised by $300, to $2,000, this year. Last year the objective was reached and the committee in charge of the campaign is confident that the people of the Napanee district will be as generous this year.

Mayor H. W. Vine is honorary chairman of the committee; Ward Wartman is chairman and Mr. Asselstine is vice-chairman. Charles Hanna is acting as treasurer. In charge of publicity is H. D. Wightman, assisted with him are H. D. Wightman, editor of The Napanee Express and C. L. Graham, editor of The Napanee Beaver.

Mrs. W. G. Paul is convener of canvassers and Mrs. Robert Smith is associated with her.

A thorough canvass of every home will be made. There will be zone captains in charge of districts, under whom the individual canvassers will work. Lieut. and Mrs. Gardner will conduct the canvass in the rural areas.

PARKING METERS TO BE INSTALLED IN PICTON

At its special meeting on Friday, May 5th, the Picton Town Council moved to change parking regulations on Picton Main Street, so that thirty degree angle parking will exist on the north side, between Paul Street and Bayview Avenue, and parallel parking will be continued on the south side. The Town Solicitor was instructed to prepare a by-law to that effect, which will be subject to approval of the Ontario Department of Highways, following acceptance by Town Council.

Council, with all members in attendance also authorized execution of a contract to install parking meters in the same area on Main Street, on a one-year trial basis. This installation will not proceed until the new parking by-law is submitted, and receives Highways, Department approval.

GOING UP

The cost of living is still going up. It is now the highest in the history of Canada. Nobody likes the word "inflation." Mere mention of it conjures up pictures of currency deflated to the vanishing point. Yet, there is no dodging the issue; we are in an inflationary period. Wages keep chasing prices, and prices keep on chasing wages in a seemingly never ending race. Just where it will all end — nobody can tell.

To be sure we are enjoying unprecedented prosperity. But how long is that going to last? It is significant that the experts are not making any long term predictions. About as far as they will go is to say that the prospects are good for another year. That is good, so far as it goes — but what of next year and the year after that?

The history of our economy is of little help. It is a record of booms and busts. If the pattern of the past fifty years is any standard by which to judge, what will happen? — the bust will come, sooner or later! Of course, there is much more experience of controls now than ever before. During the war we learned how to prevent inflation and how to stabilize our economy. It may be that the lessons learned at that time will serve a good purpose in dealing with a crisis, should it arrive. Nobody likes controls, but, if we have to reimpose certain controls to prevent a crisis, few would object. The difficulty about that is that not even the most astute experts can tell when a crisis may occur — and it might take place so suddenly that controls would be of little value.

At the moment, no solution is in sight. But, it is as sure as rising of the sun, that the present inflationary spiral cannot go on for ever. The only hope we have is that when deflation takes place, it will not come suddenly, but will come gradually, and with a minimum of unemployment, distress and hardship.

HAND IT TO THE WOMEN

The Race question in South Africa is more acute and tense now than it has been for a couple of generations. The present Premier, who defeated General Smuts at the polls, was elected on a platform of White Supremmacy. Since the election, legislation has been passed which imposes restrictions on the Negro, as bad as any ever enacted in the Southern United States.

To its shame, The Dutch Reformed Church of South Africa, which incidentally, "Saturday Night" says should be unreformed, has officially taken a stand supporting the present White discriminating legislation.

The Women have come to the rescue. They are the only group of any size who have had courage to come out and oppose the Government. Freda Trup, writing from Capetown, says:

"Amid an atmosphere of 'White Supremacy' prejudice, the local Branch of the National Council of Women has taken a vigorous stand about the 'grave and increasingly dangerous tension' between the Whites and Darker-Coloured Races in South Africa.

"By official vote the Organization has urged all its members to acquaint themselves with the personal life and circumstances of Natives, whom they employ or know, so as to give them all possible help. Members are also requested to learn a native language wherever possible; to support night schools and other welfare institutions aiding native groups; and to train their families to treat the natives with respect and courtesy."

This is perhaps not a very vigorous statement. Nonetheless, it is the first crack in the armour. If the women really take this seriously, they may get somewhere.

The Women of South Africa are to be commended for their good sense — and their courage.

A MINISTRY OF LOVE

The Salvation Army is making its annual appeal to the public for support of its work. Like any other religious organization, the extent of its service is limited by its finances. Two thousand dollars is the amount which The Salvation Army asks of the town and county. That is not a large amount from a community as prosperous as ours. The amount asked for should be oversubscribed.

The Salvation Army is a specialized Branch of The Christian Enterprise. Its ministry is a ministry of love, mostly among those who for one reason or another are neglected by the churches.

In its inception, the technique of the "Army" was to attract the indifferent through band music, and to teach them through the penitent bench into a new life of devotion and service. With the passing of the years, the technique has been streamlined. While the fundamental appeal is the same, yet The "Army" has undertaken large scale social service, operating through institutions of one kind or another — Orphanages, Homes for the Aged, for Delinquents, and others. These, of course, are located, for the most part, in the large centres of population, where the need is greatest.

In this area there is no institutional work. None the less, The "Army" is a great asset to the community. Its ministry is as various as human needs. Seventy Per Cent. of the money collected in the local area is available for work in the Napanee district. The balance goes to a fund for the support of The 'Army's' institutional and relief work in larger centres.

It deserves generous support. Being non-denominational, it must draw from the whole community, if its work is to be adequately sustained.

FLOODS AND FIRE

At the time of writing there is grave uncertainty as to whether or not the dykes at Winnipeg, will hold or not. Already the suburbs of the city are flooded and the people evacuated. The Red River is certainly on a rampage. Whole towns and villages in Southern Manitoba have been inundated. Thirty or forty thousand people are homeless. The property loss in Winnipeg and South Manitoba will run into the millions. There is the loss, too, that comes from having the top soil washed away. It is well known that the top few inches of soil is the most precious of all the land. With that washed away in the swirling floods, the loss may very well affect the crop returns for years.

In Winnipeg, every effort is being made to stem the flood. The resources of the Army, Navy and Air Force have been pressed into service. Whatever happens, whether the dykes hold or not, there is satisfaction in knowing that the Government moved quickly, and is rendering all possible aid and assistance.

The flood, this year, should drive home in a vivid and tragic way the need for immediate action on flood control. Flood control is a costly business. But cost should not be allowed to stand in the way. The conservation of water and flood control is essential. There was a time when it was assumed that nothing could be done about floods. We know better now. There are many places where floods were frequent which have been rid of the menace by sane and adequate control.

FIRES

Then, as though the floods were not enough, the nation has suffered from fire. The fire at Rimouski is one of the worst in the nation's history.

About a third of a city of fifteen thousand people is in ruins. The fire started as most fires do, in a small way. But the terrific windstorm of Saturday and Sunday, fanned the blaze until, within a short time, it got out of hand — and turned Rimouski into an inferno. What a few hours before had been a thriving city, is now a city of ruins.

In Rimouski, as in Winnipeg, the Government has stepped in. Troops keep discipline and order, and prevent looting. There is no doubt that when a survey has been made, and the extent of the need known, the Dominion Government representing as it does all Canada, will come to the rescue.

We are accustomed to read, objectively, of storms, earthquakes and other catastrophes striking far places of the earth. It is quite a different thing when the calamities hit right home. The sympathy of all Canadians goes out to these stricken areas, and it is hoped the depth of that sympathy will be shown in generous material aid.

HOSEA REVEALS GOD'S FORGIVING LOVE

Lesson Text: Hosea 11:1-4, 8-11; 14:1-9.

"Justice" was the great word associated with the message of Amos, "mercy" or "Love" is Hosea's great word. Amos had no revelation of God's love and when he inherited the throne of his day, received the revelation of God through the experience of his own home. The nature of God is a parable of his own nature, of a

He says God indicates that he had been aggerieved, and with joy! When they do return God will forget all the past, receive them in His arms of love. There they find peace and security, and healing for their wrong doing.

Well, there we have it. God is going to tell His people back with love. It is pretty hard for us to think of God a God of love. To be sure we may have some glib sayings about it.

In spite of all the evidence of evil in the nation Hosea was dead sure that in time the people would return to God. They will come back like birds returning in the spring with eagerness, and with joy! When they do return God will forget all the past, receive them in His arms of love. There they find peace and security, and healing for their wrong doing.

GRETNA W. A.

The April meeting was held at the home of Mrs. James Keech on April 5th, with the members of the Bethany W. A. as guests. The program was given by the Bethany W. A. With their president, Mrs. Wilbur Goodman, in the chair, the meeting was opened by singing a hymn. Mr. Swayne led in prayer. The scripture reading was read by Mrs. Aikenhead.

Mr. Swayne took as his subject, "The Women at the Cross" telling what as Jesus' mother and the other Mary stood by Him at the cross, so women of today are standing by Jesus and carrying on His work in churches and communities.

The two W. A.'s divided, each having its own business meeting. It was decided that Bethany and Gretna W. A.'s join together in serving lunches at the Fair grounds in Napanee, where the Bayview Orange Lodge will be in charge of the celebration on July 12th.

Mrs. Wilfred Miller of Bethany, carried on the programme. She introduced the guests, Mrs. Wilfred Smith of Napanee, the president of the County W. A., and Mrs. A. Rogers, president of Grace Church W. A. in Napanee. Mrs. Smith, in her address, told why the Dominion Council of the W. A. was formed and what it is doing. The Dominion Council is directly over the Conference branches in Canada. These are divided into Presbyterials which are made up of the local W. A.'s. The local W.A.'s belong to the Lennox & Addington District of the Belleville Presbyterial. There are 3,275 organized W.A.'s and in 1948 there were 170,000 members who raised over $2,000,000. The duties of the W. A. are to help the minister in his pastoral work of visiting the sick and strangers, and to help make their churches, friendly churches. They raise money for the upkeep of the parsonage and the church. But money should not be stressed as the important part of the work which should deepen and strengthen the spiritual life of its members. The W. A. is, "And let the Beauty of the Lord our God, be upon us." That the work of our hands establish you, the work of our hands establish it. That it.

Mrs. Rogers was asked to say a few words. Mrs. Wilfred Miller read a poem, after which the W. A. collection closed the meeting. Mrs. Keech and her daughter assisted by members of the W. A. served a very delicious lunch. Mr. Swayne moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Keech for entertaining the two W. A.'s and Mrs. Smith for her splendid address. Mrs. Jos. Keech the Grace president, also thanked the speakers and all who took part in the programme.

OBITUARIES

NORRIS NEIL SUTTON

While not unexpected, death came peacefully to Norris N. Sutton, on April 28th, at his home, 21 Jackman Ave., Toronto, after a lingering illness of over two years. During the last seven months, he was confined to his bed in his own home and was carefully nursed by his wife, daughter and son-in-law.

Deceased was born in Newburgh, the son of the late James Sutton, who predeceased him three years ago. His mother passed away several years ago. He is survived by his wife, formerly Edna Jackson, and by one daughter, (Naydene) Mrs. Ronald Smith, at home. A sister (Ida) Mrs. Harry Milligan of Toronto; a brother Roscoe Sutton of Ottawa, also survive.

On arrival of the noon train at Napanee on Saturday, April 29, the funeral service was held at the Wartman Funeral Home by Rev. M. F. Oldham, rector of St. Luke's Church, Camden East, after which the remains were taken to Camden East and laid to rest in the family plot, in St. Luke's cemetery. The pallbearers were his three cousins, Wilfred, Harry and Orlando Sutton, and J. Rae Smith, Ralph Nicol and Jos. Alkenbrack, close friends. The flower bearers were Benny Sutton, William Sutton, Harry Robinson, Milton Dunn, Edward Hamilton, Russell Gilligan and Percy Galbraith.

WILLIAM HENRY KING

In ill-health for the past four months, the death took place at his home in Newburgh, on April 29th of William Henry King, in his 70th year. He was a native of Sheffield and a son of the late Henry King and the former Alice Donovan. His previous residence had been at Shannonville where he farmed for many years. He retired about five years ago to Newburgh. He was a member and elder of the United Church and also a member of L.O.L. 242, Shannonville. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Edith Dunwoody, about six and a half years ago. He later married Alice Milligan, who survives, as well as three children, Harold King of Newburgh, Walter King, Napanee and Mrs. Frank J. (Beatrice) Abel, Newburgh.

The funeral was held at the home of his daughter, to Newburgh United Church, and was conducted by Rev. H. H. Herrington, assisted by Rev. W. H. Clarke, Deseronto. Mrs. Ralph Wightman sang beautifully the solo, "I'd rather have Jesus than silver or gold." This was at the special request of Mr. King, who was especially fond of it.

Other survivors include a brother, Edward King, and sisters, Mrs. Bidwell Kimmett (Mary), Mrs. Wilbert Kimmett (Margaret), Mrs. Robert Little (Alice), Mrs. Alex. Goodfellow (Myrtle) and five grandchildren.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Bert, Vernon and Ralph Kimmett, Archie King, Malcolm Little, and Floyd Goodfellow. Flower - bearers were Douglas, Donald, Morley and R. Kimmett, Elmer and Arthur King.

Interment was in Melrose cemetery.

In Loving Memory

McGREGOR — In fond and loving memory of our husband and father, Ross McGregor, who passed away on May 8th, 1947.

Rest in peace, dear, loving father,
Three long years have passed away.
You are gone, but still are living
In the hearts of those who stay.

Lovingly remembered by
WIFE and FAMILY.

BROOKS— In memory of Clarence Arthur Brooks, who passed away one year ago, May 7th, 1950.

Nearer than my own whom fortune
Beckons where the strange land looms,
Just behind the hanging curtains,
Serving in another room.
Shall I doubt my Father's mercy?
Shall I think of death as dorm,
Or the stepping o'er the threshold
To a bigger, brighter, room?
Shall I blame my Father's wisdom,
Shall I sit, enswathed in gloom
When I know my loves are happy,
Waiting in the other room?

Ever remembered by his Sister,
MRS. GORDON FURSE
and FAMILY.

MAY MEETING OF THE NAPANEE W. C. T. U.

The May meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in Trinity Church Sunday School room, Friday, May 6th, at 3:00 p.m., the President, Mrs. H. Langford, presiding, ably assisted by the newly elected Secretary, Mrs. Gordon Johnson.

The Canadical Medal Contest, sponsored by the W. C. T. U., is being well arranged by the committee, and will be conducted in Grace United Church, Friday evening, May 12th, at 8:00 o'clock. There will be some 15 contestants in the various groups.

Sabbath Observance and Law Enforcement the topic for this month, was in charge of Mrs. Ward Warriman, the Superintendent of that Department. She was assisted by Mrs. H. Empey and Mrs. F. Hooper, who read the scripture lesson from Neh. 13: 15-22.

The Dutch call the Sabbath "God's Dike". They know by bitter experience what their sea walls have done for their nation in rolling back the encroaching ocean, hungry to swallow up their low-lying land. In the same way we see the spirit of secularism and worldliness waiting to swallow up all the best things in national and spiritual life and character, and we rightly believe that the Christian Sabbath is one great rampart between these things and their destruction.

"The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath". When a man has Christ's spirit he will observe the Lord's Day because he wants to, not because he must. The laws to which we put our Sundays are searching tests of what we really are. The Lord's Day is the recognition of the sovereignty of God. "The day that forgets God shall perish."

The Lord's Day Act does not prevent personal recreation. That is a matter for the individual conscience; but it does oppose commercialized amusements or professional sports on Sunday. It also seeks to safeguard the laborer from Sunday work, except for certain exemptions deemed necessary.

The results of unrestricted commercialized sports and recreation on the Sabbath will have a drastic effect on Sabbath Schools and church attendance, which has been proven in a Toronto Sunday School, where the attendance fell from 500 to 200. These children will lose the only really spiritual opportunities in their formative years, and they will suffer, as well as society in general.

The Christian use of the Lord's Day provides for the nurture and care of the soul through worship, Bible study, and Christian service. The great truths of the faith must be propagated. They must be refaught to every generation if the Christian faith is to be retained among us. We have a matchless spiritual heritage. It is our business to pass it on to those who succeed us, and we shall not do that if we scrap the sanctity of the Lord's Day.

The world at its worst needs the church at its best. As we call ourselves Christians we must do everything possible to provide for the reverent use and the orderly preservation of the Lord's Day.

Mrs. B. F. Denison framed and read a resolution from our local Union, to be presented to the County Council re the expenditure of money for a Cobalt War Memorial.

The meeting closed with the Temperance Doxology and prayer.

NOTICE!

TOWN OF NAPANEE

BY-LAW FOR REGULATION OF TRAFFIC NOW IN EFFECT

By-law No. 29, 1949, passed by the Municipal Council of the Town of Napanee on January 2nd, 1950, is now in effect, as all Street Stop Signs have been installed.

THROUGH STREETS ARE AS FOLLOWS:

1. Centre Street (No. 41 Highway) is a through street from the southerly boundary of the Town to the northerly limits of the Town except at Traffic Lights at the intersection of Dundas and Centre Street.
2. Dundas Street (No. 2 Highway) is a through street from the Bridge crossing the Napanee River at the easterly entrance to the Town to the westerly Town limits, excepting at Traffic Lights at the intersection of Dundas and Centre Streets.
3. East Street from Bridge Street north to Railroad through Street.
4. John Street from Bridge Street north to Railroad through Street.
5. Bridge Street through Street from easterly limits of the Town to the westerly limits of the Town, excepting the intersection of Bridge and Centre Streets where traffic on Bridge Street is required to come to a full stop before entering or crossing Centre Street.

Stop Signs have been erected at every intersection of the above noted Stop Streets and all vehicles are required to come to a full stop before entering or crossin; the said Through Streets.

A specially noted change is at the intersection of Bridge and Centre Streets. Formerly traffic from the north or south on Centre Street was required to come to a full stop before entering or crossing Bridge Street; now traffic travelling from the west on Bridge Street will be required to come to a full stop before entering or crossing Centre Street.

SCHOOL AREA

At the intersection of the Belleville Road and Thomas Street all traffic from any direction is required to come to a full stop. This regulation is for the protection of School Children at this point.

The by-law has been carefully drawn and has been approved by the Department of Highways and is intended to reduce accidents at street intersections both in connection with Vehicles and Pedestrians.

There are numerous Traffic Regulations included in the By-law, the said Regulations not only applying in Napanee but are general in their terms and are applicable in other centres. The By-law has been printed in pamphlet form and a copy of same can be secured from the Town Clerk at the Town Hall. Written request for copy will be mailed to the applicant.

A careful study of the By-law would be of valuable assistance to drivers of Motor Vehicles. 19a

Aid To Atomic Energy Research

A yo-yo-like machine has been installed at McMaster University at Hamilton, Ont., to aid atomic energy research.

This machine is a three-ton beta ray spectrometer, the only one of its type in North America. The research machine is entirely Hamilton - produced. Dr. M.W. Johns, assistant professor of physics designed the instrument and it was built by Hamilton companies.

Dr. Johns said the $10,000 spectrometer will be used to study energies of electrons emitted from radioactive nuclei. He said that the machine may help science discover experimental evidence on which to base theories of nuclear structure.

Operation of the instrument is designed to deflect electrons into a magnetic field, similar to sun rays deflected through glass, the field focuses electrons of energy on a geiger counter window.

The machine has been under planning and construction since 1946, when it was suggested one be built. Dr. Johns made a model with a one-foot diameter—and the actual three-ton workings have been under constructions and finished during the past eighteen months.

Listed as features of the designing are an aluminum vacuum chamber in place of brass and special soft magnetizer pole faces.

ISOTOPES

The first of several deliveries of radioactive isotopes from Britain to South Africa, left by air, recently.

The isotopes are being stowed in the wing tips of the Skymaster planes carrying them. This method of storage during transportation eliminates the need for packing the isotopes in heavy lead containers, cutting the weight of a single package from 40 pounds to just a few ounces and reducing transport charges by 98 per cent. Risk of contamination is reduced to a minimum — sensitive X-ray films carried in the fuselage show no reaction from isotopes stored in the wing tips.

Some tropical species of earthworms reach a gigantic size, those found in Australia, central Africa and Ceylon growing to a length of three to six feet.

L. E. Wright, Noted Chemist, Passes At 64

Lawrence Edward Wright, for the past 12 years in charge of laboratory research on soil chemistry in the Division of Chemistry, Science Service, Department of Agriculture, passed away suddenly at the Ottawa Civic Hospital, Monday, May 1st. He is survived by his wife, the former Pearle Hamilton, a daughter, Shirley, of Toronto, and two sons, Hamilton, of Fresno, California, and Lawrence, of Toronto, and by one brother, Mr. Rod Wright, of Conway. He resided at 252 Irving Ave. The funeral service was held from Hulse and Playfair, Ltd., at 2:00 p.m., Thursday, May 4th.

Mr. Wright was born at Conway, Ont., son of the late Simon and Sarah (Roddick) Wright, on Sept. 27, 1885. He received his B.Sc. degree at Queen's University in 1911.

In 1910 and 1911 he assisted Dr. Stewart Schofield in the geological and topographical survey of the East Kootenay district in British Columbia, and in 1912 worked on a topographical survey of the Windermere region.

After a two-year interval as resident engineer with the firm of Murphy and Underwood, consulting engineers in Saskatoon, Mr. Wright returned to the Department of Mines. At this time he was employed in the Ceramics Division on a survey of clay deposits in southern Saskatchewan. Shortly afterwards, however, in 1915, he came to the Division of Chemistry in the Department of Agriculture, and, under the late Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, began his career in the Soils and Fertilizers Unit.

OUTSTANDING WORK

In 1921 Mr. Wright was placed in charge of all investigational work in soils and fertilizers on the Central and Branch Farms.

In co-operation with the superintendents, experiments in the proper use of fertilizers were laid out on Branch Farms from coast to coast. Some of these experiments, established upwards of 25 years ago, are still being carried on and information derived from them has established basic fertilizer requirements and practices for many parts of Canada.

During the past 12 years, under Mr. Wright's direction, laboratory research on soil chemistry has expanded greatly. His contribution to agriculture in Canada will not cease with his death but will be carried on by the unit which he created and has fostered from 1922 until today.

Mr. Wright served on a number of committees for the Department of Agriculture and he was at one time chairman of Soils Section of the Agricultural Institute of Canada.

He was recently awarded Fellowships in the Agricultural Institute of Canada and the Chemical Institute of Canada in recognition of his meritorious services in the field of soil chemistry.

Mr. Wright was a member of the Chemists' Group in the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada.

Plan to Start Fosbraey Trial Monday, May 29

Chief Justice to Preside

The postponed Spring Assize of the Supreme Court, it is expected, will open in Napanee on Monday, May 29th. Mr. J. C. McRuer, Chief Justice of Ontario, will be the presiding Judge.

The first case on the docket is the hearing of the murder charge against James Fosbraey, who is being held in the County Gaol at Napanee, charged with the murder of his wife, June Fosbraey, on November 28, 1949.

Fosbraey appeared before Mr. Justice McRuer at the Spring Assize in Napanee on Monday, March 27, and an adjournment was granted until April 11 at the request of the accused's counsel, R. E. Nourse, of Picton. Later a further adjournment was agreed to until May 29. At the present time it is expected the case will be proceeded with on May 29.

Mr. Nourse asked for the adjournment in order for further psychiatric examinations of Fosbraey and for examination regarding his background in England.

At the court session in March the Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Fosbraey, and the Crown was prepared to go ahead with the case. At that time Mr. Nourse had been Fosbraey's counsel for only one week and stated that he had not had sufficient time to prepare his case.

The Non-Jury Court, which was to have been held on Monday, March 22nd, has been postponed until Monday, May 29, and will be held after the session of the Supreme Court

The highlight of the evening was the conferring of the Red Cross degree upon thirteen candidates of the above preceptories.

The degree was exemplified by the degree team of Queensborough R.B.P. who travelled to Roblin by special bus, accompanied by several visiting Sir Knights from Eldorado R.B.P. Visitors were also present from Trenton and Picton Royal Black Preceptories.

Distinguished Sir Knights present included James Diamond and Ralph Gibson, representing the Grand Black Chapter of Ontario East; Mr. Carson Duquette of Prince Edward County, and Rev. K. J. Crawford of Enterprise.

HAROLD WILSON PLANS FOR NEW BOAT RECORD TRY

Harold Wilson, of Ingersool, owner-driver of Miss Canada IV, the Canadian challenger for the Harmsworth trophy, said that he would make an attempt to set a world's speedboat record at Gravenhurst, Muskoka, "possibly within the next month or so."

Wilson was undecided at first, whether to make his bid for the record at Gravenhurst or at Picton, where last October he failed to crack the present record of 141 miles per hour set by Sir Malcolm Campbell, at Lake Coniston, eleven years ago. However, a new course has been laid at Gravenhurst, which meets all his requirements. He hit 138.865 m.p.h. at Picton.

"If I do establish a record at Gravenhurst," he said, "I will try to better my own record at Picton, later on."

MAYOR VINE FIRST CONTRIBUTOR 1950 RED SHIELD APPEAL

The local Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal is off to a flying start. Mr. Ward Wartman, Campaign chairman, reports that the men canvassing the business section under the leadership of—Mr. Percy Asselstine, and the residential canvassers under the guidance of Mrs. W. G. Paul, commenced activities Monday morning, May 15th.

Mr. Harry Vine, Napanee's popular first citizen, launched the local Red Shield Appeal by making the first donation to Chairman Ward Wartman. When making his contribution, His Worship the Mayor said of the work of the Napanee Branch of The Salvation Army: "Wherever there has been a need locally, The Army is right there with their coats off, to try to meet that need. I know of instances where, not only local resources were used but special assistance from headquarters was also solicited in order to alleviate suffering and want."

In its sixty-eight years of existence in Canada, The Salvation Army has become woven into the very fibre of the Canadian people. That is because its business is, People! — Others! As Canadian author Scott Young writes: "The simple principle, 'others', which has guided The Salvation Army for all its years, applies to peace as well as war — there is no such thing as division of responsibility in the matter of human need."

On behalf of needy "others" The Salvation Army is now asking for dollars to help maintain an amazingly-large network of social service centres and related activities which every year solve the plight of countless thousands of erring or despairing persons. Its work is so well known that description is almost superfluous. It is done, as General H.D.G. Crerar has said, "with a minimum of fuss and a maximum of human kindness and understanding."

Two Brothers Given 50-year Jewels Presentation Made to Third Brother

The presentation of 50-year jewels to two brothers, C. A. Walters and E. J. Walters, following the regular session of Union Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 9, on Friday evening, May 12th, was an event that is unique in the history of Masonry in this district and possibly in the whole of the Province of Ontario. Most Worshipful Brother John A. McRae, of Kingston, Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge in Ontario, made the presentation.

Fifty years ago, on May 11, 1900, the two brothers were initiated in Union Lodge. Each of the brothers has held all the junior and senior offices of the lodge and each has served as worshipful master.

Also, on Friday evening, the members of the lodge made a presentation on behalf of the Lodge, by Past-master, P. U. Laidley, to a third member of the Walters family, Geo. T. Walters, who has been secretary of the lodge for fifteen years and has served as worshipful master. A fourth member of the family, Donald Walters, son of Geo. T. Walters, is a member of the lodge and was present at the session when the presentations were made.

Very Worshipful Brother W. A. Crange, in a short address, drew attention to the fact that James Walters, father of C.A., E.J. and Geo. T. Walters, was a member of Union Lodge for many years and was worshipful master in 1885 and was appointed Grand Director of Ceremonies of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, in 1888. Mr. Walters died in 1911.

In recognition of his services to Masonry and of his interest in the Napanee Lodge, M.W. Brother John A. McRae was made an honorary member of Union Lodge.

KEITH WEESE TO HURL FOR SHALLOW LAKE

One of the most outstanding Junior baseball hurlers of Eastern Ontario leaves this week to work and play ball for the Shallow Lake Ranchers.

Keith Weese, ace moundman for the Napanee Lions Juniors ball club and the Centreville County team, has accepted a position in Shallow Lake and will pitch in the Junior section of the O. B. A. in the Western portion of the Province.

Weese, who has marvelous control of a ball, has been much sought after, both by local teams and outsiders. Kingston, Belleville and other intermediate clubs have tried to secure his services, but the offer of the Ranchers in the way of a position, was one of the best and this County will suffer in his decision.

Keith has a year or, two of Junior ball left yet and his decision has been a wise one.

The experience he will get will fit him for the 'big time' we are sure he will reach.

His many supporters and friends wish him well.

NEW FACES IN ATHLETICS LINE-UP

The Napanee Athletics, who have moved into the higher bracket of baseball, the C.O.B.L., have been getting the odd workout at the Park and one or two new faces have made an appearance in the 'loosening-up' process.

If rumors have it correct, Walt. Gerow has not made an appearance and some say that he is not playing this year. If not, the Kilborns men have only two logical players to fill the corner, Johnny Munro, the first sacker of the Lions Juniors of last year, and Vic Burtt, of last year's squad.

Two newcomers to this area, Semark of Belleville, and Mitchell of Prescott, are trying out, and as to their ability as ball players, appearances point to seeing them in the uniform of the A's.

The opening game here is slated for May 26th, and Picton will be the guests. Game called at 6:30, fast time.

The first game of the league is scheduled for May 24th at 3:30, at Brockville, and a bus has been arranged for and leaves at 1:00 o'clock.

Jr. Red Cross Training Camp In August

The first Junior Red Cross Training Camp will be opened in August at Camp Bernard, near Sundridge, Ontario, announced C. B. Routley, chairman of Junior Red Cross, at a recent meeting of the Ontario Division Executive Committee. This camp will train leaders who will organize Junior Red Cross in Secondary schools.

With a reccrd of nearly 125,000 pupils enrolling in the swimming and Water Safety classes across Canada during the past four years, this committee is looking forward to heavy schedule, said Mr. J. H. Passmore, committee chairman.

Two Buildings Burned Same Day Near Northbrook

House and Garage 1½ Miles Apart Destroyed

Fires destroyed two buildings, two miles apart, within an hour and a half of each other near Northbrook on Thursday morning, May 11.

A house, owned and occupied by Harold Meeks, was completely destroyed, with practically all the contents, in a fire which broke out about 10:30 a.m. A garage on the Myer's Cave road, belonging to Ernjest Jackson, was burned in a bare which started about 9:00 a.m.

Cause of the fire was unknown and both broke out while there was no one around the buildings.

Ernest Jackson was away driving children to school, and when told of the fire at his garage rushed home too late to be of any help in extinguishing the blaze. A power sawing machine and a quantity of grain were destroyed, as well as other equipment when the garage burned.

After fighting the fire at his garage, Mr. Jackson answered the call for help when the Meek's fire was discovered. Later when he returned home he found that the fire in his garage had blazed up again and had jumped to his house 25 feet away. The second fire was quickly extinguished.

The fire at the Meek's home was discovered shortly after Mrs. Meeks had gone to the post office. Within five minutes after it was discovered it was impossible to enter the house. Some anxiety was felt for the new school in Cloyne, which is only 30 feet from the location of the Meeks house, and for the Potter & Lee lumber yard, situated across the road. Sparks from the fire spread over a large area, and several small fires were started, but were put out before serious damage was done. Seventy-five persons assisted in fighting the fire.

The Meek's home was partially covered by insurance, but no insurance was carried on the Jackson garage.

Local Red Cross Appeals for Articles Urgently Needed

Donations to be Flown to Disaster Area

At the request of the Ontario Headquarters the Lennox and Addington Branch of the Red Cross Society is asking for donations of articles urgently needed for combatting the flood conditions in Winnipeg.

The articles especially needed are complete flash boards, heavy work socks, new work gloves, rubberized work gloves, new or used hip length waders. The articles received by the local Red Cross will be sent immediately to Toronto, from where they will be flown to Winnipeg.

"The daily newspapers have been carrying articles describing the conditions in Winnipeg, and there is no doubt of the desperate situation of the city. There is some evidence that the peak of the flood may have been passed, but the city authorities and the army are faced with a tremendous task in aiding the residents of the flooded area.

49,000 PERSONS MOVED FROM CITY

The greatest mass evacuation in Canadian history had moved at least 49,000 people out of the flood-ravaged cities by early this week. Many thousands more prepared to leave. Trains, buses, and plane space was at a premium.

Army flood-control authorities urged a "thinning out" of Greater Winnipeg's 350,000 population, grown even larger since the floods by refugees from inundated towns and villages south to the international boundary.

An estimated 65,000 persons have been left homeless.

"We are still in danger," said a top officer at Brig. R. E. A. Morton's flood-control headquarters in the Manitoba legislative buildings beside the overflowing Assiniboine.

"The trouble is far from over . . . the road is still uphill," said Premier Douglas L. Campbell in a radio broadcast recommending more evacuation.

MAIN RISKS

These were the main risks:

1. Protective dikes, waterlogged by days of rising water pressure, might collapse at any time, spewing thousands of tons of muddy water over residential areas so far untouched.
2. Power supply might be cut off—threatening Greater Winnipeg's communications and bread supply—and water might become contaminated with the risk of waterborne epidemic.
3. The few remaining usable bridges in Greater Winnipeg might fail, splitting Winnipeg from St. Boniface and suburban areas from both, thus crippling flood-fighting operations.
4. Heavy rainfall could raise the level of the 540-square-mile "lake" of flood water spread by the Red across southern Manitoba, loosing a new surge of flooding.
5. The Assiniboine, which joins the Red opposite St. Boniface, might start to swell from melting snow in western Manitoba, and cause complications in the city area.
6. Further away, a new flood crest in North Dakota — due at Pembina, N.D., across the line from Emerson, Man.—posed a potential threat.

Ladies were guests at the noon luncheon held at the Paisley Hotel. The speaker was Rev. Charles D. McLellan, Grace Church, Napanee. The speaker was introduced by H. H. Langford, Public School Inspector, Napanee.

Water Forces Former Napaneeans To Move From Home

Mrs. Thos. McConnell and Mrs. Percy Hurst, of Bowesmont, N.D., south of Winnipeg, have had to move from their house to an apartment in the town, as sixteen inches of water covered their floors. Their house is two miles from the Red River.

Mrs. McConnell is enjoying good health but has been blind for a year. Ten years ago she and Mrs. Hurst, who is her daughter, spent the summer with her sister, the late Mrs. Adam Jayne near Napanee.

Mrs. Hurst writes that the town looks like Venice as boats have taken the place of cars on the flooded streets.

New Coaling Station Nears Completion At Yarker

The new locomotive coaling station which has been under construction at Yarker for the Canadian National Railways will be in operation, it is expected, this week.

The coaling station is something new in railroad equipment in this section of Canada. It is being constructed by Canrut Utilities, Limited, a Montreal company, under the personal direction of Robert L. Grassby, the President of the Company.

It is built completely of steel, all welded construction. The welding has been done by Carl Clark, of Napanee.

A Redler Chain elevates the coal to an overhead bin, which holds 30 tons, and can elevate up to 400 tons per day.

The coaling station is the first of its kind in Eastern Canada. Similar stations have been built in British Columbia, Alberta, and Saskatchewan, and also at Fort Francis and Port Arthur in Ontario.

THE CITY ERA GOING

For a long time we have held the view that a much healthier condition of life, in our generation, would be developed if, instead of people crowding into cities, they would build up a number of small or medium-sized communities. A city can be a cruel and overpowering place. It can be callous, hard and impersonal. Ontario will be a strong, vigorous, economically healthy province in proportion as it pays attention to developing a number of small and medium-sized places.

We have said that often enough, in these columns. Now confirmation for this view, comes from a most authoritative source. In Washington, D.C., last week, the eighty-second annual convention of the "American Institute of Architects" was held. One of the principal speakers was L Lewis Mumford, well known American architect. He is not only an architect but a writer and town planner, as well. Over 2,000 delegates heard Mr. Mumford say: "a balanced community, limited in size and area, limited in density, in close contact with the open country, is actually the new urban form for our civilization.

"The threat of atomic warfare and its possibilities for 'collective genocide' in the cities, makes the dispersal of crowded population a matter of both 'necessity and choice'."

When town-planners — two thousand of them — actually declare in favor of the smaller communities, they carry some weight. Of course, the difficulty that at once faces any group which is realistically trying to put into practice this principle, is that of the men and women themselves. People do not like being guided around. They want to go where they want to go. Still, the threat of annihilation through the atom bomb, may do what no amount of suggesting will do.

THE MEANS TEST

The Old Age Security Committee of Parliament is busy receiving representations from groups and organizations of all sorts. Some interesting and surprising briefs have been submitted. One of these is from the Canadian Manufacturers Association. In the brief which this influential organization submitted to the committee, on Monday, was the recommendation that Canada should have a universal Old Age Pension Plan, without a means test "on a reasonably adequate basis."

It is an interesting and valuble sign of the time, that an organization so powerful and so influential, should make this suggestion. Pensions are in the air. There has been a growing awareness of the plight and the problems which the elder citizens have to face after their days of earning a living have ceased. The Old Age Pensions, as they operate in the various provinces, have been a blessing to hundrds of thousands of people. But there is always a feeling that the pension as now administered, is more or less of a hand-out. Only those who are on the border edge of subsistence can benefit by it. That was well enough for a start, but we have come a long way in our sense of social responsibility since that law was enacted. We have learned a lot, too.

The Canadian Manufacturers Association is on the right track. A contributory pension scheme in which all can participate is the only kind that will meet the needs of the people. Sooner or later that will have to be established in law. The plan would be made up of three contributors — the citizen the employer and the government. Just how much each would contribute is a matter that would have to be settled in detail, as the Act was drawn up.

Apart from the benefits which such a scheme would give in money to the senior citizens, there is the feeling of self-respect that comes from one drawing from an insurance into which he has been a contributor— and that means a lot !

WINNIPEG STIRS NATION

The trials and difficulties through which the people of Winnipeg are passing, have stirred the hearts of Canadians everywhere. The untiring efforts, the heroism and co-operation of the citizens of this great city have won the admiration of men and women in every part of the Dominion.

Millions upon millions of property values will be lost. These values are not recoverable. It will take years of hard work and unremitting toil to build up again, that which has been swept away. The life savings of thousands of families have been wiped out overnight.

A verbal expression of sympathy is well enough. But it lacks reality unless it is backed up by tangible gifts. Already plans are on foot to give the people of Canada an opportunity to express their sympathy in a tangible manner. The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, has been opened, and gifts will be received for it through newspapers, churches and other agencies. As a token gift ten thousand dollars has been subscribed, already to the fund by The United Church of Canada. Other churches, service clubs, lodges, will no doubt share with their brothers and sisters in the West, their bounty.

These are large gifts, but it is well known that the success of an appeal for money lies in the way in which the whole population responds. We are quite sure that the people of Canada have been just waiting for something to do. The opportunity is now given, through "The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund."

THE COLD WAR

There are things being said and done between nations, to-day, which a few years ago would have started a shooting war. Once the final step under the old diplomacy, when nations were about to fight was to sever diplomatic relations. To-day, however, we do not seem to be quite so thin skinned as we once were. We are pushed around quite a bit, and while we do not like it, yet we are not in the mood to fight over it.

Probably one of the reasons for this change in attitude is the knowledge of just what will happen should another war break out. The nations have developed new, and more devastating instruments of death than have ever been known. Nobody wants to try them out. The Second World War is still fresh in our memories, and responsible leaders know that. So they get pushed around, do a little pushing themselves, but never even suggest a resort to arms.

There, for example is the action of Czecho-Slovakia. This little Russian Satelite decides to send home some members of the diplomatic corps. Then there is retaliation and the Czechs are sent home. It all looks rather silly. But so long as it goes no further than that, we can be grateful.

The unfortunate thing about the Canadian Czecho-Slovakian relations, is that they used to be so cordial and so intimate. There is quite a similarity between them, that made each appeal to the other. Both were Democracies, but were small countries surrounded by larger ones. We got along well together. But once the Communists got control, this all changed. We are all for hitting back at the leaders in Prague, just so long as the hitting is verbal and not military.

So long as the East and the West act like boys, daring and double-daring each to knock the chip off the other's shoulder, there is hope that the chip will not get knocked off. Then, after a while, everybody will grow up and get matured, and the chip episode will be forgotten.

Int. Sunday School Lesson, May 21st

MICAH'S PLEA FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Lesson Text:
Micah 1: 1; 2: 1-2; 3: 5-12; 6: 6-8

Micah and Isaiah lived about the same time, 750 BC. But Micah was much younger than Isaiah. They both attacked the evils of their day. Isaiah was a courtier. He was used to moving in good society. He was in the upper four hundred. Micah was a farmer. He talked the same problems as Isaiah, but from the point of view of the ordinary man.

In this lesson, Mica declares his message from God. 'Woe,' he says, 'to them that work iniquity — that devise evil upon their beds.' It gives them power. They covet fields, they seize houses. They oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage.' There is a familiar ring about the message he proclaims and the situation he describes. The wealthy, the scheming, the usurer, lying awake nights in order to devise ways and means of getting the best of their neighbours.

The real cause for all this, Micah believes, lies with the priests. His description of the way the priests set out to secure their ends is described in biting language. The prophet declares that they will suffer for all this. They will have their day turned to night. Verses 5 and 6 will bear pondering from this point of view. No matter how they appeal to God, there will be no answer.

In the next section the prophet has a word of condemnation for the rulers of the city. They never practice justice; they mix the blood of the people with the materials for building the city. It is built as we would say in 'blood money.' Because of this iniquity, the prophet predicts the destruction of Jerusalem. That was a pretty risky business. Imagine a minister in France during the war or just before it, declaring the cities of France would be destroyed because of their sin. That will give some idea of the courage of Micah.

The final section is one of the best known in the Old Testament:

'Wherewithall shall I come before Jehovah,' etc. Micah asks in what manner shall he come before God— with money, property, big gifts. No! He answers his own question: what God requires is that we 'do justly, love kindness and walk humbly with thy God.'

That is the practical moral obligation. It is the rule of conduct, ethics, and practice. Perhaps the most important injunction is that we should walk humbly with thy God. It is easy enough to tell people to do justly, and to love kindness. These qualities are not attained by wishing for them. They are attained because of the power which comes from God enabling us to cultivate and express them. It is that, at this point, the great prophet falls short of the Gospel of Christ. It is through the spirit of Christ dwelling in the hearts of men that we learn to do justly, love kindness, and walk humbly with God — a great message this, for our day!

WINNIPEG FLOOD REFUGEES ARRIVE IN OTHER CITIES

By The Canadian Press

Hundreds of women and children driven from their homes in the Winnipeg area by the raging Red River, arrived last week in other cities in eastern and western Canada.

In the east the planes that brought them from Winnipeg took off again loaded with pumps, vaccine and other relief supplies.

The steady flow of sandbags and rubber boots from Eastern Canada to the flooded communities, slowed a little on the advice of George Collins, Manitoba's Deputy Minister of Public Works. Mr. Collins wired Premier Frost of Ontario:

'Several days' supply of sandbags and rubber boots on hand. Suspend further shipments for the present.

Ontario Ready

Premier Frost said those evacuated from the flood area will be able to find refuge in Ontario in large numbers if need arises. When and if Ontario is called upon officially the province will be ready, he said.

The Ontario Lands Department was scouring Northern Ontario mines for pumping equipment to be sent west. Although Winnipeg officials said there was no immediate danger of typhoid, Connaught Laboratories at the University of Toronto, worked overtime to produce supplies of vaccine.

Almost 200 empty railroad cars were westbound from Toronto and Montreal to bring back homeless people. The Ontario Hydro Commission prepared 32 portable deisel generators for shipment.

Three amphibious Army vehicles have been sent from London, Ont. A one - ton R.C.A.F. pump will be flown from there as soon as a large enough plane arrives from Montreal. Red Cross officials in Halifax were rounding up hip boots, work gloves, socks and cigarettes.

Nerve centre' of flood relief is the Ottawa headquarters of operation Redramp — army pargon designating the Red River rampage. The operation is headed by senior Army, Naval and Air Force officers who co-ordinate relief measures, find food supplies, living accommodation and equipment and assign aircraft priorities.

More than 200 flood refugees arrived in Toronto by plane and train. Civic officials were prepared if necessary to house them in Lambert Lodge, the city's home for the aged. Among the many children in the group was four - year - old Douglas Robertson, who boasted:

"All the water in the world is in my house — it was lots of fun.'

John Bracken, former Progressive Conservative leader, welcomed grandchildren — Barbara, 3, and Elizabeth, three months — when they arrived in Ottawa. The children of Mr. Bracken's son, Gordon, they were flooded out of their Winnipeg home.

A Saskatoon alderman warned his City Council that Saskatoon may be called on to accommodate 5,000 to 7,000 flood evacuees. Military officials planned to accommodate 2,000 refugees at Dundrum Camp, thirty miles southwest of Saskatoon.

Radio Unit Rushed

Meanwhile, supplies being dushed to Winnipeg included an emergency mobile radio-telephone unit from the Bell Telephone Company.

E. C. Johnston, president of the Civil Service Association of Ontario, announced that $400 was sent to the Manitoba Association. He said telegrams were sent to 42 other branches of the association asking for donations.

At Vernon, B.C., Mayor T.R.B. Adams said the military camp there could be made available for up to 2,000 flood refugees.

A Trans-Canada Air Lines plane has left Vancouver with 285 lanterns, furnished by the R.C.A.F. to assist flood-battlers working at night.

An R.C.A.F. plane went to Seattle, Wash., to pick up 1,000 hip boots donated by an anonymous philanthropist in San Francisco. The boots were flown from San Francisco to Seattle by a United Air Lines plane.

FIRE CALL

Firemen were called to the residence of Christie Thompson, Isabella Street, about 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, where a chimney and stove pipes were reported on fire.

No damage was done to the house or contents.

Spectacles were einvented by a monk, in Florence, Italy, in 1135.

Waterspouts more than a mile high have been seen at sea.

BUTTER PRICES DROP FORECAST BY GARDINER

Cheaper butter prices are the prospect for the future, according to a statement by Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, in the House of Commons last Friday, during discussion of his department estimates of expenditure for 1950-51.

Referring to the recent five-cent drop in the support price of butter said the prospects for the future, he declared that 'over the years ahead of us in all probability for a time adjustments will be in a downward direction.'

The current support price for butter of 53 cents per pound wholesale is effective only until next spring.

No Butter Surplus

Answering members who were worried about butter and cheese surpluses, Mr. Gardiner was emphatic in asserting that there was no such a thing as a surplus of either butter or cheese at the present time.

'To say that 20,000,000 pounds of butter that is being held by the dairy board at the present time is a surplus of butter in this country is just absolute nonsense,' he declared. 'You could not operate in the manner in which we are operating under the board if you did not have 20,000,000 pounds of butter.'

Defending the Government's butter support programme, the Minister thought the cost to the taxpayer of about $1,000,000, which was brought about when the support price was dropped by five cents, was little to worry about.

'What is that in seeing to it that 372,000,000 pounds of butter were marketed in the country, giving to the producer a stabilized price of 58 cents and giving to the consumer a stabilized wholesale cost of 60½c, he asked.

Farm problems were before the House throughout the day as members first of all discussed the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, and then the agriculture estimates.

During the latter debate several members urged action on the part of the Government in developing overseas markets for Canadian agricultural products, whether it was by means of barter deals or otherwise.

R. C. A. F. PLANS PAYING OFF

The R.C.A.F. now is 'moving forward fast, towards becoming a truly modern operational force,' Defence Minister Hon.Brooke Claxton said last Friday.

He told the first convention of the R.C.A.F., Association, an organization of air veterans, 'the groundwork of the past four years is beginning to pay off . . . the phase that the R.C.A.F. is entering now is the expansion of active units to constitute the nucleus that would be needed in any sudden emergency."

In a speech prepared for delivery, Mr. Claxton said, "our planning looks three, four, five and even more years ahead so that we start work now that will produce the results when they are likely to be needed."

At the end of the war, Canada 'was faced with a choice with regard to air power.'

'We could have kept in existence a force which would then have been fully operational but which would by now have obsolete equipment and aging personnel.'

'We chose to start almost from scratch at the war's end, building for the future. The result is that much of equipment we now have and the equipment we will receive in the future will be of the latest and best of them and we shall have in existence several years of active flying ahead of them and we shall have an existence training facilities capable of rapid expansion to produce a very large number of trained personnel.'

Recent R.C.A.F. developments included establishment of the First Reserve Radar Squadron at Montreal.

formation of units to give technical and administrative trades, plans to give reserve pilots refresher training at civilian flying clubs, development of an all-weather fighter, placing of orders for the latest radar equipment, an increase of 60 per cent in flying time steps to finish the mapping of coast of Canada by this year and establishment of fighter and Maritime squadrons.

DORLAND

Dorland, May 13. — High winds seem frequent this season. The gale of last Saturday continued with only slightly abated force on Sunday and there has been a stiff breeze every day all week, usually in the afternoons. The cool weather still retards growth. Grass is short and only a few have turned stock out on pasture, though some of the first crown grain is beginning to show. A number of farmers have completed their seeding and others are nearing the end. The bright yellow of dandelions adds a touch of colour to the outlook.

We were sorry to learn that there is no improvement in the condition of Mr. M. Pettifer, who is seriously ill in Kingston Hospital.

The township roads were graded this week and some of the bumps removed.

FINED $100 & COSTS IMPERSONATING POLICE OFFICER

Gordon C. Blair, Roissmont, Prince Edward County, was found guilty, last Thursday, in Napanee Police Court, by Magistrate Garvin, of impersonating a Provincial Police officer and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 plus costs of $30.10, or to serve three months in gaol. A second charge against Blair of impersonating a police officer was dismissed by the Magistrate, because the Crown failed to prove that he actually claimed to be a police officer.

In the evidence in the case, which was dismissed, Harold J. Pilow, taxi driver of Kingston, said that on the evening of May 2nd, about 10:30 o'clock, while he was driving passengers to Odessa, a car pulled ahead of him east of Odessa and forced him to stop or go into the ditch. The driver of the car, whom he identified as Gordon C. Blair came back to Pilow's car and asked for Pilow's driver's permit, and car ownership card, saying that he was an officer. He also said that Pilow's car was seized because Pilow was driving recklessly and his car was swaying from side to side, which Pilow absolutely denied as being the case. Blair told Pilow to follow him to Napanee, where he would be taken to the Provincial Police Office. At Odessa Blair stopped his car, came back to Pilow's car and told Pilow that Inspector Drummond, who was with him would take over the driving of Pilow's car. The man called Drummond came to Pilow's car and said: 'Forget about it, let it go. You can go on.' Blair, however, said: 'If I had my way I could lock you up.'

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Drysdale, who were passengers in Pilow's taxi, and were being driven to Odessa, corroborated Pilow's evidence in every detail.

But because the Crown failed to prove that Blair had said he was a police officer, the Magistrate dismissed the charge.

The second charge was that Blair falsely represented himself to C. J. Kennedy, Odessa, and Provincial Constable Sheridan of Napanee to be a Provincial Police officer.

Kennedy, who was driving his truck toward Napanee, accompanied by Erwell Huff, Deputy-Reeve of Ernestown, gave evidence of actions by Blair similar to the first case. But in his conversation with Kennedy, Blair said distinctly on two or three occasions that he was a Provincial Police officer. He also told Kennedy that he was under arrest for driving 70 miles an hour, which Kennedy denied. Kennedy asked Blair for his credentials because he did not believe Blair was an officer, because he was in civilian clothes. But Blair ignored Kennedy's demand for his credentials and when Blair demanded that Kennedy follow him into Belleville, Kennedy said he would not do so, but would go to the Provincial Police officer in Napanee.

Just before Kennedy's truck and Blair's car started toward Napanee, P.C. Sheridan drew up behind them and trailed them to Napanee where Kennedy stopped at the Provincial Police office.

Blair told Constable Sheridan he was an officer of the Vancouver Police and was charging Kennedy with speeding. However, he could not produce his credentials and was arrested and placed in the County Gaol.

V. K. Pearce, who was counsel for Blair, argued that it had not been proven by the Crown that Blair had impersonated a police officer, but the Magistrate was prepared to accept the evidence of Kennedy and his passenger, Huff, and registered a conviction.

Blair's counsel also reviewed his career as an officer with the R. C. A. F. overseas and on the Vancouver Police Force.

Because of Blair's good record, the Magistrate said he was imposing only the fine and not a gaol sentence, which might also have been added.

Blair was also charged with escaping from custody while in charge of Constable Sheridan and when asked where he wished to be tried, his counsel, V. K. Pearce, said at the next Court of Competent Jurisdiction.

Magistrate Garvin refused to take the evidence in the preliminary hearing and remanded Blair on bail of $1,000 cash.

ANTO-HISTAMINE TEST ADVERSE

A group of United States Army doctors reported that two anto-histamine drugs taken twenty-four hours after the onset of common cold symptoms were no more effective than dummy pills.

They said, however, that the drugs appeared to lessen nasal discharge.

The study was made by United States Army Medical Corps officers. They used tripelennamine hydrochloride and chlorothen citrate.

'Both drugs are available commercially for treatment of hay fever and other allergies but are not listed as specific cold remedies, an American Medical Association spokesman said.)

'Patients who began (anti-histamine) treatment within twenty-four hours after the onset of a head cold were about as likely to be among those reporting no help as among the group reporting cures,' the doctors aid, adding:

'This was approximately true of patients receiving all forms of treatment (including pills containing a harmless and ineffective substance.'

The study was reported in the A.M.A. Journal.

'SWALLOWS BOARD SHIP'

Birds returning to England after their winter sojourn in the south often use a ship at sea as a 'half-way house.

Recently a British warship homeward bound across the North Sea suddenly became the welcome perch of hundreds of swallows. A strong headwind had exhausted the travellers and, seeing the ship below, they swooped down on her quarter-deck.

Many of them unfortunately were too feeble to fly the last few yards and they fell into the bubbling wake of the ship and were lost. The lucky ones enjoyed a free ride for an hour and during this time the boys of the ship fed the birds with bread-crumbs and diluted tinned milk.

Then with regained strength the swallows chirped their thanks and took off en masse; after making one concentric circle of the ship they flew away straight as "the crow flies" for England.

NEW FEDERAL BOND DRIVE UNDER WAY

Ottawa, — Bond-selling machinery went into high - gear across the country Monday, to start the ball rolling on the biggest refunding operation undertaken in Federal history.

Some 350 investment dealers and their 6,200 agents and some 3,900 branches of Canada's banks will take orders on $745,000,000 worth of new government bonds to finance repayment of two Federal loans.

The long-term bonds will run for eighteen years, bearing an interest rate of 2¾ per cent and maturing June 15, 1968. They are being offered at 99.50 per cent, to yield about 2.79 per cent. to maturity. The Government can call these in for retirement any time after June 15, 1967.

The short-term bonds, non-callable, will run for 4½ years, bearing an interest rate of two per cent. They are being priced at 99.80 per cent. to yield about 2.05 per cent.

A Fish's Amazing Mechanism

How does a fish swim? No one knows exactly, though Cambridge University scientists are spending years finding out. There is also the problem of how a fish manages to keep still.

Even a goldfish which wants to lane quietly in its bowl on the drawing-room table has to work its fins continually to neutralize the jet propelling effect of the backward breathing stream from the gills.

For a fish feeding in a fast current keeping still must be really exhausting.

The problem-etical point, though, is not how a fish gets enough energy to keep still, but how it knows when it is still. What mechanism makes it swim just fast enough to neutralize the current?

According to one theory the black ling down each side of the body somehow measures the speed of the current and passes on the message to the swimming-muscles.

But we know that these lines — which each consists of scores of jelly-filled tubes — are really hearing aids, picking up low frequency vibrations up to middle C. The eyes seem to be the organs most concerned with current measurement.

When we sit in a train the countryside seems to be moving. In the same way the river-bottom seems to be racing upstream to a fish, and experiments show that the fish manages to stay still by swimming just fast enough to keep up with the bottom.

Thus, when a striped cloth is moved along under an aquarium, fish which were stationary automatically begin to swim along with the stripes. Blind fish do not do this, and seem to be unable to keep position in fast water unless they can feel the bottom.

But this does not explain how the fat trout which I watched basking near the surface in very deep water, managed to stay still. I am sure it could not see the bottom, clearly. Perhaps it was using some object the bank — maybe me—as a landmark!

In full stride the ostrich covers 25 feet with each step.

THE SALVATION ARMY

ANCIENT SPEAR FOUND

A Halberd, medieval weapon combining the axe and the spear, has been found by workmen at the Canadian end of the Peace Bridge at Fort Erie, Ont., giving rise to the belief that Spanish conquistadores or Scandinavian explorers reached this area before either French or English.

The ancient weapon was discovered by a workman using a plow to level ground. He picked it up, then tossed it aside, mistaking it for a truce-pruning gadget, but it was rescued by the maintenance superintendent.

The long wooden staff has disintegrated, but the blade and spear were still in a good state of preservation. Amateur historians here are now trying to piece together the history of the halberd, which many feel may throw new light on early American explorations. It is generally believed if was lost in an encounter with Indian bands, who used to camp in this area, to make arrow heads, axes and knives from flint.

The Andes mountains reach their highest altitude in Peru.

PUBLIC HEALTH UNIT REPORT FOR APRIL

During April an intensive toxoiding campaign was started in the County schools including infants and pre-school children. This will be continued during May and June.

The total number immunized was 1114, of which 395 were infant and preschool children.

Following is a summary of the reinforcing doses only:— Number of children immunized for Diphtheria 156; number of children immunized for Diphtheria and Whooping Cough 70; number of children immunized for Diphtheria, Whooping Cough and Tetanus, 29; number of children immunized for Tetanus only, 2. The number of schools visited during the month, for immunization, was 66.

No physical examinations were done in the schools as the time was taken up with immunization clinics.

On April 19th a conference of sanitation and food inspection was held in the City Hall, Belleville. Representatives from eight east central Ontario counties attended. The Sanitary Inspector and Medical Officer of Health from this Unit found the convention both interesting and instructive. The inspection of sanitary facilities and eating arrangements at fall fairs was discussed at length. Following a discussion on educational courses for food handlers, it was decided that where possible, these classes should be held on the employer's time and in a place where demonstrations and movies could be used.

During the month of May the producers of milk for the dairies of the County will be visited and their facilities inspected.

A doctor who is taking the postgraduate course in public health at the University of Toronto, will spend a week at this Unit in May, as part of his field course.

REPORT OF ACTIVITIES IN PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

This past month we have started our rounds of toxoiding in the schools. Three days were spent in doing all the schools in the south district — and then three days in the next week were spent in the centre district of the County. Eleven schools were visited each day. We have been very pleased with the number of preschool children brought to the schools for their immunization. This is the age which is most in need of the protection afforded by these inoculations.

Two more trips will be necessary in order to complete the three inoculations necessary for the immunity to be acquired by each child. Booster or re-enforcing doses were also given at this time.

When as much time as this is spent in toxoiding, it naturally cuts down on the amount of time to be spent in other activities.

Maternal Supervision

23	Prenatal visits were made to homes.
32	Visits were made to mothers after the birth of their babies; of these, 15 did not have prenatal nursing supervision.

Communicable Diseases

13	Visits were made concerning minor communicable diseases.
6	Orthopaedic visits.
6	Social Welfare visits.
2	Adult visits.
329	Total of all home Visits.

NAVY LEAGUE TAG DAY SATURDAY, MAY 20

Navy League taggers are hoping for a generous response on Saturday, May 20, 1950, to help finance the work that the League is doing on behalf of Naval ratings and merchant seamen on the coasts and in support of its nationwide youth training programme.

The Navy League is a civilian organization sponsoring The Royal Canadian Sea Cadets whose members receive special training that is considered "essentially good whether for civilian employment or a career at sea". Its primary objective is the development of character and good citizenship in boys during their formative years, 14-18.

"Prince Robert" House, in Victoria, B.C., and the Sea Gull Club, in Halifax, N.S., caters to young Canadians serving in the Navy and stationed at Esquimalt. These Clubs provide club facilities in wholesome, home-like surroundings, where young men from all parts of Canada may spend their leisure time and enjoy games and other forms of recreation.

In Saint John, N.B., Halifax, Sydney, and Louisburg, N.S., the Navy League operates clubs and hostels for the men who man the ships carrying Canadian farm and factory products to world markets. Meals and beds at reasonable prices, the opportunity to meet old friends and make new ones and to receive Sick Bay care when needed, are important factors in the lives of seamen coming to Canada from British and foreign lands. The welfare of these men has an important bearing upon the export trade on which the country's prosperity largely depends.

Through its Women's Auxiliary, the Navy League is in constant touch with navy and merchant navy personnel who are still in hospitals. Not only at Christmas but throughout the entire year these patients are visited regularly and provided with extra comforts which they might not otherwise receive.

Another phase of Navy League work is that of conducting educational campaigns on matters pertaining to Canada's naval and maritime interests such as the recent essay contest among Provincial school pupils on the subject 'Our Navy and Seaborne Trade in our Daily Life'.

The Navy League is primarily a peacetime organization, but it is organized to render service in wartime as well. This was very effectively demonstrated during the last two great wars. The League is looking forward to many years of peace, but should war come again, it stands ready to serve as in the past.

Women's Institute Achievement Day Girls' Club Work

40 Club Members Complete Project

On Saturday, May 13th, forty Homemaking Club members in Lennox and Addington completed their project "Cottons May be Smart." The following clubs with their leaders were in attendance: Tamworth Sew-So Club, Mrs. H. Easterbrook; Victoria Klassy Kotton Knitters, Mrs. Wilfred McCracken; Moscow So-Sew Club, Mrs. Halliday; Reidville Rippers, Mrs. Don. Hannah; Wilten Kotton Jammer Kids, Mrs. Arthur Burt; Odessa Saturday Afternoon Club, Mrs. D. Kenyon, and the Stella Scissor Sisters, Mrs. Charles McMullen.

Each club member had made a casual cotton dress for herself and these dresses along with their record books were on display.

During the morning the girls judged a class of dresses, and a dress parade in which the models were dressed for a shopping trip. The girls also demonstrated their skill in working a buttonhole and sewing on a button.

The afternoon programme consisted of one exhibit and six skits. The exhibit 'Cottons May be Smart' was set up by the Tamworth Club and Doris McLaughlin was the commentator. In the skits, all of which were on the topic 'Cottons May Be Smart' Moscow, Tamworth, Victoria, Reidville, Wilton and Stella all showed some phase of the work covered in this project.

To bring the day to a close, Mrs. Bernard Davy, president of Lennox District Women's Institutes, presented certificates of Achievement to Dorothy Corke, Helen McMullen, Kaye Nelson and Minnie Mills, for having completed their second project; to Celia Farrell and Flora McLaughlin for completing their fourth project and to Mary Boulton for completing her eighth project. Mrs. Don. Hannah, president of Addington District Women's Institutes, presented Kathleen McLaughlin with her County Honour Certificate and Pin, which she received for completing her sixth project.

Miss Elsie Irvine, County Home Economist, was in charge of the day's programme and was assisted by Miss Ina Lindsay, Home Economist, from Perth.

A Mathematical Problem

The discovery at Bagdad months ago that schoolboys of the little Sumerian county seat of Shadippur about 2000 B.C. had a textbook with the solution of Euclid's basic triangle problem seventeen centuries before Euclid, has resulted in a summons from the Iraqui Directorate of Antiquities to United States archaeologists.

The director - general of archaeology in Iraq, Dr. Naji al Asil, has asked assistance from the American Schools of Oriental Research, which is the organization of leading archaeological research institutes in the United States, for assistance in the translation, transliteration and scientific appraisal of 2400 Shadippur tablets excavated during the last six seasons and particularly the last 200 excavated during the season just completed.

There is evidence that clay textbooks of the schoolboys of Shadippur contain an encyclopaedic outline of the scientific knowledge of their time, which will necessitate a sharp revision of the history of the development of science and, accordingly, of the story of the development of the human mind.

The study of the tablets in cuneiform writing and principally in the Sumerian language, will require several years, Dr. Asil stated.

Even now, the famous clay tablet on which the basic geometrical problem was presented about 4,000 years ago is so clear that it takes a leap from back to the days when he puzzled over his own school geometry, lest. Not a line of the drawing is faded in the baked clay nor is a word of the text, which only cuneiform specialists can understand.

The chief cuneiform expert of the Iraqi Museum, Arche Dogy, says that the presentation of the famous solution of the problem is tinged with elaborate concepts that appeared even later than Euclid in the development of mathematical science.

Besides this tablet, there is another, prepared by the staff of the Iraqi Museum and will be published in the next issue of the official organ of the Directorate of Antiquities.

The astonishingly modern character of the information presented in its clay textbooks, it is felt, may, with a considerable volume of similar material on Sumerian civilization excavated previously elsewhere, prove more significant than the record of ceaseless wars and extravagances of kings unearthed on mere tablets sites.

Excavations at Shaddipur show it had about 500 houses and four temples and a protecting wall about four and a half miles thick around 2000 B.C. and that it had been the local administrative centre of the small Sumerian kingdom of Eridu.

Apparently among those who lived in its two to four-room houses along the narrow streets were a large number of civil servants, scribes and temple priests, who acted as schoolmasters and engaged in scholarship. Two cheerful baked clay lions decorated steps of their principal temple and now are on display in the Iraqi Museum, looking quite fresh and undamaged after 4000 years.

Two years ago Shahdippur sprang into the news for the first time when the Ashmina law code was discovered and was estimated to have antidated by about two centuries the famous Hammurabi law code, believed until then to have been the first recorded code of law.

The clay text books that are now existing, archaeologists here said, were found in private houses, where the schoolmasters and school-boys of Shadippur apparently laid them aside.

Stained-Glass Windows

The origin of stained glass is obscure. It probably came from the home of the glass industry — the Near East; the mosaic windows of glass set in plaster-work are probably of great antiquity. The coloring and patterning of glass is done by various methods, including the fusion of metallic oxides into the glass, the burning of pigment into the surface of white glass, and the joining of white and colored pieces. The earliest stained windows extant are probably those in the Augsburg Cathedral, which date back to the middle of the eleventh century.

As a translucent mosaic held together by lead, to quote the simplest conception of its technique, a stained-glass window brings into play both considerations of design and execution. Even the lead cutline is an integral part of the general scheme, often outlining the design and giving definition and rhythm to masses of color. Strips of lead, in sections like the letter H, hold together the pieces of glass which so often catch our eye and hold our teention in cathedrals and similar buildings.

BAY EAST W. M. S.

The W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. W. Joyce with seven members present. The president, Mrs. Dillenbeck opened the meeting with the theme and call to worship, followed by a hymn and prayer. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. O. Snider. The watchword and Lord's Prayer were repeated in unison after which a most helpful reading entitled Life, was read by Mrs. Snider. Those taking part in the programmes describing our progress during Church Union were, Mrs. R. Card, Mrs. Snider, Mrs. Alcombrack, Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Hambly, Mrs. J. Card and Mrs. Dillenbeck. Mrs. Alcombrack gave very interesting jottings on our First W. M.S. organization, and the progress that has been made during Church Unity. The following have held office as president, during the last twenty-five years: Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Parks, Mrs. Alcombrack, Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Snook, Mrs. Brendeli, Mrs. J. Card, Mrs. Joyce and Mrs. Dillenbeck.

The programme for next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Alcombrack and the hostess will be Mrs. K. Hambly.

The closing dedication was read by members in unison and the meeting was closed by the singing of a hymn.

Mrs. Joyce served a delicious lunch and a vote of thanks was extended to her.

CAMDEN EAST W. M. S.

The March meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Cameron, was attended by twenty members and two visitors. Mrs. Robinson, vice-president, opened the meeting and conducted the devotions. Hymn 241, Roll call was answered by each quoting a Bible verse containing the word 'example'. The president conducted the business of the meeting. The study book chapter, The People of Japan' was read by Mrs. Smedley. This chapter dealt with the home life of the individual, the things they love, the things they do, and the religions that have moulded their lives. Shinto was the faith at the basis of all Japanese religions. But on December 15th, 1945 an order issued from the office of the Supreme Command of the Allied Powers in Tokyo disestablished Shinto as the state religion. Then two weeks later the Emperor renounced his claims to divinity and declared that the ties between the throne and the people rested on mutual trust and affection and not on the false conception that the emperor was divine.

Other changes in the fortunes of Shintoism have come to pass but are of minor significance.. Sects which have always been numerous have multiplied. In general, Shinto just now presents the appearance of an uncertain grouping for a new organization and a new status in the life of the Japanese people. The permanent value of what will be produced remains to be seen. What faith will remould the lives of the people of Japan in this new era? Will the Christian Church throughout the world grasp the opportunity that is given in that land ?

ANDERSON W. A.

The March meeting was held at the home of Mrs. N. and E. Fitchett. The programme topic was Faith and Trust, and was prepared by Mrs. N. Fitchett. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Fitchett. Scripture readings were given by Mrs. C. Moore. The singing of a hymn was followed by prayer led by Mrs. McGaw. Readings were given by various members and the programme was closed by singing a hymn.

In the business period roll call was answered by thirteen members and one visitor; many useful household hints were suggested. At the next meeting a shower will be held for the travelling basket, no article to exceed 50c. A surprise package sale proved most successful. Mrs. Fitchett conducted a very amusing contest, with Mrs. R. Card being the winner. The meeting was closed by the singing of a hymn and the benediction. Lunch was served and a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. McGaw expressed appreciation to Mrs. N. and E. Fitchett and to the lunch and programme committees.

AN UNDERSEA MOUNTAIN

There is a mountain peak 14,000 feet high about 200 miles from Cape Town. It is to be found two days' steaming by mailboat from Table Bay. The ship's course to England is relatively close to a subterranean peak that rises steeply 14,000 feet from the bed of the sea floor.

There is not the remotest possibility of the ship hitting this pinnacle, as its shallowest part is over a thousand feet below the keel.

This sea-mountain, nearly three miles high, was discovered in 1898 by the German oceanographical ship Valdivia, and is known to mariners as the Valdivia Bank. Its position is in Latitude 26 deg. 15 min. South, 6 deg. 20 min. East.

The plateau consists of a saddle backed ridge and is L-shaped. Each arm of the L is about 30 miles in length. Apart from its summit being sandy, (where did this sand come from, as the nearest land, Luderitzbucht in South-West Africa is over 400 miles away?) and that its lower slopes and valleys are covered with microscopic shells, we know nothing of this mysterious world below the waves of the South Atlantic.

What sea monsters lurk on its summit? What pelagic animal and plant life frequent its rugged slopes? What types of rocks constitute its crags and pinnacles? These are all questions we have ourselves.

The Valdivia Bank is an offshoot of the 10,000-mile Atlantic ridge — the longest mountain-range system on earth. This subterranean ridge varies from 500 to 1,000 miles in width and extends almost from Iceland to the Antarctic Ocean. A few of its peaks actually emerge as islands of the Azores, Ascension, Tristan da Cunha, Gough and Bouvet.

The Atlantic ridge has been connected with the legend of Atlantis — the mythical Atlantic continent which Plato related had sunk beneath the waves in a single day and one fatal night.'

It is of interest to note that a line drawn southwards through the islands of Ascension and St. Helena forms a transit for the Valdivia Bank.

Ever since the advent of the steam trawler era on the South African coast in the 1890's, many strange and wonderful forms of marine life have been taken, edible fish have been brought up from the sea bottom.

Museums display some of these, and contributions have been made from time to time by Government-owned ships employed on Fishery and Marine Biological surveys as well as from commercial trawlers. On rare occasion strange denizens from the mighty deep are cast up on African shores.

Many years ago, a unique specimen of a giant octopus was washed ashore at the Noordhoek beach of the Cape Peninsula.

When stretched out on the beach, the tentacles spanned almost 60 feet from tip to tip.

TYENDINAGA EAST W. I.

The May meeting of the Tyendinaga East Women's Institute was held at the home of the Misses Irene and Geraldine Mowers on Friday afternoon, May 12th, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. Percy Kimmerly, presided. The roll call was answered by Unexpected Company and What to Do.

The co-operative program was discussed and first choice was responsibilities of Standing Committees and second choice, Brightien your Home with colour. Mrs. G. Marhette and Mrs. R. Tucker were appointed delegates to the district annual. Miss Geraldine Mowers gave a report of the Conveners' Conference held at Guelph, which she attended.

The topic, The Story of Oil, was presented by Mrs. F. O'Connell. Mrs. E. Hewitt had charge of the following program, which opened with the singing of The Maple Leaf Forever. A reading was given by Mrs. R. McMath; a piano solo by Mrs. F. O'Connell was much enjoyed followed with a reading by Mrs. G. Provins. Mrs. E. Brown and Mrs. W. Bessmith sang a beautiful duet. Mrs. Hewitt gave a demonstration on making an apron from an man's fine shirt. A car contest was won by Mrs. E. Brown.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem and lunch was served by the hostess and the committee.

Simplicity, truth and persistency are three factors that build success in advertising.

Planned Saving

paid off for the Browns

The neighbors remember how sick young Donny was a few months ago, and how worried the Browns were. But they never guessed what a serious drain his illness had been on the family purse.

Wisely, the Browns had made it a rule to put something into their savings account, week by week, almost from the day they were married. So when they consulted their bank manager, their credit was good. With the help of a small bank loan, they were able to pay all their bills promptly. Now Donny is healthy again—and so is their bank account.

The Weather

The weather has been most favourable during the past week. The robins are back and this is a sure sign of Spring. The snow is thawing owing to the mildness of the weather and the creeks are overflowing, which makes it very dangerous for children playing near them. The walking has not been too bad although the pavement is quite wet with running water. We all hope the weather continues to be seasonable.

Cave Relics Indicate Unknown Tribes Of Indians

Were there Indians here before the Six Nations? The tribes who lived in the valley of the Grand 300 years ago were the Attiwandarons or Neutral Nation, as the French called them, because they were not engaged in the wars between Hurons and Iroquois. Little is known of them because no white man lived among them for any considerable period of time before 1691 when they met a fate similar to that of the Hurons in 1649. But the time will come when scholars will be trying to find out more about them.

The late John Connon always maintained that there must be a Neutral Nation village at Elora, Ont. He had no evidence of any kind to warrant that conclusion. But Elora had another close link with the Neutrals that had been discovered purely by accident. It was a cave full of wampum beads and it was supposed that this was treasure hidden by the Neutrals as they fled from the victorious Six Nations warriors. It is 71 years since this store of wampum was found. No scientific search was made of the cave at that time. The beads were simply shovelled out and distributed among those who got there first. But there were some people in Elora interested in the Indians and one of them, David Boyle, school teacher, became the first provincial archaeologist.

In all the intervening years, so far as we know, no site of an Indian village has been discovered near Elora, and authorities say that the Neutral Nations did not settle this country. Yet little seemes to be known about them. Canadians know more of the Hurons because of the religious zeal of French priests and missionaries. From Champlain onwards, they wrote what the Jesuit Fathers wrote in the 'Jesuit Relations,' translations of which may be seen in large reference libraries. The one or two attempts to establish missions among the Neutrals failed, so little was written about them.

Several large collections of Indian articles were found in the Fergus district. Perhaps the best of these is owned by Albert Petrie and he found the items on his old farm on the Fourth Line of West Garafraxa south of what is now Lake Belwood. This would seem to indicate that a village once stood on the farm now owned by Wilfred Hughes. We understand that many arrowheads were found by the late Alex. Mott on his farm, south of the Grand in Nichol Township, and others on the old James Dow farm west of Emoreville. We do not know what these finds indicate, but the locations have one thing in common — all are south of the Grand.

These Indian relics may be much later than the Huron-Neutral period three hundred years ago. Yet, if there was a village site near here, that seems unlikely. The Six Nations, or a part of those tribes, moved to the valley of the Grand about 165 years ago. Their reservation extended from Lake Erie to Fergus but we believe never settled in the northern portion. After the white men came to Fergus district, they saw Indians only occasionally, usually during seasonable migrations up and down the river.

Wood Of Square Trees And Golden Frogs

How would you like to vacation in the land of square trees and golden frogs? No, this is not a tall tale. To prove it all you have to do is to go to the village of El Valle, about eighty miles from the Panama Canal, in the Republic of Nanama. There, and only there, you will see the small forest of four-cornered, trees with yellow frogs in them.

These peculiar trees are scattered throughout the village and surround the Hotel Pan-Americano. Natives have no names for them, and the few scientists in tree culture who have visited El Valle admit that they cannot classify them. No scientist was ever present when these trees were in seed or flower, or one might have been able to give a true identification.

A famed botanist, Dr. Walter Lindsay, director of the Canal Zone Experimental Gardens, inspected the trees and definitely pronounced them square, but could not identify the species other than it was apparent to him that all of the trees were of the same variety. Dr. Lindsay suggested that the freakish nature of this small square forest is possibly the result of a single tree having four roots, one in each corner. After the roots attain certain height they converge and the trees grow with a square trunk rather than the regular round.

Neither the square trees nor the golden frogs have ever been seen anywhere except Panama. The frogs are a radiant, bright yellow and are of several types, the most fortunate being 'Antelopius Various Zetek' after the world-renowned Dr. James Zetek. Dr. Zetek is curator for Barro Colorado Island Laboratory and the United States Department of Agriculture agronomist for Central America.

Dr. Zetek explains that the frogs are yellow by nature and not because of chemicals in the river. Since El Vale is like an island — at 2,800 feet above sea level—the frogs have never escaped from mating or vice versa. This explains their definite characteristic and pure strain. The precise altitude and temperature is a determining factor in the golden frogs' life span, as they die quickly when captured.

ENGLAND'S UNIQUE WATERWAYS AND THEIR BARGES

The craft which ply on the navigable rivers of England, on Severn, Thames, Trent or Mersey, are mantled today, as they have been manned for centuries, by men who inherit a maritime tradition.

They are first cousins to the deep seamen, and their craft reflect this affinity. Often, indeed, their journeys include the passage of tidal estuaries which entail a knowledge of seamanship.

The construction of what is known as the narrow canal system of the Midlands in the last decades of the eighteenth century, however, led to the introduction of a unique type of craft. Designed to carry the maximum cargo along waterways which were narrow, shallow and tortuous, it combined an overall length of seventy-two feet with a beam of only seven feet, and became known as a 'narrow boat' in the Midlands, a 'Monkey Boat' in the London area, or a 'long boat' in the Severn region.

A boat of such dimensions is quite unseworthy, and consequently its navigation entailed no knowledge of seamanship, although the narrow channels, with their flights of locks and lengthy tunnels, called for skill of a different order. In this way, the canals created a new profession, that of the canal boatman, which soon developed traditions and a trade language that had little in common with the maritime conventions of the river bargemen.

When James Brindley, the Derbyshire millwright, built the first canal from Worsley to Manchester for the Duke of Bridgewater, he confounded the skeptics by carrying the new waterway across the boggy waste of Trafford Moss on a great embankment. Boats still carry coal to Manchester across Brindley's embankment, but today it is flanked by factories instead of the trackless expanse which is known to have been a favorite camping ground of the Romans. Traditionally, the gypsy is a tent dweller, but it is generally believed that the first gypsy wagons were introduced into the country from Europe at approximately the same time that the canals were built.

Thus it is easy to imagine some of these new wagons gathered on Rrafford Moss, their paintwork revealing a convention of painted flowers borrowed from the decorated carts of the Balkan peasants and their interiors gleaming with the metalwork of the Romany coppersmiths. What would be more natural than that their occupants should obtain casual employment in the work of canal construction? And when the canal was completed boatmen were required, men having a good knowledge of horses (for the canal boats were all horse drawn in those days), and who liked a roving life.

In both these respects the gypsy was preeminently qualified, but he could not leave his wife and children on the land, and so the new boats must be adapted to house them. In this way, doubtless, the canal narrow boat originated.

From their modest beginning at Worsley, the new canals spread rapidly across the Midlands to link the Mersey with the Trent, the Severn and the Thames and to bring the conveniences of water transport to the heart of the Black Country.

The bulk of the traffic on the narrow canals today is handled by fleets of diesel-engined narrow boats operated by carrying companies, or, under the new regime, by the Docks and Inland Waterways Executive and living cabins are of traditional pattern, except that they have been extended to include an engine room, while the trailer or 'butty' boat which is paired with each motor boat remains the same as, and may even have been, an old horse-drawn boat.

Tamworth Legion Purchases Lot For New Building

Tamworth, May 13. — Tamworth Branch of The Canadian Legion, No. 458, has purchased a building lot from Mr. Benedict Donohue at the east side of Mr. Donohue's place of business and dwelling. Excavation is underway for the erection of a cement block building, ninety feet by thirty feet. The ground floor of the building will be occupied by the Liquor Control Board and the second floor of the building will be used as a Legion Hall for the Tamworth Branch.

Mr. Gerald Baker has purchased the corner lot across from the Bank where the bakeshop burned some time ago, also the lot and garage owned by the Gilmore Brothers on Addington Road. Mr. Baker is also building an addition to his store.

Four candidates from Tamworth joined with nine others at Roblin Orang Hall, where the Red Cross Degree of the Royal Black Preceptory was conferred by the Queensborough Red Cross Degree team, who did their work most admirably. Three Grand Lodge officers were present, speakers for the evening being Rev. K. Crawford of Enterprise, and a former pastor of Roblin Circuit, Mr. W. Duquette.

The past few days have been warm enough to encourage youngsters to begin their summer activities at the ball field. Each evening the happy voices are to be heard, which goes with a jolly game of ball.

A N UNDERGROUND LAKE

In one of the gypsum quarries in New Brunswick, you can see the huge chambers hewn out of the snow-white rockies against which the glow of electric light sparkles with rainbow colors. The rooms are studded with fantastic, misshapen pillars and twisted passageways branch off in all directions.

Not far from Moncton is a famed tourist attraction known as the 'Underground Lake.' To reach it, you enter a small passageway in a marble-like cliff. There, before you, stretches a vast, dark lake, all of six acres in extent.

This curiosity is nothing more than the remains of an old-time quarry. Years ago, a tunnel was driven into gypsum reposits and the pillars were left to support the rock roof. Here, the gypsum, which is massive in character, rests on a floor of anhydrite (calphate of lime). Through the long years when the quarry was abandoned, the surface waters dissolved out this large subterranean cavern or lake. In the glimmer from your flashlight you can see the sparkle and glitter of the stalactites hanging from the roof and walls. Underfoot, huge cones of stalagmites flash fire. Both of these jewel-like incrustations are carbonate of lime formed by the motion of water dripping endlessly down the walls.

The plants of the various gypsum companies scattered across Canada are much the same — large, trim buildings built close to water for easy and cheap transportation. They all have one thing in common, a dazzling appearance. One and all, they are powdered with plaster from their towering smokestacks and look quite as if they had been whitewashed.

Concrete bins and loading equipment placed at the wharves make it easy to load crude rock directly into vessels for shipment. The bins are circular and each one holds 1,800 tons of crushed gypsum. Elevator are so placed that rock can be stored easily and loaded from either bin in a 2,000-ton ship in three hours.

When the gypsum is to be manufactured into prepared products, it is hoisted automatically from the holding bins to the big plants. Before going to 'boilers' it is ground up fine as sandstone. These rocks are always in layers, not in masses like granite, so they are easy to recognize. The layers may vary greatly in depth, sometimes several feet thick, sometimes very thin. If you live near the Rocky Mountains, you are fortunate, for they are made up of rocks of these types. Some gypsum is not pure white, since that from various quarries is tinged with different colors—pink, grey, blue and brown. The whitest type comes from underground chambers and is considered the purest.

Gypsum rock as it comes from the quarry or when treated only by crushing and grinding, is used in many industries. Farmers buy large quantities of it to fertilize their fields and to make heavy, non-porous clay soils more open so they do not remain too wet.

Using Burnt Timber

With the most highly-mechanized operation of its kind in Ontario, the concentration yard of Great Northern Woods Co., Limited, is now in operation at North Bay, shipping lumber once though hopelessly burned to an eagerly awaiting market.

The lumber comes from the Missisagi area, where 650,000 acres were scorched last year. The company, a new one, came into being through the efforts and co-operation of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests which, from Minister Harold R. Scott down to the lowliest ranger, determined to save as much as possible from the Missisagi.

Within days of the outbreak of the Missisagi fire, Lands and Forests officials were conferring with members of the lumber industry and others with a view to salvaging as much timber as possible. Contracts were given operators who agreed to take logging chances. They rushed to cut and haul all the salvageable timber before forest insects got in their deadly and destructive work. Cutting started almost as soon as the fire was finally extinguished in July, 1948, and by spring breakup of this year rivers leading from the area were crammed with logs which had been water-stored to deter the insects.

The next phase of the giant salvage plan was the orderly marketing of the timber. The government, through the Department of Lands and Forests, undertook to advance the contractors loans up to $100,000 to the company for completion of the concentration yard.

The yard was established two miles west of North Bay, with spur lines connecting it to main railways, thus making deliveries possible from the many small sawmill operators in the Missisagi area. As cut lumber arrived from the bush it was graded, then freight cars to grading platforms, with individual pieces being moved according to species, quality and size. This eliminates duplication of grading at the widely scattered mills. Already, more than half a million feet have been sorted and piled and deliveries are now being made. Already, more than half a million feet have been sorted and piled and deliveries are now being made from the concentration yard. The lumber is high grade red and white pine, and it is expected the company will market not more than 15 million board feet a year under its terms of contract with the Department.

The contract requires the company to grade lumber according to white pine Bureau rules, sort and manufacture where necessary, pile and store lumber as the government ships it from the contractors at the scene of the fire. It must tally receipts of all lumber from shippers and record the price, make shipments to wholesalers and keep transactions for the government's accounts. It also agreed to co-operate with the government in orderly and profitable marketing of the lumber in an undressed state to the wholesale trade.

'In other words,' said Lands and Forests Minister H. R. Scott, a former lumberman himself, 'there will be no dumping of high quality lumber or other form of price cutting to disorganize the normal channels of trade.'

The deal between the company and government department, unique in Ontario's lumbering industry, may become the forerunner of many others in the hands of private industry to economically centralize the activities of some 1,800 small operators in the province.

Trees breathe through tiny openings on the under side of their leaves. A single apple leaf has more than 1400 of these pores.

A Fire-Proof Coat

Can you imagine a man walking into a furnace heated to a white heat, and there let a fierce flame come walking out unharmed. This is what can be done with the U.S. Navy's new fire-fighting suit, which enables the workers to stay in 2000 degrees — the melting point of steel — for three minutes, or in a lower degree of heat for up to half an hour.

The five layers of material in the suit are mainly asbestos and glass, with the outer cover of asbestos and fibre glass. A man wearing the suit is as safe as a man in the suit weighs only three pounds. The massive hood, with its reflecting visor plate, contains enough oxygen to enable a man to work hard for thirty minutes, or to do less strenuous work for an hour.

A man wearing one of the suits would be fully protected against the heat from an atomic explosion up to quite short ranges.

FORESEES CHANGES IN EDUCATION IN NEXT FIFTY YEARS

BY EDGAR SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Disappearance of economic barriers to higher education within the next half-century is foreseen by the head of Canada's largest university.

Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president of the University of Toronto, says that within the next fifty years any qualified high school graduate will be able to complete a college course at government expense.

Discussing Canada's educational future, Dr. Smith predicts that the free tuition given former Second World War servicemen and women through the Veterans' Affairs Department will be extended to include any Canadian fulfilling the academic requirements.

The student of his parents would still be responsible for his keep, although scholarships would be made available to the "financially incapable of supporting themselves without undue hardship.

This would not mean that universities would become havens for anyone wishing to spend a few idle years on a college campus. There would be a drastic weeding-out of undergraduates who proved "unfitted, indolent or incompetent."

Dr. Smith dismisses as short-term problems which will be ironed out within a few years the existing overcrowding in elementary and secondary schools, and the shortage of teachers, subjects which have occupied an Ontario Royal Commission for the last five years.

He foresees for the university of the future:

1 Increased efforts to help students in their selection of courses and in their choice of the vocation for which they are best suited.

2 An increasing demand for psychologists, sociologists and other students of the social sciences.

3 Comprehensive study of the arts and social sciences as part of all professional courses.

4 Simplification of undergraduate courses in the professional faculties. Much detailed technical work will be left for post-graduate study by students wishing to specialize in a chosen branch of their profession.

In line with these changes, Dr. Smith foresees a greater demand on the resources of primary and secondary schools. They would be required to lay the groundwork for broader university courses and to offer a better-rounded education to those who do not proceed to a college degree.

The problem of overcrowded classrooms, due to a high wartime birth rate which produced an abnormally high ration of school enrolment to the number of taxpayers, is expected to correct itself within a few years.

While no ready-made solution exists for the scarcity of qualified teachers, he feels it will be achieved by an improvement in the financial and social status of the teaching profession.

"Of course, money won't solve it all. It is a matter of recognition of the teacher's importance and significance in moulding the Canada of tomorrow."

Dr. Smith predicts more careful selection of the teachers of tomorrow based on personality and character as well as on mental ability.

A good teacher must not only command the necessary knowledge but have the ability to present that knowledge and to hold the attention of his class through the force of his personality rather than rely solely on discipline.

Once these problems are solved, the schools will be able to concentrate on improving the curriculum. Where the vocational schools of today teach subjects designed for manual training, at the present time, as in other fields, Dr. Smith feels every secondary-school student should be required to take at least an essential course of English and the social and natural sciences before graduation.

With regard to the broadening of university courses, he sees the swing back to the arts as an original one in the professional faculties themselves.

In many schools in the United States and in some Canadian provinces, a three-year arts course now is required for admission to some professional courses.

"A doctor must have an appreciation of such subjects as economics and history to understand better the milieu in which his patient works, to attain a better balance within himself and better relations with his fellow-men."

Establishment of this preliminary arts course would necessarily involve shortening of the professional courses themselves. Dr. Smith feels this would benefit these courses by enabling students to concentrate on their essential training, which has tended to be obscured by over-specialization.

Of the new subjects introduced in these courses in recent years, many could be picked up by the student in practical training after he graduates. Others are of use only to a small number of students who can cover them in post-graduate work.

While he advocates improved vocational guidance for undergraduates, Dr. Smith believes the function of faculty advisors is limited.

"I am not convinced of the complete validity of I.Q.'s and similar tests when used as the only guide," he says, emphasizing that any work of this kind must leave the student his freedom of choice.

"Psychology will have to demonstrate its case better before it can be made compulsory."

The growing importance of the social sciences in university curricula reflected man's mounting uncertainty as he mastered the physical sciences. The discovery of such instruments of destruction as the atomic bomb pointed up the necessity of devising a way for him to live at peace with himself and with his neighbors.

The study of man was, in its infancy as compared with the study of things. Dr. Smith saw an urgent need for rapid development of social scientists who could help solve man's problems before they destroy him.

"The social scientists will have to expand, or Frankenstein's monster will come down and destroy us."

Their task would be made easier by a better-educated society. The free tuition scheme would correct the situation of the last half-century, in which universities recruited only from the homes of moderately wealthy and well-to-do.

"Brains and character come out of all homes, irrespective of race, creed, or economic qualifications," Dr. Smith concludes.

British Demand Reform In System of Voting

London, Eng. — A landslide of letters demanding reform of Britain's system of voting has followed the February 23rd general election.

Indignant correspondents contend that the present method, once described as the world's most discreditable, should be replaced by proportional representation or the alternative vote.

These are among the points raised in correspondence columns of the Independent Times and Manchester Guardian and the News Chronicle, both Liberal:

1 The present system of single votes in single-member constituencies, similar to that used in Canadian federal elections and allowing the elector no second choice among candidates, has done much to create today's stand-off between the two big parties.

2 Of 625 members elected to the House of Commons, 186 received a minority of votes cast in their constituencies.

3 The Liberals polled 2,600,000 votes but obtained only nine seats compared with some 13,000,000 votes and 315 seats for Labor. This was cited as an example of the manner in which Labor and Conservatives climbed to pre-eminence over smaller parties and splinter groups.

Several writers suggested a country-wide postal ballot on the question. Others insisted that another election soon would produce much the same result, thereby perpetuating the 'death grapple' between the Socialists and Tories.

One correspondent recalled that the late J. L. Garvin, editor of the independent Sunday Observer, called Britain's system one of the most discreditable in the world.

Britain's proportional representation society founded in 1884, reported 'a flood of inquiries' at its London headquarters following the new deadlock produced by the February 23 vote.

Under the proportional representation, electors select candidates in order of preference. The same thing happens under the alternative vote. The chief difference between the two systems is that proportional representation returns more than one member in each constituency. The alternative vote applies to constituencies electing one member only.

A spokesman for the society said that in the last provincial election in Alberta, with proportional representation in Calgary and Edmonton and the alternative vote in country districts, supplied a striking example of varying results.

In the country districts, the society said, the Social Credit Party won 58 per cent of the total vote and won all 47 seats. In Calgary and Edmonton under the proportional representation, Social Credit won five, C.C.F. two, Liberals two and one other.

Less than two weeks after the British election, Conservative Leader Winston Churchill surprised the House of Commons by suggesting a select committee to consider the whole question of electoral reform. Herbert Morrison, Government Leader in the House, rejected the idea.

Morrison admitted the Liberals had a "rough deal" in the election, but said any change in procedure should be supported by a mandate from electorate.

BUTTER MAKES IT BETTER

By

Consumer Section, Marketing Service
Department of Agriculture

For centuries the incomparable flavour of butter has appealed to people throughout the world. In Canada, the making of butter in the home was a part of pioneer life. The commercial manufacture of butter has been established for many years and produces a uniform product. Today we have more than a thousand creameries producing about three hundred pounds of butter each year.

Rationing of butter during the war years taught us to spread the bread a little more thinly and to do without that delicious little pat of butter in the baked potato or on other cooked vegetables. Habits are easily formed, whether good or bad, but many of us are still foregoing a favour treat as well as a good nutritional investment by continuing the habit of going easy on the butter.

No matter how good butter may be when purchased, care must be taken to retain its sweet flavour. Butter should always be stored in a cool, dry place, away from all foods which have a distinct odour or flavour, as it readily absorbs foreign flavours. It should be kept in a covered container or well wrapped in the parchment paper in which it is purchased.

Butter is so smooth and flavourful that it makes an excellent spread for bread or toast and it adds extra goodness to cookies, cakes, desserts, sauces and candies. The names 'Buttorscotch' or 'Butterrich', where used in any of these products bring to mind mouth-watering suggestions of flavour and texture.

Nothing beats a topping of colunchy buttered crumbs on a casserole dish. Often such a topping makes the family forget that they are eating left-overs.

Another idea for topping is used on biscuits. Use your favourite recipe for baking powder biscuits but substitute half-cup mayonnaise for half-cup of the flour. When the dough is rolled and cut, dip the tops of the biscuits in melted butter, then in cornmeal. Bake as usual in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., and serve with butter and maple syrup, honey, or jam.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, suggest trying the following recipes which they think are particularly good:

APPLE BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

One-quarter cup of butter
three-quarters cup of brown sugar; three tablespoons of cornstarch; pinch of salt, and two and one-half cups apple juice (20-oz. can).

Melt butter. Blend in sugar, cornstarch and salt. Cook until mixture is slightly browned. Add apple juice and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Continue cooking for five minutes. Serve with steamed fruit pudding or hot gingerbread. Yield: six servings.

BUTTER TARTS

Half-cup of butter, one and one-half cups brown sugar; one teaspoon cornstarch; two eggs, one cup raisins or currants; one teaspoon vanilla; two tablespoons lemon juice; pastry.

Cream the butter and sugar. Add cornstarch and cream well together. Add well beaten eggs, fruit and flavouring. Line muffin or tart tins with pastry and fill almost to top with mixture. Bake in a very hot oven, 450 degrees F. for ten minutes. Reduce heat to 350 deg. F. and continue baking until done, about 20 minutes. Yield: 24 small or 12 large tarts.

BUTTER WAFERS

One cup melted butter, three-quarters cup brown sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one and three-quarters cups of sifted pastry flour OR one and one-half cups sifted all-purpose flour; half-teaspoon cream of tartar; half-teaspoon of baking soda.

Add butter to brown sugar, mixing well. Add vanilla and unbeaten egg and beat well. Mix and sift flour, cream of tartar and soda and add to creamed mixture. Drop by half teaspoonfuls well apart on an unbuttered baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., for five minutes. Yield: eight dozen small wafers.

MAPLE SUGAR A Real Canadian Product

Maple sugar is strictly a North American product found only in the southeastern portion of Canada and the northeastern section of the United States. Maple trees are grown in a much wider territory, but the climatic conditions are not suitable for making maple sugar.

There are many Indian legends relating to its discovery and use. It is an established fact that it was made and used by the Indians long before the coming of the white men.

The tree was known by various names to the different tribes of Red Men. The Ojibways called it, 'Inlatik,' meaning man tree, because of its usefulness to man. It was also known as 'Assinamish,' or stone tree, because they hacked the tree with their stone hatchets to get the sap. The Crees called it 'Sissa-bakwataik,' or sugar tree.

The quality of the product and mode of manufacture have been immensely improved since those early days; nevertheless, maple sugar and syrup are still produced by various methods of evaporation.

Our pioneer grandmothers also appreciated far more fully than we do the food value of maple products. They gave zest to many a simple meal of hasty pudding or cornmeal porridge.

For many years they were the only sweetening agents used in the frontier households.

Some of us can still remember grandmother's big stone crock of plum preserves, made from native plums boiled with maple sugar until it reached the consistency of jelly. Gingersnaps, cookies, cakes and many other good things were all sweetened with maple sugar.

It also figured largely in the social life of the early settlers; a sugar party held in the forest around the kettle of boiling syrup in the spring time, or earlier in the season at the schoolhouse, or at one of the pioneer homes was always an occasion of great interest to both young and old.

A candy pull when the delicious confection was boiled down to a thick wax and pulled into long ropes of amber laffy, afforded the young people a great deal of pleasure and hilarity. These homely pleasures, like the old songs and the old styles are now being revived.

This delicious and healthful sweet should be used not only on festive occasions, but should have a place in the larder of every household.

Distilled in the heart of the maple,
Drawn up from the roots 'neath the sods,
Maple sap clearer than crystal,
Is nectar fit for the gods.

Few articles of food are as pure as maple products. They are by nature free from germ contamination and are protected from adulteration by a heavy fine. Therefore whether the product be the light amber of the fancy grade or the darker shade of the last run, it may safely be given to the children when they clamor for sweets, with no worry about the usual menace of germs.

A closer acquaintance with this healthful food would spread its popularity and greatly increase its sale.

Some have been heard to complain that it was too much trouble to prepare maple sugar for use. It is not necessary to break or shave maple sugar before dissolving. Put the block or the chopped sugar in a saucepan with a few spoonsful of hot water, cover tightly and place on the stove for a short time. The steam will dissolve the sugar evenly and quickly.

If a block is placed on a plate in a hot oven for a few minutes it will shave easily and smoothly.

The improved process now used by many sugar makers, turns out a product, light in color and of a smooth texture that can be shaved as easily as a cake of soap.

Maple cream or maple spread, is a new form of pure maple sugar of about the same consistency as peanut butter. This is put up in jars or small tins and can be used on cakes as icing, or as a spread for sandwiches, etc.

Science is constantly discovering new and attractive forms for putting up and serving this product.

To keep maple sugar blocks in good condition, turn them bottom up with an air space between, in a dry medium temperature. Moisture, excessive heat or cold will cause it to become sticky and to drain.

Maple sugar that has become discolored by age or by exposure to the atmosphere, can be greatly improved in appearance by melting and reblocking.

Maple syrup keeps much better in tightly corked bottles than in ordinary glass sealers.

A SHOOTING FISH

Fish, especially those of the class inhabiting the ocean many fathoms down, often do strange things. Many carry long horns resembling bait, with which they entice smaller fish close enough to capture them. But this oddity is of the type which inhabits the surface waters.

The submarine fish, known better as the Chatodon, shoots its victims with water. It inhabits the waters of the Indian Ocean and East Indian Sea, resembles a sun fish in shape but is briefly colored.

The fish swims along the surface of the water until it sights an insect flying close to the surface. Then it submerges, leaving only its long muzzle sticking out of the water. In this manner it is able to swim along without the insect seeing it.

When it is within a few inches of its prey it shoots a tiny pellet of water which hits and stuns the victim. While the insect is dazed from the water, the fish swims up and devours it.

In many countries along the Indian Ocean this fish is used as a pet, similar to our goldfish, and flies are held above its bowl for it to shoot.

IS A COCKROACH DEAF ?

Naturalists run into a lot of puzzles in their studies of insects and animals, and some that are not so easy to answer. Many can be solved by experiment, but sometimes it is pretty hard to know just how to go about this experiment.

There was a naturalist who got to wondering if a cockroach was deaf or whether it could really hear the noises around it. Could it hear thunder, for instance? Thunder is a noise that it was aware of the sound. It was the same when a noise like thunder was made near the cage that held the insect. It seemed to be quite deaf, but the naturalist couldn't be certain.

So he had to tried another experiment. When the artificial thunder noise was made, the cockroach was given a light tap which sent it scurrying into corner for safety. Each day he or she or whoever tapped the cockroach, but the insect scuttled for shelter just the same.

That answered his question. The cockroach had heard the noise all along, but until the experiment started, the sound had never meant anything to the insect one way or another.

THIS PICTURE of the first aluminum plant in the British Empire was taken in 1900. That was only 14 years after Charles Martin Hall had discovered how to make aluminum cheaply by using electricity.

The plant was erected in semi-wilderness at Shawinigan Falls because the river was being harnessed to provide electricity. Aluminum was the first to use this power. Today Shawinigan Falls has many industries and is a hustling, thriving city.

Alcan, too, has been growing during these fifty years. Today the company has 12 plants providing jobs for 13,000 Canadians and supplying aluminum to more than 1000 independent Canadian manufacturers from coast to coast.

On its 50th Birthday, Alcan looks back over half a century of progress — and forward to continued growth with Canada.

GALILEAN LAKE ONCE BUSY PLACE

What is the most beautiful lake in the world? Many people would have different answers to give to this question. The Jewish rabbis had a favourite saying. 'Jehovah hath created seven seas, but the Sea of Galilee is His delight.'

In the time of Jesus, the people of Galilee were justly proud of their beautiful lake, shaped like a harp, its waters intensely blue, looking delightful amid its setting of green hills and golden sands. The lake was quite small (thirteen miles long by eight wide), receiving the muddy water of the Jordan centred in at the north, but sending it out clear and blue at the southern end. There was a wide foreshore on the east, full of life, with large cities in an almost unbroken loop, their tall buildings, palaces and temples reflected in the still blue lake.

The Opposite Shore

Life was busy and gay along this shore of the lake, and every night fleets of fishing boats (flat-bottomed, with wing-shaped red sails) set out for the fishing grounds, to return in the morning with a great catch from the shoals of fish that abounded in these waters. On the opposite shore was quite a different scene—high cliffs ran steeply down to the water's edge—there were few cities, and the people were mostly Syrians, Greeks or Romans.

One of the strangest things about this wonderful low-lying lake was its dangerous storms. For, strange to relate, on occasions these placid waters were suddenly whipped into terrible fury, to the great peril of any small craft overtaken on its waters by such a sudden squall. Clever people tell us that the reason for these sudden storms was the position of the lake—lying at the bottom of a deep basin in the hills, a strong wind would sweep down the steep sides of the 'basin' and, unable to escape, would whip the waters of the lake into perilous fury.

SERIOUS EFFECTS OF CLIMATIC CHANGE

A mysterious warming of the climate is slowly manifesting itself in the Arctic, engendering a "serious international problem," Dr. Hans Ahlmann, noted Swedish geophysicist, said recently.

Dr. Ahlmann, professor of geography at the University of Stockholm, and director of the Swedish Geographical Institute, discussed the phenomenon on the basis of personal research at the University of California campus here.

Since 1930, Dr. Ahlmann said, Arctic air temperatures have increased 10 degrees Fahrenheit, an "enormous" rise from a scientific standpoint.

In the same period ocean waters in the militarily strategic Spitsbergen area have risen three to five degrees in temperature and, apparently because of the accelerated melting of glaciers, one to one and one-half millimeters yearly in level, he said.

"We do not even know the reason behind this climatic change in recent years,55 Dr. Ahlmann added.

It, however, the cause were of global nature, and "if the Antarctic ice regions and the make-or Greenland ice cap should be reduced at the same rate as the present melting, ensuing surfaces would rise to catastrophic proportions," he said. "People living in lowlands along the shores would be inundated."

The climatic change was not implausible, Dr. Ahlmann suggested, in view of the fact that "we know that the tropics have felt a marked climatic change in the last 15 or 20 years, especially in the vicinity of West Africa. Many smaller lakes have actually disappeared and larger ones are drying up. Even huge Lake Victoria has dropped seven inches in the past decade."

The Arctic change, the scientist asserted, "is so serious that I hope an international agency can be formed to study conditions on a global basis. That is most urgent."

One effect of the change, he said, has been greatly to improve navigation conditions along the northern rim of Europe, a development of chief interest to Russia.

"In 1936 the navigable season along western Spitzbergen lasted only three months. Now it lasts eight months. This is of world strategic importance."

Trees Of Historical Interest

The proposal to cut down Downham, England, Market's oak tree, believed to be 1,000 years old, is a reminder of other ancient and historic oaks which have so far managed to survive tempest and the woodsman's axe.

Perhaps the most famous of all is the Royal Oak at Boscobel, Shropshire, a stately veteran which, according to the attached inscription "had the honor of sheltering from his foes his Majesty King Charles the Second" after the Battle of Worcester.

Another oak which helped to hide a warrior from his enemies is one revered by the Scots at Ellerslie, near Paisley; according to legend, its great branches protected Sir William Wallace, the great Scots' hero, and a large company of his devoted followers.

More sinister is the tale associated with the Abbot's Oak, close to Woburn Abbey, Bedfordshire. On one of the branches of this tree the last Abbott of Woburn was hanged by command of Henry the Eighth for having spoken in public against the king's marriage to Anne Boleyn.

Of the two of the many fine oaks in the Sherwood Forest district are linked with English history. Under the Parliament Oak at Ilpstone—a gnarled and twisted trunk supported by props — Edward the First is said to have hurriedly summoned a Parliament in 1292, news of the revolt in Wales having come to him while hunting in the forest. Another famous Sherwood oak is known as Robin Hood's Larder because of the legend that the popular outlaw used the hollow trunk, twenty-four feet round, as a place to store the deer he slayed.

Chief among oaks with literary associations is Cowper's Oak, at Yardley Chase, between Bedford and Northampton, which was a favourite haunt of this poet. He would walk here from his home at Olney, barely three miles away, and there is a tradition that he stood beneath this oak during a heavy thunderstorm and was inspired to write his famous hymn, "God Moves in a Mysterious Way."

What is certain is that one day he went home and addressed a poem to the Yardley Oak:

Thou wast a bauble once, a cup and ball
Which babes might play with; and the thievish Jay,
Seeking her food with ease might have purloined
The auburn nut that held thee.

British oaks are justly noted for their long life, but few trees often live longer. All over the country are yews which are believed to have been veterans even when William the Conqueror landed. One of the largest is at Fortingall in Surrey, a hollow giant within whose trunk fourteen people are said to have once sat down to dinner!

It is claimed that Crowhurst's yew is over 1400 years old, and bears out the old rhyme about the yew which says:

A thousand years it grows,
It thousand days it lays,
And in a thousand more its strength decays.

Uses For Atomic Energy

The wonders of nuclear, that is, atomic energy, are already with us, and the ways in which it is being used for constructive purposes were described recently to 2,700 boys and girls by Sir John Cockcroft, in a lecture for the Council for Education in World Citizenship.

Sir John, who is Director of the Harwell Atomic Energy Research Establishment, spoke of how the secrets of plant life can be revealed by using radio-active elements as "tracers." By mixing radio - active atoms of phosphate with ordinary fertilizer it is possible to see the way a plant absorbs the fertilizer.

Turning to the use of radio-active elements in the study of the human body, Sir John said that by mixing radio-active with ordinary iodine it is possible to trace where iodine goes in the treatment of the thyroid gland. Radio - active phosphorus can be used to find the volume of blood in the body, and also to test how the body utilizes food.

Hospitals, research centres and industrial laboratories, he declared, are making increasing use of these radio-active elements as "tracers", and the Harwell establishment is sending out about 150 samples a month.

Sir John also said that radio-active elements can now be of use to industry. For example, in the oil industry the soundings of crude oil found the chemical plant can be followed if a little radic-active carbon is introduced into the crude oil.

The gross value of all Canadian field crops produced on 61,218,000 acres in 1948 was $1,763,769,000.

Church Survives In Spite of Wars And Fires

When Hitler planned the invasion of England, his troops were to first landed on the beaches of Selcey, ten miles from Harting, and his paratroops were to have landed in a gateway, one mile from the village of Harting.

But the invasion never came, and the broad, old village street and its line of old houses settled back on their foundations for 300 and 400 years remain the same in their old-world charm.

When William the Conquerer planned the invasion of England at Caen in 1066 the invaders came and successfully took the village of Harting, which was assigned to William Hussey, who fought in the train of William the Conqueror.

For 300 years the family of Hussey held the lands of Harting, and the village of Harting is mentioned in the Domesday Book as having 19 "villeins."

During the time that the Husseys lived in Harting they built the present church of Harting on the site of a former church, and the building was begun about 1109 A.D.

The line of the Husseys, for want of a male heir, passed away, and the Carylls succeeded them as Lords of the Manor of Harting for another 300 years, and in the 16th century old Squire Caryll rode with his men-at-arms through the May-time flowering Sussex lanes to be knighted by Queen Elizabeth when she stayed at Cowdray.

It was during the reign of Queen Elizabeth that a disastrous fire destroyed the chancel of Harting church and its restoration during Elizabethan times produced the beautiful chancel with its pindomed beams and long, wooden pin finials we see today.

Set in the Sussex downland country, the church of Harting lies all the top of the rising slope of the village street, with the background of the rounded Sussex downs.

Away to the north-west lie the Oates of the West. It was along this road that the marching legions of the Romans came from Winchester to Chichester, and have left many relics of their 500 years of occupation of Britain.

PETWORTH -- THE TREASURE HOUSE

Housing irreplaceable, treasures of painting, wood-carving and sculpture is Petworth, a thirteenth century building that is a veritable mecca to tourists to Great Britain.

The visitor is struck upon into the 13th century chapel, all that is left of Petworth as it existed in medieval days. The pointed arches of the building belong to an Early English style, but the pews, reredos and gallery date from the late 17th century.

The architect who planned Petworth is unknown but he is believed to be a Frenchman. The state rooms, however, were adorned gloriously by Grinling Gibbons, the wood carver and sculptor, who came from Holland in the 17th century, and whose patron was Charles II.

Gibbons' work appears at its best in the apartment called the Carved Room which is state for sixty-four feet. The pictures on the walls are set in carved limewood, while the baskets of fruit, musical instruments and quaint birds cluster round the portraits of Henry VIII, (after Holbein), Charles I and his queen, Henrietta Maria.

Lord Leconfield has one of the finest private collection of pictures in Britain. Although the house is now National Trust property, the collection still hangs on its walls. The painters Van Dyck, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Romney and Hoppner are all represented.

The 19th century English landscape painter, Turner, was a visitor to Petworth, and executed pictures of the house and park which are among Leconfield's treasures.

The Marble Hall was given this name because of its black and white marble floor. It was formerly the entrance hall, and an interesting historical picture on the wall shows the arrival at Petworth of the Allied Sovereigns, in 1814. There is the burly form of the Prince Regent — later George IV — with the handsome Czar Alexander I of Russia and the Kings of Russia and Wurtemburg.

The wainscotting is painted a duck egg green and the carvings executed by Gibbon's assistant, Selden. The Marble Hall leads into the Beauty Room where there are portraits of the most beautiful women who appeared at the Court of Queen Anne.

There are immense paintings on the ceilings and walls near the grand staircase which portray scenes in the life of Elizabeth, Duchess of Somerset.

PENCILS FOR ALL NEEDS

A pencil, to most of us is just a pencil, but to the manufacturer it is a very specialized product, especially if, as is now the case in America, the pencil is to be used for school and Civil Service examinations. For these a special pencil is used, the electrical conductivity of which is very carefully measured. When these pencils are used to write with it is possible to distinguish the graphite mark from the mark of any other pencil by measuring the electrical resistance over a unit length.

Besides indelible pencils, there are new pencils to write on meat, tin, glass, chinaware, and fabrics. Each of these pencils is a specialized product, the result of much research on the qualities of different types of graphite, or other blended material. The chemist's understanding of these has made these pencils possible.

What nobody can understand, however, is why yellow should be the most popular shade for pencils. During the war we had the Utility pencil with its plain, unpainted wood, but yellow is now the favorite color, and pencils of this shade disappear from desks more readily than any other.

Immigrants Founded Great Shops

The recent sale of eight large shops in British Columbia for a sum related to be over fourteen million dollars, recalls the stories of two young pioneers.

The first was David Spencer who, in 1862, left his home in Wales to go to faraway western Canada because he had heard glittering stories of the discovery of gold in the Cariboo country there.

It was a long and difficult journey, for that was before the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

When at last he arrived in the rugged western wilderness, David found, like others, that the stories of gold were much exaggerated.

Many of the prospectors stuck pathetically to their belief that 'there's gold in them thar hills,' but canny David, looking round him, saw that this beautiful land would grow into a rich province, so he opened a small shop in Victoria, on Vancouver Island. His business grew until it consisted of eight large department stores in different towns which have recently been sold.

His stores were bought by another business of the same sort, which was started by our second pioneer. He was Timothy Eaton, and many of the British Isles a few years after David, and also began by opening a little shop, living in Toronto a long way from British Columbia. Now the Timothy Eaton Company owns fifty-six stores, from the Pacific to the Atlantic and employs 39,000 people.

Both David Spencer and Timothy Eaton made a practice of importing their goods direct from Britain, visiting London regularly to buy.

JUNGLES TO YIELD CROPS

An immensely detailed ten - year plan to set the wheels of industry whirling in the vast jungle land of the Belgian Congo has been completed there and will probably be presented to the next session of the Belgian Parliament for action.

The plan calls for total investments of fifty million Belgian francs in everything from pioneer farming to asphrins, shoes for natives and ports and roads. About half of the required sum will need to come from public resources, the other half from investors.

The prime feature of the plan, in fact, is a determined emphasis on achieving variety and balance in the Congo's economy. It seems obvious that the pioneer emphasis on transportation, communications, labor supply and marketing, which it projects will all be vital to efficient and increased exploitation of what has become the world's most coveted mineral.

Pierre Wigny, Belgian Minister for Colonies, who was responsible for drawing up the program, showed in his introduction a flair for recapturing the romantic atmosphere of nineteenth century pioneering with twentieth century facilities.

He always contrast with the British ground-nuts and sunflower development in South Africa, Wigny turns his back on the plantation system and urges the establishment of numerous medium - sized farms in the style of the 400-acre homesteads with which the Americans colonized their western territories in the nineteenth century.

He hopes, with land grants and Government aid in such things as transportation and loans for equipment, to attract sturdy Belgian colonists who will devote themselves to agricultural crops. Scattered through the countryside, their use of modern agronomy should produce a success story that will attract the sickly native nomads from the bush and persuade them to settle down and imitate the better man's agriculture.

There is, of course, provision in the plan for Government experts to teach the natives and help them develop stable, better producing communities, but the precept of a prosperous neighbor is expected to be the most powerful pull from the jungle to civilization.

CHANGING ARCTIC CONDITIONS

Indications that the Canadian Arctic was perhaps a more livable place for thousands of years before the white man came to this continent were disclosed following the return of an archaeological party from inside the Arctic Circle, recently.

The party, a joint U.S.-Canadian affair, found strange evidence in a ruin discovered nearly 100 years ago and revisited for the first time this past summer.

Evidence says that Cornwallis Island, at latitude 75 degrees and some 1,200 miles north of Churchill, Man., once knew Eskimos where no Eskimos now exist; once saw Greenland whales abound where now there are few, and once, perhaps, had trees.

It may take years for the archaeologists to piece together the true story from the 1,100-odd relics they brought back from the ruins, but their study of ancient Eskimo culture on the island will probably tell many stories of the natives who lived there 500 to 800 years ago.

The explorers studied the relics of the 'Thule' Eskimo, a particular type of Eskimo which has made a habit of living on Arctic coasts. The Thule — pronounced "Hooley" — is distinguished by archaeologists from other types of Arctic natives, such as the Caribou Eskimo, who lives chiefly on caribou, the Copper, and Labrador types.

The summer's investigation indicated that Thule stock lived on Cornwallis Island many years ago, journeying from their Alaskan home, 1,000 years ago or more, and dropping colonies all along their route. It is still a matter of scientific debate how the Eskimo got to the continent originally.

Ruins of the former civilization were first discovered by Captain Penny, an Englishman who visited the island in 1851 during an Arctic search for the traces of the ill-fated Sir John Franklin expedition. At that time he found no Eskimos on the island. This year's party was the first to carry out an investigation of the ruins.

Relics indicated conditions on the island during the Thule habitation must have been quite different from those of today, officials said. They included a carving showing five Eskimos in a boat, one of them throwing a harpoon at a Greenland whale, which, from many bones uncovered on the island, must have abounded in those days.

Caribou haven't lived in the Cornwallis area for many years, yet a piece of ivory bearing the carving of a caribou on one side and a kayak on the other was unearthed.

Cornwallis Island is treeless, its shore free of driftwood, but pieces of wood were found among the ruins of several of the 30-odd Eskimo dwellings discovered. This suggested to scientists that Arctic tidal currents may have undergone a startling change.

INGENIOUS INSECTS

The children of a black spider in the New England States are carried about by their mother on her back but at the first alarm each young spider jumps from the mother's back and all go off in different directions. But first each is attached by a silken thread, and by means of these apron-strings the children find their way back when the danger has passed.

Parasol ants clip out pieces of leaf and carry them like parasols in a procession to their homes. There they cut them up very fine and, placing them in great rounded chambers as large as a man's head, connected with one another by tunnels, make them into a mass. A fungus grows on this material and this the ants eat. When the leafy matter will grow no more fungus the chamber is deserted.

Some of the miner wasps, while excavating a burrow, live in the vestibule and pass the night there. But the Aminophila sabulosa does not. She has a lock-up shop. When her work is over for the day she shuts up shop by stopping the entrance with a small stone, and goes away for the night.

The young caterpillar of the puss moth, which feeds on the upper surface of the glossy leaves of sallow, willow and poplar, spins a carpet of silk of the leaf, in which the hooks on its feet may catch, and so enable it to feed without being jerked off by the wind.

It would require 600,000 full moons to equal the splendor of the sun.

TO COMBAT GRASSHOPPERS

A new chemical — aldrin — will be the major poison used in combating the grasshopper menace looming in Saskatchewan this year, Ottawa will shortly be placed for the chemical, described as much more potent than the chlordane poison used extensively last summer. The aldrin shipments will begin arriving in Saskatchewan where the hopper menace is serious in April, and will be ready for distribution to farmers about May 1st.

Use of the new chemical in the province will mark the first time it has been used on a commercial scale in Canada, although it has been tested extensively and used commercially in the United States.

The test proved extremely satisfactory. On a per acre ground basis aldrin costs more than chlordane but it is less expensive on an acreage basis because of its potency.

To obtain the best results, the new poison should be spread on foliage on which grasshoppers feed.

Poisoning is one of two grasshopper control methods used in the province. The other is cultural control, such as trap - stripping, summer-fallow field and the early shallow cultivation of stubble fields.

Cultural control is of vital importance and aids it and poisoning must be used to obtain success in controlling grasshoppers.

One of the worst grasshopper threat in many years has been forecast for Saskatchewan in 1950. The egg infestation throughout the province is worse than initially believed.

Millions Spent On Erosion Fight, England

Millions of pounds are being spent in defences against coast erosion in the south and south-east of England. Major schemes to keep back the sea are in progress at the Sussex towns of Seaford, Pett Level, Hastings, St. Margaret's Bay and Selsey. At Seaford work on a one-and-a-half-mile sea wall has just been completed at a cost of £450,000 ($1,350,000). Twelve new sea walls have been built at Eastbourne, between Beachy Head and Pevensey Point, and Bournemouth, which has been undermined by storms.

AN ISLAND OF SURPRISES

In the English Channel, only a few miles off the Normandy coast of France lies a strange little island called Sark the only feudal state left in the world. The population of about 600 people speak French in general, although their island is part of the British Empire, and English is taught in the schools.

The island is governed by the Dame of Sark and her husband, the Seigneur, who is American born. This former resident of New Jersey, Robert Hathaway, married Sybil Mary Collings, the hereditary ruler of Sark, after World War I; and by so doing, he became ruler with her, owner of all her property, and feudal lord of the population of Sark. He collects tithes of one-tenth of all the crops on the island and is entitled to one-thirteenth of the price of all property sold.

Sark people pay no British income tax, their imports are not subject to tariffs, and they owe no allegiance to the king of England except as their Duke of Normandy. No one in Sark is poor, for the little the people earn by fishing and raising cattle on their tiny farms provides more than they need to spend. So their money keeps increasing.

There isn't a single motion-picture house in Sark or a dance-hall or a department store. The jail hasn't had a tenant for all of twenty-five years. The bank is open two hours a week. Communication with England and France is by steamer to Guernsey or Jersey and then by another steamer or airplane to the mainland. (Sark is too small for the construction of an airfield.)

Automobiles are forbidden by law, so the islanders ride on the two paved roads in carriages drawn by horses that have to be expert at mountain climbing.

People don't pay taxes in Sark. They don't. Mr. Hathaway two live chickens each year for every chimney they have on their houses. A strange thing about these chimneys is that each of the old ones has a flat stone projecting from its side. These stones are supposed to be pie of Sark still believe in witches and fairies and elves, and they often consult witches when in trouble.

The population derives most of its income from raising pedigreed Guernsey cattle. The island of Guernsey is near by, and from there it is easy enough to get a foundation stock to start a herd. A herd, however, may consist of but two cows, since the average farm has only one or two acres of land.

If you wanted to visit Sark in a hurry, you could conveniently take a plane from either London or Paris in less than half an hour. Then, if there was a fast boat waiting, you could land in Sark Harbor within twenty or twenty-five minutes, provided the tide was in. For at low tide, Sark, one of the smallest harbors in the world, is bone dry. Once there, however, the contrast between the modern city you had just left and the old-world charm of tiny stone cottages high above cliffs would make the trip worthwhile and would leave you wondering how many more strange places there might be close at hand.

FOXY REYNARD

To rid itself of fleas the fox takes a stick in its mouth, slowly submerges in a pool of water. As it sinks, the fleas move upward to drier regions. When only the snout remains above the surface, the fleas desert the sinking fox to take refuge on the raft. Thereupon the fox releases the stick, leaving the fleas to their fate.

AN ALPINE RADIO STATION

The Swiss Government has begun work on a radio relay station on the Jungfrau Joch, 11,000 feet high. When the station is finished, it may make an important contribution to the achievement of a television "hook up" throughout Western Europe.

This new station will not be ready for another two or three years, but professional telephone link of radio beams will soon be operating. The temporary relay station has been set up not far from the observatory on the Jungfrau, but the permanent structure will be a little above this point to provide a line of vision to Monte Generoso near Lugano.

A tunnel, some 3,000 feet long, will connect this present railway point on the Jungfrau with the western edge of the mountain where the new relay station will be built.

A chamber at the top end of the tunnel will be provided with four pairs of windows cut into the rock, three facing to the north and one to the south. Aerials, with parabolic or glass-shaped reflectors, will be placed in these windows, one for receiving and one for transmitting. Thus, an all-weather relay station will be established.

Thus mountains, whose natural height can be artificially reached by means of aerial towers, provide the ideal location for stations for radio transmissions. And as soon as the French and Italians have completed their chains of similar relay stations — on which some of the work has already started — there is nothing to stop direct communication by ultra-short radio wave between London or Paris and Rome via Switzerland.

In theory, this would enable all countries connected with one another by this means to exchange their respective television programmes.

THE ELEPHANT A HUGE, GENTLE, ANIMAL

A resident of Southern Rhodesia, who had much experience of elephants in Burma before the war, has been going into the forests of Rhodesia and Mozambique, closely watching the habits of the big-eared, wild African elephants, and he suggests that some of the elephants, slightly bigger than their Indian cousins, should be caught, tamed, and used for work; they would be of industrial value to Africa, he says, and could give such assistance in clearing tsetse fly areas.

There was once a belief that the African elephant could not be tamed. But the well-loved Jumbo of the London Zoo, on whom our grandparents used to ride when they were young, was an African elephant, eleven feet six inches high, and the biggest elephant then in captivity in Europe; and he was such a favorite that when the Zoo wanted to sell him there was a terrific outcry, and an application was made to the High Court to restrain the Zoo from selling him.

Nevertheless, he was sold, and went to Canada; and there, perhaps unhappy at leaving his London home, he butted a railway engine. Jumbo weighed six and a half tons, but the locomotive (no Sir Thomas, Ont.) was too much for him.

Hazenbeck, the famous German zoo-man, once showed how African elephants could be tamed. He had imported five, and the great scientist Trichow, challenged him to tame them. Hagenbeck said he would do it in a day, and began by offering rewards to some Africans to collect up and sit on the elephants' backs. This alarmed the animals and, trumpeting in fear, they soon shook off their riders.

Then the Africans gave food to the elephants and, speaking to them gently, persuadfd them to allow the Africans to mount again. After a time the elephants forgot their fears and willingly carried their light burdens and the next day Virchow was astonished to see how docile they had become.

The secret of taming the elephant is to gain his confidence, for he is a timid creature. Once in the London Zoo one died of fright during a thunderstorm; and there was an elephant at Olympia which caused the others to stampede because I saw a mouse.

It has been claimed that the elephant is the most intelligent animal in the world. Mahouts or elephant drivers, in India have been known to use an elephant as children's nurse, and a British officer once described how he saw this happen.

In Hindustani the driver spoke to the elephant: 'Brother, I am going to cook my dinner. Look after the baba and see that he does not get near the river.' Then the man placed his little child between the trunk and fore-feet of the sitting elephant and went off. The child tried to escape several times, but the elephant curled his trunk round the child with almost human gentleness and drew him back.

It now seems possible that African elephants may also become faithful friends and servants of man. It has been suggested that, as a start, native experts in elephant management should be brought from Burma. Cared for by kind human friends, and with work to exercise their keen intelligence, elephants may be as happy in captivity as in their wild state.

NOSE-PRINTS

At Cradoc, South Africa's famous animal research station near Pretoria, experts are working out a system of "finger printing" sheep.

It has been discovered that a sheep's nose has a pattern just like the human finger. As in the case of human fingers, no two sheep noses are the same print.

If the animal's nose is smeared with ink, and a special strip of paper then applied, an impression is gained that is invaluable in distinguishing one sheep from another. And now the experts are classifying various patterns of "nose prints" to make it easier for these to be traced.

Farmers expect considerable help from this new system of identification in the battle against stock theft.

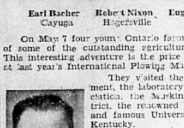
On May 7 four young Ontario farmers set out on a tour of inspection of some of the outstanding agricultural projects in the United States. This interesting adventure is the prize they won in the Salada Tea event at last year's International Plowing Match.



A. G. Skinner, Cayuga

They visited the famous Tennessee Valley development, the laboratory of the Ohio Breeders Co-Op Association, the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District, the renowned McCalmar Farm of Louis Bromfield, and famous Universities like Cornell, Ohio State, and Kentucky.

Their trip took them through some of the most beautiful mountain country in the eastern states and included a tour of the City of Washington, and a week-end in New York City.

Altogether the boys travelled about three thousand miles and they had a story to tell when they returned.

The party consisted of Earl Bacher, of Cayuga; Robert Nixon, of Hagersville; Eugene Timbers, of Milliken; Norman Watson, of Woodbridge, and A. G. Skinner, Ontario Agricultural Representative, Cayuga, who conducted the group.

Salada Tea Company sponsored the trip as a good will gesture toward the enlightment of young farmers in soil conservation, cattle breeding, and farming in general.

— GYPSUM — A VERSATILE MATERIAL

Gypsum is to be found in every Canadian province but Prince Edward Island. Its production is one of the more important non-metallic industries of this country.

The use of gypsum is not new. Indeed, its value has been known since the days of the Egyptians. France, now the second largest world producer, gave us the name 'Plaster of Paris.' There, gypsum was mined in the Paris Basin at Montmartre, and under that name was exported to England as early as the 13th century. Here, in Canada, the most extensive deposits of gypsum occur in Nova Scotia, where they have been worked continuously for over 150 years. From 1770 to 1810 gypsum was a standard article of commerce between Nova Scotia and the United States. In those days the operators were mostly farmers, owners of the land on which the gypsum was found. They carried the rock and hauled it to the nearest shipping point, where it was either sold to local traders or shipped on small vessels to Portland or Boston for use as fertilizer.

Modern gypsum products are entirely changing the industrial arts. Time and again, gypsum has been proven one of the best fire-resisting materials for building purposes. Paint producers use it as a body in several grades of their paints.

You will even find it in school. In the crayons used, in the white and colored chalks with which the teacher writes on the blackboard. Artists and sculptors use large blocks of clear gypsum for their statuary. They call it alabaster.

If you visit a dentist to have a tooth replaced, he will first make a cast of plaster, using only the whitest and purest of gypsum. When you have had misfortune to break a limb your surgical cast is made of plaster of Paris. Moulds by the thousands are made of gypsum—pottery moulds, hat moulds, for rubber stamps, for foundry work. Calcined gypsum is much used for interior decoration of buildings. It enters into the composition of match heads. It is an important ingredient in cement. Steel safe manufacturers use it to fill in the hollow walls of their safes. Makers of jewellery use huge quantities of a finer grade. In this calcined gypsum they set gold, silver and precious stones to engrave and polish them.

When next you use your record player, take a good look at the phonograph records. There is gypsum in them, and also in the buttons on your clothes.

If you were building a house you might use gypsum tile and gypsum roofing slabs; gypsum wallboard — fireproof, of course; a gypsum plaster that is an insulator to keep heat in and cold out; a hard wall finish p'aster; a flooring plaster; even an acoustic plaster especially treated with chemicals to absorb the sound waves striking it. In all, gypsum plays a very important part in our daily life.

Although people often speak of a gypsum mine, it would be more correct to refer to a gypsum quarry. In the big deposits of the Maritime Provinces, the soft mineral is quite near the surface of the ground and is removed, in most places, by open quarrying. The high 'faces' of outcroppings of gypsum are broken down by caving. In this operation, workmen drill holes in the lower part of the face, and bring down large quantities of the stone with dynamite charges. Hand picked to remove foreign matter, the big chunks of gypsum are broken up by sledge hammers and jack hammers, then go by power shovel into the cars of the small railway.

Sometimes there is a hard covering of rock over the valuable deposits. Then the gypsum is reached by the incline tunnels. A system of rooms supported by pillars similar to those used in coal mines, all lead to the main haulage ways, and the small rail line. However, unlike the coal mines, the pillars are made, not of timber, but of gypsum itself. These are to prevent cave-ins.

Radar Affects Flying Geese

For some years it has been believed that migrating birds find their way by means of a kind of natural radar. Scientists in Canada have now put this theory to practical test. Broadcasting from Winnipeg, Mr. Tom Benson said that during the war years American experts were experimenting with radar at Johns Hopkins University and they happened to throw the beam on a flock of migrating ducks. The ducks flared up and changed their direction as if they had been shot at. The scientists tried it again and this time they took movies of the ducks as they reared and scattered.

They sent the movies to Albert Haufbaum, who is in charge of the Delta Waterfall Research Station at Delta, Manitoba. The upshot of it was that Haufbaum wrote an expert to ask his aid in obtaining radar equipment so that an official test could be made.

Through the good offices of the Royal Canadian Air Force it was finally arranged to send equipment and men to Delta during the annual spring migration.

Over a period of five days enough tests were made to prove positively that the ducks were allergic to radar. The experiments made at Johns Hopkins were confirmed in every detail. The radar beam is mounted on the top of a shed with all the electrical equipment housed underneath the roof.

The beam swings from side to side in an are of 160 degrees and up and down from the ground to infinity. The birds must be about 200 yards away to get the reaction and it so happened that they caught two or three flights at just about that distance. They all reached the same way. The beam was thrown on them and they flared up and changed direction. They all reached the same time, and finally they became so confused that they scattered independently in all directions.

The surprising thing about the whole business is that the radar has no effect on the birds that are more or less local inhabitants, at least no reaction has been obtained on them. They have to be birds that are migrating and in flight. What it means is, of course, still a question mark, and will remain so for perhaps years to come.

However, it does give the ornithologists something new to work on in this mysterious thing called migration. It opens up an entirely new field of investigation and confirms the theory that ducks and geese and other waterfowl are away ahead of us in the science of aerial navigation.

Tunnel Under Mt Blanc

Sometime in 1950, you may get into your car when you arrive in Europe, drive down to Geneva and enter a tunnel that will lead from Switzerland and France into Italy under Europe's highest mountain, snow-capped Mont Blanc.

For the tourist who has only a few weeks to make a motoring trip through Europe, the passage under the Alps will mean the first direct route between London and Paris, to Rome and the Balkans.

The Mont Blanc tunnel, which has long been a dream of European tunnel-builders, will be about seven and one-half miles long. I was told by a Swiss engineer, "We have been carefully tracing the most favorable route as far as technical and economic considerations are concerned," he said. 'The tunnel will not be one inch longer than necessary. The entrance on the Italian side is at an altitude of 4,200 feet. On the French side it is only 3,800 feet. Thus the passage will have a slight gradient. But it will be a straight line.'

The two shafts will be dug simultaneously from the French and Italian sides. 'When the two digging parties finally meet somewhere under Mont Blanc, the maximum deviation will not be more than 10 centimetres (about 4 inches),' he said.

An Italian syndicate, operating with private funds has already built the entrance on the Italian side, at Entreves, and a 1,500-foot-long shaft has been driven into the mountain.

Although no exact blueprints of the Mont Blanc project have been released, it is clear the tunnel will have two lanes for two-way traffic, and the height will be about 22 feet.

ALPINE GLACIERS REGRESSING

Swiss and Italian geologists studying the behaviour of the Alpine glaciers over the past few hundred years say these vast masses of moving ice are doomed. The day is not far distant — only some fifty years hence, according to some glacialists — when the central European glaciers will be as extinct as the prehistoric ice masses which once covered northern Europe.

The scientists define the slow death of a glacier as 'perennial regression.' This regression, or shrinking in the length of a glacier, can be measured precisely. It varies from three yards a year in some specimens to as much as forty-five yards annually in others. The average rate is twenty yards a year.

One glacier, that of Malgina in the Western Alps, has disappeared completely within the last few years. In 1943, Malgina melted into an Alpine lake.

Interest was first aroused in the movement of the glaciers in 1930, when mountaineers suspected these ice masses were shrinking, but not until 1935 was a commission set up to measure the phenomenon. It soon became undeniable that every glacier was regressing, including the Brenva of Mont Blanc, which was always thought to be advancing.

The system of measuring the forward or backward movement of glaciers is simple. The moraine is a continuous line of immovable rocks along the edge of the glacier — like the permanent embankments of a river.

The target chosen by the glacialists is a moraine rock directly ahead of the glacial tongue. If the glacier is advancing, the tongue will eventually lick over this rock and perhaps cover it from view. If it is receding, the distance between the target rock and the edge of the glacier can be measured precisely. Measuring these distances over a period of twenty years, the geologists have found that all the glaciers are shrinking. What are the causes of glacial regression? And what are the effects?

The causes are two: first, the scarcity of snowfall, particularly in the last twenty years; and second, the increasing lateness of the winter snows. In this respect, older people who claim that 'the weather isn't what it was when I was a boy' are basically right. The snows now fall later often in January, February and March, whereas twenty years ago they were due in November and December. This has the result of melting what snow does not fall in equipment so that an official test could be made.

The effects of the glaciers' shrinkage are the welfare of millions of people. For there are both immediate and eventual repercussions as a result of the slow disappearance of these mighty rivers of ice and rock.

The whole Alpine region of Switzerland, southeastern France and northern Italy is immediately affected, since the road system across the Alps as well as the byways used by the local inhabitants is imperceptibly altered each year. Thus a rerouting of traffic across the Mello Pass has become necessary as the disappearance of the glacier has left a

Secondly, Alpine agriculture has been adversely affected, principally by the lessening of the water supply, due to the shrinking of the glaciers. A specific result of these two phenomena has been a diminishing fertility which impoverishes the pastureland.

But it is in the field of hydro-electric power that the 'perennial regression' of the glaciers is most ominous, since the very lives and livelihoods of Swiss and Italians who depend for light, heat and power on these ice masses. Both Swiss and Italian electricity is generated by means of artificial lakes and dams made at enormous expense high in the mountains.

These reservoirs are fed by Alpine streams, which flow strongly in early spring. But the lakes are dependent on the glaciers for their supply of water in the summer and early autumn months. For during the fine weather, the melting of the glacier's edges creates thousands of tiny mountain streams which are trapped in the hydro-electric turbines. There is no other source of supply for the dams.

Many of the artificial lakes have fallen to a dangerous level. Italian engineers are seeking new sources of power, on the assumption that the glaciers are doomed.

Clue To Gigantic Extinct Bird

Fossilized remains of a manlike age, found recently near Sterkfontein in the Transvaal, have led scientists who found them to believe that the creature walked upright and was about four feet tall. Two thigh bones were dug up by Dr. Camp and Dr. Peabody of the University of Swiss engineer. We have been carefully tracing the most favorable route as far as technical and economic considerations are concerned,' he said. 'The tunnel will not be one inch longer than necessary. The entrance on the Italian side is at an altitude of 4,200 feet. On the French side it is only 3,800 feet. Thus the passage will have a slight gradient. But it will be a straight line.'

The two shafts will be dug simultaneously from the French and Italian sides. 'When the two digging parties finally meet somewhere under Mont Blanc, the maximum deviation will not be more than 10 centimetres (about 4 inches),' he said.

False Teeth 'Bite' Owner's Throat

Oakland, Calif. — A robbery suspect was bitten inside his throat. What's right—inside! by his own store teeth, last week.

Felix Wheaten, 41, in jail awaiting trial on robbery charges, stretched and yawned upon wakening.

Jarred loose by this commonplace motion, his set of five false teeth plopped down his throat and clamped firmly on his esophagus. Physicians at hospital extracted the choppers and treated the bite.

Presentation Made to The Harlton Family At Tamworth

A large crowd gathered in the Town Hall, Tamworth, on Wednesday night, to bid adieu to Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Harlton and family, who have sold their home and business and are moving to Toronto where Mr. Harlton has purchased a business. Dancing and cards were enjoyed by all after which the audience was called to order by Mr. F. W. Foote, who acted as master of ceremonies and invited Mr. and Mrs. Harlton, Winnifred, David and Paul to come to the platform. Mrs. Smith Gilmour read an address and Mrs. D. C. Clark presented the Harlton family, on behalf of the community, with a purse of money.

In Mr. Harlton's response, he said Tamworth would always be home to him as he has lived here for the last twenty years.

Music was furnished by Miss Gertrude Manion, Mr. McMullen and daughter, Robert Clark, and Mr. Edi McGrath sang several numbers, with his own guitar accompaniment.

Lunch was served by a committee in charge.

The Address

Mr. and Mrs. Harlton and Family:

Your neighbors and friends arranged this little get-together tonight, in order that we all might have a social time, and to collectively say goodbye before you leave for your new home in Willowdale. We deeply regret your decision to leave our part of the world.

Ever since your coming to Tamworth, Mr. Harlton, you have always taken a keen interest in anything that was for the betterment, either in the village or community, also upheld any responsibility your church has placed upon you. Not only have you supported different projects by giving you rmoney, but you have been a collecting agent, many times. Your store was a convenient centre and you were willing to take the time and trouble to help make a success of the different projects undertaken, whether it was for an occasion such as this, ta-night, or for sports or charitable purposes. To mention only one of the many projects you have helped promote, is the site for the rink. If the history of our rink is, ever recorded five men's names should be the first listed: J. C.M. Wallace, Tom Harrison, Clare wagar, R.K. Stinson and Elwood Harlton. You men, as trustees of that property, had the wisdom to hold that property, even though you paid the interest on the mortgage and other expenses that arose from time to time, out of your own pockets. Thus when the time came that our citizens decided to build a rink, the site was ready. We feel sure, Mr. Harlton, as you've seen the pleasure our young people and our older ones, too, have derived from the finished product, you've been very happy for the part you played in it. We also regret that in your leaving we lose a graduate druggist, a loss that is the more keenly felt, since we have no resident doctor.

Mrs. Harlton, even though she was busy in her home and store, was always willing to do her part in providing for anything she was asked, whether it was for the church, school or community, she willingly opened her home for meetings for the church or community and many of us will treasure the happy times we've had through her hospitality.

No community can lose a family of three children without being the poorer for it. Children are the pulse the life of both home and state. Winnifred and David will be missed from our day school, Sunday school, Mission Circle and Mission Band, where each have taken an active part from year to year, while wee Paul hasn't entered public life yet, his neighbours will miss his many little ways and his chit-chat words, even those of commendation are easily forgotten, so as a mere tangible expression from your friends, we ask you to accept this purse. We trust whatever you may choose to buy with its contents, may be something you'll enjoy and use from time to time, and whenever you may very frequently turn back to your friends in this vicinity.

As you take up life's tasks in your new home, it's our sincere wish that God's richest gifts may be yours; good health, peace of mind and calmness of soul.

Signed on behalf of your friends in Tamworth and the surrounding district.

Sudden Ability To See Makes Woman Scream

Uniontown, Pa.—Mrs. Mary Franz looked out of a window in her home, then went to the door and screamed. You probably would, too, if you could see for the first time in four years.

Mrs. Franz, 44-year-old mother of three children, became blind following childbirth. She lost the sight of her right eye first, then the left, weakened and failed completely.

In those fourteen years of darkness, her sons grew up. Henry is 14 now, Joe is 24, and Christopher is a 17-year-old Army private stationed in Germany. Their father died sixteen months ago.

The other day, Mrs. Franz became conscious of brilliant flashes of light. That's when she went to the window and this is what she saw:

"It looked like a lot of strings flying around outside. As I focused on them, I realized it was branches of a nearby tree. I could see!

"Then I could make out houses and the telephone wires dwindling. I turned to the kitchen table. I was able to see a cup and saucer. That scared me. After all, I had been used to feeling for dishes and often upsetting them.

"As I lay in a dream I made my way to the door and screamed. I was so frightened. Then the neighbors came and they thought there had been an accident."

Doctors say a cataract must have developed," causing Mrs. Franz to regain her sight.

Tricks Make Teacher Popular

New York — A professor who some times fires cap pistols in the air or throws eggs around has been voted the "most popular instructor" by freshmen in the evening session of City College.

He's Dr. Gerald Ehrlich, who teaches social and mental hygiene.

The doctor usually lectures for the first twenty minutes of the class hour. Then, if he detects any drowsiness, fatigue, or bogging down he uses little one of his acts.

His repertoire also includes making cigarettes disappear, changing the colors of handkerchiefs, and making live mice appear.

Dr. Ehrlic explains teenagers are under pressure all the time. As a result, they're usually too tense to get the most out of their classes. I usually try to help them relax."

CANON R. W. SPENCER DIED AT DETROIT

The death occurred on Tuesday, May 9th, at the home of his son, Reginald C. Spencer, Detroit, Mich., of Canon Robert W. Spencer, former rector of the Parish of Camden East in the 82nd year.

Canon Spencer was the much loved rector of Camden East parish for over 35 years. His church included Camden East, Yarker and Newburgh. He retired from the active ministry in 1946 and since that time he had resided with his son in Detroit.

Canon Spencer was ordained as a Deacon at Toronto on June 6, 1903, and as a priest in 1904. His first charge was at Ottawa, in the Diocese of Ottawa, and in 1909 Later, he was appointed to the parish of Roslin in the Diocese of Ontario, where he served until he became rector of Camden East in 1925. In 1917 he was made Rural Dean of Lennox and Addington. In 1936 he was appointed Rural Dean of Kingston, where he remained until August 1943, when he resigned as the Camden East parish. After he had retired he returned to his former home.

Canon Spencer was predeceased by his wife, Edith R. Hunter, several years ago and leaves one son, Reginald in Detroit.

His funeral was conducted in St. Luke's Church, Camden East Thursday afternoon, May 11th, by Rev. M. F. Oldham. Interment was at St. Luke's Cemetery, Camden East.

CAMDEN EAST MISSION BAND

Yvonne Hallett was hostess to the members and friends at the home of Mrs. C. Hallett, May 9. The president, Carol Williams, opened the meeting with hymn. The M.B. purpose was repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting and the financial statement of the mothers and dollar Band's Magazine readings were given. A hymn and prayer closed the roll call. Two new members were given the Band on membership. The program consisted of readings by Gwe Hannah, Beatrice Maguire and Thelma Barr. Mr. Hallett, a returned soldier was interviewed by the members. A Mother Bunch was sung by several members with Dorothy Boulton as pianist. A duet was sung by Lorne Reynolds and Ian Laarkr. A Mother's Day service was given by L. Williams. Lovely was served by the girls, assisted by Mr. Boulton and Mr. Ian Barr. The president thanked the hostess and Mr. Boulton for the use of their home.

After the meeting, produced 28,225 gallons of fuel products during January, 1950 a 22 per cent increase on January 1949.

HELP NEEDED

It is welcome news to the people of Canada and especially to the residents of Winnipeg, who are most affected, that the waters of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers are dropping. But the situation in Winnipeg is still serious, and will likely remain so for some time.

Only those who have been forced to vacate their homes and, in many instances, have lost all they owned, can realize the extent of the damage done. The life work of many people has been swept away by the flood waters. Older people must feel completely hopeless. Younger people can start again, but men and women of more advanced ages will be filled with a feeling of desolation. The sympathy of the people of Canada can be shown in a practical manner by contributing to the fund, which has been opened to help rehabilitate those who have suffered such terrific loss. As a start an objective of $10,000,000 has been set for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. The Province of Ontario has been asked for $5,000,000; Toronto hopes to raise $1,000,000. $10,000,000 is a lot of money, but it can be raised if everyone will contribute something.

Large corporations are subscribing hundreds of thousands of dollars; the Red Cross is coming to the rescue with funds and other assistance. Churches service clubs and other organizations are contributing liberally. But the success of the fund will depend, to a large extent, on the contributions of the ordinary people, many of whom can subscribe only small amounts.

Contributions may be sent directly to THE MANITOBA FLOOD RELIEF FUND, Fifth Floor, Great West Life Building, Winnipeg, Manitoba. Receipts will be sent to be used as income tax exemptions.

SPRUCE UP !

The Village of Tweed is in the throes of a "Spring Offensive," under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce. It's an onslaught against unpainted or drab buildings, unkept yards, broken-down fences, dirty lanes and general untidiness. Apparently the offensive is bearing results and undoubtedly it will pay off in a great improvement in the appearance of the town.

It has occurred to us that the Town of Napanee could very well copy Tweed. Possibly, the Retail Merchants' Association could sponsor a similar campaign. We don't mean to imply that Napanee has a run-down appearance. But there is room for improvement.

Napanee has reason to be proud of its good appearance. It has some beautiful public buildings which for the most part, are well kept. Its main streets have an up-to-date look. Its stately trees are without parallel in the district. Its residential districts are a delight to the eye. Its approaches are far more pleasing than in most towns. Only the occasional place needs sprucing up, to make it a model town.

The tourist season will soon be at its peak and tourist dollars mean much to any town. Since parking on the main streets has become less of a problem more tourists may stop in Napanee, if they are impressed with its appearance. Other ways in which to attract tourists and possibly to induce them to remain longer in the town than they might have intended, are courteous service in stores, willingness on the part of all citizens to give information and by consideration in traffic regulations by our police.

Napanee is a natural tourist centre, surrounded as it is by facilities for recreation and sport, and every effort should be made by every citizens to make the town as attractive as possible.

AN EMERGENCY EXISTS

The disaster in Winnipeg, caused by the Red River going on the rampage, will go a long way toward emphasizing the need for adequate steps being taken to control the flow of water throughout this country, and to conserve it for use when it is most needed.

The situation at Winnipeg is, of course, most unusual, which is fortunate. The Red and the the Assiniboine Rivers flow through hundreds of miles of flat country with little or no barriers to hold them in check when in flood. But after the experience of the present year, steps should be taken at once to provide means of control, if that is possible.

The water problem is not confined to Winnipeg. It has reached almost a crisis stage in all of Canada and a great deal of the United States. The remedy will necessitate the expenditure of billions of dollars of public money over a period of many years all over the continent. Efforts will have to be made toward the control, conservation, storage, distribution and purification of water. The natural reservoirs have been left unprotected too long, with the result that they either overflow or are dried up. Besides, there is a considerable pollution of the water and top soil is silted away, causing great harm to once productive land. Wild life and fish have also been depleted thereby, causing a loss in recreational facilities and source of revenue.

Requirements of water for industry and domestic use have increased many times over in the past few years, partly because of the greater concentration of population in cities and towns and the consequent use of more gadgets which require power and water and also because of the expansion of industry. While the water problem is national and continent-wide, in scope, it is also of concern even in the County of Lennox and Addington. It has become a matter of such urgency in this county that, at last, steps may be taken to meet the situation, which is becoming almost an emergency.

In a front page article in this issue of the paper will be found some facts regarding the Napanee River Watershed. For many years, the need for conserving the supply of water in the Napanee River at its source in the springtime, has been recognized. The steady decrease of the water supply in the summer months, which was climaxed last season by the lowest flow in many years, is a well known fact. Those who have been most affected: industry and domestic consumers, have felt the need for action to insure a flow of water when most needed.

Now there appear to be steps being taken to dam the water back at one of the lakes which feed the Napanee River. The money involved in building the dam will amount to quite a large sum, but the results will be more than worth while.

Not only should steps be taken to conserve water during the freshet season, but more emphasis should be given to reforestation, which is a natural means of conserving water. Governments are recognizing this latter need and in most districts in Ontario, Forestry Offices have been opened with trained officials giving direction. In our County, Mr. W. E. Edwards, who is in charge of the Forestry Office, is making a real attempt to interest individuals and municipalities in reforestation. At least a start has been made, which in years to come, will bear fruit.

It is to be hoped that the dam will be built on Second Lake and that further efforts to conserve water supply and to reforest suitable areas, will be made.

FLOOD RELIEF FUND SET AT $10,000,000

Winnipeg. — John Cherkes lives in Winnipeg. He did have a house here once, but hasn't any more. It's gone — like thousands of others — abandoned to the waters of the Red River.

"I came to Canada thirty years ago and settled in Winnipeg," he says. "Ever since I can remember I worked, and finally three years ago I saved enough money to put a down-payment on a house, take up a mortgage and move my wife, mother and other relatives in. For the past three years we have been adding to the house, putting in a garden, building a fence and doing all the things which go into making a home.

"It wasn't much of a house because I couldn't afford a better one; but I liked it and we owned it and it was our home. Now it is all gone. My home is the community relief hall two blocks away which is still on safe ground. My wife and mother have been evacuated and I don't know where they are. It all happened so quickly. The dikes broke, the water came down the street and then the water poured in all the houses.

"Me, I'm staying around because the men in my neighbourhood have organized a civilian patrol which helps house owners in my district salvage clothing and other necessities. I work on the dikes, I work around the relief hall and row a boat on patrol duties. If I didn't work I would go crazy, because this flood has taken everything I have in the world and I don't know what I will do when all this is over."

For men like John Cherkes, aid in rehabilitation will come from the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, which has been organized in Winnipeg.

Contributions may be made directly to 'MANITOBA FLOOD RELIEF FUND', 5th Floor, Great West Life Building, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

The fund has an objective of $10,000,000.

HEALTH UNIT WEEKLY BULLETIN

The nurses of the County Health Unit have found that many expectant mothers throughout the County do not know that they are entitled to a pre-natal examination by their doctor, at the expense of the Ontario Government.

In the interest of prenatal welfare and to insure safer confinements, the Ontario Government passed a regulation under the Public Health Act providing for a free medical examination for expectant mothers of Ontario. The doctors have application forms which may be filled out by these mothers.

Pre-natal care is very important in preventing trouble or complications at confinement. This is why the Government saw fit to provide for a thorough pre-natal examination for expectant mothers.

Health Unit officials have found, when making their rounds doing immunization at the schools in Camden, Richmond, Ernestown, North and South Fredericksburgh and Adolphustown, that pre-school children who have started the series of three injections, sometimes are not brought to the schools because the date is forgotten. As all schools have a copy of the schedule followed, parents are advised to check with the schools for the date of the final round in June. As the King's birthday is celebrate on Monday, June 9th, the round which would be due that day will take place the Friday before, that is June 2nd.

Tribute Paid To Harry E. Grooms

In a recent issue of The Postal Journal of Canada, a tribute was paid to Harry E. Grooms, Toronto, who is retiring from the staff of the Toronto Post Office, after 44 years of service.

Mr. Grooms is a brother of Mr. Roy Grooms, R.R. 6, Napanee and is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Grooms. After finishing school in Napanee, Mr. Grooms worked at The Beaver Office a short time before going to Toronto.

The article in The Journal, follows:

"We would like to do honour to the service rendered by an extremely worthy fellow-employee, H. E. Grooms, a native of Napanee, Ont.

"Mr. Grooms entered the service of the Post Office on September 18th, 1906, at the age of 21. He started at Station 'B' on King Street, between Bay and York Streets, and then transferred to Station 'H' on Adelaide St. From there he went to the Head Office, which was a few doors from Station 'H' at that time. In those early years of his service, he tells us that there was not a very large staff — only eight sorters on night work at the primary cases. It is interesting and important to compare that small staff with the hundreds who are sorting to-day.

"He was married to Effa Brooks, of Hampton, Ont., on November 10, 1915. They raised three children — two girls and a boy — and now have five grandchildren to add to the family circle.

"Bro. Grooms has worked under six Postmasters, and during his 44 years of service has acquired a thorough practical knowledge of the North-West Territories, U.S.A., Ontario and Quebec districts. A father and dependents occurred when the Civil Service Appeal Board informed him that, due to the fact that he was a deaf mute, he was not eligible for promotion. However, he has given his very best to the Service, and has been a most conscientious worker.

"He was a stellar hockey player in his younger years, having been a member of St. Paul's hockey team (O.H.A.) in the year 1907-08. He won the Postmaster Rogers prize — a lovely marble clock — and also a silver salver from our Canadian Government for the best marksmanship at the Long Branch Rifle Ranges in the year 1912. He is proud of these possessions.

"In conclusion, he states that he has spent many pleasant days with his associates, and will carry away with him many fine memories when he retires in July of this year.

— Norm Smart."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Deseronto, May 22, 1950.

The Napanee Beaver.
Dear Sir:

DISASTERS

Dear Sir:

This Winnipeg disaster with all the harrowing experience of the different ones who have lost their all, brings to mind the harrowing experience of those who were caught in another disaster of a different kind. In the crash of '29 and '30 there were millions who lost their all and there were thousands who could not face the future and took the suicide path out. The writer was one of the unfortunate ones and lost his all and wound up $4,000 in debt. It was a gloomy prospect to look at for a man in middle life who had once been well to do. For ten years it was a struggle to live and pay his debt. Those who came through that disaster will fully realize the seriousness of this disaster and will be among the first to help the unfortunates.

The difference between the flood and the crash is that in the crash the Red Cross took no part to help the unfortunates to a new start while in this flood disaster we should all be thankful we have the Red Cross to help. Another difference between the two disasters is the crash was caused by the manipulations of man and brought only resentment for the manipulators and scorn for the victims, while in the flood disaster it has brought sympathy for the victims and the cause is past the mind of man to contemplate. One was caused by the act of man while the other was caused by an act of the Almighty. There are many more such disasters that could be mentioned in which the victims have lost their all and the cause can not be accounted for by the mind of man.

Financial crashes, wars, pestilence, and similar, are caused by the act of man and could be averted.

My sympathy goes out to both the flood victims and to the victims of the two disastrous fires in the east.

Archbishop Lyons Scores Games Chance As Church Finances

Kingston, Most Rev. John Lyons, Archbishop of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario, said last week that bingo and other games of chance should have no place in raising church finances.

In his charge to the 84th annual diocese meeting, Archbishop Lyons said: "The principle of voluntary and systematic giving has the support of Holy Scripture. In experience it has won the approbation of the faithful and is to be commended to our clergy and congregations as the surest, safest way.

"We would direct your attention to methods open to question and seemingly in use in some congregations. They satisfy the desire for easy money and provide pleasant pastime. Inherently they are wrong. In practice they contribute to social deterioration. In certain quarters they have been openly and officially condemned."

The Archbishop said these practices were permitted by law for religious and charitable purposes only. It was a "special concession" to the churches.

"But if gambling is wrong and injurious to the nation's welfare why special concessions to the Church and charitable institutions? The fact that the Church operates under cover of a special concession does not make the wrong right," he asserted.

DORLAND

Dorland, May 20. — The heavy frost last Saturday night damaged some gardens and early strawberries and delayed growth generally, but the rain during Thursday night and Friday morning gave things a much needed lift. If the warm sunshine continues, growth may be rapid. Stock is now out on pasture but much of the grass is short.

The United Church Mother's Day service was well attended. The special programm was carried through at a joint service of Sunday school and the regular congregation. Mr. Stewart's address was timely and the choir assisted with fitting music.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rombough and Pat, of Newbrugh, were week-end guests of Mr. Rombough's mother, Mrs. Charles Rombough.

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Stewart and Mr. L. S. Magee attended Presbytery meeting in Belleville last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen were also present during the afternoon, for the Moderator's address.

Mr. C. Rombough, who has been a patient in Kingston General Hospital, returned home on Tuesday.

A well attended meeting of the Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. R. Walker Wednesday evening. Mrs. R. M. Roblin will fill the office of president made vacant by the removal of Mrs. F. E. Foster, for the balance of the year.

Rev. K. J. Crawford of Enterprise, a former pastor on this charge, presented slides dealing with the missionary work of the United Church and Bible views in the church school room on Friday evening. The pictures were both interesting and instructive and all present were glad of the opportunity to meet Mr. Crawford again. The Junior girl's choir furnished music and the W. M. S. served lunch at the close of the programme.

In spite of cool weather quite a number of summer cottages are being occupied and many fishermen are seen on the bay.

A new summer house has been built on the shore of Hay Bay, on a lot purchased from Mr. W. Brooks.

Miss Jean Davis of MacDonald College, Guelph, who has been holidaying at home, leaves this week end for Muskoka, where she has accepted a summer position.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Merten Davis whose class standing at Napanee Collegiate Institute qualified him for farm leave without waiting for examinations.

Miss Vera Reeve is spending the week-end in Rochester, the guest of Mrs. D. Strickland.

ATHLETICS AND KINGSTON WORK IN PRACTICE

The local Napanee A's and Kingston had a serious workout over the week end at the local park, and the visitors took the A's by a narrow count.

Several hurlers tried out their flippers, and the among the lot were Semork, formerly of Belleville; Stan. McTaggart, and Ed. Hooper. The latter is apparently suffering no ill effects from the operation which was performed on his right elbow last winter.

Two stalwarts of last season, Gerow and Scarlet, were noticeably absent. Vinnie McQuaid, who patrolled the outfield for Kingston for the past several years, made his appearance with the A's. McQuaid is a good outfielder and a reliable hitter, and will be a welcome addition to the local outfit.

Tamworth, May 20: — One hundred members of the Masonic Order from Tamworth and surrounding lodges, attended a banquet in the Town Hall, Tamworth, on Tuesday night, May 16th, after a lodge session in the Masonic Hall. After drifking a toast to the King, the National Anthem was sung by all. Rt. Wor. Brother, W. S. Wilson, proposed a toast to the Grand Lodge, which was responded to by Rt. Wor. Brother Meldrum, District Deputy Grand Master of Frontenac District. Rt. Wor. Bro. Herbert York proposed a toast to the visiting Brethren, which was responded to by Wor. Bro. Jos. Lewis, Wor. Brother Harold Thompson of Victoria Lodge, Wor. Brother Stan. Reid of Napanee and Brother Grey of Montreal. Wor. Bro. J.B. Adair proposed a toast to the Members of Tamworth United Church W. A. who prepared and served the turkey dinner. Due to the absence of the president, this was responded to by Mrs. W.G. Richmond. The singing of the National Anthem brought a pleasant evening to a close.

L. O. L. Memorial Services

A large number of members of the Loyal Orange Lodges of the County as well as members of the local Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and members of surrounding ladies' lodges, attended the annual memorial service held in Christ's Church, at two-thirty on Sunday afternoon. The procession formed up at the lodge room and marched to the church in a body. Rev. F. Q. Ware preached a powerful sermon from the first seven verses of the 21st chapter of the Book of Revelations. The choir rendered special music. The church was tastefully decorated with spring flowers among which was a beautiful basket of snapdragons, which was placed on the altar in memory of deceased members, by the Tamworth L. O. L. Upon returning to the lodge room, Deputy County Master, Rev. Kenneth Crawford of Enterprise, took the chair and mentioned the fact that the assembly had just heard a splendid sermon, one to be remembered. He called upon several for a few remarks, after which the National Anthem was sung.

In Loving Memory

HAWLEY — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, G. F. Hawley, who died on May 23rd, 1948

Gone from us, but leaving memories

Death can never take away;
Memories that will always linger
While upon this earth, we stay.

Ever remembered by his
21ap WIFE and FAMILY.

SEDORE — In loving memry of a dear husband and father, Benjamin J. Sedore, who passed away May 31, 1945.

Calm and peceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain.
We who loved him, sadly miss him
But trust in God, to meet again.

Ever remembered by his
21a Wife, MATTILDA.

MACDONALD — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, James M. MacDonald, who passed away on May 26th, 1940.

God knew that he was suffering.
That the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed his weary eyelids
And whispered "Peace be thine.'
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest, so fair;
Some time, some day, we know not when
We will meet our father, there.

Sadly missed by his
21ap WIFE and FAMILY.

Deseronto Lost An Outstanding Citizen In Death of R. Wessman

Stricken suddenly, Friday, May 12, with a heart attack, Rez. Wessman died at his home on Green Street in Deseronto, within a few minutes. A leader in the life of this community since coming to Deseronto in 1907, Mr. Wessman's death came as a great shock to the town and district.

Born in Norway, sixty years ago, Ragnvald (Peg) Wessman was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wessman. He came to Canada in 1903 and married the former Asta Louisa Hansen in Toronto on November 14, 1917. They moved to Belleville in 1921 and to Deseronto in 1932, when the late Mr. Wessman and his brother, Sigurd, entered the manufacture of electrical appliances here and their company, the Redi-Heat Electric Co. Limited, has been an important Deseronto industry since then.

A leader in fraternal, church and community circles, the late Mr. Wessman was a devoted member of the Masonic Order. He was a member of the Mount Sinai Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons, Napanee, and served as an officer of Craig Lodge No. 401, A.F. and A.M., Deseronto, for many years and in 1947 was worshipful master of the lodge.

Elected people's warden of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Deseronto, shortly after his arrival here, deceased had served in this capacity continuously until this year. He had also served as church delegate to the Synod continuously from the time of his arrival here until his death. He was also an active member of the church choir and the men's club and was president of the Lennox and Addington Deanery Men's Clubs at one time.

A charter member of the Deseronto Lions Club, the late Mr. Wessman was president of the club for the 1948-49 term and had been a member of the Napanee Lions Club before the Deseronto Lions Club was formed. He played a leading role in the organization of Deseronto Club and was one of the founders of the Deseronto Chamber of Commerce.

He was also at one time a member of the Deseronto Board of Education and was a member of the Lennox and Addington Manufacturers' Association.

Left to mourn a deep loss is his wife and a daughter, Osa, of Toronto, as well as two brothers, Sig. Wessman, of Deseronto, and Arnt Wessman, of Rock Island, Illinois, and a sister, Miss Paula Wessman, of Hamilton.

A capacity attendance was on hand on Sunday evening for a Masonic service at the Graham and White Funeral Home. A short service was held at two o'clock Monday afternoon, May 15th, from the Graham and White Funeral Home with the main service at St. Mark's Church at 2:15 o'clock, conducted by the rector, Canon W. E. Kidd.

One of the largest congregations to attend a funeral at the church was present for the obsequies. The honorary pallbearers were: A. C. Reynolds, F. H. Ball, Claude G. Thompson, Percy S. VanVlack, Delbert Harvey and Gordon Walker. The active pallbearers were: Wilbert Goodman, Bruce Pratt, John W. Glen, Thomas Bowen, A. E. Walker and Ernie Lake.

Members of the church choir also took part in the service and interment was at the Deseronto Cemetery.

WCTU Workers Review Year's Activities

Convention Held Recently in Picton

The 41st Annual W. C. T. U. Convention of the Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward Counties was held in the United Church, Picton, on Wednesday, May 10th.

The County President, Mrs. A. T. Fleming, was in the chair. Mrs. Roy Hobson conducted a short but inspiring consecration service. Mrs. Nettleton read the 100th Psalm, and Mrs. Hobson gave a brief but very earnest talk on the need for and importance of consecration. The resolution plan of work, courtesy and nominating committees were appointed. Mrs. F. L. Hooper led a worship service in her usual capable and inspiring manner.

Mrs. Fleming called the Roll of the Counties to which Mrs. Stirling Palmatier, Mrs. E. Farnsworth and Mrs. Morden replied, giving interesting reports of the year's work.

Mrs. F. L. Hooper thanked the local superintendents for the very complete reports they had sent in and felt that the work in this department is being well done. The World's Day of Prayer was observed in most Unions.

Many have sent copies of Tidings to Public Schools and many visits were made to sick and shut-in friends. Also made special efforts to welcome the new Canadians who have come to our midst.

Mrs. Empey reported that six unions sent in reports on citizenship and had welcomed newcomers, especially new Canadians.

Mrs. Miller, of Napanee, Finance Superintendent, stressed need for new members and asked the treasurers to remit money raised, early, preferably twice a year.

Mrs. Rose reported two unions had superintendents of narcotics and had put on a special program. This also is a growing evil in our land to which we should awaken before it gets firmly entrenched.

Mrs. H. Hobson reported many new members in the Little White Ribboners.

The nominating committee brought in their report, Mrs. M.S. Lehigh was elected president; Mrs. E. Farnsworth, vice - president; Mrs. Maurice Head, 2nd vice; Mrs. B. F. Denison, rec.-sec.; Mrs. E. M. Ruttan, corr.-secretary; Miss Maude Reeves, treasurer; Mrs. F. Mills, Y secretary; Miss Elsie Parks, L.T.L. secretary. Mrs. B. McKay took charge of the elections and Mrs. L. Wright acted as corr-sec., in the absence of Mrs. E. M. Ruttan, who left for England a week ago and while there will attend the World's W.C.T.U. convention.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The afternoon session opened with a beautiful memorial service, conducted by South Marysburgh Union. Mrs. Carson Scott presiding.

Mrs. Scott read a poem, "There is No Death," and after a hymn was sung, called on Mrs. (Rev.) Smith of Milford, to read the Scripture.

Mrs. Cecil Lobb, accompanied by Miss Kathryn Head, gave a very beautiful rendering of "The Lord's Prayer."

Then as Mrs. L. Wright read the names of members who died during the last year, Mrs. Don. Wolbanks read a memorial verse and Mrs. Scott placed a red carnation in a basket of white snapdragons in memory of each name read.

The singing of a hymn and prayer brought to a close an inspiring service which made all feel that though they rest from their labors their works do follow them.

The beautiful basket of flowers was given by Miss Maizie Carson in memory of her mother.

Flower Mission

The superintendents reported many boxes of fruit, flowers, plants, letters and cards sent to sick members.

Miss E. Parks, L.T.L. superintendent gave an interesting and inspiring report of work done and work planned.

The work of the prison and jails committee is carried on by the Salvation Army. Mrs. Finlay, Newburgh, reported for Sabbath Observance and Mrs. George Wilson for Publicity and Social.

Mrs. George Hicks, non - alcoholic drinks superintendent, said we should stress the use of fruit juices instead of cocktails at social affairs.

Mrs. A. Palmatier spoke of the willing help from teachers and of the interest and co-operation of parents and children in the essay contest.

Mrs. Phillips, Wellington, reported that the camp fund last year, amounted to $955 cash on hand $355, and it is hoped many girls between age of this opportunity to enjoy a healthy and helpful holiday. Information regarding this may be had from the local Unions.

Mrs. Stanley Whattam spoke of the importance of the scientific temperance work among the schools. Picton pupils had made 100 posters and wrote ninety essays. The outstanding Unions in this work were Trenton and Wellington. Many county awards had been given and three provincial prizes won. Mrs. E. Farnsworth presented these later in the afternoon and Miss E. Parks asked that the L.T.L. banner go in rotation to No. 6 Richmond, Selby and Strathcona as all had done fine work and were deserving of this honor.

The corresponding - secretary's report showed 319 active members, six honorary members, 76 regular meetings held.

The outstanding address of the afternoon was the address by Mrs. Beth McKay on "Does Beer or Liquor Belong?" This address certainly showed heart-rending results who liquor forces itself, as it often does, where it does not belong.

In beginning her address, Mrs. McKay referred to the manifold temptations to which the young people of today are subjected. The insidious advertising of radio, newspaper and television where young people are continually told in indirect ways that liquor adds to the gracious way of life; that it is impolite to refuse a social glass or cocktail, though Emily Post does say the gracious hostess should always provide an alternative drink. Every means is taken to induce our young people to drink 'moderately', of course.

After Mrs. McKay's address, a short time was spent in discussion.

An interesting part of the program then took place. The local presidents each spoke for one minute on "How to Increase Our Membership." Those taking part were Mesdames M. Head, Phillips, Farnsworth, Langford, Hobson and Wartman. They all seemed to have the same theme, 'It pays to advertise, and the short talks were very interesting. Picton Union was very pleased that their president, Mrs. Roy Hobson stood first and will receive a sterling silver spoon as a memento of the occasion.

The officers for next year were installed by Mrs. McKay, after which Mrs. Fleming presented Mrs. Lehigh, the new president, with the gavel, a symbol of office.

The afternoon session closed with prayer.

HANNA - COATES NUPTIALS

St. Mary Magdalene's Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Monday, May 15th, at 6:45 p.m., when Marjorie Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Coates, Napanee, was united in marriage to George William, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanna, of Centreville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white satin with a net yoke. The bodice was trimmed with lace. The train of the dress was circular. Her veil was white net and the headdress was of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of mauve orchids and white rose buds.

Mrs. Mary Spencer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of apple green taffeta. She carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas and white carnations.

Nancy Hanna, sister of the groom was junior bridesmaid. She wore orchid taffeta and carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas and white carnations.

The groomsman was Keith Weese, Centreville, and the ushers were Bill Coates, brother of the bride and Jack Spencer, brother-in-law of the bride.

Rev. W. J. Robinson performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. W. R. Coates and Mrs. Harold Moore sang 'Because.'

The church was decorated with baskets of flowers at the altar and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

After the ceremony, a reception was held for ninety guests in the Sunday school room of St. Mary Magdalene Church. The bride's mother received the guests in a navy dress with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother also wore navy with pink accessories and pink carnations.

Seated at the grandmothers' table were Mrs. P. Ford, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. Quail, grandmother of the groom. Mrs. Ford was dressed in grey with black accessories and Mrs. Quail wore navy.

A toast was proposed by Rev. W. J. Robinson, to which the groom responded.

The room was beautifully decorated with white bells and mauve and white streamers. The tables were covered with large lace tablecloths, narcissi, daffodils and mauve sweet peas. A large three-tier wedding cake centred the table.

For travelling the bride chose a navy blue suit with matching top coat and accessories and a corsage of mauve orchids. The bride and groom left for a honeymoon in Watertown and Poland, N.Y. On their return they will reside at Tamworth.

Out-of-town guests were here from Amherst Island, Kingston, Centreville Newburgh, Toronto and Belleville.

The bride's gift to the soloist and organist was a cup and saucer; to the bridesmaid, a pair of pearl earrings. Her gift to the junior bridesmaid and flower girl was a locket and to the waitresses, perfume. To the groomsman and ushers the bride gave ties and the groom presented them with leather billfolds.

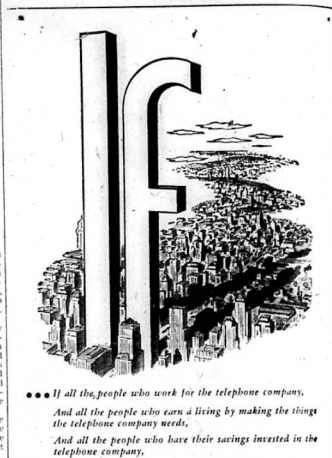
U. S. Border Permits Extended One Year

Windsor, Ont. — All border-crossing permits for automobiles of Canadian travellers to the United States will be valid until March 31, 1951, it was announced last week by Edgar Wackett, Collector of Customs at Windsor.

The ruling thus makes regulations the same as they were before March 22. At that time an Ottawa announcement said a permit would have to be made out each time a traveller drove into the United States, with the exception of commuters.

There was opposition to this ruling and the permits were made valid for a six-month period. Now they have been extended to a yearly basis.

The permit, one copy of which is held by the Customs Department, shows the licence number of the vehicle; its serial number and lists all accessories.



If all the people who work for the telephone company,
And all the people who earn a living by making the things the telephone company needs,
And all the people who have their savings invested in the telephone company,
And all the people who depend on good telephone service to run their businesses and manage their homes;
If all these people, with their families, lived in one city,
This City-With-No-Name would be by far the largest in Canada, and one of the largest in the world.

Keeping pace with the growing needs of communities everywhere for more and better telephone service has taken lots of work and lots of money.

Only a financially healthy telephone company can carry on this big job.

Telephone users, employees, shareholders — everyone has a vital interest in a service that means so much to the welfare of so many people.

The whole terrible story of the Manitoba floods is graphically expressed in this photo of Andrew Dinning, an old age pensioner of Winnipeg, who is one of the thousands of flood victims. In ill health, with no money in the bank, he was forced to leave his home without any of his personal belongings. His tobacco pouch, his photographs, his clothes, even his razor, were all left behind. His only hope lies in the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund which has been established in Winnipeg to aid flood victims who lost their furniture and possessions. Donations are urgently needed and can be sent direct to the Fund in Winnipeg or paid into any Bank in Canada.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke Have Two Anniversaries This Year

Rev. W. H. Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, residents of Deseronto, are celebrating this year the Fiftieth Anniversary of their marriage and the Fiftieth Anniversary of Mr. Clarke's ordination as a minister of the former Methodist Church and the United Church.

To mark these events Mr. Clarke preached last Sunday morning in the Deseronto United Church at a service specially arranged in his honor. Tributes were paid to Mr. and Mrs. Clarke for the service they have given to the church.

Mr. Clark was ordained at the Conference of the Methodist Church held at Port Hope in 1900. He was accepted as a student for the ministry in 1895. Sent to Mugwomph and Port Stewart in the Bancroft district, he also served as assistant minister at Orono. Later he took two years' training at Wesleyan Theological College in Montreal, where he won the special prize offered by the Sunday schools of Montreal for proficiency in leadership training in Sunday school work.

In the same year as he was ordained, Mr. Clarke married Mary R. Wellstood of Kinmount, on August 16th. Mrs. Clarke has been a wonderful help to her husband in his work.

Served Many Fields

Since ordination Rev. Mr. Clarke has served on many fields. In 1900 he was minister at Plevna and from 1901 to 1905 was at Mountain Grove. He served Glenvalley from 1905 to 1907 and after a year at Wilfrid was appointed to Marmora, serving there until he went to Cavan, near Peterborough, in 1916, serving there until 1920. With a view to the coming church union, he was appointed to Tamworth in 1920, serving there until union in 1925, in charge of both the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations in that area. This tentative arrangement proved to be such a happy co-operation that, after five years, it resulted in every family of both these groups coming by unanimous choice into the new United Church of Canada.

After three years at Hilton, Rev. Mr. Clarke was invited to Shannonville, remaining there nine years, until retirement from the active ministry in 1937, when they came to Deseronto to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke have four children: Gerald in Milwaukee, Levi in Windsor, Douglas in Windsor and Helen, Mrs. Claude Martin, Selby.

PERRY ROMBOUGH SWEEPSTAKE WINNER

Napanee Resident Holds Ticket 2nd Place Horse Valued at $31,000

Perry Rombough Winner of $31,000

— Staff Photo.

Undoubtedly the most excited people in Napanee during the past week end were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rombough when word was received of a $15,000 prize on the Irish Sweepstakes, which will net him from $30,000 to $31,000, taking into consideration the present devalued pound.

Mr. Rombough held a ticket on Prince Simon, a five to two favorite, which was nosed out in the last few feet of the race and came in second.

Despite the excitement experienced by Mr. Rombough at his good fortune, Monday morning found him at work as usual at the Napanee Novelties, where he has been employed by G. E. Gilbard since 1938. Mr. Rombough is not letting his luck go to his head. He plans to continue at his job and has made definite arrangements to invest his money in government bonds. Some time ago Mr. Rombough had an offer from England of £2,000 for his ticket, which fortunately he turned down.

Mr. Rombough is a hard working married man, with a family of four children. Besides his regular job with the Napanee Novelties he has carried on on his own time a refinishing and furniture repairing business. He is a skilled workman with very little spare time on his hands.

Mr. Rombough is one of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rombough, who live at Sillsville. He is married to Eileen Gallagher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gallagher, Sillsville, and has four children, Harvey 17, Bob 15, Joanna 14, and Mary 12. He came to Napanee in 1938 and resides on Robert St. He enlisted in 1941 and was discharged in 1945, having overseas from 1942 to 1945 with the R.C.E.M.E.

UNPASTEURIZED MILK BEING SOLD ILLEGALLY

It has recently come to the attention of the County Health Unit that unpasteurized milk is being sold for use as fluid milk in townships where it is illegal to sell unpasteurized milk. This unsafe milk is being used for infant feeding and for children. There is a heavy penalty if it can be proved that raw milk is being sold retail in pasteurized areas.

Undulant fever has been reported in the County due to drinking unpasteurized milk. Other diseases such as septic sore throat, typhoid and paratyphoid fever can be spread by raw milk. As most of the cows in the County have been tuberculin tested and the reactors destroyed, there is little danger of bovine tuberculosis from drinking raw milk. However, raw milk is certainly unsafe, and must not be sold for use as fluid milk in any pasteurized area which includes practically the whole County.

Billy Templeton First Prize Winner Soap Box Derby

May 24th Event Sponsored by Cubs

— Staff Photo.

Some of the Entrants in Soap Box Derby

Considerable interest was shown in the Soap Box Derby, sponsored by the Napanee Cubs, on Wednesday, May 24th. The first prize winner was Billy Templeton, who won a silver cup donated by J. D. Mayhew for the fastest race; second prize winner was Joe Beach, and third prize winner was David Brady. A special prize for the car in best mechanical condition went to Barry Hart.

There were only eight cars entered this year, quite a few less than last year. There were four heats, with two cars in each race. The winner of each heat contested in a final race for first place. A special heat of four cars was run for second prize winner.

The Soap Box Derby was inaugurated last year by Doug. Exley. This year the Derby was in charge of Harry Taylor and John Griffiths, the Cub Masters. John Griffiths acted as starter. Judges were Jerry Brignall and Don. Miller.

Only one mishap occurred, when David Brady's car went out of control and knocked over a small girl, who was fortunately not seriously hurt.

The races were run on Centre St. from Dundas to Mill Streets. A ramp was placed at the top of the hill, from which the cars were started.

Contributions to West Flood Fund Received at Beaver

This Office Requested by Kinsmen and Kinettes to Accept Donations

At the request of the Kinsmen and Kinette Clubs in Napanee, "The Napanee Beaver" has consented to accept contributions to the National Fund in aid of Manitoba Flood Relief, which is being sponsored by the Kinsmen Clubs throughout Canada.

There is no need to stress the need for support of the Fund. Plenty of information regarding the damage done has been carried in all the papers and over the radio during the past several weeks. Now that the flood waters are receding, the danger may be that interest on the part of the people of the Dominion, may also lessen.

Now that residents of the flooded areas are being allowed to return to their homes, the extent of the damage done by the water can be assessed. Many thousands of homes will have to be almost entirely rebuilt. Furniture has been destroyed beyond repair. The cost of cleaning up the dirt and slime left by the water, will be tremendous. Thousands of people will have lost nearly all they possess. It will be months before the damage can be repaired and millions of dollars will be needed to defray the expense.

Every citizen of Canada, who possibly can, should make some contribution toward the fund to rehabilitate the residents of the area.

Arrangements have been made for interim receipts to be given to subscribers to the Fund and official receipts will be sent by the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Contributions made will be allowed as income tax exemptions.

Contributions received so far by the Kinsmen Club, are :

Douglas & Kennedy Lumber Company	$25.00
Bob Clark, Kingston, Kinsmen Governor	5.00

A list of contributions will be published, each week.

Driver Escapes With Slight Injury In Transport Crash

Heavily Loaded Vehicle Nearly Wrecks Bridge Over Napanee River

Working frantically for two hours and fifteen minutes, in an effort to free Bob Johnston, of Toronto, driver of a Hanson Wholesale Grocery Transport, who was pinned in the cab of the vehicle, workers were able to release the man from the wreck and rush him to hospital by ambulance, for treatment of apparent shock and bad bruises. The transport, which was headed West, at about 3:20 a.m., jackknifed on the old steel bridge at the eastern entrance of the town, after the transport had struck a bump just east of the bridge and The tractor piled up on the south side of the structure, shearing off all the wheels and crushing the cab in such a manner that the dash of the vehicle was against the glass of the rear window.

The entire body of the tractor was telescoped but fortunately the driver was tossed to the right hand side. The motor piled up against the steering column which caught the victim's feet and held him a prisoner in the cab. Rescue workers, aided by Constable Earl Baker, who is to be commended for his efforts, had to practically tear the steel and frame apart to get at the part holding the driver.

Several attempts were made to pull the 18-ton trailer away from the wrecked tractor, but this was only accomplished by hooking two heavily loaded transports together. The necessary space was gained to allow the rescuers room to get at the back of the cab and hook chains through it and winch it up to free the trapped man.

The Napanee Fire Department and Police were called by Mr. Earl Pollard and Mr. Homer Storey, who heard the trapped driver calling for help. The danger of an explosion was averted by the constant use of water washing the gasoline into the river. It would have taken only a spark to make a holocaust of the wreck.

After the driver was freed and taken to hospital, the two trucks pulled the remainder of the cab onto the road and the motor fell out of the frame. It is a miracle, indeed, that any person could have survived such a crash, let alone come out of it practically unhurt.

The three-hour tie-up in traffic on one of Ontario's main highways, saw over one hundred transports, besides numerous other vehicles, lined up before the road was cleared. Some traffic was diverted across the overhead bridge above the C.N.R. tracks and over the new Centre St. bridge, but heavy transports were not allowed to use the overhead bridge.

The pile-up of transports in the three-hour period of the hold-up gives some evidence of the amount of heavy traffic parsing through the town.

TANK EXPLODES EASTVIEW SCHOOL

Transport Causes Power Cut - Off

About 12:30 a.m. last Saturday a Husband Transport went out of control and after going into the ditch broke off a Hydro pole at the top of Roblin Hill, near the Rock Cut Inn. Considerable damage was done to the Transport, but the driver escaped serious injury. Electric power was interrupted for a short time.

Fosbraey Trial Again Postponed To June 12th

Commission's Report Just Received From England

Sheriff H. W. Webster received word on Friday, May 26, that the trial of James Fosbraey, charged with the murder of his wife, June Fosbraey, has been postponed again until Monday, June 12th.

The trial was scheduled to start on Monday of this week, May 29th, but the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court, presided over by the Chief Justice of Ontario, J. C. McRuer... An adjournment was granted at that time until April 11th at the request of Fosbraey's Counsel, R. E. Nourse, of Picton. Later an adjournment was granted until May 29th.

Mr. Nourse asked for the adjournments in order to secure further psychiatric examination of Fosbraey, and for examination by a commission from England regarding his background.

The results of the commission's findings have been received, but did not arrive in Canada in time to allow Fosbraey's Counsel and the Crown to examine them in time for the trial to be proceeded with on Monday of this week. It is expected the trial will definitely start on June 12th.

NAPANEE ATHLETICS TAKE FIRST TWO C.O.B.L. GAMES

BROCKVILLE AND PICTON VICTIMS

The Napanee Athletics, who have stepped into a higher class of baseball, have, so far, proved their decision by taking the first two games played in the schedule.

In the first affair the locals pounded out an 11 to 6 victory over the Brockville entry in a holiday fixture, and again at Napanee they shut out their perennial rivals 7 to 0 in a free hitting affair with Ed. Hooper allowing only two scratch hits and his team mates playing airtight ball behind him.

Miller started for Picton and during his tenure of office he gave nickel for six solid clouts in five innings, two doubles by Hayes and Gerow, and a ringing triple by Jim Markle. Abbott was called to the rubber and the change of pace slowed the locals for the balance of the innings, which proved to be the last due to the late start.

Errors cost the Picton squad several runs. Four of a total of six coming in the third.

Dueltis and Abbott were the only successful batters to manage a hit, both singles.

Prior to the game, Mayor Vine, Warden R. Perry, and Lion President, Chas. Hanna, officially opened the season by making the first play of the game.

TWO SERIOUS FIRES AT ODESSA WEDN. MORNING

About 12:15 a.m., on Wednesday (to-day) fire was discovered in Bob Wright's Grist Mill near the dam, in Odessa. The Fire Department was called and was able to extinguish the blaze before the building was completely destroyed. The mill is one of the oldest buildings in Odessa.

Again the same morning, an apparent attempt was made to set fire to Babcock's Saw Mill. The fire was discovered in time, before any headway was gained.

There are indications which point to incendiarism in both fires and police are investigating.

LARGE NUMBER TAKE PARTS IN ROTARY PLAY

Under the direction of Miss Ricky M. Ryan, an entertainment, sponsored by the Napanee Rotary Club, was presented on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 25th and 26th, at the Prince Charles School auditorium. Fairly good crowds were in attendance both evenings.

An amusing comedy formed the main part of the programme, interspersed with musical numbers and dancing. Peggy Sheppard and Jack Boyle took the leading parts in the comedy, which was presented in eleven scenes. Beverly Wightman acted as pianist. Proceeds are for the benefit of disaster relief at Winnipeg and Rimouski.

The eleven scenes were as follows: 'We've Got Your Number,' 'Honeymooning at Reola Roola', 'Santa Claus Land,' 'Sweetheart Serenade', 'Take it or Leave it,' 'Easter Lde,' 'Merry Merry Marching,' 'The Breakfast Club,' 'Vacationtime', 'Happy, Happy Labor Daze', and the 'Showboat Minstrels.'

Those who took part were: Ann Storey, Yvonne Paquin, Jean Coulter, Shirley Shaw, Ann Moore, Warren Young, Ella Conger, Pat Leary, Carol Perry, Barbara Hom, Mervyn Owen, Jerry McCaul, Bert Beach, Deverde Powell, George White, Chas. School Pupils Plant Trees on County Forest Area

Several successful tree planting days have been held recently, and Zone Forester Edwards finds the interest shown in the schools most encouraging. At Flinton, on Monday, May 15, on the Lennox and Addington County Forest Area, 164 pupils, representing ten schools in Sheffield, Richmond, and Camden East Townships, established their plots arranged under the School Forestry competition. The following day, May 16, 32 pupils from the Flinton Continuation School planted up several difficult areas, that could not be reached with the tree planter. The latter, incidentally, is proving to be quite an asset, and will be used for the balance of the planting, amounting to some 52,000 trees.

EMPIRE DAY AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

One of the finest Empire Day concerts ever prepared in Napanee was given on Tuesday, May 23rd, at the Prince Charles School, under the able leadership of Mr. W. L. Bell. A fine feature of the programme was that practically every child had a part to delight his heart and make him feel that indeed he was helping to build the Great Commonwealth.

The beginning was based on the idea of the 'Old Woman in the Shoe' and the shoe opened to spill forth the children of this great mother.

The parts were as follows:

K.P. and Grade I — Teachers, Miss C. Frisken — and Miss Helen Sexsmith: 'Our King and our Flag'.

Grade II — Teacher, Miss J. Gibbons, 'Workers of Canada'.

Grades II and III — Miss J. Derbyshire and Mrs. L. MacKenzie: Song, 'Our Country's Name is Canada'.

Grades IV and V — Miss F. Ware and Mrs. H. Holden: 'Peoples of the Empire'.

Grades V and VI — Miss E. Aylesworth and Miss M. Ann Mayhew, J. Hagerman: 'Explorers and Discoverers of the Empire'.

Grade VIII — Mr. G. Welton: 'Pioneers Established the Commonwealth'.

Grade VIII — Miss A. Turner and Mr. L. Bell: 'Wings Over the Empire.'

The musical accompanist throughout was Miss Dorothy Scott whose music wove a magic background for the concert. The parents who came to support their children and show an interest in this celebration were well rewarded for their efforts.

At Eastview School, Mrs. W. L. Bell and Miss Fay Sexsmith also presented an entertaining Empire Day programme based on the suggestions given in the Empire Day book provided by the Department of Education, Toronto. x

GOING DOWN

The water of the Red River is going down. That is a word of welcome news. The world rejoices at the information. What does it mean? It means, for thousands of people that, the water that was up to the ceiling in the living room and the kitchen is now down as far as the table top. There is still plenty of water in the houses.

The water in the Red River is going down. That means, too, that the plaster on the walls is softened and beginning to crumble. It means that silt and muck and debris, which flooded into the rooms, is covering everything, every piece of furniture, every picture, every ornament.

The Red River is going down! That means that the first shock is over, and the people who have been evacuated — a hundred thousand — will soon be going back, to begin life all over again. They may find the car ruined, the foundations of the house undermined, the garage tilted over at an angle of forty or fifty degrees; bedding ruined, furnace out of commission, electrical wiring rendered unfit for use.

That might have been our homes. One would have welcomed help and encouragement. That is what the people of Winnipeg need most, and they need it, now! It is too early yet to know exactly how much will be needed of money and material aid. But a stock pile of money is urgent, so that when the day comes that the needs are made known, there will be ample funds to meet them.

There has been a great outpouring of wealth throughout Canada, for the relief of the flood sufferers. Newspapers, radio stations, churches, service clubs, banks and other agencies are collecting money. We are a wealthy people. These two great central provinces are rich in this world's goods. It is a privilege to share with our brothers and sisters in the West, who have lost all they possess.

The Red River is going down, and as it goes down the need for money becomes more apparent. This is an emergency — let there be a great sharing of our money with the bereft of it. The Banks will take money for the Manitoba Relief Fund; so will the Churches. No half-way measures will suffice. Generous gifts are a necessity, and a privilege.

JUNE

June is a month of brides, blossoms, and conferences. This week there is a migration of clergymen to the annual conferences. The cynic will say: "off for another holiday". Maybe! One of the finest things about a conference, whether it is that of the hardwaremen, the taxi drivers, or the preachers, is the opportunity it affords for those engaged in the same profession, business or calling, to renew friendship, swap experiences and talk shop.

To be sure, the clergymen will talk shop, this week, but the shop chatter will centre around the good life, how to attain it, and how to cultivate the love for it in others and in the community. They will talk about money that is essential; they will talk about recruits for the ministry, and about the application of religion to the home, to business and to the affairs of state. There are those who think the Church should keep out of some of these areas of life, and confine herself to the purely meditative and devotional aspects of the people. The Church, to-day, however, is not content to cut experience in two, the sacred and the secular — she deals with life as a whole.

The ministers will be talking about all those things, this week, and will, no doubt, be strengthened in their faith, and fired with new enthusiasm for their work.

The task, in this generation, for those who stand for the absolutes, is not an easy one. The secular spirit of the times has affected everybody. All that the Church stands for has been challenged, not only in Russia, but in all other countries, our own included, by the newer paganism. If democracy is to survive, it will need more than anything else the spirit of freedom, discipline, and self-sacrifice, which is the aim of the Church, to foster and develop.

Retreats, conclaves, conferences of church leaders, which encourage and inspire them to greater service, is all to the good.

"OILY?"

Retail business houses report an increase in instalment buying. That may mean one of two things. It may mean that cash is getting scarce, or it may mean that the wage earner is budgeting his salary more closely. In this country we have got used to the instalment method of buying. It is convenient; it is efficient. We all have income tax deductions, and that is a sort of instalment buying by the government. There is no stigma attached to instalment buying. Merchants welcome it and encourage it — and the purchaser of the car, pays as he drives, or if it is milady's coat, she pays as she wears. In this part of the world, it is quite the thing.

In England, the practice of instalment, is not very popular. It is only just beginning to catch on, and they are just about in that stage of development where one likes to buy on the instalment plan, but hates to admit it to his friends. W. N. O'Connor, in 'Public Opinion' puts it this way:

"For some reason people have always been slightly ashamed of Hire-purchase. I suppose some of the more rapacious transactions in home furnishing a few years ago, are responsible for this but, in the main, it is a very sensible arrangement with the majority of people fairly satisfied — not excluding the money lenders, who get 4 or 5 per cent. on their cash, with negligible risk.

"The name hire-purchase sometimes masquerades as 'easy payments,' 'the instalment system,' or more slangily, as the 'never-never' and the 'glad-and-sorry.' Lately a new and genteel alternative has cropped up. Hire-purchase has put on a shiny frock coat and is now known as 'the Subscription Purchase Plan.'

"All very oily."

Now just what does he mean by that?

Sunday School Lesson June 4th

HABAKKUK TEACHES TRUST IN GOD.

Lesson Text: Habakkuk 1:1-4, 12-13; 2:1-4; 3:17-19.

All the information we have about Habakkuk is found in this book. It is impossible to reconstruct his life. It makes a special appeal to this generation because we, too, like the people of Habakkuk's day, have just come through a war. They had been hard hit. Their king, a progressive and former King Josiah had been killed. Their enemies, the Egyptians, had been defeated by Nebuchadnezzar, the King of the Babylonians. The situation looked very black.

The people were perplexed, baffled and frustrated. What should they do? There were rotten politics, and corruption in high places. The rank and file got fed up on it all. They were ready to call it quits. That is what many of them did. They saw the wicked prospering and said: "What's the use?" They went through their religious duties and then did as they pleased. They let the discipline of religion go.

It was a bad day for preachers. All one has to do to get that impression is to read the first few verses of this week's lesson. The preacher had done his best, but all he saw as the results of his work was injustice perverseness, and the prosperity of the wicked. Poor Habakkuk had a bad time with himself. He believed in God, saw the Babylonians conquering and destroying. They must be God's agents in judgment. Yet how could God use such people to accomplish His purpose? He really gets no answer. But he expresses his own deep and abiding faith just as Job had done under somewhat similar circumstances. Verse 17 on is one of the noblest passages in the Bible. The prophet declares that though the fig tree should blast, and the olive dries up, and the fields refuse to yield, and there are no cattle, yet I will rejoice in God". "I will joy in the God of my salvation".

Habakkuk had a deep and abiding faith. He was willing to stake his life he had that God and God's ways would finally prevail. In the midst of the darkest hours he found a faith by which to live. Our reaction to post war conditions is a lack of faith. We find it hard to believe that all things are working God's purpose out. There is a cold war on; there are strikes, and labor troubles. There is economic maladjustment. It all looks so black. How is the world meeting this, that is the ceremonial people, doping themselves with liquor and narcotics, finding escape in lurid movies and books. There is not much faith left.

Our greatest need today is for men of faith; men who cannot be moved, who believe that in spite of all are persuaded that God rules, that there are absolute standards of right and wrong, and that sometime this faith will be vindicated. Those are the kind of men that should be guiding the thinking of the world,—men of great faith.

MRS. RICHARD HILBERT DIED IN 92ND YEAR AT NANAIMO, B.C.

The death occurred suddenly on Sunday afternoon, May 14, of Mrs. Richard Hilbert, at her residence, 55 Prideaux St., Nanaimo, B.C. About two months ago Mrs. Hilbert suffered a severe heart attack, but she was apparently recovering her normal health, when the end came unexpectedly and very suddenly.

The late Mrs. Hilbert was born in 1858 at Napanee, Ontario, of United Empire Loyalist stock, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loucastine.

From Conway, Ontario, she came west to Nanaimo in August, 1908, and married Richard Hilbert, a furniture dealer. She worked with her husband in the business and carried on alone for some time after his death in 1921.

In her later years she has always maintained a keen interest in her home and garden. She was a member of St. Andrew's United Church, and of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Although she had reached her 92nd year, her mental faculties were keen and unimpaired to the last hour of life. This fact was borne out by the many friends who visited her in her home, and noted the active interest she took in the events of the day.

The last member of her immediate family, she is survived by several nieces and nephews. Miss Ada Asselstine, a niece, has cared for her aunt for the past 13 years.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Rev. Robert Moses, of St. Andrew's United Church, officiated.

Members of the W. C. T. U., of which she had been a member, attended in a body, and at the conclusion of the chapel service filed past the casket to deposit their white ribbons as a final mark of respect and love to a departed member.

OBITUARIES

JAMES KERR

Early Wednesday morning, May 10, Moscow lost one of its finest citizens, in the person of James Kerr, in his 85th year. Mr. Kerr was born in the Township of Portland, and was the eldest son of William Kerr, one of Portland's pioneer settlers.

He came to Moscow 52 years ago and married Marguerite Millsap, the fourth daughter of Hicks Millsap, a pioneer of the Moscow District, who predeceased him nine years ago.

The late James Kerr was a faithful member of the Anglican Church, a member of Victoria Lodge No. 299, G.R.C., A.F.& A.M. Centreville, Ont. A Conservative in politics, he took a keen interest in public affairs and stood for all that was upright and just and was outspoken against anything bordering on disohnesty, even among professed members of his own political party.

Mr. Kerr was a successful farmer and an intelligent agriculturist who studied the art of making two blades of grass grow where ordinarily there would be but one. He was also a successful breeder of Dual Purpose Shorthorn Cattle and frequently developed purebreds which would have won high awards, had they been placed on exhibition. To his calling as a farmer, his heart was attached, his energies were dedicated; around this all his interests revolved and for this alone, he lived.

His funeral was held from his late residence on Friday, May 12th, where a large concourse of relatives and friends had gathered. Rev. M. F. Oldham of Camden East conducted the service and the beautiful floral tributes bore silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Interment was made in the family plot in the Moscow Cemetery. Following the committal service by Rev. M. F. Oldham, the funeral service of the Masonic Order was fittingly solemnized with Craft ceremonies, by the Members and Brethren of the Centreville Masonic Lodge. — Written by J. Foster.

He was twice married, his first wife being Annie Melburn, who predeceased him a number of years ago. Later he was united in marriage to Lucy Osborne, who survives.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon, May 17th, from his late home to the United Church, where Rev. Robert L. S. Throop had charge of the service. The choir rendered the anthem "Does Jesus Care." After the service the remains were conveyed to the Kimmett Burying Ground, where interment took place beside the remains of his deceased wife. THE SOURCE OF top management

Here is a typical bank manager—43, married, with a growing family. He is active in community affairs. When he joined the bank as a junior, he was 17, just out of high school. He soon moved up. By his late twenties he was accountant in his branch.

He worked hard. All the time he was learning about banking, about Canada, too, in various branches, different areas . . . learning to know people—their hopes, fears, problems —the importance of the human factor.

At 36 he was branch manager. Now he has another, larger branch. And his way to advancement is still open. His general manager started as a junior, too . . . and carried with him to the top the business experience and human understanding gained along the way.

FOUL TIPS...

by "Red" Miller

The Season is on us again . . . and once more it is the intention of the Editors to make an attempt to cover the highlights of baseball . . . of which there will be plenty in the Napanee teams have decided to take a flyer in a higher class of ball. So far, are doing alright. . . . The Athletics, who played in the Belleville and District League last season, stepped up into the C.O.B.L. . . . and now take on clubs from Bata, Picton, Kingston, Brockville and Smiths Falls.

The last year Legionnaires have gone up a rung on the ladder and forsaken the County Loop for the B. & D. League. In short, no Napanee teams have taken a spot in County Ball.

The Lions Juniors of last year . . . so far, have not made an appearance. This does not mean that Minor ball has faded from the picture . . . in fact it will be more predominant than ever . . . so far as the Town is concerned anyway. At least four teams of kids will be looked after.

Added to the above . . . a District Bush League is being set up, with teams from Bath, Dorland, Deseronto, and two from Napanee, to round out a season full of baseball . . . and more baseball.

In the Senior Ball, the Athletics are sitting on top of the heap . . . at present . . . much to the surprise of many . . . including yours truly. The A's declined to take over both the Brockville squad and Harvey McFarland's Athletics, pro . . . that . . . we still know little about the popular pastime and its exponents.

The scene is being handed out to the Napanee Merchants by the Flyers was a hard pill to swallow . . . and especially at home. That did not deter the spirits of those carrying the Merchants banner . . . they drew a tie with the Belleville Cubs . . . 6 all . . . in the next affair . . . with a few serious practices under their belt . . . and continued support . . . we bet they won't be far from the top at the end of the season.

The decision of Keith Weese, of last year's Lions Juniors, to head for greener fields, was a hard blow to District baseball . . . but good ball pitchers do not come a dime a dozen and the Northerners knew one when they faced Weese last Fall. The Napanee fans, along with those from his home section, will watch with interest the efforts of a boy who has all the earmarks of a 'big-leaguer'.

Lots of changes have taken place . . . not only in Town, but in other places as well . . . Vinny McQuade, formerly of the Ponies . . . has thrown his lot in with the Napanee A's . . . as has Semark, of Belleville. Added to those veterans are a couple of Fighters . . . Johnny Munro . . . Hugh Finlay, and Frank Harten.

Art. Scarlet, Ken. Murphy, Gord. Curry, and Ray Vick, are missing from the A's roster . . . the latter, the only one playing this season, is on first base for the Merchants. Gerow, who was absent from the game during the pre-season warm-up, has made an appearance and from what we gather will be on hand most of the game's.

Don't forget the Benefit Game in Kingston, Thursday, June 1, at 8:30 p.m. — Monarchs vs. Napanee A's. All proceeds to Manitoba Flood Relief. Bus leaves Napanee at 7:00 o'clock.

Baseball's Hall of Fame has another name added to the greats . . . Lou Miracle, second sacker of the Trenton 6RD team, clouted the ball over the fence at the 1,000 mark in a game here last week. The feat is only the second one since the Park was built . . . Red Jubenville, playing for Oshawa, getting the honor some years ago . . . when you lift a ball over the fence in "fair" ground in the Lions operated Gibbard Memorial Park . . . you really have to clout it . . . Home runs are as scarce as hen's teeth in this Park.

The Picton squad . . . or as they are now known, "McFarland's Athletics" . . . are having executive trouble . . . at least that is what we gathered after the game here on Friday last. Strong accusations and heated arguments ensued in the locker room following the 7 to 6 shutout . . . Apparently the old time executive was handed the gate and a new one installed . . . and the team fails to get the needed . . . so they say . . . equipment. . . . Those who listened in on the affair are of the opinion that the P. E. boys won't be in the league too long. . . . Rumors have it that a team in Napanee are looking at Dyer with longing eyes. . . . He would be an asset . . . But we wouldn't count on that possibility becoming a reality. . . . Those boys who live out on Lake Ontario have a strong tie that is hard to break. . . . We could remind them also that the Napanee fans, and there were quite a number who heard the fracas . . . do not go in for the type of grammar that was aired that night by players who were supposed to be gentlemen and sports. . . . Need we say more?

PRESENTATION, WILTON, TO BRIDE AND GROOM

Mr. Fred McPherson was chairman for a short program, which was as follows: vocal solo, Always, by Mrs. E. Huff; vocal solo, All Because you Kissed me Good-night, by Little Marilyn Burt; piano duet, by Delores and Patsy Burt; piano solo by Mrs. Harold Babcock; two vocal solos with guitar accompaniment by Barbara Knight.

FLYERS POUND MERCHANTS IN INITIAL TILT

LOCALS LOSE FIRST GAME 33 TO 8

Coupling 21 hits, 7 of which were for extra bases, with 12 glaring errors, the Napanee merchants took a drubbing that will be hard to equal in any kind of baseball.

Everything went wrong as the saying goes. The Airmen drove two starters to the showers early in the game, and Robinson finished the hurling for the locals. Mike Perry was relieved in the fourth by Switzer, and Hobinson took over in the sixth.

For the winners, Sam Ellis he'd the locals acceeless for five frames, when he yielded two walks and a hit that saw two Merchants cut over the plate. Garrett took over and before the end of the frame he was nicked for three singles, walked two, and his team erred twice to give the Napanee team six runs. Mulloney was rushed to the rubber and stemmed the tide, allowing only one runner a scratch single.

The feature of the game was the smashing home run by Loil Maracle in the eighth, when he clouted the ball over the 360-ft. mark on the outfield fence, the second such a hit since the Park was built.

Christie, for the Flyers, had a field day at bat. Coming up eight times he scored seven runs and was left stranded on second in the ninth.

WEDDING BELLS

LONG - HART

A very pretty wedding took place at Selby United Church parsonage, on Thursday, May 18th, when Grace Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hart of Roblin, became the bride of Harold Bryden Long, second son of Mrs. Russell Long and the late Mr. Long, of Tamworth. The Rev. W. R. Merrick performed the wedding ceremony at 2:00 o'clock, in the presence of near relatives.

The bride looked charming, dressed in white satin, with a net and lace yoke. Her veil was fastened to a coronet and she carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. James Parks, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid. She was dressed in pink moire silk and also carried white roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. James Parks, brother-in-law of the groom.

A reception was held at the bride's home for intimate friends and relatives. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake. The bride's mother received, dressed in black, assisted by the groom's mother dressed in brown. Their both wore corsages of red roses.

The bride wore a brown suit with brown accessories, for a trip to Montreal and Plattsburg, N.Y., returning home by Ottawa. Upon their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Tamworth, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

NAPANEE YOUNG PEOPLE CLOSE FOR SUMMER WITH PICNIC

On Monday evening, May 22, about thirty members of the Napanee Young People's Union held their closing meeting in the form of a pot-luck picnic on the Bay shore about a mile west of Bath.

After supper a period of recreation was in charge of Jean Derbyshire. The ycung people then gathered around a camp fire for a singsong, including negro spirituals, which was led by Muriel Vannest.

A very inspiring worship service was conducted by Margaret Vannest with Jean Derbyshire and Mary Hambly also taking parts. The evening came to a close with Friendship Circle and the singing of 'Taps'.

By 1949, Britain's agricultural production was about 35 per cent higher than the pre-war level.

ONTARIO PRESENTS SPEAKER'S CHAIR TO NEWFOUNDLAND

A chair to be used by the Speaker of the Newfoundland Legislature was Ontario's gift to Newfoundland made recently by Premier Leslie Frost to Premier Joseph Smallwood who was visiting Toronto, to invite provincial and civic officials to attend Newfoundland Day celebrations in St. John's, June 24th.

Skilled Ontario craftsmen made the chair last year, and it was used intentionally in the Ontario Legislature during the last session so that it would carry with it the spirit and traditions of Ontario, Mr. Frost said.

Premier Smallwood was guest of Premier Frost and members of the cabinet at luncheon while at Queen's Park. He was proceeding to other Provinces and British Columbia, extending similar invitations for provincial officials to attend Newfoundland Day.

The area of the Pacific Ocean is 69,996,000 square miles.

166TH ANNIVERSARY LANDING LOYALISTS

SUNDAY, JUNE 18TH AT 2:30 P.M.

For many years now, this Anniversary has been kept in St. Alban the Martyr U.E.L. National Memorial Church, Adolphustown, Ontario. This year the service will be on June 18th at 2:30 p.m. Daylight Saving Time.

The Rt. Rev. Wm. Wright, Bishop of Algoma, was to have been the preacher, but owing to another engagement he will not be able to be present. Bishop Wright, while a student at Trinity College, Toronto, was for a short time in charge of this parish, and is well remembered.

The musical portion of the service will be in charge of Mr. Frank Brookhill, organist and choirmaster of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Picton. The choir from Picton will sing special music. The Rector of Picton, Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, will be the preacher.

This year is of special interest to students of Loyalist history. It was in 1622 that the first Church of England in Adolphustown was built, by the Loyalist church members. The Rev. Job Deacon was the first rector. On May 22nd, 1850 this good man departed this life after serving faithfully the church and parish which he loved. He came from Ireland with a brother, as a young man. Together they carved out a farm in the bushland north of Toronto. After some years Mr. Beacon decided to enter the ministry, and after ordination served in a mission before coming to Adolphustown. He was instrumental in organizing the first temperance society in Upper Canada in 1823. In old St. Paul's Church, now used as a Parish Hall, the parents of Sir John A. MacDonald used to worship.

In 1824, one hundred years after the landing of the Loyalists, Canon Forneri, rector of the parish, built the present St. Alban the Martyr Church, which was subscribed for by descendants of Loyalists from every part of Canada. This church was designated as the National Memorial Church, and attracts hundreds of visitors, every year.

When considering the history of this church it would be a lack of appreciation if it were not remembered that the well-known pioneer, Rev. John Langhorn, of Bath, began the work of the church here, in Adolphustown. It was the winter of 1791 that he journeyed to the end of the peninsular and held a service at the home of Squire Nicholas, Hagerman, who was a charter member of the Law Society of Upper Canada.

SPECIAL ISSUE OF 'United Ch. Observer' COMMEMORATES 25TH ANNIVERSARY

The June 1st issue of "The United Church Observer" is a 48-page special edition, containing the story of the work of all the boards of the church during the past 25 years, as well as many outstanding features.

Rev. Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, Secretary of the General Council, has written a report on the conversations with the Church of England in Canada with regard to future union. This will be of wide interest to Anglicans as well as United Church members.

How The United Church of Canada is viewed by churchmen of England and the United States will be discussed in articles by Rev. Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, former editor of the "Christian Century" and by Principal Nathaniel Micklem, of Mansfield College, Oxford, and former professor of Queen's Theological College. Dr. Morrison's story is entitled "An American Churchman Looks Over the Border," and Principal Micklem writes of "An English Churchman Looks Across the Sea."

The consummation of union, June 10th, 1925, at the Mutual Street Arena, will be reviewed by the Very Rev. George C. Pidgeon, D.D., first moderator of The United Church; the moderator of The United Church at the time setting the Church Union Bill through Parliament is the subject of articles by Graham W. Mason, K.C., and Rev. Thomas W. Bird and Rev. A. J. Lewis, at that time members of Parliament.

A general picture of "The Church Since 1925" will be given by Rev. Dr. C. B. Sissons, author of "Church Union in Canada." Professor A. R. M. Lower, Queen's University, has written on Canada during the past quarter century, and Professor John Line, Emmanuel College, on "This is What We Believe."

Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson is expecting a record sale of this issue of The Observer and is pleased with the frontispiece. It pictures a large church in the background with three smaller ones in front, representing the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches which joined together in 1925 to form the United Church.

GUIDES, CUBS, SCOUTS ATTEND SERVICE AT S. A.

Accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Langford, District Commissioner and other officers, the Brownies, Girl Guides, Cubs and Scouts formed up at the Market Square and paraded to The Salvation Army for church service, on Sunday morning, May 28th. The service was ably conducted by Lieut. Phil Gardner, who is a general favourite with children and adults alike.

After the flags were placed by the colour party, their promises were repeated by the various groups, and "The King was sung. Scout Peter Mayhew read the scripture and Mrs. Gardner led in prayer. A delightful solo was sung by Linda Switzer, entitled "This is My Father's World."

Lieut. Gardner led the group in an informal song service specializing in "Walking with Jesus." He then gave a short sermon on the "Light of the World" and illustrated his points to the children by the use of two flashlights, teaching them the meaning of the association of ideas."

The service closed with the hymn "Witnessing for Jesus" and the benediction. The children and their leaders then paraded back to the Town Hall and were dismissed.

It is noted that Napanee is one of the few places where the boys and girls get together for their church parades and it is hoped that others will follow their example of co-operation and fellowship.

FIELD MARSHAL EARL WAVELL DIES IN U.K.

London, May 25 — Field Marshal Earl Wavell, desert warrior, who won the first Allied land victories in the Second World War, died in a nursing home in London, last week.

The one-eyed British soldier who smashed Marshal Rudolfo Graziani's Italian army in North Africa in the dark days of 1940 and 1941 and won grudging German admiration, underwent a severe abdominal operation on his 67th birthday, May 5th. He had suffered from jaundice.

Recalled by the Labor Government from his post as Viceroy in India, early in 1947 because he disagreed with the policy of giving India immediate independence, Lord Wavell spent the last years of his life indulging a taste for music and poetry.

ONTARIO ASSISTS CAMPS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

The Department of Education, through its Physical and Health Education Branch, gives practical and timely assistance of various kinds to NON-PROFIT camps.

Two of the most valuable forms of its help are in granting financial assistance, and in helping train camp-counsellors.

Financial Assistance

By meeting simple qualifications and conditions, any NON-PROFIT camp operated IN Ontario BY an Ontario organization, FOR Ontario boys and girls, may secure :

A 75 Cents per camper for those remaining six to eight consecutive nights;

B $1.00 per camper for those remaining nine to twelve consecutive nights;

C $1.25 per camper for those remaining thirteen or more consecutive nights.

Maximum grant to any one camp is $2,500.00.

Eligible camps may not charge more than $1.75 per person per day, and must, of course, have an Ontario Department of Health Camp Licence.

Camp licences are required by law for any group of ten or more persons camping for three or more days. They are issued without charge, upon application to the Ontario Department of Health, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 2, the only requirements being the existence of reasonable precautions to help ensure safety and good health — conditions all camps are anxious to maintain.

Staff Assistance

The Department of Education helps provide counsellors and junior counsellors for non-profit camps by conducting three-week Counsellor-Training Courses, almost without expense to prospective counsellors.

These courses are open to any Ontario Secondary School pupil who will be fifteen years or over before September 1st, 1950 and has completed Grade IX or a number form by July 1st, 1950. The training is taken in camp, the leadership being provided camp people. The courses for girls are conducted at BELWOOD CAMP, near Fergus, Ontario; the courses for boys at BARK LAKE CAMP, near Irondale, in Haliburton County.

The courses are given during July and August.

Reimbursement is offered of any trainee's transportation costs, in excess of ten dollars for the round trip, at the special rates available to all our trainees.

The Department's desire is, in every way possible, to foster better and better camping for more and more boys and girls.

For full details regarding the financial assistance to camps and/or the Counsellor-in-Training Courses, or other camp topics, write :—

WARTMAN-CORRELL NUPTIALS

Grace United Church, Napanee, decorated with snapdragons and ferns was the scene of a lovely wedding on Saturday, May 27th, at 3:30 p.m., when Norma Doreen, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Atwood Correll, Thomas Street, Napanee, became the bride of Robert Patterson, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward R. Wartman, John Street, Napanee.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. C. D. McLellan, in the presence of a large number of guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of champagne marquisette over taffeta. The portrait neckline was outlined with a fichu of the marquisette edged with Chantilly lace and the long sleeves had touches of matching lace at the wrists. The long full skirt lengthened at the back to form a short train. For the traditional "something old" the bride wore her mother's wedding veil of Belgian lace. She carried a white Bible on which a single orchid rested.

Miss Audrey Correll, the bride's sister, was matron of honour, and the bridesmaids were Miss Joan Robins of Midland, and Miss Rowena Smith, of Toronto. The attendants were all frocked alike in persimmon lace over champagne taffeta, with circular flaring skirts of cocktail length. Their flowers were Johanna Hill roses. The ring bearers were two youthful nephews of the groom, Master Edward Paul and Master Peter Clark, each wearing suits of cream flannel. The groomsman was Mr. Kenneth Johnston, and the ushers were Messrs. Herbert Correll, of Peterborough, brother of the bride; Alvin Wartman, brother of the groom, James Madden and Glen Clark.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. B. M. Black and the soloist was Miss Dorothy Fetterly of Toronto, who sang 'I'll Walk Beside You'.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Millhaven Inn, east of Bath, where the bridal party and the parents of the bride and the groom received the guests. Mrs. Correll wore a floor-length crepe gown of toast shade, the skirt having a side overdrape of matching lace. Her hat was of aqua straw with lilac and gardenia trim and veiling to match her dress. Her corsage was of gardenias and lily-of-the-valley. Mrs. Wartman's floor-length dress was of cloud blue crepe, the bodice having a becoming square yoke of flesh pink lace, and wrist length sleeves. The simple skirt fell in a graceful drape at the left side. Her navy straw picture hat was trimmed with soft folds of pink veiling. She wore matching pink gloves, navy accessories and a corsage of sweet peas.

The beautifully decorated bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Fred Correll of Hamilton, an aunt of the bride, and Mrs. George Finlay, Strathcona, aunt of the groom, poured tea.

Judge G. F. Smith proposed a toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom. The groom proposed the toast to the bride's attendants, and Mr. Kenneth Johnston replied. He also read a number of congratulatory telegrams.

For the wedding trip to the United States, the bride wore a three-piece suit of beige with lilac hat and matching purse and shoes. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wartman will reside in Napanee.

Out-of-town guests from Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton and Midland, attended the wedding.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

A boy of seventeen, who had been working on a farm near Odessa, appeared before Magistrate Garvin in Napanee Court on Thursday, charged with the theft from his employee of $120. The boy pled guilty to the charge and was sentenced to serve six weeks in gaol.

The boy had been employed as a farm helper since March, 1st, and according to evidence given by his employer, had given absolutely no trouble. Recently the boy's parents in Kingston, had separated and since that time he had appeared to be very much upset. During the absence of his employer in the evening he broke into a desk and stole $120, leaving nearly $900, which was also in the desk. Later he was picked up in Brockville and was brought back to Napanee. $62.45 of the money stolen was recovered and twenty days' pay due him was also ordered to be kept by the farmer. The employer said he was quite willing to take the boy back, but thought it inadvisable for him to return to the locality where he had committed the theft.

Gordon Babcock, Napanee, pled guilty to parking his truck more than six inches from the curb and paid $1.00 fine and $3.00 costs.

Anna Shirriff, Toronto, and Ronald Kemp, Hamilton, paid $7.00 fine and $3.00 costs each, for speeding, and on a similar charge, Camille Paquette of Quebec, paid $10.00 fine and $3.00 costs.

Tragic Accident Takes Lives Two Napanee Men

Killed While Working on Highway Near Marysville

The tragic death on Friday afternoon, June 3rd, of Fred Richards, aged 73, and Morley Kimmett, aged 43, both of Napanee, and employees of the Department of Highways, has aroused the sympathy of the whole district for their bereaved families.

The two men were killed about 2:30 p.m., on Friday, three miles east of Marysville, while they were stretching cable for the guard rails on the side of the highway. There were no eye witnesses to the accident, but Bellville police believe that the two men were pulling the cable from a large spool and in some manner slipped and were thrown against the side of a large car carrier, which was passing. The driver of the carrier, James Smith, of St. Jotique, Quebec, did not see the accident as the men were evidently struck by the after part of the transport. Fred Lowry, of Napanee, also working with the Ontario Department of Highways, was nearby, but did not witness the accident.

Mr. Richards was believed to have been killed instantly, and Mr. Kimmett died after being removed to Belleville General Hospital by ambulance. An inquest will be held in the near future at Belleville.

Mr. Richards, a resident of Napanee for several years, is survived by his wife, formerly Marjorie I. Neilson, of Amherst Island, and by two daughters Margaret, Mrs. Martin Walsh, and Isabel, Mrs. Norman McRae, both of Napanee, and by one son, James, of Halifax, N.S. His funeral was conducted at the Tierney Funeral Home on Monday afternoon by Rev. W. J. Robinscn, rector of St. Mary Magdalene's Anglican Church, and interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Morley Kimmett was a son of Bidwell Kimmett, of Napanee. He was born in Richmond Township, about two miles from Napanee, and besides serving in the Department of Highways, operated a large farm in Richmond. His wife died suddenly about five years ago, leaving a family of six young children. Besides his children he leaves his parents and two brothers, Elmer Kimmett and Manly Kimmett.

His funeral was conducted at his late home on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, by Rev. C. D. McLellan, minister of Grace United Church, assisted by W. R. Merrick, of Selby. Interment was in the family plot at Richmond.

RED SHIELD APPEAL NEARS OBJECTIVE

Campaign Chairman, Mr. Ward Wartman, announces that the result of the local Red Shield Appeal to date shows that 22 per cent of the $2,000 objective has been raised.

Mrs. Wartman, chairman of the residential canvass, has reported that $600.00 has been raised from this source with mopping up operations now in process.

Mr. Percy Asselstine, Chairman of the business canvass, reports that more than $500.00 was obtained from this source, with just a few more calls to be made.

Lieutenant Gardner, who has been conducting the rural canvass, reports that over $700.00 has been raised and feels confident that when all of the rural districts have been completed which should be done this week, the Campaign objective will be reached.

WINS FOUR PRIZES IN NURSING

Winner of four prizes and scholarships including the Mary F. Bowan Scholarship for General Proficiency for three years, Elsie May Uens, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Uens, of Gravenhurst, graduated as a nurse from Women's College Hospital, Toronto, last week. Her other awards were the Prize for Obstetrical Nursing, Prize for Memory of Dr. Margaret Johnston for Surgical Nursing and the Prize for Obstetrical Nursing. Because it is a rule of the hospital that an one nurse can only receive two awards, the last two prizes were awarded to other graduates.

Miss Uens is serving on the staff of Women's College Hospital at present. She will take up a similar position in Bracebridge Hospital starting July 1st.

Miss Uens is a former resident of Napanee.

B.N.Sc. Degree Won Marion Vine, Queen's

Mr. and Mrs. Percy S. Vine were in Kingston on Saturday afternoon, June 3rd, to attend convocation at Queen's University, when the degree of B.N.Sc. (Bachelor of Nursing Science) was conferred on their daughter, Miss Marion Vine, who graduated with first class honours.

Miss Vine is a graduate of the Napanee Collegiate and of Kingston General Hospital and has just completed a five-year course, three at the hospital and two at the university.

On Saturday of this week, Miss Vine will be married to Mr. Douglas McNevin, of Kingston. For the next year she will be working with the Victorian Order of Nurses in Kingston.

Letter From Manitoba Describes Conditions In Flooded Area

The following letter was received recently by Mrs. A. W. Mellow, R.R. 1, Bath, from her aunt, Mrs. Thomas McConnell, who lives at Bowesmont, Manitoba:

May 11, 1950.

Dear May:—

Just read your letter, along with a lot of others. The mail came in and there was a big motor-boat full and brought it over from the depot, right up to the door of the store. They couldn't sort it last night, as our lights were all off. First mail to come in for a week, so felt sort of like Robinson Crusoe. We are completely isolated; highways in all directions are washed out, blown out or plowed out. The river is twenty miles wide in some places. We are two and a half miles west of the river and it has gone over land for two and a half miles west of the town. The trains were out for two weeks. Just got started when water raised and all section crews put on all help available to sandbag, but gave up last night and no telling when we will have a train. We haven't had a train for a week. Can't get into our house with anything but a boat. Men can walk in with high-waders. But everything lifted sky-high, but we wonder if it's high enough.

We are upstairs, over the store, and are cozy and warm, with lots of good eats. We are all nursing a sore right arm; got a typhoid shot given by Red Cross.

The big slough is flooding from the west and expect it will meet the river today. Niche, Walhalla, Cavalier, Hamilton and Glasston are all having a second flash flood. It will be three weeks tomorrow since the old 'Red' went on the rampage. They think it is about to crest in Grand Forks late to-day, but engineers won't promise a thing as to when it will stop. Out of 650 residents, Pembina has only 141 left. The Red Cross and National Guard have taken over in Pembina.

The Red Cross are giving groceries to all people out of their homes; also flying in feed for stock, by plane—and hay costs $26.00 a ton. Most everyone had enough feed of their own but can't get at it. There's a big straw stack in front of the window where I am writing from and there's about 35 head of cattle out around it each day. It gets smaller as the water raises. The street has boats tied all along, and cars that were parked on the highway, have water over the hub caps in the shallowest places.

I had to go to Thomson's house Tuesday to alter something. Wore knee boots to the Thomson Store; put on hip boots there, and kept me guessing to get in without going over the tops. Last night the water was in all over the floors, so feel quite upset. Floors in all buildings are heaved up badly and mud 2 inches deep.

We are well and, thankful to have a good hospital in Drayton. Could get there by army duck, if no other way.

Love,
BEATY and AUNTIE.

Smoke Nuisance To be Curbed By Town By-law

Council Takes Action After Complaints

At the regular meeting of the Napanee Town Council held on Monday evening, June 5th, a by-law was passed prohibiting the emission of opaque or dense smoke for a period of more than six minutes in any one hour from a chimney in the town of Napanee. A period of 20 days exclusive of costs, was set for a break of the by-law. A period of 20 days is being allowed from the time of the passing of the by-law, to make proper provision to alter chimneys to overcome the smoke nuisance.

A motion was passed by Council to subscribe $100 toward the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. The cheque for the donation will be delivered personally to the Mayor of Winnipeg by Mayor Vine, who left for Winnipeg by motor on Tuesday morning of this week.

Rev. Andrew Morgan asked, by letter, if there were any restrictions regarding the building of a church in Napanee. Mr. Morgan, who is the pastor of The Glad Tidings Pentecostal Tabernacle, stated that his congregation was planning to erect a church in the town to cost between $30,000 and $40,000. Two sites are under consideration, one on Dundas Street, part of the property formerly owned by Miss Jean Light and the other the West Ward School property on Bridge Street. Mr. Morgan was advised by Council that there are no restrictions regarding the building of churches in Napanee.

Mr. Harry Steacy appeared before Council to ask that a plaque be placed on the remains of the foundation of the old grist mill at the foot of the falls, which was the first mill in the town of Napanee. The matter was referred to the Parks Committee to report.

Clayton Bell made application for the building of a sidewalk on the West side of Alma Avenue, and the matter was referred to the Streets Committee to investigate and report.

Cecil Denison applied for permission to purchase 60 feet of land, part of the street allowance at the foot of West Street. The request was referred to the Streets Committee to report.

G. H. Howitt appeared at the Council and requested that the parking meter in front of his display lot on Dundas Street, be removed. After considerable discussion it was decided to grant Mr. Howitt's request.

An application from John S. Martin for a position on the Napanee Police Force, was referred to the Police Committee to report.

Reeve Milligan and Councillor Lindsay moved a motion that the amount of penalties collected by overtime parking on Dundas Street, be paid to the Council each month. There was considerable discussion regarding the matter and an amendment was finally passed that the amount of penalties be reported after the audit of the treasurer's books at the end of the year.

Council decided to place a fire siren on the roof of the Napanee Hydro, to find out how effective the siren would be, before purchasing it.

C. A. Joynt's application for the town to pay part of the expense in repairing the sewer at his home on Centre Street, was turned down by the Council.

Council decided to hire an extra member for the Police Force during the holiday period of the regular force.

The Relief Committee reported 48 persons received aid in May, at a total cost of $724.61.

A motion was passed that no regular meetings of Council be held in July and August.

Charge Dave Martin With Theft, Arson After Odessa Fire

Martin Accused Starting Two Fires and Theft of $1700

Police have formally charged Dave Martin, of Gananoque and Wilton, with theft and arson, following his alleged confession of the incendiary fires and theft of $1,700.00 from his father-in-law at Odessa, on Tuesday, May 30th.

Martin was arrested by Ontario Provincial Police Corporal Everett Smith and Provincial Constable J. T. Sheridan, of Napanee, three miles south of the Village of Odessa, on Thursday morning.

The accused is the son-in-law of Preston Wright, Odessa, carpenter, from whom Martin is alleged to have stolen the money. The cash was kept by Mr. Wright, who does not believe in banks, in a tool chest in his home.

Martin is accused of having started the two fires to distract attention from his activities long enough to give him a chance to get at the cash, which he knew was hidden in the tool box in the Wright house.

Fire Marshals from Toronto and Ottawa claim the fire at the J. H. Babcock saw mill, on the south side of the village, was started first, and that when it failed to ignite properly due to sawdust being too damp, the accused man moved on to the old grist mill, owned and operated by Robert Wright, his brother-in-law and son of the man from whom the money was stolen.

The grist mill fire broke out shortly after midnight on Tuesday of last week and burned out the two upper storeys before it could be extinguished. The sawmill fire, which was not discovered until 8:00 a.m., Tuesday, was put out before it could spread in the mill and do damage.

When Martin was arrested by provincial police officers he had the tool chest in his possession, police said. No information is available as to whether the full amount of money remains intact in the box or not.

When arrested Martin is said to have admitted both charges.

He is being held in the County gaol at Napanee and will appear in Court this week.

NAPANEE KINETTES HOLD MEETING

A business meeting of the Napanee Kinette Club was held Thursday, June 1st, at the home of Mrs. Arnold Empey, Palace Road. The secretary read the report of the last meeting and the same was approved.

The treasurer gave the financial report and also advised that a cheque for $15.00 had been forwarded to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Mrs. Hugh Finlayson reported that the net proceeds of the rummage sale and cooked food sale held in the Armouries on May 20th, amounted to $500.00.

It was unanimously agreed that a cheque for $25.00 be sent to the Canadian Cancer Fund, which amount was comprised of the proceeds of the cooked food sale amounting to $20.00 and the balance from the treasury of the Club.

Mrs. Stan Waddington, convener of the Fund for Layettes supplied to the Children's Aid Society wards, advised that there was about $25 left in the account which would be sufficient to carry on through the summer with the supplies that were on hand.

A sum of $50 was unanimously voted for the Manitoba Relief Fund to assist those who have suffered such a heavy loss in the Red River Flood Area.

ELEVEN INJURED IN ACCIDENT

An accident was reported to the Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville on Saturday night, in which a car and a truck were involved at the intersection of the Shannonville Road No. 2 Highway, about three miles west of Deseronto.

It was reported that eleven persons were injured, but no details of the accident or the extent of the injuries were available.

Poor Crowd At Benefit Ball Game

DON. ARMSTRONG NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Donald Armstrong, of Roblin, narrowly escaped drowning last Saturday morning, when the car he was driving went in to the Salmon River, near Forest Mills Cheese Factory.

Armstrong was on his way to his home from Napanee, and missed the bridge over the river and the car plunged over the bank into the water.

Mr. Armstrong was unable to swim but succeeded in getting out of the car and making his way to the river bank, even though the car was completely submerged. A wrecking truck from Napanee pulled the car out of the water.

DEFEAT KINGSTON HERE 7 - 3

The undefeated Napanee Athletics pounded out another victory last week when they topped the Kingston Disney's 7 to 3 in a free-hitting affair that saw the locals come from behind and swamp the visitors in a six-inning rally. Going into the last of the sixth, Napanee were down three to one, when Kenny Leonard, hurling stellar ball for the Kingston team, weakened and the slugfest was on. Hard hit ground balls filtered through the infield for base hits, five in all, and an error thrown in, ended the rampage with the plate.

Prior to the barrage, the locals were held to a brace of singles, one in the first and one in the fifth.

Leonard, for Kingston, allowed seven hits, all singles, walked two, and his team mates erred twice. He struck out five Napanee hitters.

McTaggart went the route for the winners, allowing ten hits, walked two, the team committing one miscue. Nine Kingston batters went down via the strike-out route.

Markle and McQuade gathered two singles apiece for Napanee, while Levandoski topped the visitors with three and Allen two.

Baby Coons Found In House Partition

When G. E. Gibbard went to his summer cottage in the Bay of Quinte on Monday of this week, he heard an unusual noise in the partition between two of the rooms of the house. On investigation, after some boards had been removed, five baby coons were found in a nest in the wall.

The little coons were removed and at present are being bottle-fed at the home of Mr. Gibbard, in Napanee.

Forced to flee from the Greater Winnipeg flood menace with nothing but their clothes and two pillows, Mr. and Mrs. L. Roberts and their four sons had one hour's notice to move. They found temporary shelter at Winnipeg Beach. To add such to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund has been established in Winnipeg.

Small Response To Kinsmen Appeal Flood Relief Fund

Citizens Urged to Make Donations as Soon as Possible

Up to date there has been a poor response to the Kinsmen and Kinette Clubs appeal for funds for the Manitoba Relief Fund. But it is felt that many people intend to make a contribution and have just neglected to do so.

Now that the worst of the flood is over and daily accounts in the newspapers and radio are not of such sensational nature the need of the people in Winnipeg who have suffered is not so much in the public mind.

However, the need still exists for assistance. As householders move back to their homes they are finding just how terrible the conditions are. Countless numbers of homes will need to be practically rebuilt. Furniture and other household equipment is being found to have been completely destroyed and will need replacing. The $10,000.00 objective for the Flood Relief Fund will, no doubt, be insufficient to rehabilitate all the people in the communities affected.

If you have not already done so, please make your contribution to the fund as soon as possible. Money may be left at The Beaver Office and an interim receipt, which will be replaced by an official receipt, will be given and may be used for income tax purposes.

Contributions through The Beaver up to Tuesday noon were as follows:

Mrs. Melvin Taylor	$ 5.00
Miss Emma Macdonald	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pettigrew	5.00
The Napanee Beaver	20.00

United Church W.A. Convention Well Attended

County Women Review Year's Work at Enterprise

The Twenty-eighth County Convention of the Lennox and Addington County Women's Association was held at Enterprise on Thursday, May 25th, 1950. Registration began at 9:30 a.m. At 10:00 o'clock the convention was opened by the president, Mrs. W. G. Smith. The W.A. theme song was sung followed by worship service by the Rev. R. J. Crawford of Enterprise. Mr. Crawford opened the service with invocation and prayer. Hymn 536 was sung and the scripture reading was from Isaiah, 6th chapter. The work of the W. A. was likened to Isaiah's experience after the death of King Uzziah. As Isaiah was commissioned, so likewise are all church workers.

The Nominating Committee was appointed as follows: Convener, Mrs. A. E. Lewis, also Mrs. Franklin Parcher, Mrs. J. F. Aylesworth, Mrs. E. Alkenbrack. The Courtesy Committee was Mrs. Fred Henderson, Mrs. A. Barnhulme, Mrs. E. Scott.

The secretary, Mrs. Muriel Perry read the minutes of the 1949 Convention, which were approved.

Mrs. Perry also read the treasurer's report, due to the absence of Miss W. Clark; balance on hand, 1949, $29.71, income during the year $63.01, total, $93.42; expenses $51.47, balance on hand, 1950, $41.95.

Mrs. Franklin Parcher gave a reading, "Plain Bill Jones."

Mrs. Smith thanked the Dominion Council in Toronto. She feels that our Presbytery or Convention is not sufficiently organized to get all the work that should from the Dominion Council.

Mrs. Smith introduced the speaker for the day, Mrs. Follis, president of the Dominion Council. Mrs. Follis very kindly came instead of Mrs. Inglehart, who had been unable to come due to an accident. Mrs. Follis decided, in the morning, to carry on with a panel of discussion. She explained that learning of God and Jesus is not sufficient. We must be about Bod's business, learn, work, help. In explaining affiliation fees, which is 10c per member of each W.A. group she said 5c goes to the Dominion Council, 3c to Conference and 2c to the Presbytery, to promote organization work in the presbytery.

To the question, 'Can anyone become a Life Member of the W. A.' Mrs. Follis replied that any W. A. member could become a Life Member for the sum of $15.00, five dollars of which is sent to the Dominion Council and $10 is returned to the local W. A. of which she is a member.

Mrs. D. F. Aylesworth told of her wonderful experience in Stirling where 25 of the older ladies were made life members. Those of course, who receive Life Membership should pledge themselves to a life of service. Therefore, it is good for younger people, too, to become life members.

The Dominion Council meets once a year to gather problems and promote work in smaller groups. The executive of the Council meets once a month. Literature for local groups may be obtained through secretaries appointed by Presbytery, such as temperance, devotional, citizenship, literature, visiting and girls' work. We must all remember work that is important is worth making something of.

Mrs. Smith thanked Mrs. Follis for her splendid handling of the panel of discussion.

The roll was called by Mrs. Perry, who asked that members of each W. A. group stand. She also asked for the name of the president for each

Billy Harvey, a youthful guest, showed remarkable talent as a pianist, when he played two popular numbers. His performance was especially noteworthy due to the fact that he has had but one year's training.

During the evening, perfect attendance pins were presented to thirty members of the club.

PEACE

The common People in all countries, long for peace. They are tired of war. At heart they are all one. No family, be it British, French, Chinese, Russian, wants to see its members sent off to be killed. No family wants to see its home and cherished possessions, shattered by bombs, or set on fire by flame throwers.

This yearning for peace, contentment and security, finds expression in many ways — officially, and on the highest government levels, where attempts are made to settle international disputes by arbitration. It finds expression in other organizations. The organization for world government, which seeks to erect a government which would manage the affairs of the world, on a peace basis.

Then there is the Peace Congress. The motives of this organization are suspect in certain quarters, because of the Communists within the group. And yet the 'Red' Dean, when in this country, declared God was no respector of persons; that all were sons and daughters of the same Being. The Dean said that he would therefore work for peace with anybody no matter what his race — so long as he seriously and earnestly desired peace.

Then there is another group which had its origin in England. It is called 'The World Youth Friendship League.' It was organized by Rev. Arthur Bird, a young British Methodist preacher. The movement began in a very simple way. It has now a large membership, with "penpals" in many countries. It has its own review. In Germany, a young war veteran, journalist and radio broadcaster, Werner Hocker, got hold of a copy of 'The Review' and volunteered to help the movement, there.

We have one of these Clubs in Canada. There are twelve now in Germany, including one in the Russian Zone. There are three in England.

There are other voluntary peace organizations. These few are mentioned merely as straws to show the way the wind is blowing. We are under no delusions as to the difficulty that faces any group who sets its steps on the road to permanent peace. Nevertheless, in the long run, they will arise and man's folly in organizing for mass murder and mass destruction of property will be seen in its true perspective.

When enough people want peace, and want it badly enough — they will get it.

NOT SETTLED YET

Canadians know what a general election does to business. The uncertainty as to what will happen after the vote is counted, puts the brakes on commercial affairs. Most people, we suspect, are happy that the uncertainty of a general election comes only about once in five years.

In Belgium, the third general election in a year has just been concluded. In Canada, under ordinary experiences, the issues are not too clear cut. The policies of one party overlap those of another. In Belgium the issue is definite and sharp — shall the King, Leopold III who, since 1945 has been in exile in Switzerland, be invited back?

The people are evenly and bitterly divided on the issue. Elections do not solve the problem. In the election of June 26th, 1949, the Social Christians got 105 seats out of 212, two short of a majority. They want the King back.

On March 12th, 1950, a plebiscite was held. 57.68 per cent. of the people said yes: bring the King back; 42.32 per cent. said no, don't bring him back. After repeated tries to get the parliament to agree on a policy, the attempt failed and another election was held.

On Sunday the Christian Democrats got a majority of two seats. But the popular vote was 58 per cent against bringing the King back. The situation is not any better than it was.

With the two of a majority, the Christian Democrats might conceivably get legislation through to invite Leopold back. But there will be that 53 per cent. opposition to contend with. It is a strange mix-up, and one which an election does not seem to settle. It would seem that the former King has had quite a few hints that he is not wanted. If he has the love of his country in heart, it would seem that the decent thing for him to do would be to resign in favour of his son — not many of the people would obect to that — and the kingship would still be in the family.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS

I. M. McKechnie, staff reporter for "The Telegram" Toronto daily, has been running, for his paper, a series fo articles on Pensions for Older People. He has reviewed the situation of these people admirably and examined various schemes that have been put forward to deal adequately and fairly with the needs of those whose years of effective employment has passed. This issue is now before a Parliamentary Committee which is holding public hearings, and gathering information on which impending legislation will be based.

The writer in 'The Telegram,' is not a man without an opinion. He rather favours a revision of the Old Age Pension Plan which would be contributive. Under this plan every worker would contribute during his working years, to the pension fund. And at the age of 65 he would be eligible for a pension. The contribution would be based on a percentage of salaries earned. They would then build up an equity in the pension fund which would insure them against poverty in old age.

This would do, among others, two things: It would take away the stigma of getting things for nothing. There is still abroad a feeling that there is something of a hand-out about the system of pensions to those who have made no contribution to them. A contributory system would eliminate that. The recipient would have earned his right to his pension cheque. Others who now have to pay in taxes for those who get the pension would have no cause for complaint. All would be entitled to the pension, because they had paid into it. Of course, some would not need the pension. They would have plently of money to live on. But the income tax would take care of that. Then, too, the contributory system would do away with the means test. There is something rather odd about a system such as we now have, which forbids a pensioner to earn by casual jobs more than a mean pittance to supplement his pension in Ontario — $120 a year. If this system was contributory then there would be no need for a means test, and anyone receiving the pension would be able to supplement it as much as he wishes. There are contributory pension plans now in many businesses and pensioners often earn quite a tidy sum in addition to their pensions by filling in where there is some work of a temporary nature, that they can do — and nobody raises objection. Were the whole population covered by a system by which they had to make regular contributions through their working years, the obnoxious means test would be no more.

This plan, which has the endorsation of many influential groups, should form the basis of the new legislation, when it is brought down.

MAYBE THE RING

There must be quite a lot of money in Mexico. Every once in a while we see a notice of someone from Mexico paying fabulous prices for Canadian livestock. On Monday, Mexico's Department of Agriculture bought a bull in Oakville, for $10,000. That is a lot of money. Just what the Mexicans do with all these fine animals is not divulged. It may just be that they are used to breed other bulls for the bull ring — for bull fighting is still permitted in Mexico. Or they may be using them to build up a good strain of milk animals. Whatever they do with them, it is their own business, and incidently, it is good business for Canadians, too.

The sale where the Mexicans purchased the $10,000 bull and four cows, was of thirty Holsteins from the farm of W. A. Hodge, of St. Laurent, Que. The average price paid for the thirty animals, was $1,268 — that is a good price!

Lured by this attraction, there will probably be quite a rush into the stock-raising business. It is pretty risky though, as many farmers around here will admit. The enthusiastic novice should get a lot of advice before he starts.

ZEPHANIAH CALLS TO REPENTANCE

Lesson Text: Zephaniah 1 : 12-18; 3 : 16-20

Zephaniah was not an ordinary run-of-the-mine preacher, or prophet, as progressive, devoted preachers were then called. He had royal blood in his veins,—and that was something in those days. He lived during a reformation. He was a sort of rebel. It is interesting how many rebels got into the Bible, while not even the names of the stand-patters have been recorded. Zephaniah must have been looked on as a sort of bugbear by the court party, whom he was continually stabbing and opposing. He did not like the world situation or the complacent attitude of the court to it. So he protested and protested.

In this first section the prophet is telling the people what is going to happen on "The great day of Jehovah", the day of reckoning. God is described by the prophet as saying that He would search out every last man who had settled back on a do-nothing policy. There will be a time of reckoning. These people may have money, wealth, but it will all go. They will lose their all.

That sort of punishment of men [illegible] as those that [illegible] to do since then recall the [illegible]. The priests in Russia [illegible] privileges, and church [illegible] between colonizers and [illegible] and sorrow [illegible] there is because of that, and who can look on the present scene in this country without misgivings. There is danger in prosperity, there is a deadening effect of great wealth. The seeds of revolution germinate in the soil of abused privilege, and unaccepted responsibility.

The second section underscores the message of the first section. The only difference is that in this section the prophet declares that the time of reckoning is very near. He describes some of the things the nation may expect. They are not pleasant reading now, they must have sounded terrible to the people who heard them for the first time. Just imagine being told by a reputable preacher, one who moved in official society, that tomorrow, or pretty soon thereafter, that the cities would be destroyed, and that men would stagger bewildered through the city like blind people. Then they will discover, he says, that neither their silver or gold will save them. They will be destroyed.

The prophet changes his tune. He declares that God will save those "who were of-ther". Some would be saved in the day of reckoning. It would be those who have trusted in God. Well, there we are. It is the old story, of the destruction of men and civilizations which worship "things" and forget that life is growth, movement, and that this growth and movement is a challenge to all who name the name of the Lord to go forward.

The people of Europe and Asia are suffering from malnutrition and disease is widespread. Immediate help is still urgently needed by countless human beings abroad. Send aid through CARE, 73 Albert Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

FOUL TIPS...

by "Red" Miller

The Napanee Athletics took all the honors at the Lions Operated Gibbard Memorial Park last Friday evening. They defeated the....up until then....undefeated Kingston Disney's 7 to 3, in one of the best slugfests we have witnessed in some time.

Hits....as far as the locals were concerned in the first five frames were few and far between....Then the triggers of both barrels cut loose and Kingston fell apart at the seams.

The fans were fairly thick that night....and we think they might be thicker....if the games were to be called on time. The question of patronage ....an important item in any Ball Club's budget....is at stake ....and we do not mean maybe. Way should any fan have to sit for at least a half hour while the visiting team gets dressed....only to find they don't like the "official" at home....delaying the game for another ten minutes while they hunt around for a substitute.

Both home games at Napanee in the C.O.B.L. have been delayed by tardy teams....The Athletics....to our knowledge....have yet to be late getting on the field....either at home or away....There is no reason why visitors could not take a pattern from the Killorinnen.

This leaving the "official" at home in the C.O.B.L. is big enough to get men who can be relied upon. They don't do the job for nothing....why excuse them....Some day some enterprising young "Dmp" who is on time will dig out the time piece and call the teams to the field. No answer....Game forfeited. Somebody should try it.

The question of the fans getting their two bits worth is another item which cannot be overlooked. With the price of admission on a higher level ....the dyed-in-the-wool ball hooter wants nine innings....if at all possible....not five or six.

Somebody answered that one with ...why don't they put in the floodlights....Anybody got fifteen thousand they are not going to use in the next hundred years? That is the latest estimate those vitally concerned got last month.

We are told that the odd lady fan reads this column. We are glad to hear it....she will be pleased to learn that the Park Committee have renovated a room under the Grandstand and it is to be marked "Powder Room".

Et cricity will be installed in the Park this coming week and we are given to understand that evening events ....that popular "cash" pastime will be tried out. Watch for further details.

The Picton entry in the Belleville and District League failed to make an appearance in a scheduled fixture Monday at Picton against the Napanee Merchants. The locals made the journey ....they get the games ....but what about a guarantee against future happenings of the same nature? ....We always suspected Picton to be better sports than that ....We wonder what action the League officials will take.

Where all the kids wanting to play ball come from....we do not know. Minors and more minors are turning out to the tune-ups under the guiding hand of Ken. Murphy.

On top of that....the Bush League is no longer with us. It is to be known ....and called....the Bay of Quinte League. They have a host of teams in that too. It's a good job the Park Committee have access to that Public School diamond. They'll need it.

The Bay of Quinte League (ye olde Bush League) will kick off on Wednesday nite at the Fines against the Napanee Lions ....6:30 fast time ....grounds one mile past Sillsville ....Get there early for the official opening ....all the trimmings, etc.

A trophy has been presented to the Bay of Quinte League for annual competition by The Napanee Beaver, and further information will be made known in this regard next week.

Very little word has leaked out in regard to the County doings. They have started to play....according to schedules....but no word of how they are progressing.

LASHER — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Daniel Lasher, who passed away June 2nd, 1947.

These days bring memories of the dearr one that we loved,
Who lives so happy with her God, on high.
She loves us still, for oft we feel her near;
Her nearness brings sweet dreams of days gone by.
She loves us yet, and still is asking
God
To guide us on our path, from day to-day;
A mother's love is like to that of God's.
Whose love ne'er fades, no matter where we stray.
So please, dear God, tell her for us that we still need her love.
And help us, that we'll meet, some happy day, with her above.

Ever remembered by her
Daughters, ROSE,
TRESSA and VIOLET. 23ap

The Story of the Year was very ably given by Mrs. R. C. Jackson, of Napanee who reported a very successful year; 39 associations reported having 1173 members and twelve life members. The amount of money made by these groups was $14,973.72. No money was spent on mortgages on church property. $2082.73 was spent on upkeep of parsonages, stewards of local churches received $2,204; for churches $2150.73; Dominion M. and M. fund $261.50; W. M. S. $195.53; Social Service $995.53; Community Welfare $40.64, plus boxes of new and used clothing, also food parcels. This money was raised in the usual way. Two of the newer ways of making money were slipper parties and parcel post sales. Several groups gave donations to different social services, such as Save the Children Fund, etc.

Mrs. John Bell brought greetings from Enterprise; from Rev. K. J. Crawford; the Official Board of the Church, and the local W. A., with the wish that this convention would be a very successful one and that everyone would have a happy time.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The report of the Nominating Committee was as follows: Past President, Mrs. D. P. Aylesworth; President, Mrs. W. G. Smith; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. R. C. Jackson; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. A. Compton; Secretary, Mrs. M. Perry; Treasurer, Miss W. Clark; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. A. E. Lewis; Devotional Secretary, Mrs. D. F. Aylesworth; Literature Secretary, Mrs. Jos. Rev. A. Denholme of Bath, installed the officers in a very impressive service. A very pleasing duet 'In the Garden' was sung by Mrs. Frank Fleming and Mrs. Edward Fleming, of Stella. They were accompanied by Mrs. Tugwell. The offering was received by Mrs. Hugh Ramsay and Mrs. R. Fluke of Newburgh. The amount of the offering was $29.54. It was dedicated by Mrs. E. Akenbrack.

Mrs. Follis' Address

Mrs. Follis in her talk in the afternoon gave a devotional address with the hope that the ladies of the convention could apply it to their work. She described all workers as being links in a chain. In the beginning of the Bible was God, and at the end of the Bible was God. In between were men and women who formed the links in this chain: as Abraham, Sarah, Jacob, Moses and many others.

The besetting sin of our whole Church is indifference, Mrs. Follis said. The spirit of love of Jesus Christ must be carried on. Mrs. Follis closed her address with prayer.

Mrs. Franklin Parrott again favoured with a reading 'The Love of God.'

The report of the Courtesy Committee was as follows:

To thank members who helped in any way; Mrs. Follis, who gave such an inspiring message; Mr. Crawford and Mr. Denholme, for their part in our service; to Enterprise for having the convention for 1950, and to Odessa for the invitation to have the convention there in 1951.

The Memorial Service

The Memorial Service was conducted by Mrs. J. F. Aylesworth, with Mrs. M. Perry, Mrs. H. Reid, Mrs. Denholme and Mrs. Crawford Smith assisting. A lovely bouquet of carnations was placed on the altar, in memory of the 34 members who had departed during the last year. Mrs. Crawford Smith assisted at the organ. Mrs. Aylesworth spoke of the flowers being in memory of beautiful folk. Memorial services should be times of happiness. She cited the 23 ladies of Stirling as beautiful lives with a radiance that is given those who live close to God. In another 25 years the beauty and fragrance of their lives will remain with us. Mrs. Aylesworth asked the ladies what message they would like to leave behind. Would it be: partake of His body and blood, this do in remembrance of me. In remembrance and as a dedication prayer, the W.A. theme song ended the memorial service.

The Pageant

A number of the ladies of Napanee (Grace) put on the pageant, 'the 25th anniversary of Church Union, which was much enjoyed. From the Congregational Church, Dr. W. T. Down challenged 'us to loving and faithful service; for Methodism, Dr. S. D. Chown carried the torch, a message proclaimed in measureless worth and passion; for Presbyterianism, Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, for brotherhood and the message of God's eternal patience with the transgressor. Handed together, God has signally blessed the Union. A duet 'I would be True,' was sung. Ladies were there representing Sunday School, W. A., W.M.S., Evening Auxiliary, Mission Band, Baby Band, Home Missions, Nurse Missionary. Those representing China, Japan, Korea, Africa, India and Trinidad were in costume. The three initial letters of the three churches were displayed very nicely. Congregational (C), Methodism (M) and Presbyterianism (P). The summation being Common Man. Participates. Laymen and women march into their places in the church and the Church that Gives — Lives.

Mrs. McClellan gave the message of the Moderator of the Church.

The pageant ended with the hymn, 'Faith of our Fothers.'

Mrs. R. C. Jackson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Smith and the ladies of Grace Church for bringing the pageant to Enterprise.

The carnations were given to the residents of twenty-five years ago and the convention ended by singing 'God Save the King.'

INOCULATIONS ARE IMPORTANT FOR CHILDREN

At this time of year the school health services department of the County Health Unit is concerned with the health of the children who are to start school in September. It is advisable for all mothers of such children to take them to the family physician and dentist for examination in the near future, so that there will be plenty of time to correct any defects before they start to school.

The commonest defects found in pre-school children are dental caries enlarged adenoids, abnormal tonsils and tensillar glands, vision and hearing difficulties.

These children should be brought up to date in their inoculations. Routine immunization is now done for diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus lockjaw and smallpox.

The preschool child is at the important habit forming age of his life, and he is laying the foundation for growth and development as at no other time. This is the time to check any defects or abnormalities which may be developing.

Measure size, and you'll find Chevrolet's the longest, heaviest car in its field — bar none. Measure styling and beauty, and you'll find it's the only car in its field with the world-famous Body by Fisher. And remember — Chevrolet alone provides all these and many other fine-car advantages at the lowest prices and with such low operating and upkeep costs.
